

RAFTS FALLING RAPIDLY HERE

Reports Have It That Nearly All Runaway Logs Will Be Picked Up.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT 20 PER CENT

We own Tows First Raft Through Bridges Since High Water—Oregon City Locks Opened This Morning—Steaders to Run Tomorrow.

Practically all of the logs which got loose last week, when the river was at its high stage, will be picked up, it is said, by the middle of the week, and it is stated that the loss of logs will probably not exceed 20 per cent.

Some of the rafts were picked up intact, while logs from those which broke have been nearly all picked up by the steamers sent out for that purpose.

Captain O. W. Hestford said this morning that the steamer G. K. Wentworth and Aland had gone down as far as Brookfield and are working up the river picking up the logs in the stream and getting the rafts together. They are now engaged in picking up the logs which were jammed against the Madison bridge last week.

Eight rafts which broke loose from the Portland Lumber company's rafts, were caught at Kalama, all of the rafts being in good shape and not broken up. As there were too many of them to be easily handled, they were cut in half, and four of them were allowed to float down to Rainier, where they were caught and tied up. Captain Hestford says that of the 22 rafts which got away during the flood, he figures that not over 20 per cent will be lost. He expects the gear and rafts to be all secured by Wednesday.

In the last two days the river has fallen rapidly, especially in the last 24 hours, during which it fell 2.4 feet. In case there is no more heavy rains, it will continue to fall rapidly.

The first raft, since the extreme high water, was towed up through the bridges yesterday, when the steamer Weown brought one up on the 19 foot stage. The raft contained about 300,000 feet of lumber, and consequently the pull up the stream was a hard one. It took the Weown four and one-half hours to bring the raft the six miles from Swan Island to the Portland mills, which were about out of logs.

The Oregon City locks closed last week on account of the high water and were opened again this morning, and stevedores of the Oregon City Transportation company will resume operations tomorrow, the Pomona starting up the river and the Oregon leaving Corvallis for Portland. Fears are expressed, however, that the storm off the coast will bring heavy rains again and the locks will have to be closed once more.

TWIN CITIES TO TIE UP

Open River Transportation Company's Steamer Off Until Spring. On the last round trip that she will make between Celilo and Kennecook before spring, the Open River Transportation company's steamer Twin Cities will reach Celilo today to be tied up for the winter, according to Dorsey B. Smith, general manager of the company.

Tonnage is not sufficient to warrant the steamer continuing on the run any longer this season, and that reason will be taken off for the winter. She will be put on again in the spring as soon as water permits and tonnage justifies, states Mr. Smith. She will probably be put on again about the first of March.

The Twin Cities has been handling the business between these points alone since the steamer Inland Empire was taken off about a month ago.

The steamer J. N. Teal, which operates between Portland and the Dalles, will continue to make her regular runs.

FALCON ARRIVES

Has Cargo of New York and European Freight. Laden with 750 tons of merchandise from New York and Europe, the steamer Falcon, Captain Schage, arrived yesterday from San Francisco. She has 609 tons of New York freight, which consists principally of pianos, typewriters and other merchandise. In bond she has 150 tons of linoleum, decorated earthenware, manufactured glass, enamelled ware and preserved meat. She will sail again Tuesday with cargo for New York and San Francisco.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

With passengers and freight the steamer Rose City, Captain Mason, will be due to arrive at Alsworth dock this afternoon from San Francisco.

The steamer E. H. Elmore, Captain Schrader, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Tillamook, bringing a large number of passengers and 350 cases of cheese.

The finish discharging her cargo, the steamer Melville, Captain Ryan, moved from Montgomery dock No. 2 to Alsworth dock this morning at 11 o'clock.

A small party of government engineers are going to blast out snags in the Willamette river between Corvallis and Astoria this afternoon.

