

LURLINE BADLY SHAKEN IN STORM DOWN COLUMBIA

Captain of Steamer Says the Worst in His Experience—Mascot Is to Resume Run to La Center.

In fifteen years' experience on steamer on the Willametta and Columbia rivers, Captain McCall, master of the Lurline, reported this morning that he had never had a worse trip than that which the steamer had yesterday afternoon while crossing the bay at the mouth of the Columbia.

When crossing from Astoria to Alton yesterday afternoon, the Lurline was tossed about by the waves and beaten by the wind all the way west and the captain reports that in all of his experience he never was in weather that shook the steamer as did that of yesterday.

No damage was done to the steamer, as she rides the waves like a duck, but she was terribly shaken up and as a result of the high wind and blow all of the time that she was making her trip up the river, she was nine and one half hours in getting here, instead of eight hours, which is her usual time.

Mr. Harrison, manager of the Lewis River Transportation company, announced this morning that the steamer Mascot, which has been tied up since January 7, on account of the ice in the Columbia and low water in the Lewis river, will resume her run to points on the latter river next Thursday. She will not make a round trip every day as she has done before, but will run out on alternate days, leaving here Mondays and returning Tuesdays, and so on. This arrangement will probably be continued until spring.

Mr. Harrison said that the recent rains have brought the Lewis river up so the steamer can be operated on it, and he expects that she will be able to get as far as Woodland and La Center. When the Mascot was tied up early in the month it was almost impossible for her to get into the mouth of the Lewis river, the water being at such a low stage.

PIGS NOT IN FAVOR

Mohammedan Sailors Aboard Stephanotis Sidestep Porker. "Pigs are pigs," and for that reason the Mohammedans aboard the steamer Stephanotis, which is in port now positively will not have anything to do with the black and white porker that is aboard, but pass him by with a stony glare every time that they happen to meet on deck and their abhorrence of the animal is so great that they will not touch anything that he has trodden on with any other than their left hand.

GLADNESS COMES

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver, and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses.

adly an excellent plan and would probably work like a charm, so they arranged that he should go aboard the next day when the plan would be put in operation.

Captain Graham Says Steamer Will Be in Water Tomorrow. With a crew of men, Captain A. R. Graham will go up the river tomorrow to where the Oregon Transportation company's steamer, Oregon, is lying in a potato field, as the prospects are good for enough of a rise taking place in the river to launch her.

DIVORCE BASED UPON EIGHT STEPCHILDREN

(United Press Leased Wire.) Walls, Walla, Wash., Jan. 18.—To fall in love with a "real nice" man, then to say "yes," and a short time afterward to be married and go to the new home, to discover eight little children—her new husband—all shouting "mamma," proved too much for Mrs. Halver Veltieson, according to the complaint in a divorce suit just filed by the husband himself in local court. In fact, it proved so much that Veltieson hardly tarried long enough to say "good-bye," further avers the complaint, though not in this language.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Zanesville, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Judge Smith today decided to allow Natalie Christy, the 12-year-old daughter of Howard Chandler Christy, to decide whether she shall live with her father, the artist, or with her mother, who recently applied for partial custody of the little girl. Mrs. Christy, when she heard the decision of the court, appeared to be pleased. She declared the child wished to live with both parents and that Natalie's choice would result in her living with each a part of the time. This, declared Mrs. Christy, was all that she had ever asked from the courts.

MARION COUNTY JUDGE URGES BETTER ROADS

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Jan. 18.—"Within three years every road leading into Marion county should be macadamized for a distance of five miles out if the people of Salem would submit to a one and one half mill road tax," says County Judge William Bushay. "Good county roads mean more to the city than they do to the outlying districts and if the business men and property owners are alive to their interests they will boost for such a tax. "Good roads are a better asset than electric lines. I would like to see every business organization and every weekly newspaper in the county get into the fight for good roads. We desire to reach every taxpayer and to do this requires widest publicity. If the commercial clubs and newspapers in towns like Aurora, Silverton, Woodburn, Stayton and Jefferson and the balance of the county towns would take up the road fight and show the people that money is necessary for building good roads, wonderful things could be accomplished."
