

ORDINANCES GO
BEFORE COUNCILPure Milk Campaign Getting in Line for City's Support.

Two proposed milk ordinances were submitted to Mayor Simon yesterday by the special committee which the mayor appointed some time ago for the purpose of devising ways and means of supplying and regulating Portland's milk supply. Ordinance No. 1 provides for a system of inspecting, certifying and licensing to be performed by the city board of health.

Ordinance No. 2 makes provision for the issuance of a license from the license department of the city when the applicant has properly filled out a blank application wherein he details in addition to the location of his dairy, number of cows and other matters that he has obtained a certificate of inspection from the state dairy and food commissioner, and that the cows of his herd have been tested by the state board of health and found free from tuberculosis. Ordinance No. 2 makes it necessary for the applicant for license to attest his willingness to maintain inspection on the part of the city board of health, or its inspectors, subsequent to the issuance of the license, this to be done in order to ascertain the accuracy of the statements made in applying for the license.

This ordinance also provides for inspection by the government score card system for the screening of milk from the milk cooling and bottling house, and makes the city license fees merely nominal. It presumes the ordinary operation of all laws having to do with dairy regulation, and is based on the assumption that the state is producer of dairy products should be required to guarantee the quality of the same, rather than that the city as purchaser should guarantee the quality of the article it buys.

Both ordinances provide for strict regulation of the dairy and its products and reduce the maximum bacterial count to 200,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter. Mayor Simon, after reading both ordinances, recommended that both be submitted to the city council. This recommendation was adopted. Dr. Robert C. Yennay, chairman of the committee, said this morning:

"We will take the ordinance before the police and health committee of the council tomorrow. We will ask their consideration at that time, and their recommendation for the adoption of one or the other at the next meeting of council. We are most desirous of securing the speedy adoption of a system which will lead to real regulation of the milk supply. Unless we can accomplish this result all our work will have been for nothing."

TALKS ON TEETH

BY THE REX DENTAL CO., DENTISTS

THE CROAKER

Another impossible thing that we do in dentistry (according to the jaundiced, malicious gentlemen claim) "our claim" the anvil chorus of dentists), where it is necessary to extract teeth to make room for a plate in most cases we make the plate at once and guarantee the same both for comfort and service, without waiting three or four months for the gums to heal before making the plate. It is the custom in general practice, impracticable, declares the antiquated practitioner of dentistry. Conceding that many professional men of prospective ability to retrograde rather than progress. The sages of the ante-bellum age who lived to be hundreds of years old at the time of their demise, could have learned something more, even at the ripe old age of 300 and 400 years. Had they calmly, now, in this profession spent as much time learning that the ALVEOLAR METHOD of dentistry was not a myth, instead of knocking that old ramshackle, hide, hard times, would not perhaps be chasing him today. The scroffer who has an aversion for progress is not likely to climb heaven without ladder. His pinnacle of fame is the top of the bottom rung, and while life all times he will remain there.

In cases where all the teeth are gone we can do nothing except furnish a perfect and perfect fitting plate, something that most dentists can't do. But a two or more teeth are left in either jaw we can restore all those that are missing by the Alveolar Method, and give a patient a set of teeth that are as near nature's that the loss of the natural teeth will scarcely be noticed. The work is practically painless, calls for no surgical operation, is not teeth implantation, and when done is permanent. The wearer can use the Alveolar Method with almost as much satisfaction as if they had grown in his jaws, and we defy any one, dentist or layman, to tell them from the most beautiful and perfect natural teeth.

Protrusion, the most dreaded disease of the dental profession, commonly known as "Riga's disease" (those teeth) disease that dentists as a whole have given up as incurable, we claim to cure and guarantee the cure to be permanent. We have hundreds of cases to refer to right here in this city and state. There is seldom a day that we do not discharge one or more patients from our office as cured of this awful disease.

REMEMBER, please, that cheap dentistry is the most expensive in the end. Most of our business comes from those who have learned this from sad experience. Dental work should be artistic and beautiful as well as serviceable and lasting.