In the case of the Oklahoma the French bark Davila arrived at the ballast dock in Linnton yesterday. The Port of Portland towboat then returned to Astoria for the French bark David A. Angers, which is here with cargo for Kerr, Rice & Co., on account of the heavy rains in Oklahoma could not bring the ship up today.

The steamer Rainier was lowered this morning from the Oregon drydock. While there she had a new stem piece put on and her stern bearings tightened. After leaving the dock she went to the North Bank dock to load wheat. The remainder of the minor repairing will be done there. She will take a deckload of lumber to San Francisco for the Loop Lumber company.

With passengers and freight the steamer Breakwater, Captain Macginn, arrived at 7 o'clock last night from Coos Bay. Besides 50 passengers she had 300 tons of coal and 150 tons of general merchandise.

After discharging 6000 tons of powder at Martin's Bluff, the steamer Thomas L. Wand of the Richardson Steamship line, arrived at Oak street dock last night. She has about 700 tons of general merchandise to discharge at Astoria, and is to go to Coos Bay Harbor to load lumber for San Francisco. It is probable that she will take the Oregon dredger outfit, which consists of pontoons and pipe.

WALKER-OTIS ARE REACHERS IN CONVENTION

Should Make Life a Practice of Immortality on Earth.

DR. DYOTT SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY PARK

Delivers Message of Condolence in First Sermon Since Death of Former Pastor G. W. Riggs—Subject: "Immortality."

With a message of condolence, Rev. Luther R. Dyott Sunday morning preached the first sermon in the University Park Congregational church since the death of Rev. G. W. Riggs, pastor of the church, who died last week.

Adonis, a mythical personage, was a child of incomparable beauty. Venus and Proserpine craved the possession of Adonis. Conflict arose, Venus and Proserpine had their quarrel as to who should have the child. Unable to settle their dispute, they referred the matter to Jupiter, who decided that Adonis should spend part of the year with Venus and the other part with Proserpine, so that he lived eight months in the upper world and four months in the lower.

This fragment of literature from mythology illustrates some features of moral life, fabled with gleams, with hints and hopes of immortality.

"Amid conflicts and antagonisms, with struggling faith, at times with high blindings, materialistic propensities, that abides the desire of possession with some notion and love of the good, some vision of the beautiful, and underlying intuition that the domain of the beautiful is more extensive than that of the physical world, I sweep outward and onward beyond the bounds of our sensuous apprehension and suggest that man is a bi-world creature. A belief in the immortality of the soul does not depend altogether upon scriptural proof—texts. The progress of the life has some bearing upon the question. Modern religion should have no quarrel with evolution in the interest of immortality.

Humanity Has Progressed. "Let it be granted that primitive man, with his animal passions, enhanced by his powerful emotions, stimulated by his growing imagination, has dawning intellectual forces, and his increasing self-consciousness, rendered this creature more cruel, blood-thirsty and revengeful than the beasts; let it be granted that war at first did not contribute to nation building, but increased more than sporadic, volcanic outbreaks of inter-tribal hate, and all the demands of evolution be granted. Still it must be admitted that humanity, in its totality, has progressed.

In the power to progress is something divine. In the something divine is the seed of immortality. Again, we find an evidence of immortality in the fact that man can reach the place where he evidences God-like qualities. We do not know very much about God. We do not know very much about man. But we know enough to observe that the attributes and faculties and life-functions of God have their correspondence in man. God thinks. Man can think God's thoughts and act in God's love. God achieves. Man can become immortal in immortal achievements. In these things, as in many others, man is like God. Like comes of like. That which is like God is God. God cannot die. That which is like God cannot die. That which is like God organizes in man, about the essential ego, that life cannot die.

Consciousness of Life. "Again, life carries with it a consciousness of the same. This is at least true of immortal life. The final proof of immortality is in the individual consciousness of God's life in one's own soul, as to speak more correctly, in one's own spirit. This leads us to the question as to whether immortality is inherent in the life of every man, or is it bestowed of God through the birth from above? I do not know. Sometimes I fear that a man who goes into the other world with sin as the ruling force of his being will ultimately be destroyed by the awful thing that is called the life here. I could hope that, in the mercy of God, he may have another chance in the other world, even sinful men. But I do not know.

