

REPORT MADE TO ORDINERS TESTS CASE ON SEEING APPLES BRIDGE BONDS U. S. COURT ALTHOUGH MOST SEVERE TIME AROUND HORN OF COURSE WANTS OF FACTS

Officials of Oregon Trust Bank Are Severely Scored in Indictment—Criticism Made of Crystal Springs Sanitarium.

Honorable Earl C. Bronough, presiding judge circuit court, Multnomah county, Or.—We have not been able to find time to visit any of the county institutions except the city and county jails, which we found somewhat overcrowded, otherwise in good condition.

The grand jury must acknowledge the courtesies and valuable assistance rendered its members by the district attorney and his deputies during the month, but would recommend that on account of the vast amount of business carried on at his office that in our judgment at least one more deputy should be added to this department.

Abuses Are Alleged. That institution is the private asylum for the insane, known as the Crystal Springs sanitarium, and we respectfully commend to those who succeed us as members of the grand jury that they give this place the time and attention the grave abuses alleged against its management demand.

Charges of Cruelty. Both male and female attendants at the institution are charged with cruelty in many instances, and the management with criminal negligence, which is said to have led to several deaths by suicide.

Immorality Is Charged. The fact that the release of sane persons has recently been procured from the Crystal Springs sanitarium by habeas corpus proceedings, the promise that documentary evidence will be produced to show gross immorality on the part of one of the officials, rendering him an unfit person to have the custody of his unfortunate fellows, the list of names furnished of those who are asserted to be willing to testify as to the facts alleged, and the apparent good faith of those interested in the inquiry—all these things combine to make it plain that in any event a searching investigation should take place.

Bank Never Solvent. During the investigation of the Oregon Trust & Savings bank we find by the statements of the numerous witnesses examined that at no time during the bank's existence was it ever in a solvent condition; that the bank's funds were used in investments in private enterprises of the officials of the bank; that while thus engaged in this reprehensible juggling with and squandering of depositors' funds, the officers of the bank kept such inaccurate and incomplete records that the expert accountants were often puzzled in trying to determine the nature of the various transactions; that in their shameless larceny of money entrusted to their care in the belief that they were carrying on a legitimate banking business these bank officers exhibited case-hardened consciences and the cruellest of natures by robbing a crippled woman.

Widow House Well Shaken

Fissures in Basement of Sanders Home Strengthen the Seismic Theory. Drawing near a successful solution of the strange phenomenon at the residence of J. P. Sanders, 648 Marshall street, Wednesday afternoon, physicians and scientific men of Portland have commenced a thorough investigation.

No more queer quiverings or vibrations appeared yesterday or today to disturb the tranquillity of the Sanders home. Work of cleaning the house of the debris caused by the quakes was finished, and by noon there was little evidence that the home had been visited Wednesday for a period of four hours by strange happenings.

One feature of the investigation of the day was the examination of 11-year-old Ernest Harps, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders by Dr. V. C. Birney, who has been attending the family for the last year. Following a thorough examination, the physician himself, a student of the occult and a scientist, made this statement for publication:

"Ernest Harps, who has been possibly caused the disturbance at the Sanders home Wednesday afternoon. He is a normal boy, endowed with no such intensified magnetic qualities as is the average youth. I do not hesitate to emphasize that he had nothing to do with the 'quake.'"

Other physicians who have talked with and made cursory examinations of the youth, are in harmony with Dr. Birney. All are inclined to accept the theory of physical forces.

Today brought about a complete examination of the basement and foundations of the house, resulting in the discovery of a multitude of small fissures in and about the cement substructure which might have been caused by the settling of the building.

Among those making the examination was J. Gordon Turnbull, mechanical engineer, who more particularly investigated the condition of the plumbing, foundation and heating apparatus. He found evidence which would lead to the belief that the entire house had been disturbed.

Another fact advanced, considered extremely important, is the fact that a study of the phenomenon strange to the earthquake or seismic disturbance supposition. It was noticeable yesterday that all the chairs and other furniture disturbed, was thrown toward the west. This has been the case in all the sufficient to establish the belief that a seismic disturbance was the cause of the strange condition of affairs.

Ernest Harps, shunned by school fellows and made the object of curious glances by the neighbors, is a normal child, has been attending the element, has been taken away from the house and is hidden away in an isolated suburb, where friends of the family live. Accused of being the possessor of a power that he does not understand, he is made the center of curious interest on the part of nearly everyone with whom he is compelled to come in contact.

Writ of Habeas Corpus Applied for in Suit of C. S. Vaughn Against Sheriff R. L. Stevens

The writ of habeas corpus applied for in the suit of C. S. Vaughn against Sheriff R. L. Stevens was dismissed in the circuit court by Judges Cleveland, Morrow and Gantman this morning. Vaughn was remanded to custody to serve out a sentence of four months imposed on him on a charge of assault, to which he entered a plea of guilty last June.

Vaughn admitted having assaulted A. Kunkel, who was escorting his wife, but was allowed to go on his own recognizance until the further order of the court.

Under these conditions the prisoner left the state and is now alleged to have sent a package of poisoned tea to Lola G. Baldwin and his wife, now divorced.

That's All Japan Wanted and That's What She Got—Agreement Published.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Oct. 30.—The full text of the Manchurian agreement by which Japan bound China in a tangle of concessions was made public here today. It was the indirect cause of the recall of Charles R. Crane, whose resignation was asked after he had started for China as the American minister.

Section 4 of the agreement provides that "all mines along the Antung-Mukden road excepting those at Fushan, Yental, shall be exploited as joint enterprises by Japanese and Chinese subjects."

