

TO BE DOUBLED BUSY DISTRICT FAVOR RENAMING CITY'S STREETS

Traction Company to Install Double Overhead Trolley Wires in Underground District to Improve Service.

Those interviewed by Journal Heartily Support City Engineer Morris' Plan, Which Also Provides Renumbering.

Double overhead trolley wires will be the system adopted by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. in the future within the underground district of the city. Striking of additional wires has commenced on Third and Washington streets.

President B. S. Josselyn says that the new plan will not increase the danger of accidents from broken high-power-carrying trolley wires, but instead will improve the service in that the feed wires can be utilized for transmission of power in case of the trolley wire breaking. He says without the feed wires carried on posts along the sidewalk as before the passage of the underground ordinance, the trolley wires will not be able to carry sufficient power to drive the cars, especially during rush hours, and so the problem was solved by the introduction of the feed or reserve wire.

Wires Coming Down.

"We have now cut off all service overhead in the restricted district between Yamhill and Oak streets and Park and the river," said Mr. Josselyn, "and have the men we can employ at work taking down dead wires. We will have them down before the telephone company gets its wires down, and expect to complete the job within the prescribed limits of the city before the end of the year. By this, I mean that we will have a complete underground system within the fire limits on the west side as prescribed by law.

"And we are doing more than complying with the law for the purpose of beautifying the city. The overhead wires carrying poles, but we are eliminating them wherever it can be done by attaching the span wires to the buildings. We have secured permission from the property owners to do so, and will do away with a great number of the poles, although it is costing us a great deal of additional money."

PAY CLAIMS OF OREGON TRUST

It was practically agreed at the annual meeting of the Portland Clearing House association yesterday afternoon that the affairs of the Oregon Trust & Savings bank would be taken over by the clearing house and the liquidation of the bank's debts was suggested by the heads of the clearing house banks, but the plan that will most likely be adopted will involve a direct loan of about $50,000 to the directors of the German-American bank, who will put up securities to guarantee the loan.

No definite conclusion was reached yesterday as to the course to be pursued by the clearing house association, but the meeting adjourned with the understanding that the members of the association would be called to meet at a later date this week when the subject will be formally taken up and disposed of.

The election of officers at the annual meeting of the Clearing House association yesterday afternoon resulted as follows: President, W. A. McKeen, manager of the Bank of California; vice-president, Edward Cook, ham of Ladd & Wilton; secretary, Lansing Stou, cashier of the Hibernia Savings bank; executive committee—J. A. Keating of the Lumbermen National bank; J. Frank Watson of the Merchants National bank; and E. C. Walters of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. J. L. Hartman of Hartman & Thompson was reelected manager of the clearing house. Mr. Hartman has been manager of the Portland clearing house since July, 1889.

The Cost of Carelessness

Neglect of a "common" cold is so often the direct cause of dangerous disease that medical men cannot understand why so many people allow a cold, with its attendant cough, to run its course unchecked. Aside from the unpleasantness and annoyance, the resulting irritation of the mucous membrane in the throat, lungs and bronchial organs leaves them sore and very susceptible to attack.

With the first indication of a cold take steps to check it at once. A simple, inexpensive remedy can be prepared at home by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure whiskey. You can buy these in any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle. It is claimed by the Leach Chemical Co. of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure that a teaspoonful of this mixture, four times a day, will break a cold in 24 hours and cure any cough that is curable.

PUREST & BEST IN THE WORLD

ALTHOUGH TRAVELING 6,000,000 MILES DAILY COMET STILL VISIBLE

When you look for the comet this evening consult this diagram.

Anybody who has not seen comet "A. 1910" yet, will have about one week more to search for it before it passes out of sight, traveling at the rate of 6,000,000 miles a day. But every night the eye will have to be sharper and the air clearer, as that little daily jaunt away from the earth causes a little less prominence of the sky wanderer each succeeding period of darkness.

Last night lots of people saw the comet, admired its head and wondered at the apparent growth of its tail, which seemingly has nearly doubled in length since its first appearance to Portland people. This is due, however, to a change in the viewpoint, rather than to any actual growth.

To those who wish to have a look before the opportunity is gone, perhaps forever, it might be suggested that the best place is on the heights on such a clear and starlight evening as that experienced yesterday. It is better on the heights because the comet is low in the western horizon and because the valley points of the city are covered with a slight haze, resultant from the smoke of the city and the cumulative warmth of the many houses, which obscures the view to a certain extent.

