

EAGLES SWOOP DOWN ON CHILD AND KILL IT

Carry Baby to the Top of a Tree Where They Stand Guard Until Shot—Child Bruised and Torn by Talons.

(United Press Local Wire.)
Gibson, La., Jan. 21.—His body bruised and torn by the talons of two giant eagles who kidnaped him from his crib and carried him to the top of a great oak tree, 3-months-old Renee Thebaud lies dead in the Thebaud home near Gibson. The dead baby was taken from the branches of the tree, where it was held by its clothing after its feathered abductors had been killed by men who answered Mrs. Thebaud's terrified shrieks.
The baby's mother had left his cradle near an open door while she went about her work. With a beating of wings an enormous eagle almost immediately swooped at the cradle, seized the child in its claws, and flapped to a tree in the yard, where another eagle perched. The woman's agonized cries brought two farm hands to the house. One attempted to climb the tree, where the baby lay among the topmost branches, suspended by its clothing. He was driven back by one of the birds, which attacked him savagely. A shotgun was brought from the house, but the men were afraid to fire because the birds hovered over the baby's body.
For more than two hours the child lay suspended to a driving rain and a bitter wind, while one of the men hurried to the nearest neighbor's house for a rifle. When he returned the eagles were killed after several shots had been fired.
The child was dead from the cold and the wounds the birds' sharp talons had inflicted, before it could be taken from the branches.

Salem's Debt Is Shown.
Salem, Or., Jan. 21.—Figures just compiled by City Recorder Wylie Moore show the bonded indebtedness of the city of Salem to be $316,855.33. This information was gathered for the purpose of showing the taxpayers the condition of the city's debt before authorizing the bond issue for the mountain water system.

Lewis May Run Again.
Salem, Or., Jan. 21.—State Engineer Lewis has not decided whether he will be a candidate for election in the primaries in September. He has labored to put the new water code in smooth working order and if there is a demand for his retention he may decide to enter the race.

477 VERMONT WOMEN APPLY TO BACHELOR CLUB FOR HUSBANDS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Dayton, Wash., Jan. 21.—When 477 marriageable young women in a town in Vermont, on the other side of the continent, sent their signatures in one letter to the secretary of the Blue Mountain Bachelors club yesterday, it further emphasized the belief among the members of the club that a national organization of bachelors is needed. Steps will be taken at once looking to such an organization, with headquarters in Dayton, Wash.
In the last 12 days over 80 letters have been received from nearly every state in the Union, from young women anxious to marry members of the Blue Mountain club. Each letter received contains from one to five names. When the club was organized, two weeks ago, it was intended more as a local matchmaker, but the interest has become national.

STEELE WITHDRAWS SUIT AGAINST P. R.

(United Press Local Wire.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 21.—The railroad commission today dismissed the complaint filed against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company by Will G. Steel. The complaint against the company by Steel was that it was running open and unheated cars on the St. Johns line and a hearing had been set for January 25 in the Chamber of Commerce building at Portland. The dismissal is at the request of Steel, who says in his letter to the commission asking that the case be dismissed, that the company has shown a disposition to remedy the situation and in view of that fact asks that the suit be dismissed without prejudice and with the understanding that it be filed again should the company fail to live up to its agreement.

ENGINEER WOULD CHANGE GRADE OF BROADWAY BRIDGE

Councilman Menefee and Mayor Simon held a conference this morning to discuss a suggestion made in a letter from Engineer Ralph Modjeski, of Chicago, in which the expert appointed to construct the Broadway bridge says that the grade of the west approach of the span can be reduced by altering the plans so that it will land on Hoyt street instead of Irving.
The grade on Irving street is 4 per cent and that on Hoyt 2.55 per cent. The mayor and the city engineer will make a trip of inspection over the ground this afternoon.
