

SPOTLESS TOWN FOR THIS STATE

Party From Maine Will Establish Colony in Oregon.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—With Frederick H. Sidelinger of Old Orchard Beach, Me., at their head, an altruistic party of about 40 New Englanders are shortly to leave for Portland, Or., for the purpose of finding in that territory a desirable location for establishing a town of their own, a veritable spotless town.

ALL READY TO MEET CHIEF EXECUTIVE

of column immediately in the rear of Third Infantry, O. N. G.

Artillery on Seventh.

The Fourth field artillery, U. S. A., will form in column on Seventh street, facing north, with column resting on the south side of the intersection of Seventh and Yamhill streets.

Mounted police, dismounted police, grand marshal and staff, company F, engineers, U. S. A., First Infantry, O. N. G., Third Infantry, O. N. G., automobiles with the president and party and attendants; battery A, Fourth field artillery, U. S. A.; battery B, Fourth field artillery, U. S. A.; battery A, field artillery, O. N. G.

Route of Parade.

The parade will proceed over the following line of march: East on Morrison to Fifth; south on Fifth to Yamhill; east on Yamhill to Fourth; north on Fourth to Stark; west on Stark to Fifth; north on Fifth to Pine; west on Pine to Sixth; south on Sixth to Main; north on Main to Park; west on Park to College; west on College to West Park; north on West Park to Main; west on Main to Front; north on Front to Fourteenth; south on Fourteenth to Yamhill; west on Yamhill to Seventeenth street. When the head of the column reaches Seventeenth street it will halt.

The police detachments, mounted and dismounted, will take position on Seventeenth street, facing north, just south of Yamhill street.

The infantry organizations will form line at proper intervals on the north side of Yamhill street, facing south, right resting on the east side of the intersection of Seventeenth and Yamhill streets.

The president and party in automobiles will proceed along the front of the line, officers maintaining order and playing the President's March as the president is passing their respective organizations.

The president's automobile will then take position on Seventeenth street at north side of intersection with Yamhill street, facing south, and the column will proceed west on Yamhill street and pass the president in review.

Having passed in review, the parade will disband, the United States army organization turning north on Eighteenth street, the Oregon National Guard organization turning south at same point, and all organizations will proceed by their respective routes to their respective home stations.

The president and party in automobiles, accompanied by the grand marshal and staff, will proceed to enter Multnomah field.

A detail of six policemen will be made to report at hotel entrance on Yamhill street at 10:15 a. m. sharp, and take post upon the moving of the parade, as official guard of the president.

Chief of Police Cox issued his final instructions to the department today, and believes he has arranged for the men as to give the maximum of protection to the nation's executive.

Asking patrolmen and officers to put forward their best efforts looking toward the comfort and safety of the executive while in Portland, chief has ordered all to do extra duty.

Undesirables found mingling with the throng or loitering along the line of parade will be taken into custody without delay. No consideration will be given anyone authorized to do so, carrying firearms or weapons of any kind. Suspicious persons will be picked up.

If not authorized to do so and unable to produce the proper credentials, no one will be allowed to approach the carriage or automobile in which the national chief is being conveyed, or the person of the executive.

No one will be permitted to enter the lines without a pass or credentials although the officers have been instructed to use discretion, repeated attempts will be met with arrest.

Officers in Full Dress Uniform. All patrolmen and officers will be attired in full dress uniform and will wear white dress shoes.

The streets on the line of march will be roped off and during all parts of the two days more than 100 officers, in charge of Police Captain George Bailey, will patrol the downtown thoroughfares.

To guard the person of the chief executive, Chief Cox has selected Mounted Patrolmen Inskip, Hanson, Bales, West, McCulloch and Murray. Two will ride on each side of the conveyance, carrying the president, while the remaining two will be in the rear. Nine or ten mounted men will ride in front of the carriage or auto.

Senior Captain Moore will head all parades with a squad of uniformed men, the police of streets along the lines of march. Captain Slinger, of the second night relief, will have charge of police headquarters during the day, and Police Harry C. Wright at night.

Marching to the union station to meet the president, more than 100 uniformed men will form at the depot at 8:30

Cornerstone of the First Universalist church, which will be laid by President Taft next Sunday.

Chief Cox, in the police department automobile, will head the police division of the parade, and Captain Moore, with 56 men, will follow. Next in line will come the president's conveyance, followed by the secret service automobile and the machines of others of the party.