WEDDING FOLLOWS NIGHT'S DEBAUCH

A sequel to two days and nights of revelry in which two young women and two young men indulged in the elegant Shields home on Killingsworth avenue came in the juvenile court yesterday afternoon, when Judge Bronaugh decreed that the two children, Mrs. Sadie Harrison's, should remain in the detention home pending the further order of the court.

Mrs. Harrison and the children came into the case because they were invited guests during the first day and night of the debauch. She said that she was asked to give a party for a wedding feast. She had been living with the two girls, Ruby Shannon and May Hanson, and went with them to the Shields' home. John Shields, a real estate dealer and owner of the place, is in the east, and the entertainment was provided by his son, Ed. Shields, 21 years of age, who invited a friend of about the same age, John Francis, to share the celebration with him.

Young Shields is said to have been a bountiful entertainer, for during the two days he is alleged to have ordered $25 worth of groceries and the revelers who have opened 72 cans of the family fruit. The first night no one went to sleep, the time passed so merrily. Mrs. Harrison, who said she was to have been cook for the wedding feast, told the court that she was unable to leave until the second day, when the revelers were still there. There was no wedding that day, but Francis and Ruby Shannon, yielding to advice that this was the best way out, have since become man and wife.

The testimony in juvenile court principally concerned the condition in which Mrs. Harrison, the two girls and Mrs. Harrison's little boys have been living at the Fairmount hotel, near the old fair grounds. It was shown that there was only one bed in the place and that Mrs. Harrison, afflicted with tuberculosis of the spine, had become a confirmed invalid.

She has resorted to many ingenious devices to obtain money to satisfy her craving, sometimes representing herself as a widow, and at other times obtaining money with which she said she intended to leave the city. Her husband is in Idaho, but she obtains little help from him.

After hearing the history of the case Judge Bronaugh decided that the boys, 10 and 12 years of age, shall stay in the detention home for the present.

Mrs. Maguire's Death Unexplained.

San Jose, Cal., Feb. 2.—The sheriff Donald, after a thorough investigation of the mysterious death of Mrs. Margaret Maguire, who was burned to death in her home here early Monday, announced today that he had been unable to find any clue. It will remain an unsolved problem. The complete destruction of the house and the almost total destruction of the body, removed any evidence of the crime, if she died at the hands of a murderer.

PROVE CLAIM OF INFANT CHILD

Mrs. Bernice Keys Unable to Convince Judge Bronaugh That She is Entitled to Custody of Baby.

"I would rather give up my life than give up my own, my darling child," wailed Mrs. Bernice Keys in the juvenile court yesterday afternoon. But Judge Bronaugh, after he had heard the case through, decided that the darling child is not her child and that she has no claim upon little George, who has been in the detention home for more than a year.

The case is one of the most peculiar in the annals of the juvenile court. It was shown that Mrs. Keys, when she took the child from the Florence Crittenton home in the spring of 1907 said she was the child's aunt, and that she had made the same statements to her husband and to Mrs. Frazier, a colored woman with whom she was once on intimate terms. But for more than a year she has clamored at the doors of the juvenile court and at the baby home with the claim that she is the mother.

George Keys, a half breed Chinese, is the husband of the woman, having married her about three years ago. He has not lived with her for some time and said yesterday that he is preparing to sue for divorce. He lives in great fear of his wife and had to be assured that he would be protected before he would go to the courthouse yesterday. Chief Probation Officer Teuscher, who marshaled the testimony to show that Mrs. Keys is not the mother of the child, went into court armed and fully prepared for any emergency that might come.

Keys formerly was a track rider for Fred T. Merrill in the bicycle days. He dresses in Chinese costume and lives with the Chinese, but speaks English fluently. He said that he was absent in Alaska when his wife obtained the baby, and when he returned she told him that her brother's child was the child who was born, saying that there is no birth record of such a child in that county and that Mrs. Keys was not there later than 1904. Mrs. Frazier asserted that Mrs. Keys, then Mrs. Beck, was in Portland during the time she says the infant was born.

Tells Pacific Story.

