POSTAL SAVINGS BANK TO BE LEADING ISSUE

Prominent New York Banker Regards This Plan as the Most Attractive Feature That Congress Can Furnish the People.

By Ralph Johnson (Publishers' Press Leased Wire.) New York, Nov. 20.—The starting of postal savings banks will be among the principal things to be considered at the next session of congress, said the enshier of one of the leading banks of Broadway to me this week. "I noticed Broadway to me this week. "I noticed that President Taft made this topic the centure of his address in Milwaukee, as well as in several cities on the Pacific coast. He also referred to the matter while in the south. While we think all e business of the country is now being satisfactorily handled by the banks al-ready in existence, I personally believe the postal savings bank to be one of the most attractive features that con-gress can give the American people."

My interview with this cashier was all the more important by reason of the all the more important by reason of the fact that he speaks with more specific knowledge on this subject than most nien of his profession, because he has for many years attended all the bankers' is held in different parts of te United States. He personally knows cobbin more bankers than any one an in his profession in New York. Alhe forbade me using his name. said he had no objection to my quot-what he had to say on the subject. ing what he had to say on the subject. He felt that it was not exactly proper for postal savings banks is an exionally large one, he said, and is pied by a class of people who now little or nothing. He contended postal savings banks would be attractive and certainly more acconsible than the present dime savings

He spoke of discussing the subject of ostal savings banks with his fellow nkers in Chicago, as well as Portlest approval and patronage in

"I just returned from the west the other day, and the sentiment there in favor of postal savings banks is stronger than ever," he continued. "Presiden Taft struck a very happy chord when he made it plain that he believed there should be a readjustment of our whole should be a readjustment of our whole financial system, as well as the banking system. The president said the government had issued upwark of $700,000,000 of 2 per cent bonds of the United States and floated them as par, or a little more. But he went on to say, We did it by getting the banks into a corner, so they had to have under the law some government security, and so they were ernment security, and so they we obliged to buy those 2 per cent bonds.

'It is not generally known that there is a large postal deficit, and the postal officials were staggered when they heard of it, and a searching investigation is now in progress. The situation will no doubt bring about radical reforms in the service. The operation of postal savings banks could be inau-gurated in a very short time in all parts of the county at very little outlay, as compared with the fixed charges that would naturally follow the installation of a parcels post delivery system."

Carnegie Waxes Optimistic. Andrew Carnegie, for a retired man, with boundless millions, good health for him as a bunker to be talking and a Scotchman, is about as busy as against the present banking system, and that was the only reason he would not abreast of the times, and personally abow his name to be used. The field acceps in touch with the big events of

The federation desiring to show by actual demonstration what it would mean to American women to have the same academic privileges as are now enjoyed by the Rivodes scholars decided some time ago to establish a diminer schelarship gran for compatition. dimilar scholarship open for competition by American girls. Funds were raised and the matter of selection was placed in the hands of Miss Laura Drake Gill of Washington and Mrs. Frances Squire of Washington and Mrs. Frances squite Potter of the University of Minnesota. There were eight entrants for the ex-aminations. They were examined under precisely the same conditions of the Rhoden scholarship examinations. These papers are now in the hands of the Oxd authorities who very kindly agreed to pass upon and mark them with the papers of the Rhodes scholar. It will be January before this work is done and a selection can be made. I understand that the winner will be given the choice of a scholarship either at Oxford, Cambridge or London universities.
