

EXHIBITIONS DO NOT IMPROVE, SAYS WRIGHT

Quiet Work and Experimentation Are Things That Count in Perfecting Aerial Navigation, He Says.

(United Press Special Wire.)
New York, Jan. 10.—Willbur Wright is in New York today, presumably on business connected with the attempt they are making to prevent Glenn Curtiss and Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, from using aeroplanes in which are incorporated any of the Wright ideas.

Before Paulhan's departure last week for Los Angeles to participate in an aviation meet there, he was reported to have been served with legal papers in this city, which had to do with his alleged infringement of the Wright patents. The truth of this report was not established. It was rumored today that the business of the Dayton aviators in New York was to make application for an injunction against Paulhan.

Willbur Wright declared today that work and not exhibitions would perfect the airplane. He said:

"It will be interesting enough, I suppose, but what good can it do beyond advertising the city? I never cared for exhibitions. Work only brings results. Perfection will be reached by the few who say little and do much. Quiet work and constant experimenting are the things that count—not the displays."

MCCUTCHEON'S PLAY ATTRACTION AT BAKER

By A. L.
Anyone having illusions about "Beverly of Graustark" may prepare to lose them this week at the Baker theatre, where the presentation of "Beverly" is nothing short of a caricature of George Barr McCutcheon's pretty little romance.

The management has been particularly unfortunate in its choice of a "Beverly," the beautiful American girl who swept everything before her. Gertrude Fowler is lacking both in charm of appearance and manner. Her dressing was exceedingly bad in spots and the many lines about her beauty and fascination became funny.

In pleasing contrast was the "Princess Felice" of Edith Shippey, who was very pretty and much more the ideal type of American girl than many of our illustrators have given us. She carried the instant conviction that she was a lady, and her Felice was played with dignity and queenly grace.

Hattie Carmontelle, as "Aunt Fanny," Beverly's black mammy, made friends with her audience at once and was really the most popular member of the cast.

Whitaker, who is not unknown to Portland audiences, and as "Prince Danton" he looked romantic and was very acceptable in the part. Thomas V. Morrison hardly seemed the ideal general of a kingdom's forces and lost considerable credit through the lack of his wig, which looked as though it had been put on by a novice.

The remainder of the cast did all that was expected of it, and the scenery is fairly good. "Beverly" will be at the Baker all week with a bargain matinee on Wednesday.

NEW TRIALS DENIED IN DAMAGE SUITS

Circuit Judge Cleland this morning denied motions for new trials in the cases of Merrill Lewis against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, and L. R. Lewis, against the same corporation. In the former case Mrs. Lewis secured judgment for $2500 for injuries sustained in a streetcar collision, and the street railway asked for a new trial. In the second case Lewis, husband of the plaintiff in the other case, sued for his loss resulting from her injury. The verdict was against him, and he asked for a new trial.

In the case of Anna C. Behie against David A. Behie, Judge Cleland allowed a motion to strike out parts of the defendant's cross complaint and answer, and allowed the plaintiff $25 expense money in preparing for trial of her suit for divorce. She had asked for $200.

LAKE AND HARNEY LANDS TO BE WATERED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Portland, Or., Jan. 10.—One of the most important land deals that has taken place in Lake county during the past few years has been partly completed with the application for withdrawal from settlement of 69,680 acres in Lake county and 27,480 acres in Harney county. The lands will be irrigated by installing a pumping plant at the lower end of Flagstaff lake—which is referred to on all of the older maps of the county as North Warner lake—and by building a reservoir sit on Honey creek to hold the waters of Honey and Snyder creeks and distribute them through gravity canals over a portion of the lands; also to supply electric power to operate the pumping plant.

Estate of W. A. Dart.
Mrs. Alna A. Dart has been granted letters on the estate of her husband, William A. Dart, the newspaper writer who recently died. He leaves 2 1/2 acres of land in Clackamas county, valued at $250, to the widow, and a valuable dictionary and typewriter to his 10-year-old daughter.

