

BAR VICTIMS FROM PUBLIC SCHOOLS

State Board of Health Rules That Pupils, Teachers and Employes Suffering From Tuberculosis Must Be Kept From Institutions.

Reorganization of the state board of health and the office of state dairy and food commissioner, to be followed by reorganization under one head, was approved by the board during its annual meeting here yesterday afternoon. A bill repealing the laws creating both the board and the dairy commission and providing for the desired reorganization will be presented through the agency of a legislative committee of the state health board at the next session of the legislature.

Consumptives are barred from public schools of the state, according to a ruling issued by the board. This includes teachers, pupils and employes. A stringent order against the sale of milk from consumptive cows was unanimously approved by the board. These acts, together with the resignation of Dr. Robert C. Yennely as secretary of the board, and the tender of the position to Dr. Calvin White, comprised the distinctive features of the session.

Met Early in Salem.

The state board of health met early yesterday morning in Salem. Immediate adjournment to Portland made it possible for members of the board to reach this city in time to begin their meeting in Medical building by 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were present all members, with the exception of Dr. W. B. Morse, of Salem, who found it impossible to come to Portland. Investigations into the Oregon school system were reported. Dr. C. J. Smith, of Pendleton, stated that a number of the text-books on physiology were incorrect and should be replaced with texts approved for their accuracy by a competent commission. By Dr. Smith, Dr. Pierce and other members of the board the rapid spread of tuberculosis because of the present system which allows individuals suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis to mingle freely with others was described and was followed by precedent-making action, forbidding any person affected with tuberculosis to be in the schools.

Responsibility for the spread of small pox epidemics was placed by Dr. C. J. Smith on the moving picture shows. Their lack of ventilation and sanitary appliances, he said, give the disease an unequalled opportunity to communicate from one person to another. A light epidemic of smallpox in Pendleton has been spread by the agency of the moving picture shows, he declared. A ruling was thereupon adopted by the board making local boards of health responsible for the condition of the moving picture shows. Local boards will be instructed to forbid the operation of any of these places not provided with ventilation and sanitary appliances.

Dr. Alfred Kinney urged that the mayors and councils of every city in the state be asked to get forcefully into the fight for pure milk. The board will send letters to the mayors and councils of all the cities in the state, asking them to cooperate in the pure milk fight, and submitting for their approval a pure milk ordinance based on the ordinance recently adopted by the city of Portland. Some pertinent questions were asked by the board as to the way in which Portland's new ordinance is being enforced. Much surprise was expressed when Dr. Yennely said that for some cause not apparent actual enforcement had been dangerously delayed. A vote of disapproval of this delay was taken by the board.

Ask Schools for Plans.

Coming back to schools again, arrangements were made to request all school boards to furnish local boards of health with plans and specifications for new buildings, these plans to be subject to the suggestions of the boards in order to provide adequate ventilation and sanitation.

Dr. Pierce urged the appointment of a new committee on legislation. The first duty of this committee will be to frame the bill already referred to which will put the state board of health and the state dairy and food commission out of existence and proceed to put the entire interrelated system under one head, an advisory commission to be appointed for a certain supervision of the executive officials' actions.

By various members of the board it was urged that although such an action puts the board members in the position of kicking themselves out of a job, a reorganization along the lines suggested will work out in greater economy of expenditure and greater efficiency in administration. Dr. Yennely, in his report, showed an unusual degree of activity in points visited and work accomplished. Health conditions over the state had been reviewed during the year and many suggestions and instructions given, including specific emphasis on the necessity for pure water for the cities.

Will Enforce Law.

By Dr. Yennely's recommendation the state board of health will give much attention to the enforcement of the law which forbids the sale of milk from diseased cattle. This will be particularly in reference to milk from tubercular cows. At the same time an effort will be made to prevent the sale of diseased or maimed animals from the stockyards. Dr. Yennely stated that it is the custom of certain dealers in Portland to go to the stockyards and there pick out animals which, from disease or injury, had failed to pass inspection, knock these in the head and haul them away to be sold as beef to the people of Portland. Dr. Yennely's resignation was received with regret by the board, but upon his representation that he had firmly decided not to hold the office for another term because it causes financial loss to himself, the resignation was accepted.

