Motorman Not Blamed—No blame is attached to the motorman of the Montavilla car that struck and killed Ruth Thornton Thursday morning as she was going to school, according to testimony before the coroner's jury yesterday. The accident was considered unavoidable. Witnesses said the 6-year-old girl could not see the approaching car, neither could the motorman see the girl until too late. The accident happened at East Twenty-eighth and Davis streets. The girl lived at 60 East Twenty-eighth street.

Museum of Art—Sunday afternoon the studios of the school will be open to visitors, with a few examples of recent class work on the walls. The new term of the school begins February 1, but some classes are too full to admit further applicants. There are still some of the pamphlets, "Pictures for Schools," at the office of the museum, which will gladly be given to any one interested in this subject. Regular hours of the museum, 2 to 5 weekdays, free Thursday and Saturday afternoons and Sundays from 2 to 5.

"Gentleman Jim" As Feature—A short sketch, "Gentleman Jim," was the feature of a program given last night in the Young Men's Christian association auditorium by the Clara Vaughan Wales Concert and Comedy company. This sketch was given by Mrs. Wales and Harry T. Longstreet, and called forth enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Wales also gave a number of readings, while Mr. Longstreet's baritone solos and Florence Adele Benson's soprano solos were all well received.

Death of Marion Fisk—Marion Walter Fisk, son of Major Fisk, formerly a member of the United States army engineer corps and stationed at Portland, died at his home, 420 Twenty-second street, north, yesterday morning. Funeral will be held from the family residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Fisk was well known here as a member of the University club and an employee of the Westinghouse company. He was a graduate of Portland academy and Cornell university.

Lectures on Anthracnose—Professor H. S. Jackson, professor of plant pathology at Oregon Agricultural college, will deliver an illustrated address on anthracnose at the Portland Apple Growers' association at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tonight. This lecture is one of the best on the program for the association this year and has been moved forward to allow for the inability of E. H. Shepherd of Hood River to attend the meeting.

Examination for Trained Nurse—Announcement of an examination for the securing of eligibles to the position of trained nurse in any branch of the government service is made by the United States civil service commission today. The examination will be held February 16, 1910. Applications should be made to Z. A. Leigh of the post-office department here.

Justice Marries Couple—Miss Geraldine Masonfield and Walter Jefferies were married yesterday at the home of the Peace Olson. Jefferies was brought back from Ashland, where he had gone to visit his parents. The girl is 17 years old, and made a complaint against him in municipal court. Judge Frank S. Bennett of municipal court refused to marry the couple.

Judge Northrup Will Preside—The annual banquet of Willamette lodge No. 2, A. F. & A. M., will be held in the Commercial club rooms Saturday evening, January 22. Judge H. Northrup will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Grand Master Norris R. Cox, P. G. M.; W. T. Williamson, Judge Robert G. Morrow, E. B. Beckman, A. M. Knapp, W. S. Weeks and H. J. Boyd.

Dr. Chapman at People's Forum—At the People's Forum, Alkay hall, Sunday evening, Dr. Chapman, the well known writer and thinker, will explain the proposed commission form of government for the state of Oregon. The Progressive league is back of this movement. It is a live issue. The first gun will be fired by the doctor.

Dr. Oudipp will preach at Grace Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. Topics for evening, "Our Star of Hope"; morning, "The Victorious Life." Quartet morning and evening and large male chorus in evening. William M. Wilder, organist and choirmaster. Good singing. You are cordially invited to attend. Pews are free.

The Casino, Portland's greatest dance pavilion, has been enlarged to accommodate hundreds of dancers; now has the best hard maple floor on the Pacific coast. Music by full brass band. Courteous attendants present. Come and bring your friends. Opening of great Casino tonight.

PROPOSITION TO GET $1,000,000 PLANT

Proposition to Include Horticultural, Agricultural Interests in Fair Also Considered.

