Appeals for Protection—Fear of violence at the hands of a band of I. W. W. men whom he had discharged, Thomas Evans, foreman of a digger one half mile south of the Portland ship yards, appealed to the police last evening for protection. Early in the evening, four men went to his cabin and threatened to kill him and throw the body in the river. Evans made his way to the shipyards and telephoned the police. He was afraid to go home, and two policemen remained with him until his wife and a foreman met him late at night. Evans discharged the laborers several days ago, and they sent him threats of violence. When he arrived at the shipyards last evening, he was overcome by fright, and the watchman also became frightened. Evans is employed as foreman for Nickum & Kelly.

A NEW DEPARTURE

The cost of interments have been greatly reduced by the Holman Undertaking company. Heretofore it has been the custom of funeral directors to make charges for all incidentals connected with a funeral. The Edward Holman Undertaking company, the leading funeral directors of Portland, have departed from that custom. When casket is furnished by us we make no extra charges for embalming, hearse to cemetery, outside box or any services that may be required of us, except clothing, cemetery and carriage, thus effecting a saving of $25 to $75 on each funeral.

"Up in the Air"

Many a man is in this predicament when it comes to choosing a perfect suit of clothes. When it comes to a question of fit, I guarantee to excel anything you ever tried on.

When it comes to a question of value, material, workmanship and the like, I can give you better service for the money than you can find elsewhere. The ordinary man is usually "up in the air" when a choice is left entirely in his own hands.

Yet there is no reason why a man should suffer as a result of his ignorance in these matters—why he should not receive value for every dollar invested in the purchase of apparel—if he but exercises a little judgment, a little common sense.

All a man need do, be he ever so ignorant of clothes value, is to put himself in my hands. I can give him better service for his money than he can obtain elsewhere.
