PRIVATE COMPANIES TO WATER PROJECT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Ontario, Or., Sept. 18.—The second turning down of the Malheur project by the government has not materially affected business here. Such action had been anticipated. The Boise-Owyhee High Line company is making preparations to water 50,000 acres above Vale by conserving the flood waters of Bully creek. This company, claimed by Washington capitalists, has purchased the L. J. Seevooy and O. Johnson ranches on Bully creek for a reservoir site. This almost natural reservoir can be made complete by putting in a dam 100 feet high, or higher if necessary. The canyon here is not much over 100 feet wide and ore and rock for the dams can be drawn from the hillsides.

CHADWARI PARTY IN POLICE COURT

Twenty Young Men Resent Smallness of "Treat," Then Pay for Prank.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Dayton, Wash., Sept. 18.—Twenty young boys found themselves in the police station yesterday morning, the result of a chadwari party who carried fun into pilfering. When the 40 odd serenaders first attacked the house of Gideon Holman and his bride, he treated them courteously. The boys demanded $2 with which to buy refreshments. This amount was given and the boys left. In less than half an hour the band reappeared and demanded more money. This request was again granted, 50 cents being given. The game was repeated again without protest from the happy bridegroom, but when the serenaders returned for the fifth time Mr. Holman informed them that he would give them no more.

DICKERSON HAS NEW WITNESSES

"Three of my best witnesses did not show up at the trial, but I am going to find out why if I can, as soon as I am free," said R. T. Dickerson at the county jail yesterday afternoon. He expressed confidence that he can do much better at another trial if he is given the opportunity. Dickerson was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary by Judge Gantenbein yesterday. His attorneys were allowed five days to prepare a motion for new trial, but they acted at once, filing the motion yesterday afternoon. They allege errors in the admission of evidence and state that they have discovered new evidence that would have helped them substantially at the trial.

This new evidence, they say, would corroborate Dickerson's statement that he borrowed keys from Mrs. Harry Aldrich to open the trunk of H. A. Garrett, whom he suspected of improper relations with his wife. He shot Garrett on the morning of June 21, the next day after he opened the trunk and found the incriminating letters, according to the story he told on the witness stand. The other new evidence, it is stated, would corroborate the testimony of Herman Greger that Greger telephoned to Mrs. Dickerson from the Palm Leaf saloon. In passing sentence on Dickerson Judge Gantenbein said he had inquired of the jurors why they appended the words, "No recommendation" to their verdict, and had learned that a great majority of the men who heard the defendant wanted to recommend the defendant to the mercy of the court, while two jurors insisted on recommending the extreme penalty of the law. The court also stated that the motive for the crime appeared to be the alienation of the affections of Dickerson's little girl by Garrett, rather than the alienation of his wife, and that the jury had erred in this by arriving at the verdict of manslaughter, paying little heed to the theories of insanity and self defense.

SAWMILL MANAGER KILLED BY LOGS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Sept. 18.—At the plant of the Chehalis Lumber company this afternoon, C. F. Mr. Jones, in company with a crew, was helping to unload a carload of logs when they got away and before Mr. Jones could escape he was caught and his life crushed out. Coroner Sticklin was called and committed an inquest necessary. Mr. Jones came here a few months ago and took charge of the mill as manager. He was a stockholder in the plant and had an interest in the Wheeler Lumber, Bridge & Supply company of Des Moines, Iowa, where he lived prior to coming west. The deceased was about 30 years of age.

"Horrible!" ejaculated another. "Them third degrees must be awful," said another. "Just listen to that man groan," cried the fourth. "Those detectives are murdering him. Save me from such an experience!"
