TAFT COMPLIMENTS CITIES ON BAY AND ADVISES A MERGER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Oakland, Cal., Oct. 5.—After riding in an electric car from Berkeley to Oakland and viewing the latter's streets and homes from an automobile, the president addressed a crowd of 9000 people on the shore of Lake Merritt. He suggested that the cities of Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda join hands and make one, just as earlier in his trip he had made a similar suggestion to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

"I'll not name the city thus formed," he said, "for obvious reasons." The president complimented the cities on San Francisco Bay for the spirit and public spirit they had shown in going ahead with harbor improvements themselves instead of waiting for the national government to do it all.

On concluding his speech here Taft was hurried to a carriage and the procession to the Broadway street wharf started.

From the shore of the lake to the foot of Broadway street he was lined deep with shouting humanity. As the chief executive passed, the enormous crowd broke into wild huzzas and the din was multiplied by the blasts of factory and steamboat whistles that blared forth a welcome at his approach.

On his arrival at the hotel the San Francisco reception committee, headed by Mayor Edward Taylor, stood in line on the hurricane deck of the government tug Golden State and as the president passed he shook each committee member warmly by the hand.

At Oakland the presidential party was joined by John Harvey Hammond, who will accompany Taft on his "big swing" when he journeys southward.

During the progress of his speech at Lake Merritt, Taft's voice indicated that he was suffering somewhat from the wear of his numerous speeches.

"GUNS" INFEST ALL CROWDS THAT MEET TAFT ON HIS TOUR

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Oct. 5.—A gang of pickpockets is following the presidential train. The members of the gang start work in the crowds surrounding Mr. Taft just as soon as he appears and in the excitement that always attends his arrival at the grandstand or in his automobile, the light fingered gentlemen reap their harvest of loot there.

"Whenever you see struggling and heaving going on in a big crowd you may be pretty sure that the guns, or pickpockets are at work. They work in couples or trios. One of them will attempt an argument with some man in the crowd or begin pushing his way through at a rate that brings remonstrances from those around him.

"The intended victim, some man with a good looking watch chain dangling from his vest or a handsome diamond in front of his neck, and among the excitement his hat is jammed over his eyes. Involuntarily he puts both hands up to readjust the lid and about that time he loses his valuables.

"He may even be quick enough to see the thief who has just snatched his watch, but before the pickpocket is caught he is pretty certain to pass the watch, diamond or other booty to one of his pals. Then the innocent man is a very indignant citizen and nine times out of 10 escapes conviction for lack of proof.

"I followed the president over the country just as he did a circus or the country fairs. If I had not been busy watching out for my own safety, I could have followed the president over the country just as he did a circus or the country fairs.

PORTLAND WOMAN'S PRIZED MEMENTO OF "WM. H. TAFT"

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Oakland, Cal., Oct. 5.—Before President Taft left for Berkeley and San Francisco he signed the name "Wm. H. Taft" across the outside cover of a program of the graduating exercises of the Cincinnati law school, held in Pike's opera house, May 24, 1890.

The 51 young lawyers turned out that evening, and down toward the end of the column of names on the program was written the name of a young man, who is now president of the United States.

Children showed it effect of their warm drink in the morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'Why don't you try a warm drink?'"

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for adults, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

rest the program to the president with the request that he sign it for her.

TAFT HAS DELIVERED 112 ADDRESSES; AND HIS VOICE MAY FAIL

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Oct. 5.—When President Taft arrived here he had completed the third of his tour around the national circle in point of time and had covered considerably more than one-third of the distance he is to travel to complete his tour.

As the president's throat is not in first class condition, it would not be surprising if the remainder of the tour, like during the remainder of the tour, the cold he contracted at Seattle last week hangs on and in spite of the efforts of the Richman who is traveling with Taft, the president's voice threatens to go to pieces as it did during the campaign last fall.

The committee is considering the advisability of increasing this number to six as a last resort to assure the sale of the 370 remaining tickets.

$25 TO DINE WITH PRESIDENT ALARMS LOS ANGELES PEOPLE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, Oct. 5.—Is the honor and civic pride of Los Angeles to be impugned because her citizens are loath to part with $25 for the privilege of sitting at a festal board with the president of the United States?

BOURNE BOOSTS FOR TAFT HARD AS EVER HE DID FOR THEODORE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Oct. 5.—When the time comes for the selection of the next president of the United States, Senator Bourne of Oregon will be found just as strenuously demanding Taft's reelection as he did that of President Roosevelt.

"I am for him now, next time, and always," exclaimed Bourne. "I think I will make one of the greatest presidents in our history."

"What do you think Colonel Roosevelt will do when he asks back?" the Oregon senator was asked.

"I think he will make it his business in life to support Mr. Taft and aid him in carrying out his policies," said Bourne. "He will take the stump, if necessary, and if he thinks Congress is likely to defeat those policies, he will go to the senate from New York state."

MILK WILL BE CLASSIFIED BY BOARD

The Oregon state board of health, intervening to aid in improving the milk supply of Portland and other Oregon cities, is following the lead of the national board of health, and has decided to classify the milk of the state into three classes.

The state board of health proposes to certify to the purity of milk, graded into three classes and known hereafter as first, second and third class.

The first class is to be made of milk from dairies which are inspected and certified by the state board of health.

The second class is to be made of milk from dairies which are inspected and certified by the local health boards.

The third class is to be made of milk from dairies which are not inspected and certified by either the state or local health boards.

