

FISHING SEASON CLOSED BETWEEN MARCH AND MAY

During That Time No Salmon Can Be Caught on Willamette, Clackamas or Columbia Tributaries.

To keep faith with the state of Washington in carrying out uniform legislation regulating salmon fishing on the Columbia river and its tributaries, the state board of fish commissioners has adopted a resolution declaring a closed season on the Willamette, Clackamas and other tributaries of the Columbia, from March 1 to May 1, to correspond with the closed season on the Columbia under legislative act.

It will be remembered that a committee from the Oregon legislature last winter met with a like committee of Washington senators and agreed upon legislation to be adopted in both states. This bill was reported for passage in each state, but after the legislature adjourned it was discovered that the Oregon law, while declaring the closed season on the Columbia in accord with the agreement between the states, had in some unaccountable way omitted to prohibit fishing during a like period on the tributaries.

Attempted to Remedy Omission. The board of fish commissioners attempted to remedy the omission of the law by declaring a closed season on the tributaries of the big river, but the action came too late, as it had failed to be notified of the full details of the law required by act. The alert fishing interests obtained an injunction from Circuit Judge Gantenbein and reaped a rich harvest without interference in the 15 days between March 1, when fishing was permitted under the old law, and March 15, the date the new law went into effect. It is estimated that the catch was between 115 and 120 tons.

This year the fish commission, which consists of the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, determined to act in good time, and to use care in complying with every detail of the law under section 4105 of the code, which gives the commission the power to close any stream for a designated period to protect the fish. Notices will be posted and published in such way as to make the closed season on the tributaries ironclad during the closed season on the Columbia.

Fish Warden H. C. McAllister declares that if this action were not taken the fish question would return to the same old jumble that the legislatures of the sister states on the Columbia last year strove to prevent. Washington creek and officials, as well as the fishermen were given a 30-day advantage over them, 15 days at the opening of the closed season and 15 at the end. Intimation has been given that if the state board of Oregon did not prevent fishing this year on the tributaries during the closed season the Washington officials would not be particular about enforcing the law on their side of the river.

Salmon Leave Columbia. It has been found that during March and April 75 to 80 per cent of the salmon leave the Columbia and go into the Willamette, Clackamas and other tributaries, because that is the flood season. Back water renders the Columbia more or less sluggish, and the fish seek the running water. It is deemed essential that the fish be protected from capture at that time, and allowed to reach the hatcheries in order to keep the work of propagation and protect the fish.

The resolution adopted by the fish commission reads as follows: Whereas, the board of fish commissioners of the state of Oregon, together with the United States bureau of fisheries, are and have been stocking the Clackamas and Willamette rivers with salmon, and desire to protect the young fish placed therein and the adult salmon which frequent said streams; and Whereas, salmon frequent the Lewis and Clark and Youngs rivers and Skipanon creek, and officials, as well as the fishermen of the state of Oregon, desire to protect the salmon therein therefore, be it Resolved, That all of the Clackamas river, that portion of the Willamette river north of the falls at Oregon City, all of the Lewis and Clark, all of the Youngs river and all of Skipanon creek, and each of them is, hereby closed against salmon fishing of all kinds for the purpose of propagating, stocking and protecting the salmon which frequent said streams; and

Resolved, That all of the Clackamas river, that portion of the Willamette river north of the falls at Oregon City, all of the Lewis and Clark, all of the Youngs river and all of Skipanon creek, and each of them is, hereby closed against salmon fishing of all kinds for the purpose of propagating, stocking and protecting the salmon which frequent said streams; and

INVESTIGATE ALAMEDA PARK TODAY

Large Number of Investors Will See Alameda Park This Afternoon.

All who are at all interested in the purchase of high class residence property should not fail to see Alameda Park this afternoon, whatever the weather may be. Free auto service will be maintained from 2 to 5 p. m. from the present end of the Broadway line into Alameda Park. Just two weeks from today it will be possible to go by streetcar all the way to Alameda Park on regular schedule.

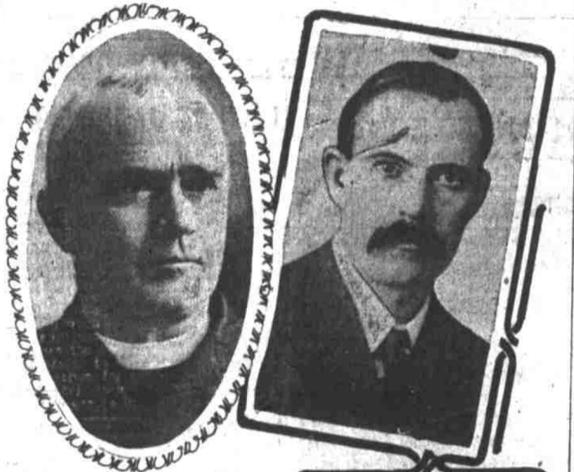

All that has been realized in Irvington, and all that has been promised in other residence sections with much more besides is to be had at Alameda Park.

