

ON FIRST BALLOT McCREDIE WINS

Enthusiastic Republicans Name Clarke County Man for Congress.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Olympia, Wash., Sept. 30.—On the first ballot and with 123 votes in his credit, Judge McCredie was nominated for congress last night. He did not lose a vote reported at the caucus Tuesday night. James H. Ashton of Tacoma, received 103 votes, getting in addition to the 93 pledged him from Pierce, Thurston, Mason and Clallam counties, four from Pacific county who refused to abide by the unit rule adopted in that delegation.

The Ashton forces went down fighting, after skirmishing that commenced Tuesday and lasted until the ballot was taken. Then and only then did they accept the inevitable. Ashton, himself, in a speech so diplomatic that it brought three cheers from the convention, moved to make the nomination of McCredie unanimous.

The Final Vote.

In the final vote, Chelalis, Clark, Cowitt, Jefferson, Kliekitt, Lewis, Shanahan and Wahdakum cast their full strength for McCredie and nine of the 12 Pacific county delegates voted for the Clark man.

Ashton received the full strength of Pierce, Thurston, Mason and Clallam and four from Pacific.

With the announcement of the result, a hand struck up "Hot Time" and the caucus delegates went wild with enthusiasm. General Ashton tried in vain to be heard and the assemblage was not quieted until he advanced to the platform, and spoke briefly.

Judge McCredie was called to the platform, and made a brief address.

McCredie Speaks.

"The unexpected honor done me today has rather unnerved me," said Judge McCredie. "I came here, not seeking honor and distinction, but you have seen fit to give me the nomination."

"If one should become a member of the Pittsburg team, for instance, and take the place of Hans Wagner, his work would be considered only as that compared with that of Wagner. So it will be in my case. I am nominated to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Francis W. Cushman, and his work will be the standard by which mine is measured."

"I fear that the comparison will be unfortunate for me, for Cushman was strong in his eloquence, and that, with his wit and personality, endeared him to the hearts of the people of the state and country. Francis W. Cushman, I believe, had he lived, would later have graced the United States senate."