Two Immortalities. "I do know, however, that a person whose life is a reproduction of the divine life on earth has two immortalities. One which he leaves behind him in this world, in the good he has done; the other he carries with him into the other world, in the good that he is. We should, therefore, partake of the nature of God here and now, and make this a practice of immortality on earth, which, by sublime continuity and divine guarantee, is carried into the other world to be as eternal as God himself.

To Experience God. "The life of God is the environment of this immortal life in us. If we keep the correspondence with this environment, whatever is good in us, whatever is divine, must ever grow in this environment, where eternal life itself in us, is correspondence with the eternal life of God. This is life eternal to know that it is, to experience God. This is the life and immortality in the new light offered by the life and teachings of Jesus Christ, which all who will may have. Jesus is not the only teacher of immortality, but he is the best. Let each increase life with its immortal qualities, and so the death that is the natural death it may be said of each and every one of us: "He being dead, yet speaks for, 'tis the divinity that stirs within us, 'tis heaven itself that points out the hereafter, and intimates eternity to man."

ENGINEER LEWIS DOWN WITH TYPHOID FEVER

(Salem Bureau of the Journal.) Salem, Nov. 28.—State Engineer John H. Lewis has been taken with typhoid fever and was not able to take up his duties at his office in the state house this morning.

Pennsylvania Grant Case. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 28.—A special term of the criminal court convened today for the trial of the conspiracy case against Joseph M. Huston, architect of the state capitol. Huston was indicted with John H. Sanderson, the contractor, since deceased, ex-Auditor General W. F. Snyder, ex-State Treasurer W. L. Mathews, deceased, and ex-Superintendent J. M. Shumaker on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the state in connection with a bid for $12

WALKER-OTIS ARE REACHERS IN CONVENTION

Should Make Life a Practice of Immortality on Earth.

DR. DYOTT SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY PARK

Delivers Message of Condolence in First Sermon Since Death of Former Pastor G. W. Riggs—Subject: "Immortality."

With a message of condolence, Rev. Luther R. Dyott Sunday morning preached the first sermon in the University Park Congregational church since the death of Rev. G. W. Riggs, pastor of the church, who died last week.

Adonis, a mythical personage, was a child of incomparable beauty. Venus and Proserpine craved the possession of Adonis. Conflict arose, Venus and Proserpine had their quarrel as to who should have the child. Unable to settle their dispute, they referred the matter to Jupiter, who decided that Adonis should spend part of the year with Venus and the other part with Proserpine, so that he lived eight months in the upper world and four months in the lower.

This fragment of literature from mythology illustrates some features of moral life, fabled with gleams, with hints and hopes of immortality.

"Amid conflicts and antagonisms, with struggling faith, at times with high blindings, materialistic propensities, that abides the desire of possession with some notion and love of the good, some vision of the beautiful, and underlying intuition that the domain of the beautiful is more extensive than that of the physical world, I sweep outward and onward beyond the bounds of our sensuous apprehension and suggest that man is a bi-world creature. A belief in the immortality of the soul does not depend altogether upon scriptural proof—texts. The progress of the life has some bearing upon the question. Modern religion should have no quarrel with evolution in the interest of immortality.

Humanity Has Progressed. "Let it be granted that primitive man, with his animal passions, enhanced by his powerful emotions, stimulated by his growing imagination, has dawning intellectual forces, and his increasing self-consciousness, rendered this creature more cruel, blood-thirsty and revengeful than the beasts; let it be granted that war at first did not contribute to nation building, but increased more than sporadic, volcanic outbreaks of inter-tribal hate, and all the demands of evolution be granted. Still it must be admitted that humanity, in its totality, has progressed.

