

STATE TO SUPPORT ORDINANCE

Two Articles of Proposed City Measure Indorsed by Special Committee of the Council—Meeting Tomorrow Evening.

Denial of the operating force of state law regulating dairies as exercised by the state dairy and food commissioner and the state board of health will not be continued by the special milk ordinance committee appointed by Mayor Simon. Two provisions for the proposed milk ordinance were indorsed by members of the committee in a meeting this morning. They are:

"1. Applicant (for permit to sell milk in Portland) shall present a certificate of inspection certifying to the sanitary condition of the dairy where the milk is produced, from the state dairy and food commissioner. Provided always, however, that no part of this provision be construed to prevent the deputizing by the state dairy commissioner of city inspectors to the inspection of dairies outside the city limits which supply milk to the city of Portland.

"2. Applicants shall present a certificate from the state board of health certifying that the cows producing milk which he shall offer or expose for sale in the city of Portland have been tested and found free from tuberculosis. Provided, however, that no applicant be denied a permit for the sale of milk because of failure to comply with said provision until after May 1, 1910. Provided also that no part of said provision shall be construed to prevent the deputizing by the state board of health of inspectors of the city when properly deputized by the state board of health."

In Need of Machinery.
Dr. Wheeler, city health officer, pointed out to the committee that under the present regime, three men do unsatisfactorily what one man could do perfectly if state and city agencies were harmonized on a basis of working co-operation.

It was reiterated that the city has no right to enter the dairy of a man outside the city. The state official alone has the right to make the inspection when the privilege of so doing is denied by the owner or operator of the dairy. Therefore, if the city inspector test for tuberculosis the whole matter may be speedily adjusted and the city board of health will have immediately available evidence as to the fitness or unfitness of the dairy and the degree to which its owner or operator has complied with the law.

Will Meet Tomorrow.
The final agreement reached was to meet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the office of Dr. Tenney, chairman, to test for tuberculosis the whole matter in the meantime such changes will be made in the proposed ordinance as shall admit of the cooperation with state officials in the matter of keeping the milk supply clean.

The completed instrument will be presented for discussion and adoption preliminary to its submission to the police and health committee of the council. November 19. All members of the committee were present at the meeting, which was held in Mayor Simon's committee room. The committee members were Dr. Robert C. Tenney, Mrs. E. R. Ruckey, Dr. C. H. Wheeler, Dr. Alan Welch Smith, C. S. Jackson.

ILLINOIS HEALTH OFFICIALS TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The new order of the health department, which provides for the branding of all tuberculous cows in the state went into effect today, together with other important sanitary regulations, intended to put a stop to the traffic in such cows and the sale of milk from them in Chicago. Under the new regulation all cows must be subjected to the tuberculin test and the result, whether of a positive or of a negative character, reported to the state veterinarian for approval. All animals giving a positive reaction, showing that they are afflicted with tuberculosis, will be branded upon the right ear with the letter "T."

The local health department, which has been struggling on a vigorous war against the traffic in tuberculous cows, has been largely instrumental in bringing about the adoption of energetic measures on the part of the state authorities. Beginning today all inspection and test certificates must be approved by the state veterinarian, and these certificates will not be recognized and accepted by the local health department, unless they are countersigned by the state official. It is expected that these stringent regulations will make the traffic in diseased cows practically impossible. Formerly many tuberculous cows were sold to dairymen and the milk from these animals was sold to consumers in Chicago, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the local health authorities to prevent this dangerous practice.

HASKELL MUST GO INTO COURT TO LIABILITIES

Judge Marshall Overrules
Governor's Demurrer in Town Lots Case.

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 15.—Judge Marshall overruled the demurrer of Governor Charles N. Haskell and other prominent business men of Muskogee in connection with the town lots case. This means that Haskell and the other defendants must go to trial on the indictment.

This is the second time Haskell has been indicted for the alleged fraud. The first indictment was dismissed on Haskell's objection that it was faulty.

BE AT COURT HOUSE
Local police headquarters will be moved into the new county courthouse as soon as it is completed. County Commissioners Lightner and Barnes and County Judge Webster called on Mayor Simon this morning to extend an invitation to the city offering the police department ample accommodations in the new building.

Mayor Simon accepted in behalf of the city and announced that the indications were that the departments would live in peace and amity for the rest of their lives.