BULLETIN ISSUED BY BOARD GIVES RULES FOR DAIRIES

Certain definite exactions for the operation and maintenance of dairies are included in the bulletin issued today by the state board of health. These requirements are as scheduled and detailed by government regulations. The general points as stated below include provisions for enforcement and additional statements for amplification and explanation. The bulletin in part reads: All buildings shall be so located that they will have good drainage. The stable shall be on a relatively elevated ground. The dairy shall be supplied with an abundance of pure water, the source of which shall not be within 25 feet of stable or of any barnyard, privy, or other possible source of contamination. The dairy shall be arranged with a view to the comfort of the animals, and so as to facilitate the work of cleaning, milking, etc. Apparatus for cleaning and ventilation is demanded. The dairy herd shall include no sick animal, and especially none showing signs of tuberculosis, contagious abortion or other trouble. The herd shall be examined thoroughly by the veterinarian of the state board of health at least once each month, and whenever ordered by the state board of health, and animals unsatisfactory to the state board of health will be removed. All foodstuffs must be kept in an apartment separate from the animals. Only those foods shall be used which consist of fresh, palatable or nutritious materials, such as will not injure the health of the cows or affect the taste or character of the milk. No beet pulp or brewer's grain shall be used for feeding. Cows shall be watered at least twice a day. Pure water shall be provided in abundance and in easy access. Salt shall always be accessible and given at regular frequent intervals. Employees shall be clean in habits and appearance, and in every way of health, and to keep everything connected with the cattle and milk scrupulously clean and in good order. The state board of health reserves the right to personally inspect all buildings connected with the dairy, and to personally examine all persons who directly or indirectly come in contact with the dairy. No person having throat trouble or being otherwise out of health shall be admitted to the stable or dairy room. There shall be a room which shall be used for no other purpose than to provide a place for handling the milk, and in which the milk shall be cooled from fresh milk previous to its removal from the dairy. These milkrooms shall be kept scrupulously clean and screened from flies. No milk shall be cooled in proximity to the barn or with a cooler that is unscreened from flies. Sooty milk shall not be left in the milkroom. So far as possible, milk vessels shall be made of metal, glass or glazed earthenware and shall be of such construction as to be easily cleaned, joints and ribs of metal vessels shall be smooth and free from cracks. Vessels with solder shall be used for carrying milk shall be used for nothing else. All vessels shall be cleaned immediately after use. Vessels to be washed. Before beginning to milk the milker's hands shall be carefully washed. A special suit of clean outer garments of cotton or linen, and cap and apron, shall be worn during milking and during all other times; and when not in use, these must not be kept in the stable or living room, but in a clean and ventilated place. Just before milking the udder and surrounding parts of every cow shall be brushed and then wiped with a cloth, clean and damp, but not dripping. Immediately after each milking the milk shall be taken to the milkroom. It shall then be promptly strained through a fine wire gauze, and a layer of absorbent cotton protected on either side by a layer of cheesecloth. It shall be thoroughly aerated and cooled to 45 degrees, and any approved modern appliance. The cooling shall be done 15 minutes after being drawn and the milk bottled directly from the cooler. Night and morning milk shall not be mixed. The milk shall be placed in flint glass jars at the dairy where produced, as soon as it has been cooled, and no jar shall be opened before delivery. As soon as filled the jars shall be sealed and a label affixed bearing the name of the dairymen, also the special mark adopted by the state board of health. No milk shall be sent from the dairy over 18 hours old. Dairy wagons shall be so constructed as to protect milk from the weather, and all fitting and inside parts shall be cleaned frequently; in warm weather they shall be washed daily with warm water. representatives of the city health office. "These men will be a great help to us in our work of making Portland's milk supply what it should be," said Dr. Robert C. Yennet, state health officer, this morning. "It shall be," continued Dr. Yennet, "the policy of the state board of health to use every available means to accomplish this great task. It can not be practically, effectively and permanently done unless we have the cooperation of every officer and the people. We believe we will have this cooperation from all the people of quality. 'White people will always work together to attain good objects. We anticipate practical success, and are pleased with the work that has already been done. But we do not expect that the state board of health proposes to serve as policemen or as inspectors any more than is necessary. We have seen called upon to lead the fight against impure milk. We have responded, and will not rest until the battle is won. But we do not expect that any regularly appointed and sworn officer or servant of the people shall take this as a reason or opportunity for neglect or indifference to the situation."

SIX GOVERNMENT EXPERTS TO SCORE LOCAL DAIRIES

The use of six expert government inspectors to score local dairies has been approved by the state board of health by Dr. McClure for the United States by reason of animal industry. The duties of these inspectors will be to score the dairies, test the cows and report all points of commendation and condemnation. The state board of health has decided to accept this offer, and will put the government inspectors to work as soon as the necessary conditions are met in conjunction with the state veterinarian, the state bacteriologist, the county physician, city board of health and the representatives of the city health office. That American family will be best served by its physician which arranges with him for yearly services, which include periodical visits whether any one is ill or not. A doctor so employed in the family's private health officer. He sees in necessary cases a word about them changed. He drops a word about the gospel of the open window and gets acquainted with the members of the family. He notices from little Wesley's scolding that he wants to wear glasses, which Bobby's fond mother might not have found out in years. He sees in necessary cases that might lead to tuberculosis, or worse, or wrought girl out of school in time to prevent a nervous breakdown.

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness. I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'Why don't you try a warm drink?'" "I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for adults, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact. My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes. It tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time she followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better and better until I was as well as ever. I am now healthy, and as my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-debilitating coffee. I have the famous little 'Health-Champ' from the Head in Waltham, in plain, unobtrusive shape. Dear Sir, I have shown your letter. It appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.
