CASE WILL NOT BE DISMISSED

Portland will witness the best exhibition of flying machines, both dirigible balloons and aeroplanes, during the Rose Festival next June, even if seen in this country, declared General Manager George L. Hutchins of the Rose Festival association, who returned last night from a trip to Chicago and St. Louis, where he entered into negotiations with the leading fliers of the country looking to their appearance here next June. Among the dirigible balloon men seen by Manager Hutchins were Captain I. S. Hildner, Condon Beachy and Secretary Post of the Aero club of America, all of whom promised to come to the Rose festival and fly their balloons. He also met while in St. Louis Clarence B. Hannon, a millionaire aviator, who files for the sport he finds in it, and who promised to be in Portland next June without fail.