"The police will be given headquarters on the fifth floor and the city prisoners will be held in jail on the top floor where it is thought sanitary conditions will be the best."

The city will, by accepting the invitation of the county, avoid the cost of erecting a new city jail which has been badly needed for several years. The municipal courtrooms will be in all the floors of the building. In the basement will be adjacent to the police headquarters in the new courthouse.

"FARMER ARTIST" NOT FAVORED BY AUDIENCE

Alfred Montgomery, a farmer from Illinois, delivered a lecture on "Religion in Art" at the White Temple last night. His lecture was not well received by the audience, who came to Portland with quite a reputation, both as a painter and as an eccentric character. He is well known on the Chautauque circuit as a lecturer and is said to have had ex-President Roosevelt and President Taft as patrons.

Last night, however, he did not make so great a hit with the audience at the White temple. His talk was long and rambling and his efforts at wit were unappreciated and illustrated by facial contortions and gestures not learned in a school of dramatic art.

Towards the latter part of the lecture the audience began to show a desire to leave. Mr. Montgomery gave them an opportunity to do so by pausing. He then took advantage of his pause. He will give a second lecture at the same place tonight.

EXHIBIT WONDERS IN ELECTRICAL DEVICES

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—What is believed by many to be the most brilliant electrical display ever held on the continent opened in Mechanics' building today, to continue for 10 days. Several hundred exhibits, representing every branch of electricity, are on display. Electrical devices of note in the United States, occupy the gaily decorated booths. Included among the exhibits are the singing arc lamp, the rotary magnetic field, Professor Thompson's wonderful multiphase motor, and an electrical submarine launch. Among the many novelties outside the regular exhibits is a model electrical home and farm, showing a beautifully appointed suite of rooms, with every known labor-saving device, a laundry and kitchen operated by electricity. Also a model showing the methods of milking cows and hatching chickens by electricity.

CALHOUN CASE FECKERT UP

(United Press Landed Wire.)
San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The postponement today of the resumption of the trial of Patrick Calhoun millionaire street railway magnate, on the charge of bribery, to December 6 removes all doubt of the case going over until January, when Charles M. Fickert will assume charge of the office of district attorney.

Francis J. Heney, who heretofore has prosecuted the graft cases as assistant district attorney, alleged publicly during the campaign that Fickert was Calhoun's candidate for the district attorneyship. Since his election Fickert has announced that he will prosecute all the graft cases.

The turning over of the Calhoun trial to Fickert places the result of the three years of graft prosecution at a direct issue, and the new administration will have to deal with it soon after taking office.

The postponement was ordered today on account of the absence of Judge Lawlor, before whom the second trial of Calhoun was begun last summer. Judge Lawlor is in the east on a vacation.

It would be practically impossible, if past records are a fair criterion, to obtain a jury before January. If the case was resumed at once, and it is certain that little progress can be made between December 6 and January 1, when Fickert will go into office.

EMPLOYERS HELD TO LIABILITIES

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Washington, Nov. 15.—The federal supreme court today decided that the employers' liability act of 1906 is constitutional in the territories and the District of Columbia. Its constitutionality in the states was not passed upon.

PORTLAND TO HAVE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective Society for Girls plans to do some practical work presently in Portland by instituting an industrial school for girls. This plan has come out of Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin's complaint that there is no place to send girls who are rescued in the work she represents. Miss Ostrom, a representative of this society who carries on her work throughout the state of Washington, has come to Portland for two purposes—to give her help to the Portland commons and to start the movement for the industrial school.

Miss Ostrom attended the meeting this morning of the Baptist ministers and sought their aid and encouragement in her work. She announced that Mrs. Florence Roberts, who heads the Pacific coast society will come up from California next month to institute a systematic campaign. Meanwhile the ministers are asked to consider the plan of giving one day's work each month for the cause.

The paper today before the ministers was one by Rev. Henry Buechner on "Church Discipline—Its Methods and Subjects." He pointed out the rigidity of the discipline observed in the German and Scandinavian churches as compared to the American churches. A discussion followed concerning just how far a church or a pastor is justified in disciplining an erring one in his congregation; how far he is justified in taking the question of punishment into his own hands; and how far he errs in having the right to continue in his church and thus weaken its moral standard.

