GLOBE TOSSERS COMING TO COAST

California Mecca for Many Diamond Stars of Eastern Leagues.

By Hiland Baggerly.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13.—The California league pennant chasers took possession of Recreation park yesterday, and played one of their championship games, Stockton, the winner of the first half, met Oakland, the winner of the second. There was a large crowd out to slip the glad hand to oldtime favorites like Joe Nealon, Tommy Sheehan, Ell Cates, Buck Francks, Tom Hackett, Henry Spencer and Doc Moskiman.

Oakland, with Moskiman in the box, played rings around Stockton, with Cates twirling. The latter was batted hard. Still it was a gingery game and greatly enjoyed.

Jimmy Sullivan, Manager Jimmy Sullivan, if you please, has returned from Lincoln to spend the winter. Sullivan is looking fine and dandy. He had a successful season with Lincoln, ending up by being appointed manager for next season. This was not such a bad finish for Jimmy.

As soon as Sullivan took charge of Lincoln the club began to win, and it won a large majority of its games. His appointment was a popular one with the players, who worked like tigers to win. During his leisure hours this winter Sullivan will look over the bush talent around California, and he hopes to pick up three or four promising youngsters. Though Jimmy has played in the east a long spell he still thinks that California talent is quite as classy as any other.

Danny Shay, who finished the season with Kansas City, has returned for the winter. Shay married a San Francisco girl, and ever since he became a benedict he has passed his vacation here.

"I guess the American association had the hottest race of the year," remarked Shay yesterday. "There was a time when every club in the league had a chance. A club would be in first place one day and the fourth the next. That was how closely they were bunched. Enthusiasm ran high all over the circuit. I expect to be with Kansas City next year. I have a satisfactory contract with Tebeau."

1884—At New York: Dominick McCaffrey defeated Charlie Mitchell in four rounds.

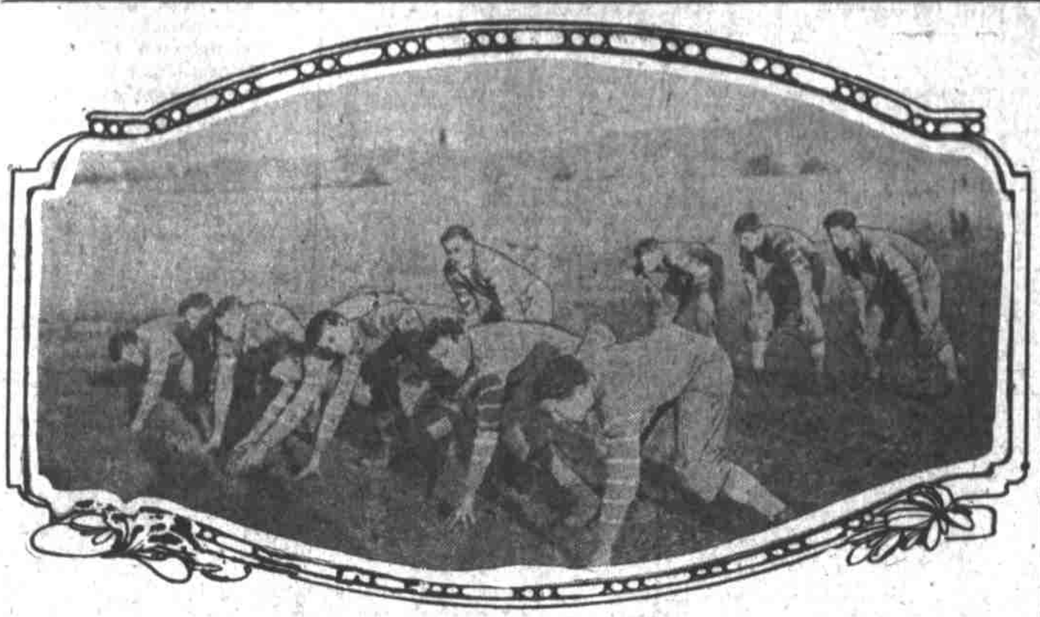
1886—At Boston: Hawkins of Holy Cross college, threw a baseball 126 yards eight inches.

