MANY TO SPEAK AT INSTITUTE
Various Topics of General Interest Will Be Discussed.

Municipal officers and other prominent men are promising their services as speakers to the Civic Institute to be held in the new Y. M. C. A. auditorium November 5-11. The first week's program will be ready for detailed announcement in a few days now. On the day devoted to city government, George Baker, president of the council, will speak on "The Present Problems of the City." Dr. C. H. Chapman, who headed the charter commission some months ago, will speak on "The Commission Plan." "The commission plan is still a vital subject," said Dr. Chapman, "and needs adequate presentation before the people. It is not true, as some have suggested, that it has been so thoroughly discussed that people are weary of it. It has not been presented to the general public, or discussed by them, in any thorough fashion. I shall be very glad of this opportunity to bring before a general meeting, interested in civic affairs, the question which is agitating so many of our leading cities at the present day."

On one of the days devoted to child life, a special visit to the juvenile court has been arranged. Previous to the visit Mr. Teuscher will speak on the "Probation System," and L. H. Baker, who is in charge of the detention home on "Delinquent Children." The various organizations which care for dependent children will outline their work very briefly.

With regard to the special visit to the court, Mr. Teuscher says: "The juvenile court is open to the public and such a visit can be made at any time. But we have for some time adopted the policy of shutting out the public from these cases, because so many merely curious people dropped in, to whose gaze we did not wish to expose the children. The juvenile court work becomes a fad with some people. But we are willing to hold a special opening session for the Civic Institute because we approve of its purpose in diffusing knowledge of our civic institutions.

"The course, there are certain types of cases which are never under any circumstances tried in public. But there come up every week many cases which are of interest to the community in our city, and which we are willing to have presented before such an audience as this will be. The judges will arrange a set of typical cases to come at the time when the civic institute visits us, in order that it may be as interesting as possible.

On the day devoted to jails, W. L. Parkinson's talk on "My Experience in the City Jail" will be followed by an address by Frank E. Watkins on "Our Future City Jail." Mr. Watkins is on the committee engaged in preparing plans for the future city jail, and he will take up with authority the question of improvements needed. "Our present jail is not ideal," said Mr. Watkins, "though I am inclined to believe it is run about as well as it could be under the present conditions. We recognize the need of another jail, and are preparing for one."

Many of our most active citizens, who are working for the public good, are to be found among the women, and these too, will have a place on the program. Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of the woman's auxiliary in the police department, will give an address on "Protective and Preventive Work for Women." Mrs. Baldwin's department is one which was originally organized under the Young Women's Christian Association, and which proved itself of such public value that it was taken over by the city. It has proved the precursor of similar work in Seattle, Tacoma and Bellingham, a fact not usually known by the residents of this city. To Portland belongs the credit of having first grown in this most important department of civic activity.

Among the other speakers who have been secured are William C. Hunter, principal of the east side high school, who will give an address on "The Social Influences of the Schools," in which he will treat of the "extra" things done by schools about which few people are adequately informed. Miss Mary Frances Isom, who will speak of "Children and the Work of Libraries," with special reference to the work for "The Home," and Mrs. Millie R. Trembull, who will tell about "Work Under the Child Labor Law."

STATEHOOD AS SHE IS PLANNED
Taft and Hitchcock Warn Arizona to Respect Divine Right of Interests.

(United Press Leased Wire).
 Grand Canyon, Ariz., Oct. 14.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is traveling with President Taft through Arizona, has been in the territory for four days and the politicians of both parties are in a fever of speculation over the way and wherefore.

In company with Delegate Cameron and two or three others, the postmaster general has ridden horseback from town to town, and it is believed by many that he is on a tour of investigation that will decide the statehood question. If the postmaster general finds that Arizona will be in the Republican column, they say the statehood craft will slide down the ways as if greased. If on the other hand, Hitchcock concludes after his conferences with the leading business men and politicians of the territory that the Democrats are likely to capture the two senators to which the new state would be entitled, the launching will certainly not take place next winter, and perhaps not for several congressional winters to come.

When Hitchcock was asked about his mission in Arizona he changed the subject and talked about the weather.

It is believed by some of the business men with whom Hitchcock has conferred that the postmaster general is quite a bit of a constitutionalist. He is believed to frame a constitution like the Oklahoma instrument. If they do, he hints, they will cut out an enormous amount of trouble for themselves.

President Taft is making the definite promise to the people of Arizona that he will do all in his power to secure statehood for them, but is warning them that they must not frame a constitution like the Oklahoma instrument. If they do, he hints, they will cut out an enormous amount of trouble for themselves.

EXPLAINS MERITS OF BRIDGE DRAW
Engineer Strauss of Chicago Appears Before the Committee.

