Books on Exhibit—A few books that have belonged to noted people are now on exhibit in the hall of the public library. The most interesting is a copy of Cleora's letters, which was once the property of Philip Meadon, and has its margins filled with his manuscript notes. Another of almost equal interest is Aristotle's Organon, which contains Sir Isaac Newton's autograph. Among the others are a copy of "A Mirror or Looking-Glass, Both for Saints and Sinners," which belonged to William Penn and has his fine bookplate in it, Montfaucon's "Antiquities of France," which has the bookplate of Horace Walpole and the works of James the First of England, which was once owned by Samuel Wesley.

Vesper Service at Y. W. C. A.—At the Y. W. C. A. this afternoon, at 4 p. m., there will be a vesper service of the "Beatitudes of the Kingdom," with the musical clubs of the Y. W. C. A., the Tukaloan club and the Attraction Quartet, with Miss Linehan and Mrs. Hutchinson-Wire as soloists. Three trios by Miss Louise Hellman, Miss Linehan and Mrs. Hutchinson-Wire will be as follows: "Lift Thine Eyes," from Elijah; "I waited for the Lord," from Hymn of Praise; "Trust in the Lord," from Largo of Handel. All girls are cordially welcome.

A Dividend of 20 per cent on claims filed and approved having been ordered by the United States circuit court for the district of Oregon, creditors are notified to present their books, certificates of deposit, or other evidence of indebtedness, for payment of the above dividend at the office of the receiver, corner of Second and Washington streets, Portland, Or. R. Howard, Jr., Receiver of the Title Guaranty and Trust company, Portland, Or., Feb. 4, 1910.

Masons Plan Reunion—The Masonic organizations of the east side will hold a reunion of the Washington lodge on Friday at the hall on the corner of East Eighth and East Burnside streets. Appropriate exercises for the occasion will be given. Washington lodge No. 46, A. F. & A. M., Washington chapter R. A. M., Washington council R. & S. M., and Martha Washington chapter No. 14, O. E. S., will participate in the celebration.

Says Husband Is Cruel—Treated well for one year, then cursed and scolded, descending at last to a knockdown with his fist, is the description given by Susie Shipley of her married life with Roy W. Shipley, to whom she was married in Portland in December, 1908. She says his cruelty began in November, 1909. In April, 1909, he knocked her down, she and his treatment has been repeated many times since.

A Crippled Child—Many children have weak backs or lateral curvature of the spine. A child with this weakness will always be found resting on his, or her, hand or elbow. A lateral curvature can be cured with our spinal corrector. We also make braces for weak legs, trusses and artificial limbs. B. C. Linstrom, 493 Washington street, Portland, Or.

Arrested for Forgery—Oscar L. Simpkins, wanted in Pendleton on a charge of passing a forged check, was arrested in Albina yesterday afternoon by sheriff T. D. Taylor of Umatilla county and Deputy Sheriff Archie Leonard. He is alleged to have forged a check for $20 and passed it on a saloon man. He will be taken to Pendleton for trial.

Woman's Club—The current event department of the woman's club will meet Monday, February 7, at 3 p. m., in the Women of Woodcraft hall. Mrs. E. B. McFarland will speak on civic and social affairs; Miss Eleanor Baldwin, on literary events, and Ella Crim Lynch, on governmental questions.

The Hill Military Academy—Second term now in session, new classes begin February 7, in every department. Small classes, practically individual instruction, strict military discipline. Vice principal will be at the academy, 421 Marshall street, every morning to meet parents or applicants for admission.

Improvement Planned—The Sessington-street improvement company met Thursday night and passed on the improvement of Sessington street. The street will be about a mile long, and will have sidewalk paved all its length. The paving will cost $3.50 a front foot. The street is 70 feet wide.

Business Meeting to Be Held—The Monday Musical club will hold a business meeting Monday afternoon, February 7, at 2:30 o'clock, at Olive hall. All active members are requested to be present.

