Schaefer's Slants Are Puzzle When Homesters Have Men on Cushions.

Schaefer, that tall, raw boned person from the suburb, with the romantic handle, had the Beavers swinging their heads off for nine innings yesterday, winning the game 5 to 1. Errors of the homesters figured largely in the scoring of the visitors.

scoring of the visitors. Harkness started for the Mackmen, but he had nothing on the ball and it was seen after the first two or three heaved down the alley that he would get bumped before the game was very many innings old. He was wigwagged to the rest cure in the third frame and Howard Guyn sent into the breach. Guyn had a margin of three runs to overcome, which was impossible the way the Beavers were dropping before Schaefer's withering fire. The locals outhit the southerners, but the bingles were not ordered up in the timellest manner.

VARSITY GOLF CLUB TO BE REORGANIZED

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 14 .- The golf club is being + organized in the varsity. Several years ago golf was extremely . popular with the students and # faculty, but the links were al-. lowed to run down, and interest in the Scotch game flagged. Excellent links are being put 🔶 in condition on University Hill, a Martinke, suburb of Eugene, and golf bids , fair to regain its popularity. Several members of the faculty are enthusiasts and are . prominent in reorganizing the . club. Professor Dearborn holds the record on the links, having made the nine holes in 36. The organization plans yearly tourna.

Graney's Great Pog.

Grancy's Great Feg. Jack Grancy contributed the most sensational double play of the season in the second inning. Brashear was on third when Eagan batted a long, high fly to deep center. Grancy received the ball perfectly and with a grand throw heaved Brashear out at the plate, the hall coming low and true to Fisher. The score: VERNON.

DANNY WEBSTER WILL NOT GET BANTAM BELT

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 .- Although Danny Webster, the local . ٠ bantamweight fighter, earned a hairline decision from Monte At- 💠 tell of San Francisco in their bout at Naud Junction pavilion Tuesday aight, the championship belt offered to the winner by Fromüter Tom McCarey was not delivered to the little pugilist. According to the terms of the offer, to secure the trophy one of the fighters must have received . majority verdict from the five .. local newspapers. Webster was 🕈 declared winner by two papers # and Attell by one. The other two alfodged the bout a draw.

McCarey stated today that both men have agreed to meet again Thanksgiving day in this city. The belt will be offered on the same terms to the winner of this match maintenance of gymnastic apparatus in the grove. The faculty concurred with the stu-dents in the work and contributions were raised, which led to the erection of a bathhouse in the grove. This build-ing, which was of small dimensions, was destroyed by fire. The gymnastic so-ciety flourished, and a natural out-growth was the playing of cricket and baseball. On July 1, 1859, Amherst and Williams engaged in the first game of intercollegiate baseball. The game, which was played at Pittsfield, resulted in a victory for Amherst, the final score being 73 to 32.

being 73 to 32. Shortly after this date steps were taken for the erection of a college gym-nasium. Five thousand dollars was raised by subscription, and on October 3. 1855, the cornerstone was laid. The building was speedily completed and was named for Dr. Benjamin Barrett of Northampton, who was a Miberal con-tributor to the fund.
