

JOMELL SINGS WAY TO HEARTS

Portland Music Lovers Are Charmed With Appearance of Noted Vocalist.

By G. I. W.

The opening concert of the season last night served as a reminder of the unfitness of the Bungalow theatre as a concert hall. Madame Jomell was introduced by Miss Steers and Miss Coman in a pleasing concert, but throughout the program she was conscious of the unresponsiveness of the house—meaning this time the building and not the people in it. For the audience was enthusiastic indeed and called Madame Jomell out time and again to bow her thanks.

Madame Jomell fulfilled all expectations that have been aroused by reports of her personal appearance. She is of fine, commanding appearance and one can easily understand how she got her reputation for being the best gowned woman on the concert stage. But she is more the best singer on the concert stage. In fact, her appearance is the cause for a slight disappointment, for from such a magnificent physique one expects great Wagnerian arias to roll out with splendid dramatic fervor. But here is a lyric voice of pleasing quality, good range and excellent training, but not surprising volume. She has great clearness of tone, and there is precision in handling. The middle register is beautiful with clear and mellow tones. The upper register is bell-like in its clearness, though not particularly resonant. But every note comes out with the greatest ease and she uses her voice most artistically.

The "Thine" aria was a splendid opening number and was heard with special interest because this later operatic school is so little heard here. "Du bist die Ruh" (Schubert) was sung with smoothness to emphasize the spirit of rest and peace. The Indian song by Cadman was unusual and met with great favor. The Chantade number "L'Éte" was sung with good swing and rhythm. "Chanté" proved a most attractive little song given with a delicate touch. "L'Éte" a song written by the accompanist, Miss Worden, received much applause chiefly in deference to the composer, but was not startlingly original.

The "Ave Maria" pleased, of course, as it always does, though some sing it in less of the "grace" time and with more dramatic fervor. Her encores were "Flowering" (Schneider), "Will o' the Wisp" (Spross) and "Annie Laurie." She has great charm of manner, is absolutely at home on the stage and wins the sympathy of the audience by her gentility and her ready smile. Her personality is one of her big assets.

Miss Marie Nichol, violinist, proved to be a careful and conscientious musician, who handles her bow with much skill. She possesses much temperament and sings her numbers with a great deal of gentle beauty. However, her playing though sincere and refined, smacks a little of the amateur, which may be due largely to her youth and inexperience. Her tone is good and pure and she has well developed powers of technique. Miss Worden was at the piano as accompanist for both Madame Jomell and Miss Nichol.

RESCUED GIRLS STAY REFORMED

Commander Eva Booth of the Salvation Army.

"No matter how black and sin-laden the heart, if you can gain its sympathy it will open up to you and you can help it," is the doctrine of Commander Eva Booth, head of all Salvation Army operations in the United States.

"We are a versatile people who can adapt ourselves to all circumstances and I think that is the reason for our success over and against that of some of the churches and other organizations. Many of the churches tend to one class of people and one class of preaching while we are trained in the arts of winning people. No two people can be approached in the same way and that is where we reach our unique methods are able to reach so many and do such a great work."

Commander Booth says there are 29 rescue homes maintained by the army in this country and that their very strict statistics show that 80 per cent of the girls who come under the care of the army are permanently reformed. This is not only a high Salvation Army percentage but is the highest average of the sort established in the world. Commander Booth will speak at the White Temple tonight at 8 o'clock on "The Song of the City" which is one of her favorite lectures and one that has proved exceedingly popular wherever it has been given.

THIS WOMAN SAW CONBOY SHOOT LAGAN

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Detectives are searching today for Mrs. M. V. L. Payne, who is considered one of the most important witnesses for the state in the case against former Police Captain Michael Conboy, who is charged with the murder of Bernard Lagan. The search for the missing woman has been going on for a week but the secret did not leak until today. It was first discovered that Mrs. Payne was not within call, at the police court examination, and immediate communication was established with her home at Louisville, Ky., which resulted in the announcement that she was not in the city.

Mrs. Payne witnessed the shooting of the young man from a window of the Congress hotel, on the corner of Ellis and Filmore streets, where she was stopping. At the coroner's investigation she testified that she saw the whole affair and stated that Captain Conboy was the man who discharged the revolver. She also testified that she saw Lagan pick up Conboy, who had fallen shortly before.

Judge Gatens Cuts Many Nuptial Knots With Justice's Sword.

Frederick A. Anstey, a traveling man, objected to the fast pace traveled by his wife, Alma Quocullina Anstey, and his marriage tie was annulled by Circuit Judge Gatens this morning after he had told of his wife's flirting proclivities. "She liked fast company," he said, "and visited numerous grills around town with other people. She would drink stuff as long as you would pay for it."