Socialist Meeting—On Sunday, February 8, at Marzhan hall, 208 1/2 Stark street, Dr. Chapman will speak on "George Bernard Shaw." There will be a programme of recitations and interpretations of some of Shaw's works.

LOGGERS PROPOSE BUREAU TO GRADE AND SCALE LOGS

Declare at Their Meeting Yesterday Logs Should Not Be Sold at Random Any More Than Lumber.

The establishment of a log scaling and grading bureau, similar to that on Puget sound, was discussed at a meeting held yesterday afternoon by the Columbia River Loggers' association. The members are said to be in favor of such a bureau because it would furnish a basis from which to work, and it will probably be organized soon. It was pointed out that nearly every product excepting logs is graded and sold according to grade and that no one would think of returning to the crude system in vogue before grading was introduced.

Treat Logs Right. They say they can see no good reason why logs should be sold at random any more than lumber or wheat. To quote two prominent products of this particular section. As to the quantity of logs in the hands of the loggers, it was stated that while they are scarce, the camps will soon begin to replenish the supply in that operation are to be resumed in most of the camps when the snow in the hills disappears.

While the ground down here has been bare for some time, the higher altitudes are still buried under a six inch thick mantle of white, and but for this fact several camps would have been in operation before this.

Election Postponed. Election of officers was to have been held by the association yesterday, but was postponed till the next meeting in March.

The log market is reported in very good shape, but operators are said not to be in favor of booming prices, as such procedure often reflects disastrously upon the lumber market. "There is no disposition among loggers to have values soar," said a prominent logger yesterday, when discussing market conditions after the meeting, "because it bodes no good. The most satisfactory condition is when values remain fair and stationary because it gives the lumber manufacturer who buys in the open market, a basis upon which to work."

UMATILLA MEN HERE TO BOOST FOR BIG PROJECT

Want Commercial Interests of Portland to Help Them Get Water for District Adapted for Irrigation.

"The Umatilla project is in the backyard of Portland, and we want Portland to help us persuade congress to give us the water to water it, so that we can plant it and make it bloom into the garden of Oregon."

That is the reason, or one of the reasons, why Dr. C. L. Smith, state senator from Umatilla county, G. W. Phelps, district attorney from Union and Morrow, and Judge James A. Fee of Pendleton are in Portland to see the officials of the chamber of commerce.

Building a Dam. Up in Umatilla county the United States reclamation service has been digging a ditch and building a dam for some time, as a result of which 25,000 acres of land are now beginning to bloom and bear in wonderful fashion where before the coyote and the jack-rabbit scurried through the sagebrush before the advance of the engineer.

The Portland chamber of commerce is looked upon as a very powerful organization by the men from the Umatilla country, and they have visions of the Portland organization coming to their aid. So far, however, the Portland organization, with the business of the jobbers, who make up much of its membership, at heart, has not entered any too eagerly into the battle, fearing to arouse the enmity of the Klamath Falls district, which also has its eye on the assistance of the government.

Oregon has coming from the national irrigation fund something like $1,225,000, which has been expended in other states, and which will very probably be available soon for refunding for Oregon irrigation. This amount will fix up the Umatilla "supplemental" project in fine shape, or it would fit out the Klamath Falls district with an irrigation system hard to beat. It would stretch the amount, however, were it to be attempted to complete both projects with the sum.

The irrigation fight seems to have narrowed between the Umatilla district and the Klamath district. Each has been given a start in irrigation, and each likes the dose and wants it repeated. Because of this, Senator Smith, District Attorney Phelps and Judge Fee, representing the people of Umatilla county, have come to Portland to persuade the Portland chamber of commerce to get back of the Umatilla "supplemental" project and boost it for all it is worth.

"The Umatilla project is the only project in the state according to our belief," said Senator Smith yesterday afternoon at the Imperial.