1893—At Wheeling, W. Va.: "Kid" McCoy and Jack Welsh fought a nine round draw.

1903—At Philadelphia: Robert Fitzsimmons and Joe Grim fought six rounds. No decision.

1904—At St. Louis: Charles J. P. Lucas made amateur potato race record! 10 potatoes, five feet apart; total distance, 183 1-3 yards; time, .42.

Eugene High Football Team in Action



(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., Oct. 13.—The Eugene High school football team has a busy season before it, seven games already being arranged for. The schedule, as far as arranged, is as follows: With University of Oregon freshmen at Eugene, October 16; with Washington High of Portland at Portland, November 13; with Astoria High at Astoria, November 15; with Salem High at Eugene, November 25; with Portland academy at Eugene, November 30. Games will also be arranged with the high school alumni and Albany High. The following is the present lineup of the team: Abshire, left end; Morrison, right end; Bradshaw, left tackle; Koch, right tackle; Porter, left guard; Semms, right guard; Noland, left half; Scott, right half; Jenkins, fullback; Pengra, center; Dustin, quarterback.

JOURNAL'S GREAT PLAY HERE 2 MINUTES AFTER MADE BASEBALL RECORD

Do you know that The Journal has accomplished one of the greatest journalistic feats in the sporting line yet recorded in the northwest? Did you know that in two minutes after a play has occurred in faraway Pittsburg, the description is received in The Journal telegraph room? No other paper in the northwest has ever installed a special telegraph service to cover a world's championship baseball game, relying on the press associations for their service, which, generally are from 20 to 30 minutes late in reporting the plays. It will interest you to learn how The Journal's report is received.

In the first place there is but one relay between the baseball fields in Pittsburg and Detroit and the telegraph room of The Journal and that is in Chicago. In Pittsburg The Journal works in conjunction with the Detroit News and the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The sporting editors and baseball telegraphers of these papers belong to the Sporting Writers' association, members of which are admitted exclusively to the press box. The baseball telegraphers work under the supervision of the sporting editors. As soon as a play has been started and completed the telegrapher ticks away at his instrument. The telegrapher is a baseball expert also. Every play is sent out just as it occurs.

In the Chicago office of the Western Union are two more telegraphers, sitting at a table opposite each other. One is receiving the message from Pittsburg in carbon copies. When half an inning is completed, he tears off a sheet and hands it to the sender sitting opposite, who immediately relays the message to Portland.

Down in the local Western Union office is a switch which turns the "juice" into a loop leading into The Journal graph room. This puts our telegraph room in direct communication with Chicago. Immediately after the half inning is received in this office it is edited and shot down the tube to the composing room, where it is placed in type.

When the final score is flashed into the office, the form is closed, stereotyped and sent to the press, where it is printed and put on the street ahead of all the other papers in Portland.

It is figured that one minute an inning elapses between the Pittsburg field and the Chicago office and another minute between Chicago and Portland. This is taken up in the sending and in the relay in Chicago. Five minutes after the play has occurred in Pittsburg, the details are in cold type in The Journal office.

In Pittsburg The Journal is represented by Robert Chilton, one of the star baseball writers of the east. In Detroit its interests are cared for by H. G. Salsinger, the noted expert of the News.

The games are scheduled to start in Pittsburg at 2 o'clock eastern time. This brings the first play into Portland, Pacific coast time, at two minutes after 11 o'clock, counting the two minutes lost in transmission.

It can be readily seen that The Journal has taken pains to give its readers the best there is in the baseball line in the world's championship series between Detroit and Pittsburg.

BANTAM BELT IS WEBSTER'S NOW

Los Angeles Boy Outpoints Monte Attell and Gets Paper Decision.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Oct. 13.—Danny Webster of Los Angeles today is the possessor of Tob McCarey's bantam weight championship belt, and the world's bantam weight title, which he won from Monte Attell by a narrow margin on a newspaper decision.

After 10 rounds of vicious hammer and tongs fighting at Naud Junction pavilion last night, both little fighters were on their feet and going strong.

Webster had decidedly the better of the milling for eight rounds but in the final two sessions the northerner cut loose and bewildered the local boy by his lightning work.

The Hebrew's finish, many of the spectators averred, entitled him at least to a draw.