In the power to progress is something divine. In the something divine is the seed of immortality. Again, we find an evidence of immortality in the fact that man can reach the place where he evidences God-like qualities. We do not know very much about God. We do not know very much about man. But we know enough to observe that the attributes and faculties and life-functions of God have their correspondence in man. God thinks. Man can think God's thoughts and act in God's love. God achieves. Man can become immortal in immortal achievements. In these things, as in many others, man is like God. Like comes of like. That which is like God is God. God cannot die. That which is like God cannot die. That which is like God organizes in man, about the essential ego, that life cannot die.

Consciousness of Life. "Again, life carries with it a consciousness of the same. This is at least true of immortal life. The final proof of immortality is in the individual consciousness of God's life in one's own soul, as to speak more correctly, in one's own spirit. This leads us to the question as to whether immortality is inherent in the life of every man, or is it bestowed of God through the birth from above? I do not know. Sometimes I fear that a man who goes into the other world with sin as the ruling force of his being will ultimately be destroyed by the awful thing that is called the life here. I could hope that, in the mercy of God, he may have another chance in the other world, even sinful men. But I do not know.

Two Immortalities. "I do know, however, that a person whose life is a reproduction of the divine life on earth has two immortalities. One which he leaves behind him in this world, in the good he has done; the other he carries with him into the other world, in the good that he is. We should, therefore, partake of the nature of God here and now, and make this a practice of immortality on earth, which, by sublime continuity and divine guarantee, is carried into the other world to be as eternal as God himself.

To Experience God. "The life of God is the environment of this immortal life in us. If we keep the correspondence with this environment, whatever is good in us, whatever is divine, must ever grow in this environment, where eternal life itself in us, is correspondence with the eternal life of God. This is life eternal to know that it is, to experience God. This is the life and immortality in the new light offered by the life and teachings of Jesus Christ, which all who will may have. Jesus is not the only teacher of immortality, but he is the best. Let each increase life with its immortal qualities, and so the death that is the natural death it may be said of each and every one of us: "He being dead, yet speaks for, 'tis the divinity that stirs within us, 'tis heaven itself that points out the hereafter, and intimates eternity to man."

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Portland but Daily Growing Less

The kidneys cry for help. No organ in the whole body so delicately constructed. Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fall the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood. Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble. It is the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need. They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Portland citizen: Mrs. T. J. O'Brien of 60 East 9th st., North Portland, O., says: "Time has not changed my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave this remedy my endorsement in 1903 and am glad to repeat my recommendation of it. A member of my family found great relief through using Doan's Kidney Pills and since then several of my neighbors have tried the remedy with equally as good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Prof. Miller Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND

Lane-Davis Drug Co., druggists, handle Gilhooley's Irish Liniment, and they back it up with what might be called a government bond. In fact, a guarantee certificate goes with every bottle, to the effect that if Gilhooley's Irish Liniment does not cure Eczema, Rheumatism, in any form, Salt Rheum, Lumbago or any skin ailment, you are out nothing, as the druggist you bought it from will give back your money and take the certificate for his pay.

The matter is entirely in your hands. Gilhooley Irish Liniment Co., St. Paul, Minn.

WALKER-OTIS ARE REACHERS IN CONVENTION

Should Make Life a Practice of Immortality on Earth.

DR. DYOTT SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY PARK

Delivers Message of Condolence in First Sermon Since Death of Former Pastor G. W. Riggs—Subject: "Immortality."

With a message of condolence, Rev. Luther R. Dyott Sunday morning preached the first sermon in the University Park Congregational church since the death of Rev. G. W. Riggs, pastor of the church, who died last week.

Adonis, a mythical personage, was a child of incomparable beauty. Venus and Proserpine craved the possession of Adonis. Conflict arose, Venus and Proserpine had their quarrel as to who should have the child. Unable to settle their dispute, they referred the matter to Jupiter, who decided that Adonis should spend part of the year with Venus and the other part with Proserpine, so that he lived eight months in the upper world and four months in the lower.