Against all of this testimony Mrs. Keys testified that the child was born in Lakeport. A few days later, she said, she started for Oregon in a wagon with a family named Howard. Under cross-examination by Judge Bronaugh she became much tangled in her story.

First she said she was three months on the way, then lessened the time to five weeks. She declares that she passed through Watsonville, Cal., Vale, Or., and Prineville, Or., on the way. Judge Bronaugh reminded her that Watsonville is 150 miles in the other direction from Lakeport and that overland travelers from California are not likely to enter Oregon by way of Vale, but she declared that she went to each of these places and could not be mistaken.

Judge Bronaugh rejected her story as worthless in view of her many contradictions. She had no evidence to support her story. While the court made no finding as to the maternity of the child, all the other testimony tended to show that Mrs. George is the son of Mrs. Ruby Shannon, sister-in-law of Mrs. Keys. Mrs. Cannon is said to be in the state of Washington or to be the child on a visit to Portland last year, saying she did not believe George was her baby, although she lost track of her baby soon after it was born in 1906. Two other children of hers are being cared for by charity in Washington.

Judge Bronaugh entered an order committing the child permanently to the baby home. Mrs. Burns, the matron, said that she will be able to place the child for adoption, without difficulty, and this will be done at an early date. Mrs. Keys declares that she will yet have the child, court or no court.

WANT NEW ORDER EXPLAINED FULLY

Forest Service Officials in Portland Await Interpretation of No-Talk Ruling.

Officials of the national forest service in Portland hope that there will come from Washington an explanation of the new order No. 138 which so effectively closes all sources of publicity for the service and which will not admit of their securing the publicity necessary for their projects. The order came recently from Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, and it announced that no forest service official should talk for publicity.

"There are some things for which we have a reasonable right to hope the ban on publicity will be lifted," declared District Forester C. Chapman this morning, "and we are constantly looking for interpretation of the order. The order was in line with one issued recently by other secretaries abolishing publicity, and we do not consider it as anything reflecting directly upon the forest service. Our new chief, Henry B. Graves, has been in office but one day, and we confidently expect to hear from him in regard to this matter in a few days. We expect him to interpret the order so that the local force will be permitted to give out terms of new value to their work without restriction. It will be upon matters of policy, however, that the order will apply strictly."

ESPEE OFFICIALS VISIT NEWPORT

Newport, Or., Feb. 2.—A party of Southern Pacific railway officials, composed of M. J. Buckley, John Stevens, J. T. Walsh and Chief Engineer Field, arrived in Newport Tuesday morning and inspected the route of the proposed extension of the C. & E. from Yaquina to Newport. While no information was given out, it is believed the visit has to do with the permanent location of a depot and terminal grounds in Newport.

TACOMA PASTOR FLEES; SCANDAL INVOLVES WOMEN

Startling Revelations From Everett, Wash., Follow the Rev. M. A. Casey's Flight to California.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 2.—At 9 o'clock this morning persons passing the First Methodist church, South Eighth and L streets, saw A. D. Whitney, one of the officers of the church, with a can of thick black paint and a brush in his hands, blotting out from the bulletin board on the front of the church the words in large gilt letters, "Rev. M. A. Casey, D. D. Pastor." Not only is Dr. Casey no longer pastor of the First Methodist church, but he is no longer a minister of the Methodist denomination of any denomination. Instead he is with his family somewhere in California, a fugitive from the scorn and shame that he has brought upon himself, his family and his church by his actions while pastor of the First Methodist church of Everett, before he came to Tacoma.

Formal charges of gross immorality by members of the Everett congregation, specifying the name of a former member of that congregation, selected to testify against the former divine, are revealed to have been the cause of Rev. Casey's sudden departure from Tacoma a few weeks ago on the plea of his wife's illness, and his subsequent resignation from the Methodist ministry.

Rev. Thomas E. Elliott, district superintendent of the Methodist churches at Tacoma today stated his belief that instead of the one case of wrongdoing which appeared in the complaint made to the church authorities from Everett, and which Dr. Casey virtually admitted to Rev. Elliott before his departure for the south, the former pastor was guilty of relations with several Everett women of the best families during his stay there.

The revelations from Everett came like a thunderbolt to the Tacoma congregation, whose admiration for the apparently high character and upright life of their pastor had grown during his year's stay here.

Mr. Casey has a family consisting of a wife and one son of high school age, who had made many friends here.
