

DAMAGE DONE TO KANSAS CITY MIX WITH BRIDGE

Steering Rope on Steamer Breaks; Strikes Pier of North Bank Bridge—Railing Carried Away—Nobody Hurt.

Passengers aboard of the steamship Kansas City were rudely awakened from their slumbers at about midnight last night when the Portland-Frisco liner suddenly came into violent contact with the North Bank bridge over the Willamette river on her way up the river, demolishing some of the railing on her starboard quarter, but injuring nobody.

As she was entering the draw of the bridge, one of the steering ropes on the steamer, which was in command of Pilot Snow, broke and as a consequence the liner sheered into the protection pier of the bridge, tearing out a large amount of paint. The force with which she struck the bridge caused her Pilot Snow to break and as a consequence the liner sheered into the protection pier of the bridge, tearing out a large amount of paint.

Her momentum carried her through the draw, and orders were immediately given to let go one of the anchors, and she remained at anchor just above the bridge until the steering rope had been replaced, after which she proceeded on up to Alinsworth dock, arriving there at about 1:45 o'clock this morning.

At first it was feared that the bridge was damaged, but as soon as the Kansas City was through the draw it was closed and a train passed over, so the pilot and officers were reasonably sure that it had sustained no damage.

There was no particular excitement among the 150 passengers that came up from San Francisco on the Kansas City when the latter struck the bridge, although it is safe to say that all of them were awakened by the jar. Carpenters are at work repairing the damaged railings.

The Kansas City, Captain Nopander, started after a pleasant voyage up the coast from the Bay City, although they had a westerly swell from Cape Mendocino up to the mouth of the river. Besides 150 passengers, she brought up 1800 tons of general freight.

SAILOR LADDIE HELD UP. Carl Booth, Apprentice on Glenalvon, Victim of Footpad.

While returning to the British ship Glenalvon Sunday night, Carl Booth, an apprentice on the ship, was held up and relieved of 30 cents by a footpad. Booth had been visiting friends all evening and as he was returning to the ship at a late hour a man stepped out of the darkness at the corner of Tenth and Clifton streets and shoved a gun in his face, with the harsh command to throw up his hands.

Realizing that discretion was the better part of valor, Booth threw up his hands and the holdup proceeded to go through his clothes for whatever valuables he might have. The highwayman's efforts were rewarded by the sum of 30 cents and a watch with a broken crystal. This the robber looked at with disdain and handing it back to Booth, said:

"That is no good to me, so you can have it," and then ordered the youth to move on. The matter was not reported to the police.

About Thursday the British ship Glenalvon, Captain Evans, will finish loading a cargo of lumber for Sydney. She will take out in the neighborhood of 1,870,000 feet of Oregon fir, which she has been loading at the Portland Lumber company's mill. She is under charter to the American Trading company.

TEAL HAS MANY PASSENGERS. Steamer Leaves on First Trip to Upper Columbia.

On her first trip to the upper Columbia river since she was tied up for over a year, the steamer Teal, under the command of Captain Arthur Riggs, Captain Charles M. Alden being confined to his house by a threatened attack of pneumonia. She will go on up to Big Eddy if possible. She had about 100 passengers and a good cargo.

Captain Frank J. Smith has been appointed general agent of the company and will spend a large part of his time at different points on the river, interviewing merchants and working for business for the company, and in general acting as traffic manager. He will make his first trip up the river, in his new position, in a few days.

In about 10 days the steamer Inland Empire will be placed on the run again, from Celilo to Kennewick, Pasco and Lewiston, and so on as far as Cathlamet. Captain Buchanan can make the necessary arrangements for the steamer Twin Cities will go on the ways at Riparia, or if that is not possible the company may have to build ways somewhere near Cathlamet. She will go on for general freighting, Captain Buchanan said that they did not want to put the Inland Empire on the run too soon as they did not want to stop again for the cold weather.

ST. HELENS GOES AGROUND. Steamer With Lumber Cargo Sticks in Mud Near Inman-Poulsen Mill.

When leaving the Inman-Poulsen mill last night at about 7 o'clock, the steamer St. Helena, in tow of the steamer Sarah Dixon, got stuck in the mud. She has been at the mill loading lumber for San Pedro, and when she left the mill dock in tow of the Dixon it was dark. In heading down the stream she got out of the channel, which is narrow at that point, and became lodged on the muddy bottom of the river.