This fragment of literature from mythology illustrates some features of moral life, fabled with gleams, with hints and hopes of immortality.

"Amid conflicts and antagonisms, with struggling faith, at times with high blindings, materialistic propensities, that abides the desire of possession with some notion and love of the good, some vision of the beautiful, and underlying intuition that the domain of the beautiful is more extensive than that of the physical world, I sweep outward and onward beyond the bounds of our sensuous apprehension and suggest that man is a bi-world creature. A belief in the immortality of the soul does not depend altogether upon scriptural proof—texts. The progress of the life has some bearing upon the question. Modern religion should have no quarrel with evolution in the interest of immortality.

Humanity Has Progressed. "Let it be granted that primitive man, with his animal passions, enhanced by his powerful emotions, stimulated by his growing imagination, has dawning intellectual forces, and his increasing self-consciousness, rendered this creature more cruel, blood-thirsty and revengeful than the beasts; let it be granted that war at first did not contribute to nation building, but increased more than sporadic, volcanic outbreaks of inter-tribal hate, and all the demands of evolution be granted. Still it must be admitted that humanity, in its totality, has progressed.

In the power to progress is something divine. In the something divine is the seed of immortality. Again, we find an evidence of immortality in the fact that man can reach the place where he evidences God-like qualities. We do not know very much about God. We do not know very much about man. But we know enough to observe that the attributes and faculties and life-functions of God have their correspondence in man. God thinks. Man can think God's thoughts and act in God's love. God achieves. Man can become immortal in immortal achievements. In these things, as in many others, man is like God. Like comes of like. That which is like God is God. God cannot die. That which is like God cannot die. That which is like God organizes in man, about the essential ego, that life cannot die.

Consciousness of Life. "Again, life carries with it a consciousness of the same. This is at least true of immortal life. The final proof of immortality is in the individual consciousness of God's life in one's own soul, as to speak more correctly, in one's own spirit. This leads us to the question as to whether immortality is inherent in the life of every man, or is it bestowed of God through the birth from above? I do not know. Sometimes I fear that a man who goes into the other world with sin as the ruling force of his being will ultimately be destroyed by the awful thing that is called the life here. I could hope that, in the mercy of God, he may have another chance in the other world, even sinful men. But I do not know.

Two Immortalities. "I do know, however, that a person whose life is a reproduction of the divine life on earth has two immortalities. One which he leaves behind him in this world, in the good he has done; the other he carries with him into the other world, in the good that he is. We should, therefore, partake of the nature of God here and now, and make this a practice of immortality on earth, which, by sublime continuity and divine guarantee, is carried into the other world to be as eternal as God himself.

To Experience God. "The life of God is the environment of this immortal life in us. If we keep the correspondence with this environment, whatever is good in us, whatever is divine, must ever grow in this environment, where eternal life itself in us, is correspondence with the eternal life of God. This is life eternal to know that it is, to experience God. This is the life and immortality in the new light offered by the life and teachings of Jesus Christ, which all who will may have. Jesus is not the only teacher of immortality, but he is the best. Let each increase life with its immortal qualities, and so the death that is the natural death it may be said of each and every one of us: "He being dead, yet speaks for, 'tis the divinity that stirs within us, 'tis heaven itself that points out the hereafter, and intimates eternity to man."

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Portland but Daily Growing Less

The kidneys cry for help. No organ in the whole body so delicately constructed. Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fall the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood. Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble. It is the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need. They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Portland citizen: Mrs. T. J. O'Brien of 60 East 9th st., North Portland, O., says: "Time has not changed my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave this remedy my endorsement in 1903 and am glad to repeat my recommendation of it. A member of my family found great relief through using Doan's Kidney Pills and since then several of my neighbors have tried the remedy with equally as good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Prof. Miller Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND

Lane-Davis Drug Co., druggists, handle Gilhooley's Irish Liniment, and they back it up with what might be called a government bond. In fact, a guarantee certificate goes with every bottle, to the effect that if Gilhooley's Irish Liniment does not cure Eczema, Rheumatism, in any form, Salt Rheum, Lumbago or any skin ailment, you are out nothing, as the druggist you bought it from will give back your money and take the certificate for his pay.

