

COEFS' COWS TO BE KILLED TOMORROW

State Veterinarian Gives Orders to Exterminate Tubercular Members of Herd That Aroused Attention to Bad Conditions.

Tubercular cows belonging to the herd of Henry Rolfe will be slaughtered tomorrow, by order of Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian. Dr. Lytle, who has been unceasingly active during the past three weeks in looking up the law on the examination of diseased cattle and hunting them out among the dairy herds in the vicinity of Portland, stated today:

"The tubercula test will be applied to the cows among the dairy herds which supply Portland with milk as rapidly as possible. The dairymen, I find, are ready, willing and even anxious to have their cows tested for tuberculosis. Animals found to be so affected or that have any other disease, will be removed from the rest of the herd. In every possible instance tubercular cows will be slaughtered. This will be my constant policy from this time and I expect as constant cooperation on the part of the dairies. Tubercular cows have not vitally enough to supply milk up to the standard in butter fat, nor have they vitally enough to be valuable for breeding purposes, while it is absolutely undesirable to use the milk from diseased cows because of the danger of infection."

Dr. Lytle has tested the cows in the Rolfe herd, the condition of which was told in The Journal some time ago. He has found that the animals were even more badly diseased than first reported. He has found it necessary to dispose of them immediately.

HEALTH BOARD LEADS MILK CRUSADE

among dairies and in the milk supply.

Since the inauguration by The Journal of a crusade for pure milk in the Portland state board of health, the city board of health and the city health officer, officially, and the Consumers' league, the chamber of commerce, the Mothers' congress, in addition to business, professional men and physician cooperation, have been formulating plans which they hoped would result in a milk supply reform.

The law governing dairies plainly makes the dairy commissioner the center of authority, all were inclined to look to Commissioner Bailey for leadership and cooperation. The health organizations just mentioned were visited by a Journal representative and this formal query propounded to the officials:

"At your solicitation or voluntarily, will you, as dairy commissioner, give assurance or promise of aid in helping to clean up the dairies in order that the milk supply may be safe?"

"No! Emphatically NO!" was the answer in every instance.

The most satisfactory explanation of this surprising attitude taken by the dairy commissioner was given by government expert assigned to the duty of supervising Oregon's food and milk supply. These said:

Wants Entire City to Act

"But don't forget that the city board of health is the entire city, including every good citizen, every mother, every organization that makes for better things to get back up in this cleaning campaign," said Dr. Smith. "We want to do our duty in this matter in the most aggressive possible way. But we might be deficient or slow in some way. If we are, we want to be told about it in emphatic language. And then we want the help of the people. The Journal has told them how bad the milk supply is, how dangerous it still exists, is due to official carelessness and negligence."

"I make no reference to the state dairy and food commissioner other than to reiterate my conviction that it has had been ambitious for entire cleanliness of the dairies during his long official life. Dairymen would assure have had the assurance to conduct their business in the slow and filthy way as we found them on our inspection tours."

Dairymen who bring milk to the city will be compelled by the inspector to show their license. Samples of their milk will be taken and tested. Milk which is not good will be destroyed, and consuming in Portland from this time on will become unprofitable.

Dr. D. W. Mack, city milk inspector, announced yesterday his entire sympathy with the action taken by the city board of health and declared his willingness to cooperate in carrying out the program of cleaning which has been formulated.

Mr. McClure's Letter

Part of Dr. McClure's letter of announcement to Dr. Yonney reads: "I have today directed Dr. W. V. Glayser of this force to report to Dr. Lytle at Portland, the results of his such tuberculin testing as yourself or Dr. Lytle may direct him to do. You will recall that in an article of last year you asked for the cooperation of our department in the eradication of tuberculosis, and in extending to this cooperation to an extent that we will not interfere with the other work. Your department may have the services of Dr. H. E. Finkelson and Dr. W. V. Glayser during the month of September. I note that the Oregon law provides for the testing of all cows supplying milk to inmates of state institutions. It might be desirable to take up this work at this time."

"Our inspectors when testing these cattle have been directed to score the sanitary conditions of the dairies and a copy of this score will be forwarded to Dr. Lytle's office, and it might seem better to have him forward it to Mr. Bailey's office."

It will be the disposition of the state board of health in regard to the latter paragraph of Dr. McClure's letter. We have such dairies as do not score up to the standard by government test prevented from further sale of milk until they have complied with the requirements prescribed by law.

Dr. Yonney rejoined.

"Dr. Robert C. Yonney, secretary of the state board of health, who as an officer, a citizen and as a physician, has rendered invaluable service in the crusade for pure milk said this morning:

"I rejoice at the time things have taken. I am glad because the city board of health has taken the leadership in the fight. The state board of health will do anything within their power. I consider any service which may be asked of them or which opportunity may present, in order to forward this movement."