The full effect of this provision will develop later when Japan takes advantage of the concession. It may be interpreted as covering all mineral deposits in the region which the railroad traverses. This territory, it is said, will prove to be one of the richest mining districts in the world.

In other words the document is worded so as to furnish strong ground for belief that it violates the "open door" policy.

The agreement gives Japan a strangle hold on Manchuria, making it for all practical purposes as completely subject to Japanese control as Japan itself.

The state department was conducting an investigation of the provisions of this agreement, and it was through Crane's alleged premature and unauthorized announcement regarding it that he was removed.

Finch Named to Manage Line

O. R. & N. and N. P. Jointly Select Him to Run the Riparian Line. F. N. Finch, formerly chief clerk to General Manager Horn of the Northern Pacific, has been selected as general manager of the joint line of the O. R. & N. and the Northern Pacific between Riparian and Grangeville.

Mr. Finch is in Portland, stopping at the Hotel Portland, and has been in daily consultation with heads of the Northern Pacific and the O. R. & N. since his arrival. The joint line, which was built by the Hill and Harriman roads as a compromise because it was not believed the territory would justify the construction of two lines, has been a bone of contention between Hill and Harriman officials in the northwest ever since it was begun, and they have never been able to come to an agreement as to its operation until now.

Both lines have agreed to take Mr. Finch as general manager and he will be given some latitude in selecting his staff for the operation of the road. The joint line is to be operated as an entirely distinct railroad from either the Northern Pacific or the O. R. & N., and a company has been created which will be given the operation of the line. The operation under this company, with Mr. Finch as general manager, will begin within the next few days, it is said.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Oct. 30.—Acting on instructions from Washington, United States Immigration Inspectors Anton De La Torre and J. Robinson today arrested Jules Toussaint, proprietor of Jules' restaurant, at 110 Kearney street, on the charge of importing Henriette Perrin, a beautiful French girl, into America for immoral purposes. Competition With Railroads by New Ship Service by San Francisco Firm.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Oct. 30.—The first sailing in a regular line of steamships from Puget sound and San Francisco to New York and Philadelphia will be made with the departure of the steamer San Mateo, which is today taking on cargo for the long voyage. The service is projected by Bates and Chesbro of San Francisco, who have interested eastern capital in the enterprise. The San Mateo, which is a steamer of 2000 tons net, will carry around the Horn a full cargo of canned salmon, the shipping firm having offered a rate good enough to attract traffic away from the Puget sound route. This vessel will be followed by the steamer J. L. Luckenbach, 2192 tons net register, which is loading salmon at Bellingham. Other steamers will follow these as the trade is developed.

It is thought the intention of the shipping men behind the enterprise is to work up a strong traffic connection in anticipation of the completion of the Panama canal, when, with that shorter and quicker route, water carriers will be able to compete with railroads on a more even basis.

There will be about 2000 feet of trestle work to be constructed between the old river channel east of Riverside addition to Lebanon, to the river, and for this work a number of carloads of piling has been shipped to this place. The company intends to have the road built to the river so that the heavy steel work can be taken direct to the bridge site and there unloaded and put into place in the big structure. This bridge has been substantially started and work to be constructed between the city and the river is progressing quite satisfactorily. Recent rains have caused the river to rise slightly, but not enough to interfere materially with the work of construction.

He set out Red Cheek Pippin, Baldwin, the King, Roxbury, Russet and Schwan, the latter being an exceptionally fine flavored and beautiful apple. This year it matured perfectly, coloring beautifully. As a winter apple the Roxbury Russet has proved its unusual merit.

Refuses to Grant Delay in Michael Goldberg Case Until After Date When the Lid Goes On in November.

Judge Frank E. Bennett, of the municipal court, this morning refused to allow the case against Michael Goldberg, charged with conducting a house of ill fame, to hang fire until November 23, and ordered the case to be heard next Thursday. Upon motion of Deputy District Attorney Hennessy to put the case over, the judge announced he was willing that it should go over for one or two days, but he considered the request of three weeks unreasonable, and could not be granted. If the hearing should not be had at once, since serious charges had been made.

Goldberg was charged in a state complaint made out by Attorney Hennessy with assaulting Miss Virginia Huntington, and with conducting a disorderly house. Upon the former charge Goldberg pleaded guilty and was given a fine of $50.

It had been previously arranged by Hennessy and Goldberg in the district court that if the case was held over until November 23, at which time Chief of Police Cox has notified all keepers of such places they must quit business. It was expected this arrangement would go through until Judge Bennett insisted that an immediate trial be held and the facts in the case brought out. On learning this new scheme of disposing of the matter, Goldberg appeared to be surprised.

Virginia Huntington is only 18 years old, and charged Goldberg with beating and throwing her down stairs, and when the complaint was made, two witnesses testified they saw the assault. Before the case was called this morning, Goldberg stated to Attorney Hennessy that the two witnesses would testify that he had not struck the girl.

"Since the complaint has been made I want to see with me in this case," said Judge Bennett. "I am tired of people making complaints and not making any prosecution in court. This matter of settling such affairs as the parties wish to arrange is outside of court, has become too general. If they don't want to prosecute, they have no business to make the charges."

Goldberg is out of jail under bail of $50, and Judge Bennett states the case will be tried Thursday and the matter thoroughly aired. If sufficient evidence is at hand, he has the power to only bind Goldberg over the grand jury. The owners of the building are subject to a subpoena from Deputy District Attorney Hennessy to be called as witnesses.

Minister Says Tax Bachelors

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—The Rev. G. Bancroft, D. D. of Los Angeles, believes that all bachelors who have reached the age of 35 should contribute to the support of widows and orphans.