PEOPLE'S FORUM MUCH DISCOUNTED

Whitewash Believed Will Be Final Result of Any Nicaraguan Probe.

(United Press Special Wire.)
Panama, Jan. 10.—Information received from Managua today by American residents of Panama has caused them to believe that the investigation into the execution of Leroy Cannon and Leonard Groce in Nicaragua, ordered by President Madriz, will result only in a whitewash. They say Madriz has consented to the investigation only to satisfy the demands of American residents of Nicaragua and to place his administration upon a firmer footing at Washington. That the affair will result in no definite findings, or at best that some minor officer will be made the scapegoat, they say is inevitable.

A rumor, supposed to have emanated from Managua, has it that Salomon Selya, the attorney who prosecuted the two Americans in behalf of the Zelaya administration, may be brought to task. It is thought Selya will be able to clear himself by producing Zelaya's authorization for the prosecution, which is reported to have been given.

Should this authorization be introduced into the investigation Zelaya might be charged with direct responsibility for the executions, but it is thought his absence from Nicaragua will safeguard him. Even though his extradition should be asked, the attitude of the Mexican government would have to be taken into consideration and it is not believed here that extradition would be granted.

SIX WEEKS OF SNOW IN WASCO COUNTY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., Jan. 10.—This is the beginning of the sixth week of continuous snow, the storm having begun the last of November, and the ground has been covered with snow ever since. No damage has been done by the storm in this vicinity. In the southern part of the county the situation is becoming serious. Hay is scarce, and several large sheep owners in the vicinity of Antelope are out of hay.

They are shipping in shelled oats and feeding it to their flocks. If the weather does not moderate there will be considerable loss of both cattle and sheep in localities remote from the railroad, where it will be impossible to get feed when the local supply is exhausted.

CONNELL, WASH., MAN DIES IN CAVE-IN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Colfax, Wash., Jan. 10.—William M. Connell, whose home is at Connell, Wash., was killed last night about dark at an old mine in the vicinity of Colfax. He was of Colfax by the way of the wall of a cut. Contractor Forest Gipsen and Henry S. Slattery barely escaped with their lives. Corner Bruns of Colfax returned a verdict of death by unavoidable accident. The body was sent to Connell for burial. He leaves a wife and six small children at Connell.

Hide Cash; Fire Destroys.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Marshallfield, Or., Jan. 10.—Hiding his money under the eaves of Harry Wilkins of Ten Mile to lose $235 in cash besides his house and its contents. While Wilkins was away his house caught fire and burned down. He lost $155 in paper money and $130 in gold. The latter was found, but it was a molten mass, mixed with ashes and glass.

The residence of Alex Stauff at Arago on the Coquille river was destroyed by fire. The loss will be about $3000.

Hood Circuit Court Opens.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Jan. 10.—Circuit court for Hood River county opened this morning with Judge W. L. Bradshaw presiding. District Attorney Fred W. Wilson, of The Dalles, is in attendance. There will be three state cases to come before the grand jury, and the docket of civil cases is longer than that of any previous session. Honorable N. J. Sinnott, of The Dalles, is present and has several cases before the court.

Double Tracking to Begin.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., Jan. 10.—S. S. Barry, a soon begin on double tracking the O. R. & N. between this city and Biggs. Camps to accommodate 400 laborers are being erected at the mouth of Three Mile creek above The Dalles. About 100 laborers are here ready to commence operations as soon as the weather will permit. Biggs is the northern terminus of the Columbia Southern.

North Bend School Completed.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Marshallfield, Or., Jan. 10.—The new high school at North Bend will be dedicated the latter part of the month. A. G. Raab, superintendent of North Bend schools, has received word from Eugene Robinson of the Multnomah county schools that he will be here to deliver the dedicatory address. The school was erected at a cost of over $50,000.