Dr. Yennely has been notably most effective and energetic health officer the state has ever had, and his connection with phases of the milk crusade in Portland made his work especially permanent and beneficial. Dr. Ralph C. Matson, bacteriologist to the board, submitted a report, which in the amount of chemical and bacteriological work it showed the board to be doing, was a surprise to the board members themselves. Dr. Matson stated that he was paying out not less than $120 a month for the expense of his laboratory. His fee is receiving $75. His request for a larger appropriation was met with favor and will be definitely considered at the March meeting of the board.

The motion, made by Dr. C. J. Smith, that a law be framed to repeal the laws creating the board and the dairy commission included an arrangement for report at the March meeting of the board.

Much concern is felt by her friends over the illness of Mrs. M. D. Wisdom. She is being cared for at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. E. Lafor, well known social figures in Salem, are visiting Portland friends this week.

Before a representative gathering Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Sablin, 438 East Twenty-third street, North, Dr. C. H. Chapman lectured on Percy Bysshe Shelley. Dr. Chapman's talk was an interesting and exhaustive interpretation of the subject, and has been the occasion of much favorable comment.

Yesterday's beautiful sunshine brought forth a crowd of women in holiday garb to the reception given by Mrs. E. L. Thompson at her handsome home on Portland Heights, in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lewis Irvine Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is a recent bride, and was formerly the attractive Miss Sadie Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Jackson. The future bride was one of great beauty and brilliance, the spacious rooms being embowered with masses and groups of palms and ferns, which formed a background for the innumerable chrysanthemums, roses, poinsettias and carnations which abounded everywhere. Several hundred were in attendance and were received with graceful hospitality by the hostess and the coterie of maids chosen to assist her. The hostess, with her guest of honor and her sister, Mrs. Allan B. Slauson, greeted her guests in the hall, where palms and yellow chrysanthemums were used. Mrs. E. L. Thompson was extremely handsome, wearing a pale orange gown of apricot shade, elaborated with sequins of gold. Mrs. Lewis L. Thompson was a fetching figure in apricot satin, exquisitely fashioned. Mrs. Slauson was attired in gray silk voile. Such were the equities. Circulating about the rooms were Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. Adolph Dekum, Mrs. C. E. Templeton, Mrs. J. L. Hartman, Miss Marshall and Miss Vida Marshall. The drawing room, with its effective background of green tapestry, was beautifully well decorated with chrysanthemums. The centerpiece, a great mass of yellow chrysanthemums, was especially pretty. Serving in the dining room were Mrs. D. A. Shindler, Mrs. J. D. Hart, Mrs. J. N. Teal and Mrs. Walter V. Smith. Mrs. C. H. Slauson was in a blue silk gown. Mrs. Herbert Holman in pink chiffon and the Misses Marshall in dainty gowns of pastel shades. Mrs. James H. Hart was in a blue gown. Mrs. J. D. Hart was in a blue gown.

INDIANS KILL DEER; 25 DAYS BEHIND BARS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Heppner, Or., Dec. 17.—For killing deer out of season, Billy, Johnny, Little George and Pitts, four Columbia river Indians who reside on the Washington side of the river, were arrested yesterday by Deputy Game Warden Gurdans and Deputy Sheriff Nash.

When taken by the officers at the mouth of Khes creek in this county, it was found that the Indians had been making a rich haul in gathering winter "muchamuck" in the way of juicy venison, however, contrary to the state game laws.

In the Indian outfit there were about 40 deer hides, besides a good collection of heads and horns and a large quantity of fresh and jerked venison.

At this time of the year, when the snows are deep in the high altitudes, the mule deer of the Blue mountains congregate in herds and it is an easy matter to surprise the animals and slaughter them in large numbers.

The Indians submitted to arrest without trouble, with the exception of Pitts who was highly indignant at the audacity of the pale faced officers. He was persuaded not to go on the warpath, and all four were taken before Justice Perkins at Heppner, where they were fined $50 each. Not having the necessary funds the original Americans will be guests at the Morrow county "skookum" house for the next 25 days.

KENNEWICK RESIDENCE BURNS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Kennewick, Wash., Dec. 17.—Fire which is thought to have originated from a spark from a defective flue or stove, early Tuesday morning completely destroyed the home of A. Nevelow, a mile south of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Nevelow were in bed when the fire broke out and barely escaped from the burning building with a few articles of clothing.

If Morgan and Rockefeller could live 20 years or so longer they would be multi-billionaires.