Anstey said his wife took a long joy tour in the east without his consent. She went to New York, Boston, Montreal and other cities, and was gone six months. She wrote him once for money, but did not get it. When she returned she called him on the telephone to come and see her. "I thought she was a burst into tears and promised to be good. He took her back, but soon after, he said, she was gone again. She is now in Seattle.

The Ansteyes were married in June, 1902, in Tacoma, Wash. The husband said he did all he could to prevent upon his wife to mend her ways, but he has given up the job. Married back in St. Johns, Mich., in 1914, Mrs. Eva A. Steele of Albany, testified that Jessa M. Steele left her in 1900. She is an elderly, gray-haired woman, and told the judge that she thought it no use to try to live the rest of her life as his wife. She did not ask for alimony, and said her husband has nothing to pay, but Judge Gatens, adhering to his rule that deserting husbands should be made to contribute, ordered that he pay $15 per month for her support. She said that Steele is a roamer, and will not stay long in one place.

G. L. Huston, who obtained a divorce from Grace Huston, testified that she had a grudge against his children by a former marriage. Once she was about to strike his 13-year-old boy with a flat iron, and he sent the boy to bed until his passion had cooled. His wife left him in November, 1907, he said, two years after their marriage, and went to live with her parents in Harriburg, Or. Their 3-year-old child is with her. Huston's 13-year-old boy was called to the stand to tell of his treatment by his step-mother. He wept bitterly in the witness chair, and would not be consoled when Judge Gatens offered him a bag of candy.

Ethel Mulkins, wife of Harry F. Mulkins, an automobile dealer, said her husband had neglected her and falsely accused her of flirting with other men. He told other people that he did not love her any longer. They were married in Portland about four years ago.

Lillie A. Haworth was granted a decree from Richard E. Haworth on the ground of cruelty. She said he humiliated her in the presence of friends, and made life a burden. They were married in The Dalles in March, 1913.

Frankie T. Browne was granted a divorce from Edwin F. Browne because of his habits of drink. They were married in 1905, and the wife said that he has failed to contribute to her support, spending his earnings for drink.

SEVEN INJURED WHEN TOURING CARS CRASH

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Seven persons were injured, two seriously, early today in a head-on collision between two big touring cars on the Great Highway along the ocean beach. Those seriously injured are: Edward Shovlin, Hotel Marcuse, lacerated wound in groin, internal injuries. Mrs. M. J. Murray, 277 Pine street, possible internal injuries, shock. Others injured: Mrs. Edward Shovlin, John Kennedy, John Kennedy, John Murray and chauffeur John Dottenberg. When the machines came together the occupants of both cars were used into the roadway, and several of them were stunned. The ambulance from the Park emergency-hospital was summoned, but before its arrival several taxicabs were pressed into service and those injured were taken to the Central Emergency hospital.

According to Dottenberg, his car was just leaving one of the roadhouses on the boulevard, when Murray's car was seen rapidly approaching. He declared that he attempted to steer to the side, but Murray was coming so rapidly that there was no time to get clear before the crash.

Both machines are wrecked. Murray is a well known mechanical draughtsman of this city.

ECCENTRIC MAN TAKES FRIENDS FOR RIDE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Dayton, Wash., Oct. 29.—Alexander Stewart, the Waitsburg capitalist, who in refusing to allow the appointment of a trustee to look after his property on the grounds that he is insane, has precipitated what promises to be one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of Walla Walla county, paid an eccentric trip to his friends at Waitsburg his home town yesterday. Inviting all who would to accompany him, he ran an excursion to Walla Walla and paid the bill. It is said 25 or 30 of his supporters took the trip. Judge M. N. Goldman of Seattle has been engaged as an attorney to assist Will H. Fouts of Dayton in the defense of Mr. Stewart. Mace McCoy and R. O. Sanders of Waitsburg deny the published stories that they drove Mosgrove, the newly appointed guardian of Stewart away from the millionaire's home with guns.

President Dumas believes the date of the national show has been fixed too early. The apple crop of the valley will not be over 40 cars this year, according to President Dumas. The shortage is due to overproduction the last three years. ## Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Lard Is An Animal Product

Cottolene Is a Vegetable Product

Many people believe with Moses, the great law-giver, that the source of lard is unclean. The source of Cottolene is absolutely clean and wholesome and the product is as healthful as olive oil.

Cottolene comes from the cotton fields of the Sunny South; it is a product of Nature, refined by our exclusive process. The ancestry of lard is not so clean or inviting. Lard never has been, never can be, anything more or less than unwholesome hog fat.

Cottolene makes food that any stomach can digest, while lard is the cause of nine-tenths of all indigestion.

Cottolene is the best frying and shortening medium made to-day. Wherever exhibited in competition with any and all other cooking fats, it has always been granted Highest Awards.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.