The matter is entirely in your hands. Gilhooley Irish Liniment Co., St. Paul, Minn.

WALKER-OTIS ARE REACHERS IN CONVENTION

Should Make Life a Practice of Immortality on Earth.

DR. DYOTT SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY PARK

Delivers Message of Condolence in First Sermon Since Death of Former Pastor G. W. Riggs—Subject: "Immortality."

With a message of condolence, Rev. Luther R. Dyott Sunday morning preached the first sermon in the University Park Congregational church since the death of Rev. G. W. Riggs, pastor of the church, who died last week.

Adonis, a mythical personage, was a child of incomparable beauty. Venus and Proserpine craved the possession of Adonis. Conflict arose, Venus and Proserpine had their quarrel as to who should have the child. Unable to settle their dispute, they referred the matter to Jupiter, who decided that Adonis should spend part of the year with Venus and the other part with Proserpine, so that he lived eight months in the upper world and four months in the lower.

This fragment of literature from mythology illustrates some features of moral life, fabled with gleams, with hints and hopes of immortality.

"Amid conflicts and antagonisms, with struggling faith, at times with high blindings, materialistic propensities, that abides the desire of possession with some notion and love of the good, some vision of the beautiful, and underlying intuition that the domain of the beautiful is more extensive than that of the physical world, I sweep outward and onward beyond the bounds of our sensuous apprehension and suggest that man is a bi-world creature. A belief in the immortality of the soul does not depend altogether upon scriptural proof—texts. The progress of the life has some bearing upon the question. Modern religion should have no quarrel with evolution in the interest of immortality.

Humanity Has Progressed. "Let it be granted that primitive man, with his animal passions, enhanced by his powerful emotions, stimulated by his growing imagination, has dawning intellectual forces, and his increasing self-consciousness, rendered this creature more cruel, blood-thirsty and revengeful than the beasts; let it be granted that war at first did not contribute to nation building, but increased more than sporadic, volcanic outbreaks of inter-tribal hate, and all the demands of evolution be granted. Still it must be admitted that humanity, in its totality, has progressed.

In the power to progress is something divine. In the something divine is the seed of immortality. Again, we find an evidence of immortality in the fact that man can reach the place where he evidences God-like qualities. We do not know very much about God. We do not know very much about man. But we know enough to observe that the attributes and faculties and life-functions of God have their correspondence in man. God thinks. Man can think God's thoughts and act in God's love. God achieves. Man can become immortal in immortal achievements. In these things, as in many others, man is like God. Like comes of like. That which is like God is God. God cannot die. That which is like God cannot die. That which is like God organizes in man, about the essential ego, that life cannot die.

Consciousness of Life. "Again, life carries with it a consciousness of the same. This is at least true of immortal life. The final proof of immortality is in the individual consciousness of God's life in one's own soul, as to speak more correctly, in one's own spirit. This leads us to the question as to whether immortality is inherent in the life of every man, or is it bestowed of God through the birth from above? I do not know. Sometimes I fear that a man who goes into the other world with sin as the ruling force of his being will ultimately be destroyed by the awful thing that is called the life here. I could hope that, in the mercy of God, he may have another chance in the other world, even sinful men. But I do not know.

Two Immortalities. "I do know, however, that a person whose life is a reproduction of the divine life on earth has two immortalities. One which he leaves behind him in this world, in the good he has done; the other he carries with him into the other world, in the good that he is. We should, therefore, partake of the nature of God here and now, and make this a practice of immortality on earth, which, by sublime continuity and divine guarantee, is carried into the other world to be as eternal as God himself.

