Recent Movements Show Great Northern Magnate Is Acquiring Route Across Central Oregon—Terminus Sites Bought.

(By C. M. Linn, Journal Staff Correspondent.)
Lakeview, Or., Oct. 8.—Straws show which way the wind blows. Within the central Oregon area, the view of two presidents and an ex-president of the Oregon Trunk railroad, James J. Hill's line, now building up the Deschutes, whose objective is supposed to be San Francisco.
If any further proof were needed that Lakeview is to be on the route across central Oregon, it would be found in the fact that the Hill interests have recently purchased the large Henry Herzfeld ranch, two miles north of town. For what other purpose can railroad men want this 700 acre tract if not for a division point midway between the Columbia river and the Golden Gate?
There are other factors that point to the conclusion that Hill intends to cross Oregon and probably cover the state with a network of branch lines. To discover the plans of the principal mover is necessary to watch the moves of his friends and agents.
At this writing an automobile party touring the central part of the state left Lakeview Tuesday morning by way of Burns and Warner lake for Burns and Vale, and expected to return from the north by way of Alsea Friday or Saturday. From Burns it may go to Prineville and touch at Bend, Silver Lake and Fairburn. This may be a scouting party for the Great Northern magnate, or knowing his designs, his purpose may be to secure desirable holdings.
In the party besides the chauffeur were K. W. Martin, W. Lair Thompson and Leslie E. Seaton. Martin is brother of Robert J. Martin, president of the Oregon Valley Land company; Thompson is the attorney for that company, and Seaton is the real estate man who secured options for Martin.
The Man Behind the Scenes.
Here is the connection that ties these men up with the Hill crowd: The Oregon Valley Land company has bought Harry A. Hunter's immense holdings of military wagon road lands in southern Oregon. Hunter, who has been buying the recent opening and has always been the man behind the scenes. Hunter's main office is in Minneapolis and his interests are closely allied with those of Jim Hill.
It was Harry Hunter who a year ago on October 14, took dinner at Bryan station, north of Lakeview, and with him were President Nelson of the Oregon Trunk and R. J. Martin. Hunter of Portland was the chauffeur. It is known that Mr. Nelson gave assurances of a railroad that helped promote a deal on the military wagon road estate here.
Last July John C. Stevens, who later became president of the Oregon Trunk, made a similar automobile trip, keeping further to the east through the valley.
A few days ago W. K. Williamson, who succeeded to the presidency after the death of Mr. Nelson, came through on the main stage road from Silver Lake to Lakeview. With him in the automobile were V. D. Williamson and Paul C. Bates. The Williamsons are still heavily interested in the Oregon Trunk, and it is assumed that they made were in the interest of that railroad.
High Price for Hay Ranch.
It was they who bought the Herzfeld ranch for $25,000. Neighboring ranchers in discussing the sale declared $50 an acre was a big price for a hay ranch with no water right. And perhaps it is in the owners intended to raise hay when the Oregon Valley company sold land adjoining for $20, with half-water right. And 500 acres of this Herzfeld ranch is on the mountainside where a cow has difficulty in hanging on to a branch of the east that valley.
real estate if they are not the fore-runners of a railroad? They paid $600 each on at least two other options and it is known that they opened negotiations for several other tracts. They offered W. K. McCormack $40,000 for 1000 acres at the south end of Summer lake. It is understood that they will buy the 1600 acres in the Innis estate on the west side of Summer lake and they have an option on the Sol Chanler ranch of 2300 acres near the mouth of Crooked creek.
Timber Holdings Transferred.
Another development of the past few days may be fraught with deep significance. T. B. Walker's immense timber holdings in northern California have been transferred to the Minnesota Timber company to secure a loan from the Red River Lumber company of $1,500,000. Walker has been a resident of Redding and Alturas. The purpose of the loan is to build sawmills and railroads.
Walker is also a Minneapolis man and it is supposed that his interests would naturally fall in line with those of Hill. Walker has secured the rights-of-way for a railroad through Fredonia pass on the Feather river.
The general belief has been that Hill after leaving Lakeview would follow the course of the river through Alturas. It is said that there is also a feasible route southwest from Alturas to the Feather river.
There is a persistent rumor throughout this section that Hill and Gould have an understanding, a policy of reciprocity, that Gould is to run Missouri Pacific trains into Portland over the Oregon Trunk and North Bank in exchange for a like service for Great Northern trains over the Western Pacific. And in this connection it is said that the Nevada-California-Oregon railroad is to become a part of the system.
Whatever the truth may be, it is known that the N.-C.-O. is planning to broad gauge north from the Western Pacific. Pacific coast for an extension north from Alturas is for a broad gauge.
Other Significant Movements.
About a month ago President Hanson of the Hall Construction company, was called upon by the chief engineer of the N.-C.-O. with the view of making certain changes in that road. The two men went over the line this side of Madaline and north to Lakeview. The plan was to broad gauge and to cut out the grade and curves down the mountain. It is likely that it would be necessary to keep to the foothills and leave Alturas some four or five miles to the west.
It is definitely known that the N.-C.-O. made overtures to the Oregon Valley Land company for the purchase of the automobile grade on the west side of Alturas through the canyon at the outlet of Goose lake. It is also known that President Martin declines to sell this property over to them without a definite assurance as to the time the N.-C.-O. would reach for an extension north from the Hill road up the Deschutes it would mean that we could soon leave off prognostications for the future of reality.
J. M. Fogel.
(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)
Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 11.—Jacob Martin Fogel, aged 64 years, died at his home in this city Saturday evening after a long illness. Mr. Fogel was born in Stephenson county, Illinois, in 1845. He was married to Miss Laura Douglas in Nebraska in 1866. Two years ago with his family he came to Forest Grove. He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. Vivian C. Fiske, Roy, Henry and Fred. Two children, Emmett and Viola Mae Fogel, lived in this city in this year. Funeral services were held at the residence yesterday afternoon, Rev. E. V. Stevens, pastor of the Christian church, officiating, with burial in Forestview cemetery.

