DANGER OF FLOOD

(United Frem Leased Wire.) Feb. 9.—Although the Seine Paris, ontinued to rise during the night, the ydrometric bureau today announced that there was little probability of the waters again reaching a dangerous level. The gauges at the bridges in the city registered a rise of 10 inches during the night. This was anticipated by the officials of the bureau, however, and apparently is causing little alarm among the people. Rain fell during the night, and reports from the outlying districts indicate that the tributaries of the river are slightly higher than normal.

The only official statement of what the French government intends to do over the bridge," said Mr. Franklin, "but for the suffers from the floods at Paris struggle. and throughout France was, given to the United Press today by Premier Briand. The premier thanked the people of the United States for the assistance given flood sufferers and then gave out the following official announcement:

"The government proposes to recom pense, as far as possible, the wage osses of the workingmen and also to replace the furniture and household effects of the poor. "Generous gifts from America and $4.

000,000 asked from the chamber of deputles will be devoted largely to this phase of the relief work. 'By a system of small loans, probably without interest and on easy terms of repayment, aid will be extended to farmers and small industrial concerns harassed financially by the disaster."

is official statement, other members of the government, acting along the lines of the suggestions contained therein, began to prepare for the distribution of the money allotments as in-dicated. Plans for the purchase of household effects and utensils also were made.

The novel paternalistic departure of the government in recouping personal losses sustained in the floods will be watched with interest here. The plan is practically new and its effectiveness remains to be demonstrated.

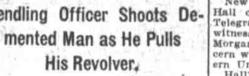

In a number of previous catastrophes in the history of the world various governments have received funds and purchased supplies which were forwarded for general distribution with the purpose of alleviating immediate and temporary distress.

The payment of wage losses and the supplying of household articles destroyed by flood, are regarded here as incidents in an entirely new plan.

While they will in all probability tote for the measure proposed, many deputies believe the plan will tend to make the flood sufferers entirely too dependent on the bounty of the govern-ment. They fear that if wages and household effects are restored, many men will loss their incentive for rehabilitation and will continue to live on the government's charity as long as they may be able to draw supplies.

This is not feared by supporters of the plan, however, who have every con-

owned by the state into tenements for the use of the poor at moderate rentals. The dearth of living accommodations for the poorer classes in Rome has long caused perplexity among the national legislators, and Chiera's plan, which he had already presented to the speaker of the chamber, is the first practical step taken to relieve the stress. His plan calls for the transforma tion of one half of all state owned religious institutions in Rome, in addition to church edifices, into model tenements. He believes this plan will serve to make less exorbitant the rentals charged by other landlords, through the competition, with the state they will
