Salesmen in Fancy Stants .- Vaudoville, following a dinner, will be the feature of a social session of the Columbia Trust company representatives to be given at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Commercial club. Rival selling forces will hold a contest of laughter. East Moreland men will compete with Olmsted Park salesmen in a succession of stunts prepared for prizewinning. East Moreland salesmen have looked like a selling car, made an auto, looking like a selling car, made of paper, which they intend to look big as life and twice as natural. How they sell a lot to the man who doesn't know whother he wants it or not will be illustrated in pantomime. Other features keep pace with improvements. are propared. The banquet is given un-der the auspices of Columbia Trust company officers.

Maynard Overton, Paris, Ill.-Amone the wonderful sights of the west is the huge dam in the Shoshone river, in northern Wyoming. This big concrete structure rises to a height of about 230 feet, forcing the river back into a basin and forming one of the largest lakes in the state. Many thousand acres of and will be irrigated from this dam and a new farming section will soon be opened. It is destined to become the wealthlest in the state.

Walter Hargrave, Pueblo, Colo,-Colorado people are land hungry. Not only the homeseekers, but speculators are laying plans for large profits to be non and the members of the city coun- gathered in the future, as state lands are withdrawn from the market. In Pueblo county there are irrigation projects under way that will mean the ex-penditure of about $10,000,000.

> 8. M. Warwick, Aberdeen, Wash .- At last, through the members of the Civic Improvement association, Aberdeen in to secure land for a city park. The land in its present condition will cost about $10,000, and there will be an additional expense of several thousands for trees, plotting and buildings, but the city is well able to afford such a park, and it will certainly supply a long felt need.