The Manufacturers' association will consider for a week a proposition made last night by Manager Tom Richardson of the Commercial club, that the annual scheme of holding a manufacturers' fair next fall be broadened to include horticultural, agricultural and livestock interests. Inasmuch as the Manufacturers' association was apparently removed from the center of the stage by Mr. Richardson's plan, the idea met with some rather heated extempore opposition. The Commercial club's manager stated, however, that he had put the matter before the other interests before proposing it to the manufacturers and that all he had conferred with were inclined to believe the greater Portland fair would be more representative of the dignity and resources of the city, and at the same time be a greater advertising card. To that part of Mr. Richardson's remarks, which seemed to question the financial success of the manufacturers' fair, Colonel David Dunna, a member of the association, took exception. He assured Mr. Richardson that every exhibition yet given had been more than equal in proceeds to its expenses and that next fall's fair held greater promise of financial success than any preceding. Jerome B. Gossage and Dr. Thompson of Seattle, who are promoting a $1,000,000 corporation for the manufacture of flax, arranged to give an exhibit this afternoon of the peculiar process of treating flax, which Dr. Thompson originated. The promoters wish to locate their plant in Portland, and have enough of the stock subscribed by Portland business men so that the control of the industry will be retained here by the election of six Portland members on the board of nine directors. The next meeting of the association will be held Friday, January 28.

MARIE CAHILL IN PLEASING PLOT

Married Life, an Affinity, Other Clever Situations Figure in Musical Play.

By E. I. The large and appreciative audience which saw Marie Cahill in "The Boys and Betty" last night at the Bungalow was initiated into the mysteries of married life with a genius, for this musical play by George V. Hobart and Silvio Hein has a well defined plot. A young American girl thoughtlessly marries a temperamental musician—the non-supporting kind who make fervent love to every woman within range. Betty's attempts to coax him into the ways of respectable married life are futile. He desires her for an affinity. She seeks relief in the friendship of a quartet of young chaps, known as "the boys" and opens a millinery shop in a smart quarter of Paris. In order to pay the bills of her strange habituated spouse, Betty has been overlooking his caprices, but when he and his affinity visit her on Christmas eve and demand money, she asserts herself and turns them out into the street. Her husband marries the affinity, thereby committing bigamy, and Betty is left free to marry a young newspaper reporter, who has always been devoted to her. This chameleon like arrangement of musical comedy, soft pedal melodrama and embryo problem play would have been better expressed as "Betty and the Boys," for truly, Marie Cahill, with her all embracing smile, her rapid fire conversation and unusual sense of humor is the gem of the production, and to her talents is due whatever of success may come to the piece. Not much chance is given her support to shine, for Miss Cahill is a star in the spotlight. She is a player of strongly individualized mannerisms, and no matter what part she may essay, she is always the same Marie Cahill, and always a most delightful and entertaining comedienne. Her good nature and wholesomeness are good to see. Even her supposed to be serious scenes are funny. The music is unusually alluring. "The Arab Love Song," sung by Miss Cahill, is one of the prettiest airs, and is worth a dozen encores, with "Whoop-ee," "No One Can Do It Like My Dad," and "That's the Doctor, Bill," all make an appeal to your whistling capacity. The scenery is picturesque and lavish, especially the garden of a French villa on the Seine, and Betty's shop in Paris. The costumes are splendid, much trailing of heavy chapeaux and glittering accessories heightening the brilliance of the scenes. Miss Cahill wears stunning gowns and fascinating hats. To see her blonde plumpness encased in a corset creation topped with a hat with a score of handsome plumes is worth the $2 admission. The company is adequate, but far from brilliant. James B. Carson in the comedy role of Rudolf, one of the boys, does admirable work. He possesses a lot of magnetism and is the manipulator of a smile that is wonderful to behold. Miss Ann Money, as the affinity and singer of the Folle Bergere, dances splendidly. The long skirted chorus is modest, graceful, and as comely as can be expected west of Chicago.

Children's Matinee Today. Because of the excellent program, Pantages will have a special matinee this afternoon so the little folk of the city will have an ample opportunity to see Petroff's European Comedy Circus, the most amusing and instructive organization of its kind ever presented.

Makes Noise Like a Bird. Probst can make a noise like a bird, or every kind of bird, and this he does at every performance at the Grand. Probst is one of the hits on the current program, which closes with the performance tomorrow. The headline number is Reno's misfit army, which lives up to the name.