SOCIETY

(Social news is a daily feature of The Journal. Any one wishing to insert such news should send a card to the society editor or telephone it before 10 o'clock in the morning.)
W. L. Morgan of Portland has placed his daughters, Mildred and Lillian, in the National Park seminary at Forest Glen, Md., a suburb of Washington, D. C. Mr. Morgan and his daughters reached Washington October 2, and were guests at the New Willard, Washington's most prominent hotel, until the girls were settled in their school home. The National Park seminary is one of the most exclusive institutions for young women at the national capital. It is situated in one of the most beautiful spots of that region, and the grounds are extensive and naturally picturesque.
Captain and Mrs. Francis H. Pope of the fourteenth cavalry at Fort Walla Walla are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a small daughter, October 1. Mrs. Pope was Miss Harriet Ankeny, daughter of ex-Senator Lovell Ankeny, and niece of Mrs. Harriet McArthur of Portland. She has often visited here and has a large circle of friends.
Miss Blanche Bates will be entertained while in Seattle next week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Lindley, prominent people there, who spend a great deal of time here at the Hotel Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. John Archer Bell have returned from a week's visit in Seattle. Mr. Archer is again at 61 North Twenty-first street.
Miss Kniskern of Muskegon, Mich., is visiting Mrs. M. C. Griswold, at 699 Hoyt street.
Miss Evelyn Rigler is the guest of Mrs. Clara E. Farnsworth in Seattle.
Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Fenton are planning soon to begin housekeeping in the new Wheelbarrow apartments. Since their marriage they have been at the Hobart-Curtis.
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eggert and Miss Rose Avery are spending two weeks at the Hotel Washington in Seattle, while visiting the exposition.
William Jennings Bryan will be in Seattle tomorrow, and a reception and luncheon will be given in his honor tomorrow night at the Washington state building.
Dr. J. W. Sternberg left Saturday night for the eastern clinics, to be gone about six weeks.
Mrs. Daniel Entler of East Davis street and Eighteenth North, accompanied by her son, Paul, Leamon of Washington, D. C., for several weeks as guests of Mrs. Entler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Hendrickson. They have also visited relatives in Baltimore, Annapolis, Alexandria, Piedmont and other towns in the vicinity of Washington, and enroute to and from that city were guests of Mrs. Entler's brother, Paul Hendrickson, in St. Paul, where he holds an important position with the German-American National bank. While in Washington Mrs. Entler was for a time the house guest of Mrs. John E. Lathrop, at her home in Chevy Chase.
Henry Hahn is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Beach, Leamon of Cherry street in Seattle. Mrs. Sarah B. Forbes, who went over to Seattle for the same purpose, spent a few days afterward as Mrs. Leamon's guest.
Mr. and Mrs. James Newell of Portland have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Carle at the Lincoln club in Seattle for the past fortnight. Mrs. Newell was formerly Mrs. Thomas J.