Columbia Frozen at The Dalles.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., Jan. 10.—The Columbia at this point is covered over with ice, and teams will be crossing on the ice bridge in a few days if the cold continues. Floating ice began blocking the river at Crater's point, three miles below the city, Friday, and by Sunday morning the river here was covered from bank to bank.

Dalles Japanese Arrested.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., Jan. 10.—S. S. Barry, a Japanese, recently released from the county jail, was arrested yesterday morning, charged with having stolen milk from the storage room of the Albert hotel. When arrested he was trying to sell the meat.

New Rails Arrive.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Marshallfield, Or., Jan. 10.—About five miles of new steel rails will arrive in a few days to be used on the Coos Bay, Roseburg & Eastern railway, the local line of the Southern Pacific. The rails now in use are too light.

PEOPLE'S FORUM FAVORS PINCHOT

Speakers on Conservation and Audience Show Sympathy for Dismissed Man.

The People's Forum was crowded last evening to listen to the address on conservation delivered by J. N. Teal, the president of the Oregon conservation forces. Previous to his address Miss Grove recited in a clear, quiet and impressive manner Bryant's "Thanatopsis."

Mr. Teal said there was no need of courts or legislators to tell us that it was wrong to waste and destroy the gifts of Providence and withhold them from generations yet unborn. We had now to decide, he said, whether these forests and water powers should be passed on unimpaired, as to whether we would allow "practical" men to lay them waste, as had been done in the eastern states, and in other lands and nations.

Deplores Dispositions.

The speaker deplored the equally unjust disposition upon property in handing over to a few corporations and individuals these vast resources of forest, stream and bay to make their use a grievous burden upon millions of children unborn and the generations to come after them. He declared the natural resources of the country to be ours only in trust, and he denied the moral right to grant franchises in perpetuity. The dead hands of the past have no right to throttle a nation. He said that the corporation claiming the falls of the Willamette based their contentions upon a grant made 10 years ago, when the few white men in the territory had no conception of what Oregon would be in 1910, any more than the people have of what Oregon will be in 1970.

Whatever the legal rights might be, the moral right was not there, and he did not believe that posterity would admit perpetual franchises granted by the people to be a burden on them and a block to progress.

Another speaker following Mr. Teal called attention to the fact that the natural opportunities of England had been granted to a few men 12 centuries ago, and that the question there was now to dispossess them, the only way being by taxing land values.

What Colorado Has Done.

Another five minutes' speech revealed that Colorado, by conserving a few sections of school land instead of receiving $27,000,000 rentals from one section, and the average rentals received equaled nearly one-quarter of her school fund. This gentleman declared that Oregon had school sections that might prove equally valuable.

◆ The speakers, and the audience showed strong sympathy with Forester Pinchot, and although Mr. Teal tried to conceal his opposition to the policies of Ballinger, he did not succeed very well. Mr. Teal concluded by urging every citizen to protect our natural resources in the name of that higher and newer patriotism spoken of by Mr. Pinchot against the destruction of our natural resources and in favor of conserving them unimpaired and unmonopolized for future generations.

Next Sunday the People's Forum expects to listen to John S. White on the single tax.

Mr. White is from Chicago and is considered the ablest platform exponent of that philosophy and reform now attracting world-wide attention.

Dynamite Blast Kills Laborer.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 10.—George Cunningham, a laborer, was instantly killed by a dynamite explosion early this morning. Cunningham placed three heavy charges of dynamite under a large stump. Two exploded and as Cunningham approached the stump to investigate the third exploded. His head was blown off and his body hurled 50 feet.

INFLAMED KIDNEYS

Medical writers declare it incurable after the sixth month whether albuminous or not.

The average man prefers to think of it as "kidney trouble," and let it go, but the census shows this appalling fact—out of 63,000 deaths from kidney troubles the last census year over nine-tenths of them (58,000) took the form called "Bright's Disease," although it is quite probable that nine-tenths of these up to the last moment thought of it as and called it "kidney trouble" when as a matter of fact the only possible hope laid through a specific for Bright's Disease.