Orpheum Has Fine Bill. It is a delightful bill all the way through at the Orpheum this week. There are only four more performances, a matinee today and Sunday, tonight and Sunday night. Julius Steger in "The Way to the Heart" and "The Country Kids" in "Rose's Birthday" are two of the big hits of the bill. Matinee every day.

EAST SIDE CLUBS ARE ACTIVE AGAIN

Plan is to Reorganize Big Improvement Organization for New Work.

The United East Side Push clubs, the big organization which has been idle most of this winter, is to be reorganized, according to a report made at the meeting of the North East Side Improvement association last night. Judge M. G. Munly, president of the North East Side club and of the United East Side Push club, announced at last night's meeting that a meeting of the clubs would undoubtedly be held next week. Lack of a proper place to meet has handicapped the clubs all winter. Last winter the clubs were the most influential in the city through their central body. It is one of three central bodies, the Peninsula Development league, the Seventh Ward league and the United East Side Push clubs, which largely govern the actions of the other clubs. Announcement was also made at last night's meeting that the litigation involving the proposed Broadway bridge would come up in the circuit court Monday.

The attorneys for the club have their cases prepared. E. Versteig was appointed as a committee of one to confer with the committee similarly appointed from the other clubs of the city to investigate the advisability of the club taking the initiative in the matter of securing a proper law regulating the laying of water mains. The committees are to go to work on this question next week and expect to have some definite plan ready to propose at the meeting of the United East Side Push clubs.

Barlow Store Robbed. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Barlow, Or., Jan. 22.—Wurfel's store was robbed Thursday night. About $75 worth of canned goods, shoes, shirts, etc. were taken. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

AT THE THEATRES

Last Time Marie Cahill Tonight. The attraction at the Bungalow theatre tonight at 8:15 o'clock will be the last performance of the charming American comedienne, Marie Cahill, in her latest musical play success, "The Boys and Betty," supported by a bevy of pretty chorus girls.

Sis Hopkins Tonight. Tonight at the Baker the last performance of Rose Melville in the great rural comedy "Sis Hopkins," will be given. Enjoying greater popularity than ever, "Sis" has not played to an empty seat all week.

"The Wolf" Opens Tomorrow. Eugene Walter's famous play of the Canadian woods, "The Wolf," which made such a hit at Hellig theatre last season, will open at the Baker tomorrow matinee for the week. The cast is still headed by Andrew Robson, and is powerful throughout.

Children's Matinee Today. Because of the excellent program, Pantages will have a special matinee this afternoon so the little folk of the city will have an ample opportunity to see Petroff's European Comedy Circus, the most amusing and instructive organization of its kind ever presented.

DR. N. J. FULTON THE NATUROPATH 434 CLAY STREET

In looking over Dr. Fulton's correspondence of some years back, we came across the following letters which seem to us of such vital interest that we have concluded to publish them, in the hope that some poor sufferer will read them and be benefited as these people have been.

Following are the letters: "April 4, 1902. 'I was stricken with rheumatism; suffered agony; tried many physicians who gave me remedies of various kinds, but created stomach trouble; Went to St. Louis for treatment and still no relief. Finally I was advised to see Dr. Fulton, was treated by her four weeks and now am well.'

"May 1, 1902. 'I was poisoned and paralyzed followed. I was entirely helpless; my limbs were useless. I had tried doctors here and a specialist in Omaha without beneficial results. In despair I consulted Dr. Fulton and am now perfectly restored to my former health and strength. I consider that Dr. Fulton has lifted me from the grave.'

"The above letters are from well known people, and with many others, are on file in Doctor Fulton's office. These cases came to the Doctor some years ago and at the time were considered wonderful cures. So they were at that time, but as the years have passed Dr. Fulton has advanced in her profession, till today she is making even more wonderful cures and those in one third of the time it formerly took.

If you are tired, languid, generally run down, or addicted to the use of liquor, drugs or any habit which is reducing your vitality, call during office hours or write or telephone and the Doctor will gladly furnish further information and testimonials of the wonderful cures she has made in Portland.