BURGLARS ENTER ST. JOHNS STORES

"Burglars entered two stores at St. Johns during the night and got away with about $100 worth of goods and $10 in cash. The stores were frightened away, for considerable valuable property was left that they could easily have added to their loot. They worked with the lights turned on in the stores and the burglar entered the store through a door leading from the drug store. There they failed to get any cash as it was locked in the safe with the more valuable articles of jewelry. Mr. Tower, in looking over his stock this morning, estimates that the burglars took about $75 worth. No attempt was made to open the safe.

Everything pointing to the burglars having worked well towards the fronts of the stores although the lights had been left burning.

She later removed to Baker City, and the family became interested in the Bonanza mine, from which they made a big fortune.

Mrs. Geiser leaves considerable property in Baker City and county, five children survive: Mrs. William Pollman and Miss Louise Geiser, Baker City; Frank and Ed Geiser, Portland; Al Geiser, California. BUNKO MEN PROMISED CHIEF COX TO QUIT CITY; NOW ORDERED TO LEAVE

"I had an understanding with this element several months ago," said Chief of Police Cox this morning after Judge Bennett's review of the situation, "and at that time, they promised me to leave the city. Some of them came into my office of their own accord, and others were brought in. I warned them then not to work here, and they assured me they would not. Now they have broken faith, and I shall see that they are apprehended or driven from the city."

"I have given Captain Baty orders to clean out these undesirable, and expect his men to do this. Reports have been made to me that they had all left town, and I had every reason to believe they had."

Chief Cox issued the following order this morning after Judge Bennett's scoring:

"Captain C. E. Baty: Information has come to this office that there are a number of confidence men, bunko artists, sneak thieves, etc., operating as a gang under certain leadership in this city and this department has been severely censured on this account. It is true that some men with a reputation in this line of work have been brought to my office, where they promised to do no crooked work while they were here and would not permit any crooked work to be done. It appears, however, from reports reaching this office that they have violated their word in this respect, and you will, therefore, instruct the members of your department to give this class their attention and see that they are immediately brought in and sent before the court."

"It is also rumored there are places conducted as pool rooms, etc., and the detective department is instructed to procure evidence against such places wherever found. Secure warrants for parties operating the same, bring them in and send them before the court. This gang, if one really exists, must be broken up at once and the city rid of these undesirable. Instruct the men in your department to give this their immediate attention. A. M. COX, Chief of Police."

Captain Baty, head of the police detectives, has stated that his men have never reported the presence of this gang of bunko men and sneak thieves, and a few of their jobs have been reported to his department.

If his men are holding this information from him he claims his department as a whole is unable to bring them in. He is unable to say whether or not such games have been conducted. In reading the order to his men, Captain Baty said he wanted them to get busy, and that if such men were in town he would like to see them. He gave the detectives a sharp lecture and proposes to carry out the orders of the chief as closely as possible.

COURT PROCEEDINGS TO REST TOMORROW

Tomorrow and next day will be practical holidays in the courts. No cases will be tried in the circuit court, so that judges and lawyers may be free to attend the sessions of the state bar association. Judges Gatens and Morrison will be in the midst of long jury trials, and their cases will be continued until Thursday.

The federal courts too will put all business off till Thursday, a number of cases being postponed on account of the association meeting.

ONLY ONCE WAS IT COLDER NOVEMBER 15

Between 5:30 o'clock and 6 o'clock this morning the thermometer stayed at 23 degrees, which is the coldest day on record here for November 15. The thermometer, on November 15, reached 16 degrees. The coldest day that it has ever been here on November 15, was in 1884, when on the 28th day of the month the thermometer registered 11 degrees.

The weather will continue cold for today and tomorrow, but after that it will probably moderate, according to Temporary Forecaster Willson, of the local weather bureau.

The coldest weather shown on the weather map in the last 24 hours was at Haver, Mont., where 16 degrees below zero was registered. Next to that are Helena, Mont., and Moorhead, Minn., it being 2 degrees below in each place.

FENCES REMOVED; CATCHES THIEF AT SPOKANE ADRIAN'S OREGON'S APPLES

The civil suits that have been pending in the United States court for several years against the officers of the Butte Creek Land, Livestock & Lumber company to compel them to remove their fences from government lands were dismissed this morning upon request of United States District Attorney McCourt. This is the case that caused the indictment by the federal grand jury of ex-United States District Attorney John H. Hall, who was charged with lack of seal in pressing the suit.