Webster's victory is based on a two-to-one verdict of the sporting writers of three local morning papers. The dissenting scribe gave Attell a decision by a narrow margin, but the belt and the title, so far as local sports are concerned, belong to Webster.

Webster surprised even his staunchest admirers by his sterling work in the first eight rounds. He easily evaded Attell's rushes and more than held his own when Attell forced him in the infighting.

Attell apparently did not strike his stride until the ninth round arrived. During this period, and the final round, he smothered Webster to the delight of the small contingent of San Francisco rooters in the pavilion.

It is probable that McCarey will try to match the boys for a return engagement in November.

OREGON'S CO-EDS MUST PLAY TENNIS

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., Oct. 13.—Dr. Stuart, the new ladies' physical instructor, is a tennis enthusiast and has made tennis compulsory for "co-ed" physical training. Last spring three excellent courts were built exclusively for the girls' tennis association. Since then the game has become remarkably popular with the women of the university. Two years' physical training is compulsory for both men and women and Dr. Stuart believes that tennis courts and outdoor exercise is preferable to gymnasium work.

EVANS HAS REP AMONG HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS

John Berg, the light heavyweight champion of the Pacific coast is to wrestle Walt Evans, the southern light heavyweight champion, at the Dreamland hall, Seventh and Oak, next Monday night. They are two of the best light heavyweights in the country, and as both hold the title of champion, there will be something to wrestle for, besides the division of the gate receipts.

Berg has already won a big following in Portland, by his clever mat work, and now that he is to wrestle a man of his own weight, Portland sports will have a chance to see him at his best. Walt Evans is regarded by wrestlers as a comer. He has been successful in all his matches with the light heavyweights, and has defeated some of the best heavyweights in the country. He comes here with a reputation, second to none, and this match of Monday night looks like one of the fastest ever staged in Portland. Some good preliminaries, including some of the best local talent in the shape of boxing exhibitions will help to make a successful show.

King Edward's colt, Minoru, has won a total of 15,830 pounds as follows: 1908, great Surry Foal stakes, Epsom, 934 pounds; 1909, Greenham stakes, Newbury, 879 pounds; Two Thousand Guineas, Newmarket, 5600 pounds; the Derby stakes, Epsom, 6540 pounds; St. James palace stakes, Ascot, 1350 pounds; Sussex stakes, Goodwood, 617 pounds.

MULTNOMAH CLUB NAMES DATES OF FIRST OPEN CITY TOURNAMENT

November 8 and 9 have been set aside by the Multnomah club as the dates for the first open city boxing and wrestling tournament in its history.

The preliminary events will be held on the eighth and the finals on the ninth. Entries will be received from the club, the Turn Verein, the Catholic Young Men's club, Tom Tracey's boxing club, and kindred organizations. Unattached boxers and wrestlers may also enter, provided they are registered with the A. A. U. They are directed to call on T. Morris Dunne, the secretary, in order to be registered.

Gold and silver medals will be given by the club to winners of first and second places in the tournament.

It is expected that the tournament will be one of the most successful since the club was organized, and will do much toward fostering boxing and wrestling.

SIR TOM COMING AFTER OUR TROPHY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Glasgow, Oct. 13.—Sir Thomas Lipton expects to start for New York Saturday for the purpose of reopening negotiations with the New York Yacht club for a yacht race, in the hope that he may yet be able to lift the America's cup. If another race is to be arranged, the rules of the New York Yacht club must be modified.

Sir Thomas is accompanied by Colonel Noel, one of his closest yachting friends.

Hans Holmer's defeat of Henri St. Yves in the full Marathon at Montreal stamps the young Canadian as the champion. Aside from John Svanberg, the Swedish champion, there are few to give him contest. Alfred Shrubb, the English champion, who saw the recent contest, says that the Canadian has no equal. St. Yves' defeat shows the impossibility of the Marathoner lasting any time at the long grind. The little Frenchman ran well for about two years and must now stop.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS TO PLAY FOOTBALL

The grammar school football league was revived at a meeting of several of the school principals and Professor Krohn, the physical director of the city schools, yesterday afternoon, and games will commence as soon as the schedule can be arranged. Each school will pay the expenses of its team. About a dozen schools will enter the league.

