Appropriation Bills to Have Right of Way—Amendment to Sherman Anti-Trust Bill—Interest in President's Message.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Washington, Dec. 4.—Congress will assemble Monday for the "long session," which probably will run well into the summer. Senators and representatives who have arrived in town express a determination to take up the work of the session vigorously at the beginning with the hope of having it well advanced before the holidays. The house is already organized by the election of speaker and officers at the extra session, and the appointment of committees, so there will be no excuse for that body not getting down to business at once.

Right of Way.
The appropriation bills are to be given the right of way at both ends of the capitol and pressed through with all possible haste. The appropriations committee of the house has been at work for more than a week. When the appropriations bills have been disposed of congress will turn its attention to more interesting, if not more important measures. There will be plenty to engage attention. Every important committee of the house has a calendar full of bills, introduced in the extra session, and a flood of new measures, cooked up by ambitious members during the recess, is expected at the outset.

Here are some of the things congress will find ready to hand to work on:
Sweeping changes in the railway laws, giving added power to the interstate commerce commission.

Several Amendments.
An amendment to the Sherman anti-trust act exempting labor unions from penalties for combination.
Subventions for the upbuilding of the merchant marine and extension of the ocean mail service.
Authorization to railroads to pool under strict supervision of the interstate commerce commission.
Legislation regulating the boycott and the issuance of injunctions against labor organizations.
Internal waterway improvements, according to the policy outlined by the president in his recent addresses in the south and west.
A proposal to reduce the present tax on oleomargarine.
An investigation of the sugar trust scandal will be proposed, and may or may not be undertaken.

Important Measures.
The foregoing are some of the more important measures which will clamor for attention, but not all of them are expected to receive it.
Every person here is looking forward to a lively session. Friction between Speaker Cannon and the insurgents is expected to develop as soon as the gavel falls. The insurgents are rampant and determined for trouble, while Mr. Cannon, judging from his recent speeches in the west, has no idea of yielding in the Senate. Things also will be lively if present signs count for anything. Senator Cummins of Iowa is in town primed for battle, and La Follette of Wisconsin, Bristow of Kansas and other insurgent leaders are also on the ground ready for the fray. On all sides, therefore, the outlook is bright for some "scrappy" times in both houses during the coming winter and spring.

Much interest is manifested in the president's message on account of the great importance of the many questions it will have to deal with. No presidential message in years, it is safe to say, will have been listened to with a greater amount of eagerness and interest. In the course of his recent tour of the country Mr. Taft outlined in his various addresses the views he holds concerning the great public questions of the day, and which he is expected to incorporate in his message.

President's Plans.
The president will propose to congress important legislation upon at least 10 subjects. Each is a matter which will provoke discussion and arouse opposition in congress. The chief subjects to be dealt with are: Supervision of the issue of stocks and bonds by interstate corporations; readjustment of the duties and powers of the interstate commerce commission; expansion of the duties of the bureau of corporations; creation of a new bureau in the department of justice to deal with violations of law by interstate carriers; establishment of a so-called "railroad court"; amendment of the Sherman anti-trust act; creation of a postal savings bank; ship subsidies; amendment of the procedure regarding the granting of injunctions, and the conservation of natural resources. In addition to these it is probable that currency reform will be recommended, not as something to be immediately undertaken, but to be considered when the report of the monetary commission is completed.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND TWO LEADERS WORK TOGETHER

President Taft and the senate and house managers have reached an agreement with several powerful eastern railroad owners by which it is hoped to avoid conflict over any new legislation affecting railroad interests. The plan is to set all railroads into harmony, thus preventing the occurrence of the fight against the administration program which has been outlined.
The administration supporters aver that President Taft, Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon have served a notice to the effect that if the railroads will refrain from fighting the passage of such legislation as the administration proposes, they will have no trouble. The same supporters profess a belief that the entire transportation contingent will enter the agreement, which certain circles believe with the report published a week ago, stating that President Taft is working closely with Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon in framing the plan of agreement, which will contain recommendations of changes in the transportation law. It was openly announced today that the state of affairs would be an exhibition of Roosevelt tactics in securing legislation.