"I have but one desire in this matter and that is to aid the people of Portland in securing pure milk for the children. I have been deeply touched by the response which have been made to me by mothers asking me to tell them how

UP TO BAILEY TO COMPEL DAIRIES TO KEEP SANITARY

It is up to J. W. Bailey, state dairy and food commissioner to compel dairymen who bring milk to Portland, to put their dairies in sanitary condition. First having secured legal advice and determining that such is the case, the pure food committee of the consumers' league sent forth notices of unsanitary dairies found during inspection tours to the commissioner today.

The public spirited women who constitute the pure food committee and who have been effectively active in every phase of the crusade for pure milk, stated yesterday that so far as they are able to understand Commissioner Bailey's statements, he has so far considered his office as a means whereby he may draw salary and do nothing. "Either that or he is so poorly informed as to what a sanitary dairy is that he is incompetent to enforce the law," was added.

The information furnished Commissioner Bailey includes notices that Yungen & Kehrli's and Begler & Stump's dairies are in very unsanitary condition, and that he must enforce the law as an officer or be subject to condemnation by the people. He is also informed that other dairies in the vicinity of Portland are also understood to be in unsanitary condition.

In concluding the commissioner is asked why, after 12 years of official life during which dairying laws have been at his disposal and his oath as an officer of the people makes their enforcement incumbent upon him, such conditions should be possible.

MILK LICENSE LAW WILL BE ENFORCED IN EVERY INSTANCE

"Bad milk in the sewers, but not in the homes," Dr. Alan Welch Smith, chairman of the city board of health announced yesterday afternoon.

Representatives of the chamber of commerce, the Consumers' league and the pure food committee of the Consumers' league asked each other during the meeting yesterday afternoon:

"What can be done to purify Portland's milk supply?"

Dr. Smith speaking for the city board of health gave the first answer. "Portland's milk supply is so bad; its cleaning so obviously needs work more than an endless wrangle over authority; immediate action to protect the people and save the babies' lives is so vitally necessary that I am ready to camp on the job myself until the milk is clean."

Plans for action include a notification to the city health officer that it is under the immediate direction of the city board of health and its officers will be made directly answerable to the city board of health for the way in which the law is enforced. To remove the menace of the unclean milk from the city the license law will be enforced stringently. City Attorney Kavanaugh answered an appeal of the Consumers' league yesterday by declaring that he will prosecute vigorously every dairyman brought to his notice who has failed to secure a license or permit to sell milk under the conditions imposed by law.

Dr. Smith said last night that temporarily as many extra milk inspectors as will be necessary to see that only licensed dairymen supply pure milk will be appointed and put to work at once.

PUPILS PAY NO ATTENTION TO LAW

ton High has always maintained a partial censorship over the action of the K. D. I. fraternity in its school last term had a long talk with them on the question. It is understood that he then told them that it would be necessary for them to dissolve and that they have laid their plans accordingly.

Busz Saw Soon to Appear

Meanwhile the editors of the Busz saw, the little paper which created such a disturbance when appearing anonymously, it so vented its wrath upon the fraternities and the faculty of the schools for the manner in which fraternities were favored, in rapidly getting ready for issuance. The paper this year will appear weekly, and with the names of the editors appearing in type.

The Busz saw will cover all the schools in the city. It will maintain a strict watch over the methods of handling athletic teams in the five interscholastic schools, and be prepared to criticize any action upon the part of faculty, coaches or officers of the student body plans of which it may not approve. As one of the editors said: "I licensed dairymen much of the news which is now kept out by the faculty of the schools. It will be fair in all its dealings with pupils, but will insist that the pupils be allowed to handle their own affairs; that no cliques or fraternities get control of the student body, and that the athletic interests of the schools are promoted as never before."

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The American Bankers' association began its annual convention in the Auditorium this morning at 10 o'clock, with an unusually large attendance of delegates and a liberal sprinkling of visitors and onlookers. The association was welcomed to the city by Joseph T. Talbert, president of the Chicago Clearing House association, and to the state by Governor Charles E. Densen. To the words of welcome Colonel Robert A. Lowry of Atlanta, former president of the association, responded in behalf of the visiting bankers.

The exchange of greetings was followed by the presidential address of George M. Reynolds of Chicago and the annual report of the other officers of the association. Reports of the standing committees concluded the work of the initial session.

Features of the program this afternoon were addresses by Honorable Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, the Honorable O. Murray, comptroller of the currency and James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad.

No sessions of the association are to be held tomorrow. In the forenoon there will be sessions of the trust company section and the clearing house section and also a meeting to organize an association of secretaries of state bankers' associations. In the afternoon the visiting bankers will go to Gary, Ind., to inspect the plant of the Indiana Steel company.