Engineer Strauss of Chicago, inventor of the trunnion bascule draw and a member of one of the best known firms of engineers in the United States, is in Portland to interest the city executive in his invention which he desires to place in use on the new Broadway bridge.

Mr. Strauss carries a small model of his bascule with him and at a special meeting of the bridge committees of the city council and the city executive board he explained the advantageous points of the trunnion bascule and showed how its adoption would save money not only on the initial cost but in the maintenance expense.

The engineer stated that 14 trunnion bascules are in operation now and that 11 more are in process of construction in various parts of the country.

In Chicago where there is the greatest diversity of types in movable bridges the trunnion draw, although the latest development, according to Mr. Strauss, has found favor with the leading engineers and has been adopted by the city government. The largest draw of this type in existence is one 170 feet wide across the Chicago river. This is used by the Chicago & Northwestern railway and carries 1300 trains a day.

The demonstrator compared the workings of the bascule draw with others used in Chicago and stated that the almost universal sentiment of engineers the world over is in favor of this type of construction.

The principal argument in favor of the trunnion bascule is made by Mr. Strauss, is that it is cheaper to maintain and gives better service than the lift. The rolling contact of the wheels made to the lift draw is that it is stretched, as he says, the sudden stretching of one cable would greatly increase the strain on the other and might cause it to break with disastrous results. The swept over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings—growing ripples and faster current—Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see how fast they send all your best feelings return. "After long suffering from kidney aches and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J. R. Blackstone of Erie, Pa. Only 50c at Woodward, Clarke & Co.

PORTLAND MAN OPPOSES "RING"
Leabo Faction Alleges Unfairness in Barbers' Union Election.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal).
 Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—T. M. Leabo of Portland, the insurgents' candidate for president of the International Barbers' union, was defeated by a narrow margin. The convention ended with a feeling of discontent and dissatisfaction, and it is predicted that there will be a second election in the near future. It is said that the manner in which the election of officers was conducted will be appealed to the membership of the organization. A number have asserted that they would make a demand for a referendum immediately.

BUSY EDITORS START AGITATION IN CROOK
 Bend, Or., Oct. 14.—In addition to a "heart" central Oregon now has a "hub." The journalistic phase of this country's life has received an impetus in the form of a new publication. The convention of the budding town of Redmond, 20 miles from Bend, on the banks of one of the big irrigation ditches that flow from the Deschutes, is the home of the new paper.

The Hub made its initial appearance last week. There is every indication for a bright future for the new paper, as its chief source of advertising revenue is said to be the real estate men, whose numbers rather outnumber all others. This is the sixth paper to enter the Crook county field.

Prineville, the county seat, in a recent publicity publication, announced itself as the "Heart of Oregon." Now that Redmond comes forward as the "Hub" the solving of the question as to which town is really the pivotal point waxes difficult.

ST. JOHNS DOES NOT FAVOR ANNEXATION
 The plan of the Portland Realty board to annex St. Johns to Portland before the taking of the coming census will be given a sharp jolt, it is said, if proposed to the St. Johns citizens, as is reported to be the intention.

Many of the residents and taxpayers of the suburb are of the opinion that the freedom of action and individuality now possessed are worth much more to the town than any possible benefits that might accrue from becoming part of Portland. Prominent citizens such as C. A. Wood, Mayor Hendricks, F. W. Valentine, Dr. McCaskey, George Hall, H. F. Horsman, T. J. Monahan and dozens of others, while admitting that St. Johns will in the natural course of events at some future time become a part of Portland, are unanimous in the opinion that the time is not yet ripe for this move.

They and many others also say that it would be impossible to secure proper police and fire protection, as well as the necessary street lighting and water needs of a rapidly growing action.

DYSPEPSIA
"Having taken your wonderful 'Cacarets' for three months and being entirely cured of stomach catarrh and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to 'Cacarets' for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail, and I find that Cacarets relieve more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."
 J. H. McGee,
 108 Mercer St., Jersey City, N. J.

CLOSED TO TRAFFIC IN EARLY MORNINGS

Telephone line through the forest from Medford to Pullman bay is completed.

GRATEFUL WOMAN HAS FUNDS ENOUGH
 The fund for the relief of Mrs. M. Klipp was raised today by a subscription of $25 sent to her through the Journal by Alexander H. Kerr. Mrs. Klipp is grateful for the same and has sent $25 to such position. She is unable to care for her family without further assistance. The total amount subscribed through The Journal is $26.25.

Buyers Herd of Herefords.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal).
 Wallawa, Or., Oct. 14.—A. Hunter, a well known stockman of this vicinity, has purchased the entire herd of registered Herefords formerly owned by Fred Gaskill of La Grande. Mr. Hunter will gradually dispose of his stock and devote his time to raising registered stock, as he considers them more profitable.
