

UNION BABIES AT LA GRANDE SHOW

County's Pride Will Be Exhibited During Harvest and Pioneer Week.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 La Grande, Or., Oct. 14.—A grand rush of babies for entry to the baby show, which is to be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Elks hall in connection with Harvest Bazaar week, is reported by Mrs. Dr. Richardson, who is in charge of the show. Thirty-five babies have been entered. One baby, Virginia, Gertrude Hunter, is to come as far as from Wallawa.

The absurd task of selecting the prettiest out of a great crowd of prettiest babies is not going to be imposed upon any unfortunate judge; the prize is going to the luckiest. The physicians of the city have contributed toward the purchase of a solid gold necklace. Photographer Ritter has volunteered to make a number of postals of the prize winner which may be sold by the A. W. N. ladies.

Infants under 2 1/2 years old may enter.

MAY COMPEL BAILEY TO DO DUTY

 Dairy commissioner has made it necessary for the state veterinarian and government inspectors to do now the work which he should have done long ago.

Ample Proof at Hand.
 Proof is at hand to establish each one of the points listed above. As to No. 1, an extensive tour of dairies supplying much of the milk furnished in Portland, which was conducted by The Journal, did not result in the discovery of a single poster issued by the dairy commissioner to tell dairymen how they may operate a sanitary dairy, according to law.

"Three years ago," said Dr. Robert C. Tenney, state health officer, "I asked Commissioner Bailey why he did not issue such a poster and he replied that personal contact with dairymen was the thing, not posters."

"I have found," related Dr. D. W. Mack, city milk inspector, "no tangible evidence of Commissioner Bailey as a regulating, cleansing, law enforcing official among the dairymen. Solicitation of political patronage, toleration of evil conditions, these are the things which have been impressed most upon me as the distinctive features of his administration."

Upon this point the dairy law reads:

(L. 1905, page 348, section 2.) The person elected as dairy and food commissioner shall collect and disseminate such information as is calculated to develop the dairy industry with the state. The said commissioner shall establish his office in the city of Portland. In this state, and shall, upon complaint being made by any citizen of the state of Oregon, or without such complaint, if in his opinion necessary, examine into any case of violation or supposed violation of the provisions of this act or of any other law which shall keep a full and correct account of all business done by him or his deputies, chemists, or agents, and report the same to the legislature upon the complaint of any citizen that Bailey probably bases his statement. "I want specific instances before I investigate, but if this is true he evidently neglects the reading of the latter part of the same sentence, saying, 'or without complaint, if in his opinion necessary.'"

Bailey's long residence here and the frequent agitation and complaints relating to the dirty dairies would give him possible information impelling investigation without further complaint of specific instances.

The state license law provides (L. 1905, p. 354, sec. 22): "Every person, firm or corporation engaged in the sale of milk or cream in any city of 10,000 or more inhabitants, or in the sale of cows or cows for the purpose of selling milk therefrom, therein, shall on the first day of April of each year, apply to the dairy and food commissioner for a certificate of inspection, and shall pay the sum of $2.50 for the same; provided always that this certificate can be revoked at any time, by said commissioner or inspector, when said dairy is found not to be in a proper condition as to healthfulness of the cows, or as to cleanliness and proper sanitary regulations of the stables, buildings or grounds in which said cows are kept. A certificate shall be issued to any person, firm or corporation as herein provided, where the same has been revoked, without payment of $2.50 for the same. Each and every certificate issued as provided in this section shall be in the name of the person, firm or corporation and shall be numbered, and the number corresponding to the one on the certificate shall be placed in a conspicuous place on the wagon or vehicle used by said person, firm or corporation."

Must Have License.
 This section means that no dairymen shall sell milk without a license. Before he can have a license his place must have been inspected, and the license becomes therefore a certificate that the inspection proving the sanitary condition of the place, was made. To make possession of such license obvious the conspicuous place on the wagon or vehicle of those coming in from out of town after many days' search can be found bearing the license number. This is because a bare foot of the dairies would be clean, the death rate lowered, the state board of health provided with the data it wants, and the long campaign of The Journal and its friends unnecessary.

Had the license money been collected the monthly bulletin for protection to the consumer would have been issued from the commissioner's office, thus putting him in conformity with the law.

Disregards Offers of Assistance.
 But it becomes evident that even without the license money the monthly bulletin could have been published by Bailey's expense money. Had he wished to give the people the assurance that he is safeguarding their interests by constant and definitely applied official activity.

