Condemned Man's Wife Circulates Petition Among Citizensoof Salem.

(Balam Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Nov. 11.—Owing to the fact that additional petitions and other information are yet to be submitted to executive in the Finch and Daly cases. Governor Benson said this mornwould be impossible for him to decision in either of the cases before late tonight or in the morning.

A petition is being circulated today in Salem in behalf, of James Finch, because the fact has been used against him that there were no petitioners originally from this city, where for so many years Finch lived and made his The Salem petition is to be presented to Governor Benson this afternoon not later than 4 o'clock. Mrs. Finch, the condemned man's wife, is cirlating the petition. The governor also said that more in-formation relating to the Daly case had been asked for and was to be forwarded today from Portland, and until he had received such additional information and evidence he could not an-number a decision. The governor says he is undecided in both cases.

Invitations Are Limited.

Invitations for the two executions have been issued, by Superintendent James of the penitentiary. Though the time set for hanging both Daiy and Finch is 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the executions will not take place ultaneously, as generally supposed, but following each other by a few min-

The invitations were issued to limited number. Those receiving invireceive an invitation to the Daly execuries, though one invitation will enable ciators to view both executions. The stem adopted made it necessary only to have printed and mailed half as many ions as would otherwise be re- open to the public.