Hoarseness in a child subject to cough is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given at once or even after the cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Contains no opiates.

BLAMES PEOPLE
FOR LATE HOURSProminent Merchant Speaks at Institute on Early Closing Movement.

"Portland is not civilized enough yet to support a 6 o'clock closing arrangement," declared W. P. Olds of Olds, Wortman & King, telling the civic institute yesterday afternoon why it has not been found possible for merchants of the Rose City to send their tired clerks home as early Saturday evening as any other day.

But for this the people are to blame, not the merchants nor the clerks, Mr. Olds asserted. The people who clamor for rest for the shop girl at the same time insist that she shall be present behind the counter each Saturday night to sell the latest fashions in hats or butter. "There are 15,000 men and women connected with Portland stores who would be glad to quit early on Saturdays, but until the people do their shopping early in the week it will not be possible," the merchant declared.

The speaker also declared that the trouble is not of the troubles endured by those who have work, but of the yearning for any sort of a job by those minus such a useful means of retaining title clear to one's residence in the city of the roses. The speaker was C. M. Ryerson, who declared that while Portland's free employment agencies do incalculable good, the licensed concerns of the kind do as incalculable harm.

The audience applauded him when he said it, too. Mr. Ryerson followed up the advantage by advocating that no license be granted to any sort of employment agencies where excessive fees are assessed and little real work is obtained. This also received applause.

H. W. Stone, head of the Portland Y. M. C. A., pleaded for young men who will add by the work of their hands and brains to the wealth of the northwest. He denounced in measured terms the young fellow, salary $50 per month, who buys a lot and is content to continue earning not more than $50 a month until the lot which he has purchased, and has not improved, increases to a value where he can sell it and thus provide for his old age. Most young men, said Mr. Stone, work with their hands to make a living. If they would work in the terms of a strong ambition toward a definite object which includes valuable and worthy production, then more real values would attach to the properties of the northwest.

W. H. Fitzgerald spoke encouragingly upon industrial conditions. Carl L. Caulfield was chairman. The chairman appointed for today's session is Dr. W. E. Foulks and addresses will be delivered by C. E. Dobson, building inspector; Mrs. A. E. Rockey, Mrs. Emma B. Carroll, Miss K. C. Simmons and J. H. Barbour.

HAWLEY ADDRESSES
THE STUDENT BODY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 13.—W. C. Hawley, representative from the Second Oregon district, addressed the student body today in the weekly assembly hall. Villard hall was crowded with students who greeted the congressman enthusiastically after he was presented by President Campbell.

Mr. Hawley's subject was, "How a Committee in the House of Representatives Does Its Work." The lecture was interesting in the extreme, dealing with the inside workings of the congressional system. In the course of his remarks, Congressman Hawley made the statement that there is not a man in the house who was capable of being corrupted, and that none was given an opportunity till his truthfulness and reliability were proven. He also brought out that mere wealth does not count for much, saying that the richest man on the floor was probably the least influential.

"LIQUOR TO MINOR"
CASE AT THE DALLIES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) The Dalles, Or., Nov. 13.—C. B. Adams, proprietor of the White House saloon, was tried Tuesday before a jury in the recorder's court on a charge of selling liquor to a minor, and was acquitted. Adams was accused of selling beer to one Rex Jarrett, 18 years old, on Friday night of last week, Jarrett having been arrested in a drunken condition in Allen's saloon, and he said he bought the liquor of Adams. Adams did not deny selling him liquor, but pleaded justification on the grounds that Jarrett stated that he was of age, which statement Adams was able to prove, and on this statement of facts the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Owen Matthews, proprietor of the Railroad saloon, is under arrest on a like charge, as is also B. Johnson, proprietor of the Stockholm saloon.