Ornamental street lamps are to be installed by the Alameda Land company free of cost to purchasers of lots in Alameda Park. Even the electric and telephone wires are to be placed underground. The very best of city improvements are being installed throughout. Besides, Alameda Park has a matchless natural advantage in its being high and dry and affording a beautiful view of the city and river and mountains.

Building restrictions at Alameda Park, too, are higher than elsewhere, insuring to Alameda Park investors the very best of improvements and the most desirable neighbors in case they wish to live there themselves.

Special trips are made to Alameda Park at any time by appointment. Further information may be had of the Alameda Land company, owner of Alameda Park, 223 Corbett building.

HIBERNIAN COMMITTEE ASKS FUNDS TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

Rev. Edward Donnelly.

For the purpose of raising $14,000 to be used in providing entertainment for delegates and visitors to the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Portland July 19 to 24, Rev. Edward Donnelly, P. E. Sullivan and E. H. Deery have been appointed a committee to solicit funds.

At the present time the Portland branch of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America has $4000 in its treasury to be used for the entertainment of delegates and visitors. In all it is estimated $20,000 is needed, and the city will be canvassed for the $14,000 necessary to make up the amount.

The finance committee having the raising of funds in charge is composed of John O'Hare, chairman; P. E. Sullivan, Rev. Edward Donnelly, Dr. Andrew C. Smith, Charles B. Merrick, M. J. Doyle and E. H. Deery.

The national convention of the Hibernians will be one of the largest and most notable ever held in Portland. It was secured for Portland after a lively fight on the part of the local delegation. Accredited delegates number 1400, but in addition thousands of visitors will be in attendance as guests of the Portland Hibernians.

Portland for nearly a year past has been advertised by the Hibernians all over the United States. The official paper, reaching more than 600,000 readers every month, has been using articles on Portland in almost every issue.

GRANGERS DON'T FAVOR GOVERNOR HAY'S ROAD PLAN

Thurston County Farmers in Resolution Go on Record as Opposing "Trunk" Highway Across State.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Olympia, Wash., Jan. 22.—The Thurston County Pomona Grange today adopted a resolution favoring the building of roads leading to the centers of population in each county, instead of "trunk roads," as advocated by Governor M. E. Hay in a recent speech at Spokane. The resolution reads:

"Resolved, That we sincerely regret that Governor Hay has taken an announced position in favor of trunk line automobile state roads, for we most emphatically declare that in our belief such a position will be detrimental to the commerce which must have an outlet from the farms. We further declare that we believe in first taking care of main roads leading into incorporated cities and then, if need be, the pleasure and desire of the automobilists for scenic overland roads."

quent said Clackamas, Willamette, Lewis and Clark and Youngs rivers and Skipanon creek, from noon on March 1, 1910, until noon on May 1, 1910; and the master fish warden is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be published, posted and recorded, the proper and necessary notices therefor.

BOY IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY COMPANION

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Jan. 22.—Carleton Eugene Acheson, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Acheson was shot and almost instantly killed by a 12-year-old companion this afternoon while shooting at a target with a 22-calibre rifle. When discharged the gun was in the hands of Herman Viesko, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Viesko, of this city. Two other boys of about the same age, Leo Hoppe and Lyle Page, to whom the gun belonged, were present. The Acheson boy was on his way to the target to see what kind of a shot he had made, when the Viesko lad picked up the weapon, and it was discharged accidentally, the bullet passing through the brain of the Acheson youth at the rear part of the skull.

Third Week's Work for Court.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Jan. 22.—The jury term of the Lewis county superior court is rounding out the end of its third week today with good prospects of lasting for one week more. Last night to the personal injury damage suit of M. E. Hago vs. Ludwighaus Bros., the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, allowing him $1420. Hago was injured by a cable while working in the woods. The Grays Harbor & Puget Sound Railway company, which is the Union Pacific auxiliary, has a condemnation suit on trial today against the Centralia Boulevard company for right of way. One other suit of a similar nature remains to be tried, with Frank Naro as defendant. Next week two or three other personal injury damage cases will be tried.

CHILDREN SIGN NAMES FOR TAFT

Signatures of Portland Boys and Girls in Flag Drill in Beautiful Book.

In a few days President Taft will have the original signature of the little boys and girls who, as pupils of Portland's public schools, participated in the flag drill at Multnomah Field upon the occasion of the chief executive's visit here last fall.

The signatures, carefully written, form a part of a book entitled "The History of Oregon," written by Hon. George H. Williams, Oregon's "Grand Old Man," and containing some 200 beautiful scenic views from different parts of the state. It is artistically bound in blue morocco and silk.