No damage was done to the steamer and she came down through the bridges this morning, in tow of the Shaver and the Dixon as soon as the fog, which was very thick up to about 9 o'clock, lifted. She is laden with 1,450,000 feet of lumber for San Pedro.

LOADING LUMBER FOR SYDNEY. Pottaloch Will Sail Again Under British Flag.

To begin loading lumber for Sydney, the British bark Pottaloch, Captain Armstrong, will probably move to the North Pacific mills today. The Pottaloch has received provisional registry papers from the Canadian government and will sail again under the British flag. She has been taking on ballast received from barges at the Victoria dock, but it is expected that she will be in readiness to move to the North Pacific mills today. She is a vessel of 2125 tons net register and arrived in port September 21, and after being libeled, was sold by the United States marshal at public auction January 15. Captain Eichen of the firm of Eichen & Miner, San Francisco, buying her. Her lay days commence about February 7.

ONTARIO REALTY POLICE LOCKED UP IN CONBOY CASE

Contemplated Rail Construction Responsible for Property Transfer. Alleged That an Exhibit Has Been Tampered With to Aid Defendant.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Ontario, Ont., Feb. 1.—The largest deal ever made in Ontario town property took place today when a syndicate of local and outside capitalists bought the holdings of David Wilson, with the exception of valuable property on Main street, for $65,000. Contemplated railroad construction is responsible for the deal.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) San Francisco, Feb. 1.—Intimations that the district attorney's assistants will investigate the action of the police department in its alleged tampering with evidence in connection with the trial of former Police Captain Michael J. Conboy, were made today by persons familiar with the details of the case.

Conboy is being tried on a charge of manslaughter for allowing the death of Bernard Lagan, who was shot by the police captain. Conboy's claim is that he shot Lagan in self-defense. Today the district attorney's assistants are endeavoring to ascertain how certain rips and cuts were made in the coat Lagan wore on the night of the shooting. The blood spattered garment, pierced by bullets from the revolver of Captain Conboy, was given into the care of the police property clerk shortly after the shooting.

Now it is learned that the coat has been ripped and cut in such a manner, says the prosecuting officers, as to indicate that those tampering with the garment sought to convey the impression that Lagan was shot while removing his coat, thereby strengthening the self-defense plea of Conboy.

Incidentally the finder of the coat with its marks alleged to have been made to thwart justice, recalls the fact that recently the chief witness against Conboy was reported to have left the jurisdiction of the superior court.

The prosecutor, however, refuses to say whether he has a clue to the missing witness, who, it is believed, saw Lagan when he was shot down.

Health and Beauty Talks BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

E. R. S.: If your hair is splitting at the ends and becoming generally gray, it is a sure sign of neglect. What you need is a good, nourishing quinine tonic for your hair. One ounce of quinine in one-half pint alcohol and add one-half pint cold water. Rub this well into your scalp twice a week and it will put new color into your hair in a short time. I have found this quinine tonic excellent for removing dandruff, itching of the scalp and stopping falling hair. You will find it splendid to use during the winter months, as it evaporates readily. It makes the hair glossy and grows very refreshing to the hair and scalp.

Bertha J.: You can't expect to have a nice, rosy complexion as long as you feel so lifeless and have a poor appetite. At this time of the year you ought to be feeling splendid and looking your best. I strongly recommend a good system tonic for you. The one I always found best is made by dissolving one-half teaspoonful sugar and one ounce karsin in one-half pint alcohol, adding enough boiling water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful of this good, old-fashioned tonic before each meal and before retiring. It will tone up your system and do away with that tired feeling, putting color and life into your face. It is fine for clearing a sallow complexion, removing pimples and other skin eruptions.

Mary E. A.: I have received so many requests for a reliable, greaseless complexion cream that will be entirely beneficial and not encourage growth of hair on the face, I will repeat the formula. Mix one ounce of alcohol with one-half pint cold water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir and let stand for an hour or so. I have never found anything to equal almond jelly as an aid to beauty. It is excellent for reducing the size of large pores in the face, for chapped hands and face, massaging, removing freckles, tan, wrinkles and blackheads. It cleans the skin from all dirt and makes it soft and velvety. Use very little soap on your face, as it dries out the skin too much. This cream will cleanse the skin much better than soap.

E. A. W.: I feel sorry for you. Where a person is as fat as yourself, it must make one feel miserable to think every once in a while of your excess fat. You can get rid of your excess fat faster than most of the remedies you have