It has the climate, the soil, the elevation, almost perpetual sunshine—everything to make it the equal of any of the great projects undertaken by the government. At Umatilla it is only 300 feet above sea level. It now has good transportation facilities, and soon will have better. It is only seven hours away from Portland—really is Portland's backyard. What we want for 25,000 acres of the richest land anywhere and make it Portland's garden.

"It will require most of the available money due and coming to the state for reclamation work to complete the Umatilla project, and we are working big project and we are working big project and we are working big project."

"There is not an interior town between Portland and that district, or contiguous to it, whose chamber of commerce or commercial club has not indorsed the Umatilla project."

Send Resolutions. "Many of them have sent resolutions and petitions to the Oregon delegation for use in securing the apportionment of the irrigation fund for the Umatilla work."

"We would like to have the support of the Portland chamber of commerce and of the Commercial club. We have already presented the matter to the chamber of commerce, and it has indorsed both the Umatilla and the Klamath projects."

"We believe the Umatilla project to be the better of the two, and because of its great possibilities and the wonderful results its completion and operation would mean, and because of its nearness to Portland, that the chamber of commerce should come to our aid in the battle for the appropriation. We hope to be able to impress this on the chamber of commerce as soon as we can get an audience with its leaders."

The three Portland men were to have held a conference with some of the chamber of commerce people yesterday.

Rose Planting Day at Eugene. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., Feb. 5.—Eugene will have a rose planting day some time in March, according to the present plans of Manager Freeman, of the Commercial club. Many residents are now ordering rose plants, special arrangements having been made with the nurseries by the promotion department of the club to secure them at a minimum cost. Manager Freeman is working hard to make this day a big success and is urging upon every resident and property owner in the city to beautify their premises by planting rose vines. The exact date will be decided upon by the ladies' auxiliary of the club.

INVITE WORLD TO ROSE PLANTING

Rose Society Members Will Send Postals Near and Far on Feb. 22.

Invitations are to be sent broadcast over the world on February 22, George Washington's birthday, asking the people of the United States and the rest of the world to attend Portland's Rose Festival in June. This decision was reached by the Rose society at its meeting in Hillers hall yesterday afternoon. The invitations ask to the world that on this day the people of Portland are planting roses to show them in the summer and ask them to come to Portland to see them in their June splendor.

"On this, the twenty-second day of February, 1910," reads the postal card invitation, "the people of Portland, Oregon, plant roses to show them in the summer and ask them to come to Portland to see them in their June splendor. In the green city parks, along the public highways, in gardens of palatial homes and humble cottage doorways our citizens in gala summer attire are busy planting roses for the great annual festival to be held in this most beautiful of cities next June. We want you to visit us in Portland, the summer capital of America, and enjoy the feast of roses we are preparing for you and for all the world from June 6 to 11, 1910."

Besides deciding upon this form of invitation to the world, arrangements were talked over for the program of rose planting day. It has been decided that the rose bushes to be planted on that day will be put in City Park. The consuls of all the countries represented in Portland have secured rose bushes from their native countries and will with appropriate speeches give them to the city of Portland, Governor Benson, Mayor Simon and the consuls will deliver the addresses. A meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the office of the Rose Festival association, at which the final details of the day will be arranged.

CLUB WILL CELEBRATE LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Lincoln's birthday is to be fittingly observed by the Union Republican club with a Lincoln banquet, the annual dinner of the Union club, Saturday evening, February 12. The banquet will be held in the main dining-room of the Commercial club, and special arrangements have been perfected to make it a success.

Among those who will speak at the banquet, responding to toasts are the following, together with the subjects assigned to them: Charles W. Fulton, "Lincoln, the President"; B. F. Mulkey of Ashland, "Lincoln, the Statesman"; T. J. Cleaton, "Lincoln, the Man"; Judge R. E. Butler of Coquille, "Lincoln, the Orator"; Charles H. Carey, "Lincoln, the Lawyer"; General O. Summers, "Lincoln, the Soldiers' Friend."
