DUG'S TROPHIES ARE DELICIOUS

Coffin Nails' Driven Into Cherubic Carcass and Clinched Hard.

we started out again to repeat Well, we started out again to repeat that dose of a previous engagement with the Turkish trophies, when we shoved over enough runs to win the first game in the thirteenth inning, after having our nerves twisted into 57 varieties of shapes through the game. Scattle's heavy hitters stammed Chief Pinnance's curves all over the lot, but good fielding at critical times saved the redskin's scalp and gave him a well earned victory. A couple of snisplays in the thirteenth frame was all that saved the horsehides.

thirteenth frame was all that saved the horsehides.

Akin threw a big scare into us at the outset by beating out an infield hit and going to second on Pinnance's poor throw. He took third on an infield out and scored when Armbruster dropped Bennett's third strike. Kennedy being unable to get the ball back from first in time to morgus Akin at the plate, although the decision was close.

The Coits shoved two over in their half of the first when Adams walked. Breen stopped a slat breaker and Casey singled, filling the bases. Ed Kennedy was the cleanup kid and his single over second scored two.

The visitors tied up the score in the fourth when Staton falled to handle Prisk's grounder. An infield out and Magee's single across second brought Emil in.

Bome of the Tryouts.

Among the players trying out for positions are Jack Eatch, last season's star halfback and captain; Earl Hall. Harry Gianelli and Ed Koch, who composed the back field; Tom Carroll, Jerry Jumlan and Rich Barr, last season's tackles are striving to retain their old positions, while Ring, formerly with Whitman college, is desirous of getting into the skirmish, as well as "Dutch" McInerny, the illuminous lineman who figured conspicuously with The Dalles Columbians for the past two seasons and who learned the rudiments of the game while attending Columbia university.

O'Meil May Be Guard.

O'Neil May Bo Guard. Martin, Lawrence Dueber, Kyne and Reed are figured as this season's guards, but if Frank O'Neil recovers from a recent injury sustained to his hand, "Oilie" will be presented in the lineup as he is one of the club's most valuable fighting men.

Lew Elumpp on Deck.

Lew Klumpp on Deck.

Lew Klumpp, who is considered by many the grittlest and most active center, will renew his attacks on the enemy at the pivot point of hostilities. Gleason is also a contender for the position. At ends Captain Harold Zander will run down punts for which he is noted and reported one of the best offensive and defensive ends playing in the northwest today. Burns and Dan Foley are expected to figure at left end. It is intimated that the veteran All-Northwest end, Ed Dowling, formerly with the Multnomab club, will revert from retirement and don the moleskin.

In 1874-5-6 Fortland had the distinction of claiming two reliable club teams and the sole topic in those days was the rivalry existing between the contesting clubs, namely the pioneer Multnomah club and the Portland Athietic club.

Young Team's Fine Work.

Last season a new club appeared and just in its infancy bore the brunt of battle and presented an eleven of hunsiy youths to wrestle for supremacy with the Multnomah team. This organization was no other than the Catholic Young Men's club of Albina and they acquitted themselves creditably against their heavier opponents, losing by the margin of 5 to 8.

Promising Misven.

Not in the days of the old Portland Athletics has so promising a club appeared.
