Sugar Market Is Higher,

This Is Peach Week.

This Is Feach Week.

Today marks the start of what will probably be the last week for canning peaches. A car of select Ashland fruit arrived and was unloaded on the street this morning. A car of California stuff put in an appearance but cannot be compared with the local product. The peach market is very firm with prices very high. Select fruit is selling as high as $1.25 a box, while good ordinary stuff renges down as low as 90c. Any lower price than the latter would mean inferior quality. Present showing of peaches includes Oregon late Crawfords, Elbertas and clings.

Good Pears Are Firmer.

Good Pears Are Firmer. While storage houses are still show-ing good supplies of ordinary quality pears, real select stock is not so plen-tiful and this has resulted in a ma-terially firmer market than during the past week.

Tomatoes Are Doing Better. Tomato market prices are somewhat better for select stock but quite a lot of fairly good stuff is showing up. Most of the late arrivals are poorly colored and this accounts for the premium being paid for bright tomatoes.

Potatoes Are Weakening Somewhat.

Weakening values are noted in the potato market at this time. Buyers are still inclined to hold off because of the lack of outside business. Producers are beginning to consign to market and as long as this lasts it is not likely that buyers will overwork themselves. Market in the south is lower than here and until the situation changes the local trade does not anticipate shipping are tivity.

Onion market shows prestlem. Onion market shows practically the same condition as potatoes. Supplies, however, are only slightly increased as

Some Choice Hops Discovered. That there were some choice hops grown in the state during the present season has been discovered by buyers who are taking in some of their contracts. While the great majority of the rield will not be choice, still more of the crop will be of average quality than had been expected earlier in the season. No sales have been reported over Sunday at noon today.

An advance of 10c per hundred pounds has been quoted in the sugar market by refiners for all Pacific coast territory with the exception of southern Idaho. There the market is dominated by eastern values and no change is shown in prices as yet. Strength in the sugar market is the best for some months. While the retail trade has been quite well stocked up with sugar in anticipation of such a price movement as occurred today, still some interests were caught napping and better business is likely as a result of the advance this morning. All grades of sugar are included in the change.

Inquiring for Flour.

Because of the duty imposed upon foreign flours entering the Philippine islands, the trade there has turned to the Pacific coast for supplies and recently many inquiries have been received from the trade there regarding prices and quality. While Pacific northwest millers have always done some bustness with the islands, the bulk of the trade has generally been shown.

While increased/prices are shown for the storm of former ones. The and quality. While Pacific northwest millers have always done some bustness with the islands, the bulk of the trade has generally been diverted Australia way, because of the generally lower price asked. The new duty is now in effect and therefore millers here feel that some export business will materialize in the near future.

marvest of this part of the inland empire has closed and practically all the grain is now in the sack and teams are hauling it off to the grain warehouses as rapidly as possible. The last of the threshing machines have pulled in.

The wheat crop in this district is said to be the largest in the history of the Palouse country. There is an average of not less than 40 bushels of fortyfold and not less than 45 bushels of red Russian to the acre.

There are many yields of wheat and oats that are very large. From 42 acres of red Russian wheat William Read obtained an average of 57 bushels and states that because some of his grain was logged in spots his yield was cut down about three bushels an acre, from what it otherwise would have been.

From 125 acres of red Russian wheat the Gwinn Brothers obtained an average.

However, the crop is somewhat better this season than last, and the quality is well up to standard. The fact that grapes have made a good yield this season, which has been the dryest in 25 years, is convincing that they grape is one of our surest crops, and will probably be an incentive to increase the number and size of vine-yards. The history of this section of the Palouse is a recital of the most marvelous and remarkable development of any agricultural locality in the United States, for until within the last seven years much of the land embraced in this territory, which is now selling for from $30 to $45 per acre, was subject to entry under the homestead act, but was considered worthless for anything except sheep range, and there were but few of the choicest quarter sections upon which homeseckers could be induced to locate.

STURGEON CATCH IS BETTER IN COLUMBIA

Astoria, Or., Sept. 20.—The catch of sturgeon this fall is reported to be much better than for the past few years and the size of them is much larger. The price of caviar is increasing annually, both on account of its scarcity and the both on account of its scarcity and the growing demand for it both in this and European countries. The eggs of some other species of fish are "doctored" to take the place of the real caviar, but the epicures readily distinguished the difference. Real caviar retails at a price that only the real rich can afford to eat it and the laws now can afford to eat it and the laws now in force to protect sturgeon are valuable to the Columbia river fishermen and the future of the industry, although the general public looks on it as a very small part of the business.