Message on Special Page. Judge Williams will inscribe the message from the city and the state upon a page especially set aside for that purpose. At the time of the president's visit Judge Williams was slowly recuperating from a serious illness, and the president called upon him at the hospital and expressed his hopes that he would soon be out and well again.

Judge Williams appreciated the visit very much, and it is believed hastened his recovery. The idea of sending the president a souvenir in this form was conceived by the Commercial club, and it is believed that it will be highly appreciated by the recipient.

Oregon Production Throughout. Not only is the work devoted exclusively to Oregon, but it is also an Oregon product through and through, the pictures, printing and binding having been done in this city.

The photographs were made by B. A. Gifford, of The Dallas; W. D. Harney, of this city, is the publisher, and the binding was done by Lovejoy & Lincoln, of this city.

The book will be on display at the Portland public library Monday and perhaps Tuesday and Wednesday.

Besides the scenic views, the book contains a colored photograph of the "human flag" shown in the drill of the school children at Multnomah field. This picture, it is believed, will probably impress the president more than any of the others, though they have been selected from a large number of the choicest.

STATE INSPECTION OF DAIRIES INADEQUATE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Jan. 22.—After investigation, Mayor George Rodgers has found that the state inspection of the dairies in the vicinity of Salem has been entirely inadequate, and has drafted an ordinance that will be submitted to the council Monday evening, providing stringent regulations for the sale of milk in the capital city. The mayor made a personal inspection of dairies which are furnishing the city of Salem with its milk supply, and found the majority of them in unsanitary condition.

"Authorities agree," said the mayor tonight, "that, next to water, milk is the most favorable medium of distributing and furthering typhoid. If we are to combat successfully against recurrence of typhoid in this city, dairies supplying milk to the city must be effectively cleaned up, and it is certain we cannot depend upon state machinery for that purpose."

McMinnville Couple Wed. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) McMinnville, Or., Jan. 22.—In this city Tuesday there took place the marriage of Mrs. Matilda Petch, at her residence on North G street, to William Petch, of McMinnville. The groom is a nephew of the bride's former husband. After a short wedding trip, they will return and make their home in this city.

Regular Drill. Students of the Hill Military academy will hold their regular competitive drill Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Following the drill the rooms of the academy will be inspected by the parents of the students and the friends of the institution.

DAIRY EXHIBIT FOR STOCK SHOW

Opportunity to Be Given Model Dairy men to Show Farms in Miniature.

A unique exhibition of proper dairy methods is being arranged by the state board of health in connection with the Oregon livestock show at the fair grounds next fall. One of the leading promoters of the plan is E. L. Thompson, whose model dairy at Clover Hill farm, near Deer Island, has won attention throughout the northwest. Mr. Thompson said yesterday: "The fair next fall will give us the biggest educational opportunity we have ever had. We want to show cattle that are best adapted for dairy purposes by reason of breeding, care and the tuberculin test. We will have a model dairy in all its parts ready for operation. This will, of course, be in miniature, but effective, nevertheless. We will show how feed should be raised and how it should be mixed for the health of cows, the largest production of the best possible milk.

"Correct barn construction, the way the stalls should be arranged, sufficient ventilation, adequate gutter drainages, the proximity of feed, milk rooms and manure heaps, will be gone into thoroughly. We will also show how milkers should be dressed, and how they should be clean in person and in habits, to prevent contamination and keep dirt from getting into the milk, will all be practically illustrated.

"It seems to me such an exhibition should have more practical value for the people of Oregon and of the northwest than any single exhibition ever given. In this direct connection we are planning for a good roads exhibit. We want to show how the roadbed should be rounded and graded, and of what

BILL FOR BOND ISSUE TO FINISH IRRIGATION WORK

Borah Introduces in Senate Measure Providing for $30,000,000 to Complete Projects Now Under Way.

(United Press Local Wire.) Washington, Jan. 22.—The senate committee on irrigation this afternoon decided to recommend the passage of Senator Borah's bill providing for the issuance of $30,000,000 of bonds, the income from which is to be used to complete irrigation projects under the federal reclamation act. The bonds are to pay 3 per cent. The proposed bond issue is in line with the suggestion of President Taft.

materials it should be built. This is for the help of the farmers, and when they have learned practical betterment they will be ready to go home and apply it."

Dr. C. S. White, secretary to the state board of health, is enthusiastically in favor of the plan outlined by Mr. Thompson.

"It seems to me," said Dr. White, "that here is a place where the state board of health can take up its most valuable function, namely, that of popular education. We want the people to know how they may work to the best results for themselves and for consumption that they will learn, and when they have truly learned official surveillance of their actions will be a mere formality. We want an enlightened people."