On page 23 of Bailey's last report appears his statement that the business which he thinks would cost $50 a month, or $600 a year cannot be paid for without special appropriation. On page 25 of the same report, however, he states that an expense balance of $1174.57, or $74.55, more than enough to pay for the bulletin at his own price. But the state board of health monthly bulletins have been costing only $171 an issue, or about one third Bailey's figures. From this it would seem that Bailey did not ascertain the cost of printing and how it might be met, before making his complaint. At the same time it is a matter of record that he disregarded the Retail Grocers' association's offer to print this educational matter free of all cost to the state if he would supply it.

In this connection information is obtained from Senator DeLoach, who shows that Bailey's influence at the last session of the legislature defeated a bill containing him to turn over reports of his analyses to the newspapers, trade journals and other reputable publications and periodicals to be used as a matter of news. This bill carried an appropriation for this duty.

Bailey Defeats Measures.
 It is also found by reference to the records of the city council that when two years ago health bills were made to establish a city laboratory which would make milk tests in addition to other things, Bailey's influence defeated this measure. The bills proposed being that his office was well equipped and would make any tests desirable.

Bailey stated to a representative of The Journal, "I do not believe in all this publicity. Records show his attitude has been consistently against publicity relating to dirty dairies or manufacturers of impure food."

Leaves Dirty Dairies Alone.
 Finally, Commissioner Bailey, so far as records show, has never closed a single dairy in the vicinity of Portland for being dirty, nor does he make such a claim. His prosecutions have always been for adding water to milk. Adding filth to milk so that it became completely unfit for human consumption never became a cause for his activity in the courts that have been proven to be unclean, unsanitary, unventilated, many cows unhealthy, the attendants often unwashed, the milk of the dairies, yet Oregon's dairy commissioner with the law prescribing his duties absolutely clear, has been in office nearly 12 years.

Forty-second church, under the auspices of the Holy Names society. A short program was offered and cards were played. The committee consisted of John Kenefick, Michael Early and Walter Strong.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday morning at the Sacred Heart church when Herbert Wirfs and Miss Bliva Corder were united in marriage by Rev. Father Gregory of the Sacred Heart parish. Miss Frances Wirfs, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Jack Doerfler as best man. The bride was tastefully dressed in white net over white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. After the ceremony the bridal party and invited guests went to the home of the groom's parents where the wedding dinner was served. The wedding march was played by Miss Marguerite Doerfler, cousin of the groom. The parlor and dining room were prettily decorated with Oregon flowers and ferns. The groom is a graduate of Mount Angel college. The bride's home is at Troutdale. They will return there to make their home.

Mrs. Sarah Lovell-Boylan returned Saturday evening from an extended visit in the east. While there she visited in Salt Lake City and Wyoming. Her brother, Frank Lovell, will follow her with his family as soon as he can dispose of his stock and property, and will make his home in this city.

The annual meeting of the Arts and Crafts society, which was held at the museum, discussed the desirability of very satisfactory to its membership. Of especial interest was the report from the salesrooms of the society, showing the marked increase of this year's sales over those of last year. It is interesting to know that the Portland society has made more sales since the holidays than the Boston society, and the report further shows that the Portland society is doing better work than other societies of eastern cities. Since October 1, 1908, the society salesrooms have turned in $2000. The craftsmen here are unusually artistic and their work is desired everywhere, as evidenced by the great call for things made in Portland. Miss Crocker, custodian of the art museum, discussed the desirability of getting into closer touch with the various art organizations throughout the city and noted surprise that there was such a keen interest shown by Portlanders in art, and that Portland numbers so many different organizations. Officers elected yesterday for the coming year were: President, Mrs. Lee Hoffman; vice-president, Judge C. H. Carey; second vice-president, Miss M. J. Crocker; secretary, Mrs. C. F. Swigert; treasurer, C. F. Swigert.

Forty-one ladies were present yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Coffman, corner of East Fifty-ninth street and the Sandy road. The occasion was the bi-weekly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Rose City Park Presbyterian church. The time fund for the building of a new church edifice showed unexpectedly gratifying results. A new pastor, discussed the desirability of the society's policy. It is what is known as the exchange table. Each member brings food delicacies, articles of clothing, fancy work or other things of value and these are sold for the benefit of the church fund.

Laurelhurst

The Addition with Character

This is a residence park of unequalled merit that is just a little better than seems necessary.