During the stay of the president at the Hotel Portland a large squad of policemen will be on guard at the hotel. More than 100 men will be on duty during the stay of the president at the hotel. The committee of the church cornerstones will be especially vigilant.

Chief Cox today. Disorderly persons and those whom we may consider undesirable, will be arrested without fear or favor. Portland will be policed as it never has before.

Luncheon at Hotel. It developed today that the reason the Taft luncheon Saturday will be given in the Hotel Portland is that the secret service officials asked that the president be kept in one place as much as possible. The committee considered having the luncheon in the Commercial club, where there are accommodations for 300 persons, but the hotel Portland is able to seat. The secret service department, however, impressed upon the Portland committee the necessity for not having the president moved more frequently than could be helped.

We regret that we have not room for more than 125, said Theodore B. Wilcox this morning. "But the limited capacity of the room at our disposal makes this necessary. My greatest trouble at present is attempting to get those who should be invited into the list of those that are being invited. It is really a luncheon by the citizens of Portland and the people of the city have a right to be there, but there is not room for all who would like to come."

Few Guests at Breakfast. At the breakfast at the Hotel Portland on Saturday morning the only guests were the members of congress from Oregon, the members of the president's suite and the officers of the regular army from Vancouver barracks who will be in the city for the parade following the breakfast. Simon's request that all business houses close on Saturday in honor of the president's visit is to be complied with very largely. The four house banks all issued notice today that they would not be open at all Saturday and the commission houses on Front street have agreed to close at noon.

Laying of Cornerstone. Rev. J. D. Corby, pastor of the Universalist Church of Good Tidings, who was secured by President Taft, that he will lay the cornerstone of the new church at Twenty-fourth and Broadway some time Sunday, has been busy with the laying of the cornerstone. Captain Bailey of the police department has arranged to have about 30 police at the cornerstone ceremonies to prevent any crowding of the presidential party.

A program of music has been arranged by Mr. Corby to be included in the cornerstone ceremonies. The school board is taking entire charge of the arrangements for the president's visit to Multnomah field and inspection of the school children there on Saturday morning. It is probable that the president will not view the children from an automobile, but will be provided with a special box on the grandstand.

East Side Decorations. Workmen started decorating Grand avenue this morning in honor of the coming of President Taft. The decorating is being done at the instigation of the East Side Business Men's club in the hope of attracting a large crowd to the east side to see Taft.

President Taft will, according to the plan now laid down, traverse Grand avenue during Sunday afternoon. With the advantage and also the wide street along which the presidential party will pass, the president will be able to see the best points in the city from which to see the president. A large crowd is consequently expected.

President Taft's mail is keeping up with him. All railway postal clerks in the districts through which he passes have between them the actual mail, and everything is sent to his special train, or to the station, immediately before him. His mail will begin to pour into Portland Friday evening.

Notarial Commissions. (Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Sept. 30.—Notarial commissions have been issued to Fred Wodtli, Foster; Bert Leonard, Springfield; W. Keeler; Edgar S. George and George N. Davis, Portland; F. Cully, Joseph; William P. Adams, Portland.

Requisition Issued. Salem, Or., Sept. 30.—A requisition upon the governor of Washington was issued by Governor Benson this morning for the return of the state of E. Felster, wanted at Woodburn for burglary.

WOULD HAVE BEEN DEAD PRESIDENT TAFT AT SEATTLE EXPOSITION

night of his arrival. When the president reached the Washington hotel he found all the old college boys gathered at the board ready to greet him with "Boo-boo-boo." He was dragged into the banquet hall, received the college yell, heard a song or two and was then called upon for a speech. Instead of speaking for half or three quarters of an hour the wearied president cut his remarks down to two minutes and fled to his quarters.

Today's presidential program began at 9:15, when Mr. Taft left the Washington hotel for the exposition, where he witnessed a review of all nations, made an inspection of exhibits in the government, Philippine, Alaskan, Japanese, Hawaiian and Canadian buildings, and luncheon in the New York state building, rode around the grounds and delivered a speech in the amphitheatre, concluding the president will be entertained at dinner by Governor Hay of Washington.

Much to the disappointment of the general public the president did not shake hands with the public at the exposition grounds. Mr. Taft would have been quite willing to shake hands with the crowd for an hour or two, but he was so tired that he could not do so. Mr. Taft would have been quite willing to shake hands with the crowd for an hour or two, but he was so tired that he could not do so.

For over 50 years, Cardui has been in successful use. Its merit is proven and known. Using it is no new experiment. It has stood the greatest of all tests—the test of TIME.
