

SOUTH CLACKAMAS KEEPS ALL MONEY

This Is One Reason Northern Part of County Favors Annexation to Multnomah.

The Clackamas county tax for the sole benefit of the southern half of the county is charged by Mr. Dowty of Barton, in a statement yesterday.

For 19 years our roads in the northern part of the county have not been improved, although we pay one third of the tax. The Clackamas county treasurer, Mr. Dowty, said.

Southern Part Prosperous.

There is no richer section of the county than ours, yet our roads become impassable and our interests are neglected because, for some reason, we are absolutely unable to get any appropriation out of the county fund. A little improvement as has been made has been paid for out of our pockets. Yet in the southern part of the county they are able to build roads costing up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The neglect of our interests by Clackamas county authorities constitutes our greatest reason for wanting northern third of the county sliced off Clackamas and added to Multnomah. We want good roads and we want representation. We want to become a part of a progressive county and have the metropolis of the state as our county seat.

"Having Oregon City as a county seat is little better than having no county seat at all. It furnishes us no market at all. We can sell none of our farm products there. In the first place, we cannot get across the hills to Oregon City; in the second place, we cannot sell anything in Oregon City even if we do get there. It is all down grade to Portland and here we find our only market. We think we should become part of the county of which we are naturally a part; that we should aid in the support of the county that contributes most to our support."

Urges Special Elections.

Mr. Dowty stated that one purpose of the annexation meeting to be held this evening at Oak Grove will be to put in form plans for a special election in Multnomah and Clackamas counties. The people of Multnomah will be asked to vote on the proposition to annex the northern third of Clackamas county and the people of Clackamas will be asked to permit the withdrawal of the discontented section. For this reason the people of both Multnomah and Clackamas counties will be largely represented at tonight's Oak Grove meeting. Many of the voters in the southern half of Clackamas county are in favor of the division, as they hope then to move the county seat from Oregon City to Canby, which is on a railroad and much nearer the center of the reformed county.

"We of northern Clackamas have had no representation since Judge Hays' time," declared Mr. Dowty. "Probably the idea of being annexed to Multnomah grew out of a former plan to withdraw from Clackamas county and or-

QUICK ACTION SAVES CHILD FROM FLAMES

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 3.—Wreathed in flames which threatened her life and gave rise to a small panic among the children of the Second grade at the Marshall primary school, Ruth Murray, 7 years of age and the daughter of Edward A. Murray of 2513 H street, ran screaming down the corridor. To the courage of Lloyd Hull, a classmate, who ran after her and checked her flight, and to the presence of mind of Miss Dougherty, the principal, whose hands were burned in her frantic efforts to smother the fire, the child owes her escape from serious injury or death.

She stood before a small grate fire in Miss Van Hatten's room when the blaze suddenly ignited her dress. As the fire sprang upward toward her face Ruth with wild screams started down the corridor. Her progress fanned the flames and she was in the gravest peril when young Hull caught and held her until Miss Dougherty and Miss Metchen, another teacher, reached her side and promptly beat out the blaze with her hands.

"GLAD" HAND GOES TO EASTERN MEN

Lumber Dealers Send Out 7000 Pamphlets Setting Forth Oregon's Resources.

The Oregon & Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association is doing a great deal of publicity work for the purpose of exploiting the state of Oregon and encouraging the development of this commonwealth in every way possible.

Although primarily a trade organization, seeking the betterment of the lumber industry, the association is continually sending out literature setting forth the advantages of the state and the opportunities for development.

"We realize that it is not only a privilege and duty to bring settlers into the state," said Secretary A. B. Wastell this morning, "but thereby improved avenues for marketing lumber are brought about."

"The efforts of new members of the association as a whole in market extension work through exploitation and advertising features also operate to keep the state of Oregon to the front, and much has been accomplished in this direction during the past two years."

"The latest example of the effort to advertise the resources of the state is indicated by the forwarding today to 7000 retailers throughout the United States of the pamphlet showing colorist general statement of Oregon's resources and the opportunities that await the settler. These pamphlets were furnished by the Portland Commercial club in response to our offer to mail them.

"We are also distributing a directory of the membership of the Oregon & Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association and the Southwestern Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association, which was also mailed to 7000 retailers in conjunction with the pamphlets."

HUNDREDS BRAVE COLD TO SEE COMET "A-1910"

Caravans of people journeyed to Coahuila last night for a look at "Comet A-1910." Many of them were satisfied being able to easily locate the visitor of the sky by the aid of the diagram of its relative position published in The Journal yesterday afternoon.

The comet became visible at 6:30 o'clock, and dipped below the horizon at 7:15, being brightest at 7 p. m. It is gradually growing dimmer as the days pass, and although it will be visible for nearly a week yet, each succeeding day makes it harder to discover and outline. The tail seems to be growing longer as the position of the comet changes, more of it being visible last night than formerly.

Reports have come from different parts of the city of having seen the comet, and interest in the phenomenon is on the increase, especially because of the clear sky. Last night, however, a slight haze along the horizon line cut off the view, or marred it, shortening the time that the comet was visible.