Zbyszko, the polish wrestler, is said to have won over 200 contests in European cities in the last six years. In Paris in 1905 he defeated Lurich, the German champion. Cyclops, the Frenchman, Beck Olsen, Swede, Constant le Marin, Austrian and Madrali, the Turk. In 1906 in London he won by defeating Joseph Lambsert of England, and Ivan Padouoney, the Russian. At Munich, Zbyszko's victims were Zaiken, Abes and John Phol. At Vienna the same year he beat Bambert, La Rose and Eberle. At Berlin last spring the Polish star beat Omar Bunaire, Jacob Kock, Alex Aberg and Kare Hassan.

BEAVERS WIN IN LUCKY SEVENTH

Comedy and Baseball Entertain Fans While Portland Slams Villagers.

Considerable comedy and some baseball was injected into the tilt on the Vaughn street green yesterday, Portland winning, 2 to 0, mainly through the good pitching of Tom Seaton and the classy fielding of Ivor Olson. Mickey Graney and Ote Johnson were the pair to register the brace of runs, with "Chawgie" Ort starring in the role of pinch hitter.

Brick Devereaux, that extremely funny fellow, and Happy Hogan, a nearwit, were responsible for the greatest part of the noise. Brick was given a generous hand by the fans, and after that they kidded the red dog unmercifully. Brick was on the job, though, and there was a continual interchange of "small talk."

Roy Hitt, the Vernon twirler, was working nicely, and kept the men hugging the bases.

Graney smashed out a three-bagger in the "lucky seventh," with one down, that sailed far over the head of Stovall in center, and it was only fast footwork on the part of the Hooligan that kept Graney from stretching the hit into four bases. Hitt and Hogan fiddled around a bit with Johnson, finally deciding it was better to pass him and chance it with Ort.

George Did It.

Now, George isn't a .300 chap by any means, but he hits occasionally in pinches, and yesterday was his occasional day. He rode one gently between second and first, and John Glad scored. Johnson took third. Ort tried to take second but was headed off and beat it back to first. He cavorted up and down the line, finally making a wild slide back. Eagan's throw was low and went to the bleachers. Johnson scored and Ort made second. These were the only scores in the game.

Olson made three plays that were beauties, in fact his fielding was the feature of the game.

HUGHEY JENNINGS OUTWITS OHIO SHERIFF AND TY IS IN PITTSBURG

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Pittsburg, Oct. 13.—Tyrus Cobb, the sensational slugger, and star of the Detroit aggregation of ball players of the American league, was unable to directly accompany his team mates to Pittsburg for the fifth game of the series for the baseball championship of the world. It happened in this manner:

Hughey Jennings, the astute manager of the Detroit team, learned that the Ohio officials intended to search the train either at Toledo or Cleveland and take the Georgia cracker back to Cleveland to answer an alleged indictment for stabbing a watchman at the Hotel Euclid several weeks ago.

Instead of making the trip with the rest of the team, Cobb started for Pittsburg by way of Buffalo and will arrive here at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The other members of the Detroit aggregation arrived here at 9 o'clock.

FORBES CHANGES HIS LINEUP AT OREGON

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 13.—As a result of Saturday's football game there have been several changes in the varsity lineup. Coach Forbes has discovered where the various men work best and will now bend his efforts to perfecting team work. Captain Clarke, who had been playing left end is again back of the line at left half. Clarke knows the game sufficiently to play any position and considering his weight, 180 pounds, is wonderfully fast. He would make an ideal end. However, he is too valuable to be spared from the back field and though Forbes likes his work at end he will probably be a fixture at left half.

Dean Walker, the freshman from Columbia university, surprised everyone by his showing on the freshman team and is now lining up with the varsity at full back. From his showing so far he will make a strong bid for the place. He is fairly heavy and gets around well. Chuck Taylor will probably alternate with Bill Main at the other half position. Main will also be worked at tackle.

Big Scott has been changed from tackle to guard. Storie, who played full back saturday, has also been shifted to a guard position.

With this lineup the team has been getting together splendidly the last two evenings and developing a fair amount of team work.