Schaefer is a sister-in-law of Miss Myrtle Schaefer, and will be remembered here as the attractive Miss Mad Mackay of Salem. Mrs. Cannon is giving a small tea for her guest this afternoon.
Mrs. J. K. Weatherford returned to her home in Albany Saturday night after a brief visit with Portland friends. Mrs. Weatherford is the wife of a prominent attorney in Albany.
Mrs. Kenneth L. Cooper (Louise Cooper) and Miss Julie Cooper of Pendleton are visiting Mrs. George Barker at Jennings Lodge this week. The Miss Cooper resided in Portland about eight years ago, and were prominent members of the Dix sorority of Portland high school.
Miss Marshall and Miss Vida Marshall are entertaining at tea this afternoon at Alexandria Court.
Miss Stella B. Meade of New London, Conn., who makes an annual visit to Portland, has returned, and is in her apartments at the Nortonia. A good deal of entertaining is planned for her. She is known to her intimate friends as Miss Bonnie Meade, and is a social favorite.
Miss Ida F. Nemiro, daughter of F. Nemiro, 234 Porter street and David A. Beppas were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the synagogue by Dr. Heller. The bride wore white satin and a long tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Her only attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sam Nemiro. The bridegroom was attended by the bride's brother, Dr. A. S. Nemiro. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, followed by an elaborate dinner at the home of the bride's brother, S. Nemiro, at 228 Porter street. Both homes were beautifully with roses, carnations and palms. Winberg's orchestra furnished music for the reception and dinner and for dancing until 12 o'clock, after which another orchestra was secured until 4 o'clock this morning. Dr. A. S. Nemiro acted as toastmaster at dinner and toasts were responded to by F. Nemiro, the father of the bride, Mr. Strawbridge, Jacob Khan, Charles Khan, Dr. E. P. Geary, Dr. P. B. Stuart, Dr. Samuel, Lou Wagner, Mr. Block, Robert Shaw, D. Nemiro, uncle of the bride, S. Wolf, S. Nemiro, J. Adler and others. Mr. Beppas was, until six months ago a Philadelphia attorney, but is now connected with the law firm of Calk & Calk, this city. The honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Beppas will be spent in San Francisco, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver, after which they will be at home for a short time with Mrs. Beppas' father, F. Nemiro.
Francis Learned, a member of the Boston Herald staff, is appearing as William Ford, private secretary to Richard D. Webb, in "The Ringmaster," at the Star this week. Mr. Learned divides his time between the dramatic and the newspaper field.

LA GRANDE COVETS FOOTBALL HONORS
(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)
La Grande, Or., Oct. 11.—When La Grande and Elgin clashed here Saturday afternoon on the foot ball field there was started the first of a series of contests to determine the football supremacy of this county. La Grande under the coaching of James P. Wall, who had the job last year, hopes to be able to capture the championship of the northwest by defeating Spokane here October 23. At that time the team will be rounded into such shape that the intricate science of modern football will be well mastered. The locals opened the game here last Thursday by defeating the new Enterprise team mandaly afternoon on the foot ball field. City and Cove—which has a formidable team under the coaching of a student of Hurry Yost—Pendleton and Spokane, the team will have fair claims to big honors in football.
Elgin representing a small town and a small school, is not apt to count much in the football circles of the county. The team is not under extremely strict training, and lacks the scientific knowledge of the game.
Every club in Washington will send delegates to a convention that will be held Nov. 1 to 14, for the purpose of awakening the residents of the capital to the necessity of concerted action concerning missionary work.
Similar meetings will be held in the great cities of the country, with the exception of Chicago, on May 3 to 6, a national missionary congress will convene in Chicago. At all these meetings this great international plan will be discussed.
It was stated today that President Taft would make the opening address at the Washington convention. Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot is chairman of the general Washington committee having the matter in charge.

HUGE MISSIONS COMBINE PLANNED
Central Organization of All Protestant Churches Is New Movement.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Oct. 11.—A highly centralized organization of the Protestant churches of America, controlling property worth more than $1,000,000,000, is the object of a movement that will be started by the Layman's Missionary society, according to plans made public today. The object of the colossal combine, as great as any ever conceived by the brains of the world's greatest financiers, is the evangelization of the earth.
Every church in Washington will send delegates to a convention that will be held Nov. 1 to 14, for the purpose of awakening the residents of the capital to the necessity of concerted action concerning missionary work.

BEE TREE NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS
(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)
Husum, Wash., Oct. 11.—The bee tree is a common thing in the White Salmon valley, but when a yellow jacket tree is encountered by mistake the result is sometimes disastrous. Lyman Robbins has had what he thought was a bee tree for some time near the Hendryx ranch two miles north of here. Last Friday, in company with several neighbors having saws, axes, and poles for carrying home, proceeded to climb up a long ladder to investigate the hole in the tree, when thousands of yellow jackets swarmed out and attacked him, causing him to tumble to the ground, but without serious injury. The pests attacked the entire party, who retired at a safe distance. Bee trees have been cut down in this vicinity that contained 90 pounds of wild honey.
Teachers' Institute Closes.
(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)
Dayton, Wash., Oct. 11.—Following a five days' session, the first annual joint teachers' institute of Columbia and Garfield counties came to a close yesterday noon. In attendance and interest were high, and the result was an educational event in the history of the local schools. More than 90 teachers from the two counties and prominent educators of this section were in attendance. The Garfield county delegation numbering 48 returned to Pomona last evening. Resolutions were adopted endorsing the stand Superintendent Beaulieu of the Dayton schools has taken regarding the charges that he incurred a local teacher.