SNOW MUST BE REMOVED FROM ALL SIDEWALKS WITHOUT DELAY

The tenant or occupant of a building or of land bordering on a street where there is a sidewalk, within the corporate limits of the city of Portland, or if there is no tenant, occupant or other person having the care of the whole of such building, or of any such land, the owner thereof shall, within the first four hours of daylight after the ceasing to fall of any snow, cause the same to be removed therefrom the entire length of said premises, and for a space not less than three feet in width.
The foregoing is the city ordinance governing the removal of snow from sidewalks and which Chief of Police Cox instructed his men to see it enforced against the snow storm of yesterday afternoon.
This applies to both the business and residence districts, and a penalty on conviction in municipal court is a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $25 for each offense.
The residents sections of the city, many property owners began early yesterday afternoon clearing sidewalks and this morning the business streets were busy scenes of the sidewalk sweepers. All indications are that everyone is taking it upon themselves good naturedly to keep clean sidewalks, and no trouble is anticipated in the enforcement of this ordinance.
Crossing policemen were busy yesterday afternoon and evening keeping traffic in order, as many teamsters had not prepared for such a slippery time, and had considerable difficulty in keeping their course in the streets.
The proholiday shoppers all Saturday afternoon and late into the evening required much attention by the traffic squad, but no serious accidents were reported.

BERGEN'S DEAD TO BE CREMATED FREE

Bergen, N. J., Dec. 4.—The municipality of Bergen announces that it has entered into an arrangement with a crematory, securing a very low rate for the city, and that henceforth the dead of the town will be cremated free of charge at the request of relatives.
If there are no relatives, the dead bodies will be cremated by the city as a matter of compulsion.
The new regulation was passed in the city council by an overwhelming majority, recognizing the danger to health involved by burial in the soil. Furthermore it was argued, that the poor are driven to much useless expense by ostentatious funerals. In many cases the entire estate of the dead is swept away by undertakers' bills.
The city will erect a hall, becomingly decorated, where urns containing the ashes of the dead may be kept free of charge by relatives and friends. However, no monuments or expensive tablets are allowed, the urns are to be of all of the same material, and nothing save name and date are permitted. The action of the municipality is hailed as a victory for democracy and hygiene.

SUGAR TRUST SHALL PAY BIG SUM

Through fraudulent means of samples, passed through the appraiser's office at New York and other ports at a rate of duty applying to sugars of low grade, and the trust got the benefit of the difference. Bribery and corruption of the employees of the appraiser's office made this possible.
When the government investigation began, the samples upon which the cargoes had been appraised had disappeared. But the government agents have gone further back in their inquiry.
Cargoes of sugar consigned to the American Sugar Refining company during the last few years have been traced back to their point of origin, where a careful record was kept not only of the number of bags shipped and their weight, but also of the analyses of the sugar itself.
Starting Discoveries.
A number of these records have been secured. It is understood and commented on these with the analysis secured by the trust on the arrival of sugars in this country have demonstrated, it is said, the other way in which the trust has for years defrauded the government.
It is because of these discoveries and the necessity for preparing the evidence with which to bring home the frauds to the trust and compel it to make restitution that Attorney General Wickersham is opposed to a congressional investigation at this time into the sugar trust's affairs and the collusion of government officials with it at New York.
In this position, it is understood, the president agrees. According to the government officials no good could be accomplished by such an investigation just now, and a great deal of harm might result, by possibly enabling some of the guilty officials of the trust to escape prosecution through obtaining immunity because of their testimony.

Before Christ by Several Centuries
Is the date reckoned as the age of the table on exhibition. In the show window of Cabot Bros., Furniture Store at 222 1/2 East-Morrow street, it is far older than the table from which the last sugar was taken, and after centuries of constant use it still stands as sturdy and perfect today as when it was first built. Don't fail to see it. It is educational.