To Experience God. "The life of God is the environment of this immortal life in us. If we keep the correspondence with this environment, whatever is good in us, whatever is divine, must ever grow in this environment, where eternal life itself in us, is correspondence with the eternal life of God. This is life eternal to know that it is, to experience God. This is the life and immortality in the new light offered by the life and teachings of Jesus Christ, which all who will may have. Jesus is not the only teacher of immortality, but he is the best. Let each increase life with its immortal qualities, and so the death that is the natural death it may be said of each and every one of us: "He being dead, yet speaks for, 'tis the divinity that stirs within us, 'tis heaven itself that points out the hereafter, and intimates eternity to man."

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Portland but Daily Growing Less

The kidneys cry for help. No organ in the whole body so delicately constructed. Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fall the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood. Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble. It is the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need. They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Portland citizen: Mrs. T. J. O'Brien of 60 East 9th st., North Portland, O., says: "Time has not changed my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave this remedy my endorsement in 1903 and am glad to repeat my recommendation of it. A member of my family found great relief through using Doan's Kidney Pills and since then several of my neighbors have tried the remedy with equally as good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Prof. Miller Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND

Lane-Davis Drug Co., druggists, handle Gilhooley's Irish Liniment, and they back it up with what might be called a government bond. In fact, a guarantee certificate goes with every bottle, to the effect that if Gilhooley's Irish Liniment does not cure Eczema, Rheumatism, in any form, Salt Rheum, Lumbago or any skin ailment, you are out nothing, as the druggist you bought it from will give back your money and take the certificate for his pay.

The matter is entirely in your hands. Gilhooley Irish Liniment Co., St. Paul, Minn.

standing that it was to be placed with Martin. There was no evidence that Martin was conducting a book, as the betting at the track is being conducted orally. The district attorney contends that the placing of money, however, was a violation of the law.

Brown's bond was fixed at $1000. Upon the decision in this case will depend probably future methods of conducting races in this state.

Flood Damages Repaired. (Special Dispatch to This Journal.) Marshfield, Or., Nov. 28.—It is expected to have trains running through to Coquille in a day or two on the local railroad. The freight has caused a good deal of damage to the tracks, but there have been washouts in a number of places. A large force of men is engaged in rushing repair work.

RECIPE FOR CATARRH

The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription, which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following: Any drugstore has the ingredients, or will quickly get them for you. Any one can mix them.

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Tonic compound; half pint first class whiskey." These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. This cured many people here last winter.

THAT ARE WEAK, NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN COME TO ME AND BE CURED

I see All My Patients Personally. THE DOCTOR COMPANY

FEEL FOR A CURE is lower than any specialist in the city, half that others charge you and no exorbitant price for medicine.

I am an expert specialist, have had 30 years' practice in the treatment of diseases of men. My offices are the best equipped in Portland. My methods are modern and up-to-date. My cures are quick and positive. I do not treat symptoms and patch up. I thoroughly examine each case, find the cause, remove it and thus cure the disease.

I CURE Varicose Veins, Hydrocele, Prostate, Gonorrhea, Contracted Appendicitis, Piles and Specific Blood Poisons and all Diseases of Men.

CURE ON NO PAY—I am the only specialist in Portland who makes no charge unless the patient is entirely satisfied with the results accomplished. I give a written guarantee to refund every dollar for services if a complete and permanent cure is not effected.

Visit Dr. Lindsay's private Museum of Anatomy and know yourself in health and disease. Admission free. Consultation free. Write to call, write for list of questions.

Office hours—9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Sundays, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. only.

DR. LINDSAY

122 1/2 Second St., corner of Alder, Portland, Or.

QUICK RELIEF FOR THE SICK AND AILING

C. Gee Wo's Harmless but Effective Remedies Produce Wonderful Results

C. Gee Wo

THE CHINESE DOCTOR

Through the relief afforded to suffering humanity in this northwest, C.