CALIFORNIA SENATOR
AT DEATH'S DOOR

(United Press Special Wire.) San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Thomas Flint Jr., a member of the state senate for 18 years, president protem of that body for three sessions and twice candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of California, is critically ill at Adler's sanitarium here. Little hope is held for his recovery. Senator Flint came to San Francisco Saturday from his home in San Juan, San Benito county, to attend a meeting of the directory boards of the Masonic home at De Coto. That evening he was seized with pneumonia. Mrs. Flint was summoned from San Juan and is now at her husband's bedside.

The Indians remarked when they presented themselves before the justice that they had severed their tribal relations, had taken their allotments of land and proposed to hereafter live as do the whites; therefore they wanted a white man's form of wedding.

CLARK WIRELESS
AGENT ARRESTEDMust Answer Charges of Libel Preferred by the United Wireless Co.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Athens, Or., Nov. 13.—John L. Schuylerman, manager for the Clark Wireless Telegraph & Telephone company, was arrested here yesterday by Town Marshal Ghoslen for libel against the United Wireless Telegraph & Telephone company. He has been summoned to Portland by the United Wireless, charged with having published articles above his own name in several leading papers, containing alleged libelous matter, in which he is averred to have declared that the United Wireless agents were selling stock under false representation. It is also alleged that he accused them of selling stock at $25 per share when brokers in Boston are selling the same stock at 14 per share, and that he uses such statements in canvassing for the Clark Wireless.

Town Marshal Ghoslen arrested Schuylerman as he was leaving for Pendleton and put him under the care of Oliver Dickinson, who accompanied him to Pendleton, where he was taken charge of by Sheriff Taylor.

Anti-Box Ordinance.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., Nov. 13.—Eugene now has an anti-box ordinance similar to the one in Portland, the city council having passed an ordinance prohibiting the serving of meals in closed rooms having less than 150 square feet of floor space, unless they abut on a street and have unobscured windows. This action has been taken on account of a number of disgraceful escapades that have occurred in restaurant boxes here recently.

H. W. Stone, head of the Portland Y. M. C. A., pleaded for young men who will add by the work of their hands and brains to the wealth of the northwest. He denounced in measured terms the young fellow, salary $50 per month, who buys a lot and is content to continue earning not more than $50 a month until the lot which he has purchased, and has not improved, increases to a value where he can sell it and thus provide for his old age. FORGOT TO GIVE
NAME TO TICKETNew Nominating Convention Called at Freewater—Mayoralty Overlooked.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Freewater, Or., Nov. 13.—By an oversight which escaped the attention of all concerned the recent caucus of the citizens to nominate the city officers for the coming year has been declared by the common council to be null and void, and another caucus has been called for Saturday night. The failure resulted from the fact that the caucus gave no name to its ticket and also failed to nominate a mayor, it being understood that the present mayor held over. As the mayor is filling out the unexpired term of his predecessor the

Poor Light, Bad Air, Crowded Rooms
Contribute to Spread of Disease

At a meeting in Washington, attended by leading educators and representatives of workmen, the sentiment was unanimous that the bad air, poor light and crowded rooms in many schools and factories contributed largely to the spread of consumption. Samuel Gompers, as President of the American Federation of Labor, maintained that by causing a reduction in the hours of labor, and securing higher wages, which made it possible to provide better sustenance, the Federation had done much to assist in the great work of stamping out the disease.

While much has been accomplished in the fight against consumption, it is necessary for each individual to take every precaution against contracting the disease. Coughs and colds are a prolific source, and must not be neglected. A simple, inexpensive and effective remedy is made by mixing two ounces of glycerine, a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Fine compound pure, and eight ounces of pure whiskey. A teaspoonful, four times a day, will usually break up a cold in 24 hours and cure any cough that is curable.

This formula is frequently prescribed and is highly recommended by the Leach Chemical Co. of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Fine compound pure.

city charter provides that he shall submit himself for the approval of the citizens at the next regular election. The ensuing caucus may result in a change of the personnel of the council, though it will not affect the policy of the city to obtain city water.