There never was one until Fulton worked out his Renal emollient (Fulton's Renal Compound).

Since then inflammation of the kidneys, whether albuminous or not, or whether called "kidney trouble" or "Bright's Disease," or whether six months or six years old, commonly yields.

If you have had kidney trouble over six months no matter what you call it, it is the only hope. Efficiency 87 per cent where patients do not wait until bedridden although some of them recover. It can be had at all druggists.

L. R. GLAVIS HIS WAY BACK TO WASHINGTON

Chief Witness Before Ballinger Investigating Commission Declines to Talk About Alaska Coal Land Deals.

Louis R. Glavis, on his way from White Salmon to Washington, where he will give testimony concerning the Alaska coal land deal before the Ballinger investigating commission, has determined that he will say nothing about his case until he talks to the members of the commission themselves.

"I have nothing to say. There is nothing to say," affirmed Mr. Glavis when he arrived in Portland this afternoon from White Salmon. Then he added:

"You may say for me that I will be in Portland at the Hotel Portland until tomorrow morning, when I will leave for Washington. I do not consider it dignified to talk more about my case at this time."

Personally, Mr. Glavis was intensely interested in the latest developments of the Washington situation. His questions were many and pertinent. "I have been up in the woods," he said smilingly. "I haven't the slightest idea how things have been going."

The general representative of the general land office was also interested to know how local feeling is. "I have friends here and I feel good toward them," he said. "I appreciate, too, the way The Journal has treated me. On this matter it is the only square paper here."

Mr. Glavis' approaching inquisition had not affected in the slightest his health or spirits. An optimistic outlook was evidenced by his smile and by every expression. He would not express his encouragement, but his manner showed that he had not lost hope of having the Ballinger controversy reduced finally to its simple elements. He went immediately to the Portland after his arrival.

HEAVY SNOWFALL IS PREDICTED FOR CITY FOR NEXT FEW DAYS

◆ That Portland may get some heavy snow out of the present fall, is the prediction of District Forecaster Beals today. He says there will probably not be any marked change in the weather for a day or two.

◆ The precipitation for the last 24 hours was .61 inch, mostly in the form of snow.

◆ Unusually cold weather prevails in the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf states and the only place where the temperatures are above normal is over a strip of territory extending from Oklahoma to Minnesota.

◆ The coldest weather of the season was reported yesterday, the temperature at Eagle being 50 degrees below zero, and at Tanana 58 degrees below zero.

◆ The forecast for Portland is: Rain or snow tonight and Tuesday; with easterly winds.

HORSES SUFFER ON THE ICY PAVEMENTS

Horses suffered severely because of the ice-coated pavements downtown this morning, and Humane Officer Crate and patrolmen assigned to the main arteries were kept busy protecting the animals from brute drivers.

During the morning more than 50 teams driving rough-shod horses were stopped and compelled to wrap the animals' feet with burlap and rags. Streetcar traffic on Morrison and Washington streets was delayed several times during the morning when horses fell on the tracks.

"Teamsters driving sharp-shod horses should muffle the feet of the animals without being compelled to do so," said Sergeant Crate. "The pavement is the greatest work of the city, and it is painful, though not seriously, hurt because drivers have been too careless to wrap their feet."

FLORENCE ROBERTS WILL ACT HERE

Florence Roberts, who opened last night at the Alhambra in Seattle in her latest play, "The Transformation," made a great hit.

The play is said to be the strongest yet offered at the Shubert houses this season, and Miss Roberts does the greatest work of her career. Miss Roberts and her excellent company jumped from Syracuse, N. Y., in order to open last night in Seattle, and will be seen here next Sunday night at the Portland theatre. A woman of keenest talent and remarkable emotional gifts, it is gratifying to know that she has a suitable vehicle for the display of her powers.

200 HARNESS AND SADDLE DEALERS IN CONVENTION

Say Popular Automobile Slightly Injures Harness Business but Demand Increasing—Northwest Represented.