Do you know what it will cost you to secure a fine fifty-foot lot in LAURELHURST?

Let us show you. We have no cheap lots, but have a large number of very low priced lots.

For example, we have:

- 24 lots at $750 to $850 each.
- 65 lots at $900 to $1000 each.
- 240 lots at $1050 to $1200 each.
- 175 lots at $1250 to $1400 each.

and some large-sized lots equal to two or three standard-sized lots, as high as $3500 each.

You can go blindfolded and pick out a good lot in LAURELHURST, because there are no poor ones. And the prices! We know they are lower than they should be, but we want you to have the opportunity to share with us in the benefits of the increasing values.

Saturday afternoon or Sunday would be a good time to see LAURELHURST. It will take only 15 minutes to get there by either the Rose City Park or Montavilla car lines. Both run through the property. You had better take the Montavilla line, however, as it runs by our office on the ground at East Thirty-eighth street.

We will take you out if you will telephone and make an appointment.

If you have seen LAURELHURST and want a high-class home, you had better call at our downtown office and talk it over with us. We can do business.

SOCIETY

BY DRUSILLA DREW

(Social news is a daily feature of The Journal. Any one wishing to insert such news should send it signed, with address, and telephone it before 10 o'clock in the morning.)

Mrs. J. H. Trowbridge of New York is visiting her son, George M. Trowbridge at 195 North Twenty-second street. Mr. Trowbridge met his mother in Seattle Friday and together they visited the fair, returning last night to Portland. Mrs. Trowbridge will be here for several weeks.

Mrs. Herbert Holman was hostess to the Luncheon Bridge club yesterday afternoon at its initial meeting this season. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. Members of the club, which is of four years' standing, are: Mrs. C. C. Smith, Mrs. James Hart, Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. Helen Cardwell, Mrs. William Book, Mrs. I. C. Sanford and Mrs. Mark Gill.

Mrs. Edgar Bryan of Richland, Or., is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. E. Bryan, at 816 Lovejoy street. Mrs. Bryan is formerly Miss Maud Monk of this city.

Mrs. Walter V. Smith is entertaining this afternoon with four tables at the bridge at her residence, 441 North Twenty-first street.

RIDGEFIELD, WASH.

Ridgefield, Wash., Oct. 13.—Mrs. A. L. Rounds of Pioneer died Sunday. Her remains were buried in the Ridgefield cemetery Tuesday.

Miss Gertrude Gaukel, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is improving.

Henry McCandrew's two story bungalow, built on his lots in the south end of town, is nearly completed, and Homer Weber's house in the north end of town is also nearly finished.

Miss Ida Brice was in town last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, visiting her parents. She visited the literary Friday evening and met many of her old schoolmates. She left for the Portland business college Monday.

The high school literary is working on Ingersoll's "Vision of the Future State," Senator Gordon's speech on "Light," Hamlet's soliloquy, Portia's plea for mercy and Lincoln's Gettysburg address for the first local declamatory contest about November 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who have been visiting at Mr. Smith's, returned to their home in Greenfield, Cal., Monday. Mayor Smith accompanied them as far as Portland.

Commissioner F. C. Smith is in Portland on business this week.

At the council meeting Monday evening one of the streets on the new Abrams & Knox plat was discontinued, the blocks, in the vicinity of the council, being too small. The council voted to establish another railroad crossing in the north end of town. Several bills against the incorporation were handed over to the finance committee.

Rev. Smith of Spokane has been appointed by the Methodist conference to fill the place vacated by Mr. Hayes in the church here. Mr. Smith will not be here for several weeks, as he is acting as a substitute in one of the churches in Spokane.

The High School Athletic club has just received a new vaulting pole, a discus, a basketball and football.

LA GRANDE FOOTBALL TEAM TO MEET IDAHO

La Grande, Or., Oct. 14.—The most extended trip ever taken by a La Grande school football team is in store for the players the last of this week. On Friday evening the eleven and several substitutes will leave for Caldwell, Idaho, where they will meet the College of Idaho on the gridiron Saturday afternoon. It is expected the game will give a fairly accurate line on the strength of the team for the season, as it is the first real game of the season. Both teams are about evenly matched in weight, 160 pounds being the average weight.

Coch Wail said today he was not certain who would make the trip as that depended upon this week's practices to a great extent. Signal practice and the development of new plays will be the feature of the work done this week.

New Pastor at Summerville.