District Attorney McCourt stated to the court this morning that the fences had all been removed by the defendants and that the suits had been paid by the company, thus removing all cause for further prosecution of the suit.

TONG WARRIOR BENT ON MURDER 9 BOOLEGGERS MUST GO TO JAIL

(United Press Landed Wire.)
San Francisco, Nov. 15.—That the tong war now raging between the On Yicks and the Yee family is assuming alarming proportions was made evident when Yee Wing, a gunman said to be in the employ of the Yees, attempted to kill Paul Schmidt, night sergeant for the Morale patrol, at the corner of California and Kearney streets today.

With Eugene Moffitt, also a Morale agent, Schmidt was guarding Los Angeles, a Chinese interpreter employed by Gaunt Carpenter, an attorney for the On Yicks. Yee was approaching from behind when Schmidt asked him what he wanted. For answer the highlander drew a 38 calibre revolver and leveled it at the officer's head.

Schmidt lunged forward and grappled with Yee. They fought fiercely and Yee succeeded in breaking away before Moffitt could come to Schmidt's aid. He then turned and fled through the police at his heels. The chase lasted two blocks, when Officer George Grundwald caught the fugitive. Cornered, the gunman turned on his captors and fought desperately until he was handcuffed. The chase was immediately taken to the central police station.

The authorities assert that Yee intended to kill Lee Seut.

Yee declares he is a laundryman. His story is doubted.

Gee Gong, the highlander who murdered Yee Yip Woo, a member of the Yee family, in front of the Six Companies' building, was charged with murder today. He grasped Yee by the queue and shot him down in the presence of a large number of white loungees in Chinatown yesterday afternoon.

GOVERNMENT WILL DEAL WITH MAN WHO ROBBED IRRVING POSTOFFICE.

Telegraphic advices received by Postmaster C. E. Clement from Cottage Grove, state that the thief who has been robbing many railroad depots along the Southern Pacific railroad, and who robbed the postoffice at Irving, in connection with the depot, had been captured and was being held for the officers here. Accordingly the marshal was instructed this morning to send a deputy to Cottage Grove for the man.

Marshal H. H. Snodgrass of Cottage Grove is the man who gets the credit for arresting the robber. He had entered the depot at Harrisburg twice, besides robbing the depots at Irving and at Irving. At Irving the postoffice and depot were in the same building, and here the supply of stamps was taken. The stamps used in his apprehension, and he is being held in custody awaiting the arrival of the officers from Portland. The telegram did not give the man's name.

ASHLAND APPLES ARRIVE.

A carload of Yellow Newtowns from Ashland, Ore., arrived too late to unwrap, and the exhibitors are taking chances of the judges making allowances for shipping.

The Hood River men feel keenly the effects of the change in the entry plans, and declare they should have been informed earlier.

The Rogue river exhibitors blame only the railroad for the car of apples being on the road more than a week.

NIGHT RIDERS ON THEIR SECOND TRIAL

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 15.—For the second time the alleged night riders who are indicted for the murder of Captain Rankin in October a year ago, were placed on trial here today. They have very little interest in the trial as it is believed the prosecution is practically ended owing to the impossibility of securing competent jurors under existing laws. Eight of the men were sentenced to hang and two were given long prison sentences. The supreme court reversed the sentences and the men were remanded for a new trial.

SPokane ADRIAN'S OREGON'S APPLES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Spokane, Wash., Nov. 15.—Because Hood River, Ore., exhibitors were unable to get their carload of apples unwrapped in time for the beginning of the second National Apple Show, opening this morning, they shipped the entire lot on to Chicago at an expense of $4000. When the exhibitors negotiated for exhibition room, the apple show directors said it would not be necessary to unwrap the apples. The directors changed the rules after it was too late for the Hood River growers to comply and they said it was practically useless to put the fruit on exhibition unless the wrappers were removed.

Consequently, the Hood River district is represented only with small exhibits. These, however, are very good, especially those in competition for the prize for the best packed. Tronson and Guthrie, from Eagle Point, in the Rogue River district, have a carload exhibit. They were held up in Spokane yards two days by the Northern Pacific, after being transferred from the C. & N. W., and the exhibitors worked all night getting the car of apples in place. This lot is greatly admired.