About 200 harness and saddle dealers are assembled in the city today attending the annual convention of the Northwest Retail Harness and Saddle Manufacturers association in the convention hall of the commercial club. The organization extends over the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana and all are well represented. The delegates from Spokane are out for the meeting to be held next year and it will try to swing the vote that way when the matter comes up tomorrow.

The meeting will close tomorrow evening with a big banquet at the Commercial club at which the collar, cuffs, leather and saddle jobs will be the hosts. A committee composed of Otto Bryman, W. H. McMonies, A. M. Cronin and Charles L. Mastick, having prepared for a real pleasant evening, with music, talks and feasting.

Attendance Not Large. Owing to the late arrival of some trains, the attendance this morning was not as large as expected when President R. W. Price, of Portland, called the session to order. As the day passed the number was steadily augmented until the large hall was pretty well filled and by night it is expected that every one present will have placed his signature on the register.

Reading of the minutes of the meeting held at Seattle last year and this afternoon reports of the officers are being heard. These reports will show the trade to be in a very prosperous condition, with an excellent outlook for the new year. While it is admitted that the popularity of the automobile has made an inroad on the harness trade, the fact is nevertheless announced that the demand for harnesses and saddles is increasing and that the trade is by no means losing ground.

Election Tomorrow. Tomorrow the election of officers will be held. The election will probably be governed to a large extent upon the selection of next year's meeting place. So far Spokane has had the honor, but it is said the possibly other aspirants for the honor will come to the front before the question comes up in the regular order of business.

Officers of the association are as follows: President, R. W. Price, Portland; Vice President, R. W. Price, Portland; Secretary, R. W. Price, Portland; Treasurer, R. W. Price, Portland; Directors: E. F. Ward, Boise; W. R. Peters, Riverview, Idaho; William Robinson, Dayton, Wash.; G. Stacey, Wenatchee, Wash.; M. D. Miles, Lewiston, Idaho; G. Weber, Moscow, Idaho.

CURTISS MAKES INITIAL FLIGHT AT LOS ANGELES

made his lift from the ground and soared away. With the biplane tipping from one side to the other, dipping upward and then downward, Willard swung around the course.

He purposely tilted the plane down until it looked as though it would ram its forward planes into the earth. Then, with a slight twist of the wheel, he would lift the aircraft up.

At terrific speed he finally swung into the back stretch and passed the judge's stand, making the mile in one minute and 23 seconds.

Willard was compelled to alight without covering the course, through trouble with his engine. Not daunted by the mishap, however, he arose again and came into the starting point on his own power. On the last lap from the point of the accident to the finish he covered the distance of one fifth of a mile in 20 seconds.

CROWDS ON HAND EARLY IN DAY TO WITNESS FLIGHTS

(United Press Special Wire.)
Aviation Field, Los Angeles, Jan. 10.—Under partly cloudy skies, with the promise of continued fair weather, the Los Angeles aviation meet began today. All is excitement at the field, where the pilots of the various aeroplanes will endeavor to lower the world's records in the second international meet ever held in the world, and the first in America.

The Frenchmen, Paulhan, Mascaro and Macdon, may not fly today, owing to the fact that the monoplane of note set up and the Farman biplane have to be assembled.

The Farman machine, which will be driven by Paulhan, arrived on the scene today and despite the fact that mechanics are working like mad and Paulhan is racing around spurring them on to extra effort, it is doubtful if the machine will be ready for flight in time for the elimination trials, scheduled for this afternoon.

Glenn Curtiss was ready to make his ascent and had two biplanes tested and in order to mount. Clifford Harmon's Curtiss biplane was ready for use, as was Willard's.

Boy Knabenshue's freak aeroplane, a combination of the Curtiss and Wright aeroplanes, is ready to be tested. The only question about this aircraft is whether or not it will lift itself and a driver from the ground. If it does it will be the smallest craft of the aeroplane kind that ever ascended carrying a driver.

