ACRES IN IDAHO

Demand for Public Makes Hard Task for Surveyor General.

(Special Dispatch to The Jourgal.)
Bolse, Idaho, Jan. 15.—Over 1,000,000 cres of land in Idaho were surveyed during the last six months of 1909. Surveyor General D. A. Utter and his examiners and draftsmen opened the last six months intending to inspect and approve surveys made on 50 complete townships representing 1.-152,600 acres. By July 1 the office will have placed in the hands of the department every survey made dating from six months and making the excellent record of surveying in 12 months ap-proximately 2,509,000 acres of Idaho

Just about one half of Idaho has been officially surveyed by the sureyor general's department and this half is by far the easier for it includes the agricultural lands and the more level country. The balance will take to task the endurance of the deputy United States surveyors for it co ers the rougher and more mountainous sections, including the wilds of the forest and and higher elevations.

That Idaho is a big state and covers much larger territory than many of its residents realize is clearly shown by the records of the surveyor general's decade; other produce has also been office. PROSPEROUS YEAR Land Coming of Railroad Gives Fifteen Thousand Acre Project Promise of Great Development.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Nehalem, Or., Jan. 15 .- The year 1909 was one of unprecedented prosperity and a corresponding era of development in the history of Tillamook county, but its successor gives promise of still brighter prospects.

Land values have increased greatly and are still increasing by leaps and bounds. All lines of business have prospered equally and new enterprises have sprung into existence which will be great factors in developing this community and county. The creating of a Port of Nehalem to improve the bar and harbor, is another factor which will determine in a great measure the future operations of sawmills and other industries in connection with the lumber traffic, to enable vessels of deeper payable, draught to enter the bay and bring our products to market.

EDWARD'S PROCEDURE IN ALSOP ARBITRATION

(United Press Leased Wire.) on, Jan. 15.—Arrangements fo the arbitration of the Alsop claim between the United States and Chile are almost completed, according to an unofficial announcement.

The arbitration methods employed by King Edward in settling past disputes are almost certain to be followed in the present case. The plan involves the appointment of a commission of two or three experts, usually headed by an eminent lawyer, to hear and weigh the evidence on both sides and then submit report and recommendations.

The commissioners are merely the advisors, and King Edward, as arbitrator, is at liberty to reject their view should he see fit.

It is expected that Chief Justice of England Lord Alverstone, who, as Sir Richard Webster, decided against Canada in the Alaska boundary dispute with the United States, will head the Alsop

Oregon Poultrymen "Jack the Strangler" Thought to Be Murderer of Young Women of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15 .- Two weeks have elapsed since the horribly mutilated body of Miss Anna Lloyd, a young bookkeeper employed by a fumber firm, was found in a vacant lot in Fairmount, and so far the police have been unable to fasten the crime on any suspects taken into custody. The failure to unravel the mystery has strengthened the suspicion that Miss Lloyd fell a victim to "Jack the Strangler," the mysterious murderer who has kept the city of Day ton in terror for the past decade. The fact that since the last series of crimes show and will personally pass on each in Dayton was committed three young entry. Mr. Dixon is a member of the women of Cincinnati, including Miss Lloyd, have been strangled to death leads many to believe that the Dayton flend transferred the scene of his operations to this city. While comparing with the infamous Whitechapel murders of 20 years ago, the Dayton girl murder has no parallel in American crime annals. Altogether five young women were mysteriously murdered in Dayton and the police theory is that all were struck down by the same fiendish hand. All of the victims were of about the same age and social condition, and there were many tangible circumstances to connect the crimes. The first victim was Ada examination will be contained on the Lantz, whose dead body was found in a score card hung in front of the pen vault in the rear of her home in 1901. In 1906 Dona Gilman was assaulted, then strangled to death, and her body thrown into a thicket. In 1907 occurred the murder of Anna Markowitz under similar circumstances. In January, 1909, Mary Forschner was assaulted and strangled to death. A few months later Elizabeth Fulhart, a pretty country girl who went to Dayton to obtain employment, was strangled to death, apparently by the same flendish hands, and her body thrown into a cistern.

The police named the supposed mur-derer "Jack the Strangler," from the fact that all the girls were apparently killed by the clutch of the monster's hand upon the throat. Miss Lloyd evidently met her death in precisely the same manner as did the five Dayton victims and the murderer, if he be "Jack the Strangler," has so far escaped detection as successfully as before

JOHN MILES' WIDOW WANTS MORE MONEY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Jan. 15.—The first move in the contest over the wealth of the late John Miles, who died in this city a few days ago, was taken this week, when Harmon & Hull, attorneys for his widow, filed an application in the Lewis county superior court for an allowance of more funds for the support of the widow and minor children. Miles will allowed the widow $80 a month for this purpose, although, according to the will itself, his estate was estimated at $150,000, and various estimates of well known financial men place it as high as $400,000. In her petition filed this week Mrs. Miles asks that she be allowed the property exempt from execution, and a monthly allowance of $350, in advance. Reynolds & Stewart, attorneys for the executors of the will, set forth the provisions of the will; that cured me of what the physicians called Mrs. Miles has been tendered and has refused the $80 a month, and ask that the petiton for a larger allowance be trouble with my throat or lungs since