As early as 8 o'clock the crowds started for the grounds and at 10:30 there were some 3000 people present. The big rush came later, when the real flying began.

At 10:15 o'clock this morning Harmon's balloon was inflated and ready for flight. Kane was ready to "rub the blue paint off the stars" at noon.

Livestock to Be Sold.

County Judge Webster has granted G. W. Simmons, administrator of the estate of his father, Samuel W. Simmons, permission to sell the livestock belonging to the estate at Seattle. The stock is valued at $1500. W. E. Burke, Samuel Downey and Pascal Hill, the appraisers, have reported $16,874 as the value of the estate.

Dalles Defeats Hood River.

The Dalles, Or., Jan. 10.—Saturday night The Dalles Athletic club basketball team defeated the Hood River team in a game played in the skating rink, by a score of 31 to 19.

10 MINERS N RIOT ARRESTED

Strikers at Ottawa, Ont., Attempt to Do Damage to Mine and Police Interfere.

(United Press Special Wire.)
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 10.—Following an attack on the police by miners employed at the Nova Scotia mine at Sydney, ten of the rioters are in jail, while the authorities are busy searching for firearms which a number of the miners carried when the leaders were arrested.

Ever since the beginning of the strike nonunion men employed at the mine have been molested. Saturday night strike pickets decided to force their way into the colliery with the alleged purpose of damaging the machinery. Before doing so they cut the telephone wires. The chief of police of Sydney got wind of the affair and was present with a strong posse.

A hand to hand fight resulted and several policemen were injured by bricks. Without firing a gun the police met the attack and succeeded in arresting the leaders. All those taken into custody were armed.

ENGINEER APPEARS BEFORE GRAND JURY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Jan. 10.—Intense interest is taken in the trial of Engineer W. M. Thompson, who has been bound over to the grand jury which meets in this city today. The coroner's jury and the special committee that investigated the engine ever used in the state of Oregon, place the blame of the wreck on Engineer Thompson. F. H. Carson and Jack Williams were killed in the wreck. The case will probably go to the grand jury this afternoon. The cases of the Japanese, Nambu, for assault with a dangerous weapon, and the 18 of Yakusumi for selling liquor without a license will be brought to the attention of the grand jury.

Giant Engine at La Grande. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
La Grande, Or., Jan. 10.—The largest engine ever used in the state of Oregon is now set up in the La Grande yards and will be given an initial trial before it is sent out. It is one of the two Baldwin Mallet that are to be put into service here. The other one will come later in the week. The engine here is No. 450.

The engines have 16 drivers each 57 inches high. The pulling power of each engine is 33,000 tons, which is 7000 tons more than a capacity freight train on mountain systems, and weigh 400,000 pounds on the drivers.

Appointed Commissioner.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Jan. 10.—R. Alexander, a prominent merchant of this city, has received official notification from Governor Benson that he has been appointed as a commissioner of the Third District Oregon District Agricultural society to succeed R. M. Cockburn of Milton, whose term expires. Robert M. Hynd's term expires this year, but his successor has not been appointed. The other members of the board are C. C. Roosevelt, president; Leon Cohen, E. W. McMonies and Addison Bennett. Judge Thomas Fitzgerald is the secretary of the organization.

Circuit Court at Pendleton.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Jan. 10.—The regular January term of the circuit court opened this morning. The cases on the docket will consume five or six weeks. They range all the way from petty larceny to murder. A new grand jury was drawn this morning and the old one was discharged.

SHOWS WHAT FIGHTERS THOSE JAYHAWKERS ARE

(United Press Special Wire.)
Topeka, Kan., Jan. 10.—With a bill of costs amounting to $1000 attached, a Franklin county case growing out of the theft of two small pigs valued at $3 each has just reached the supreme court for the third time. Twice before the judges of the supreme court have heard the stories of the stolen porkers and three separate district judges have studied their history and passed down opinions.
