

POSTAL SAVINGS BILL PASSES BY VOTE OF 50 TO 22

Amendments Bowled Over With Neatness and Despatch—Borah's Amendment Accepted; Chamberlain Votes Yea.

(By the International News Service.) Washington, March 5.—The postal savings bill was passed by the senate this afternoon by a vote of 50 to 22, the division being on strict party lines.

Those who supported the Cummins proposition were Beveridge, Borah, Burkett, Brown, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clark (Ark.), Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Dooliver, Gamble, LaFollette, McCumber, Owen, Shively, Stone and Talliferro. Of these 18, six—Chamberlain, Clark, Owen, Shively, Stone and Talliferro—are Democrats.

As soon as the crumbling in the strength of the Cummins proposition was seen Mr. Borah submitted an amendment providing that the postal funds should be invested only in securities of the government bearing not less than 3% per cent interest.

Mr. Borah's amendment was accepted by Carter without protest, but Borah insisted upon a record vote, and it was taken, with a result that his amendment was inserted in the bill by a vote of 49 to 11.

The adoption of this provision and the defeat of the Cummins modification forecasted the success of the measure in the final vote, and but little interest was manifested in the speeches.

The Smoot amendment as amended by the Borah proviso was next put to a vote and carried by 46 to 24. Republicans who joined the Democrats in voting against the Smoot amendment were Bourne of Oregon, LaFollette of Wisconsin and McCumber of North Dakota. McNery of Louisiana was the only Democrat to vote with the Republican organization.

A number of minor amendments were offered, chiefly from Democrats, but they were bowled over as fast as presented without the formality of a vote. Senator Gallinger submitted an amendment putting trust companies doing a banking business on the same plane as national banks.

The last important amendment defeated was that of Mr. Owen, in the shape of a substitute which provided for national bank deposits.

Senator Bacon took the floor for the final onslaught on the bill. He referred to the influence exerted by the president in pushing the bill and asked if there was any senator so prejudiced as to believe that the Borah amendment would be found in the measure when it came out of conference.

On the final vote one Democrat, Mr. Chamberlain of Oregon, supported the Republicans and not one insurgent voted against the bill. The full vote stood: Yea—Beveridge, Borah, Bourne, Bradley, Brandegee, Brown, Bulkeley, Burkett, Burnham, Burrows, Burton, Carter, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clark (Wyo.), Crane, Crawford, Cullom, Curtis, Cummins, Depew, Dick, Dillingham, Dixon, Dooliver, Dupont, Eustis, Evans, Gallinger, Gamble, Guggenheim, Heyburn, Jones, Keam, LaFollette, Lodge, McCumber, Nixon, Oliver, Page, Perkins, Piles, Root, Scott, Smoot, Stephenson, Sutherland, Warner, Warren and Wetmore. Total, 50.

Nays—Bailey, Bankhead, Clark (Ark.), Davis, Foster, Gore, Hughes, Johnson, McNery, Money, Overman, Owen, Payne, Purcell, Raynor, Shively, Simmons, Smith (Md.), Smith (R. C.), Stone, Talliferro and Taylor. Total, 22.

All senators not mentioned were paired. Four months of the regular session of the sixty-first congress will expire tomorrow. Today's action on the postal bill is the first to be taken on the many Taft measures urged by congress.

End Is Not Yet. That every effort will be made by the administration forces to extract the Borah amendment from the bill in the house of the conference committee is the general belief of senators.

The regulars accepted a compromise today because it seemed to offer the best terms. A source of satisfaction to the insurgents in the outcome is the fact that they were able to vote for the bill. However strong their arguments they would have had difficulty in convincing their constituents that they served the people by voting against any kind of a postal savings bank bill.

WHITE SOX FAIL TO PLAY FOR FRISCO FANS

San Francisco, March 5.—Hundreds of baseball fans were disappointed this afternoon when it was announced from railroad headquarters that the Chicago White Sox in their special train would not arrive here before 10 o'clock tonight.

The American leagues were scheduled to play the San Francisco Coast league team here March 4, 5, and 6. It is probable that the fans will be enabled to witness many games between the Sox and the Seals, as the training schedule of the visitors calls for almost continuous ball here by either first or second teams of the White Sox.

Toronto voters will have a chance to express their opinions on a proposition to build 23 miles of underground railroads.

MEN WHO WANTED CARUSO'S MONEY MAY BE ARRESTED

Two Men Who Responded to Decoy Caught but Tenor Says They Are Not the Men; Caruso Laughs, "Ho, Ho."

(By the International News Service.) New York, March 5.—Antonio Cincotto and Antonio Mesiani, who were arrested in Brooklyn late Friday night charged with sending threatening letters to Enrico Caruso, demanding $15,000, were arraigned in the Adams street court in Brooklyn today and remanded to the Raymond street jail.

Had Dangerous Weapons. The detectives who took them to Brooklyn showed Magistrate Tighe the weapons the men carried when arrested. Mesiani, just as he was caught, threw away a double barreled shotgun the barrels of which had been sawed down to about 14 inches. It had been concealed under his coat and both barrels were loaded with buckshot. Cincotto also had a 32 calibre revolver, all the chambers being loaded.

Caruso himself says he does not think the police have arrested the right men. Pacing furiously up and down in his apartment today he declared: "I laugh at the Black Hand, ho, ho; I am ready for them. I carry always a sword cane and a revolver. I will sing in Brooklyn on Monday. Should they shoot me in the theatre I will open fire upon them and kill them all! I will shoot them all down like flies!"

The stupid police do not know what that means. I tell them it means Compagnia de la Mort, the company of death. The other signatures, T. M. N. C. D. M., means la mano negro compagna de la mort—the Black Hand company of death. I tell the police what they mean.

"But think you I fear? I do not. I take care of myself. Caruso, he is always armed. I would not give a cent to a man who does not work. To those who deserve Caruso gives 20,000 francs. But he gives only the sword and the revolver to the coward and the bandit."

"These prisoners the police have I do not think they are they right men. Let them get more."

Both of the interesting letters received by the police were written in Italian on dirty pieces of paper. They directed that the $15,000 demanded be placed under a stairway at the corner of Sackett and Van Brunt streets in Brooklyn. The detectives arranged with Caruso to have a decoy package placed as directed. The men were arrested while they were hovering about the package, undecided as to whether to pick it up or not.

According to the detectives, both men are dangerous characters. Their photographs are in the rogues' gallery.

LUNCHEON OF ALUMNAE IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The Association of Intercollegiate Alumnae gave a delightful luncheon at the Commercial club yesterday, attended by about 40 of the members. The club banquet room presented a beautiful picture. The table was brilliant with yellow tulips and Parma violets forming lovely masses of color. The guests were elaborately gowned and altogether a brilliant picture was presented.

Miss Crocker, curator of the Art Museum, was the honor guest and gave an interesting talk. Mrs. Ralph Wilbur was toastmistress. As the annual play was the chief topic under consideration the toasts gave sidelights on it. Miss Eleanor McDonald spoke from the standpoint of the actors, Miss Viola Noon from the standpoint of the committee on management, and Miss Jessie Goddard from the spectator's standpoint. In a cleverly arranged parody on Poe's "Raven." Conversation turned on the play to be given this year.

FORCED TO GO AROUND WORLD

Frisco Man Was Shantiaied and Finally Works His Way to New York.

(By the International News Service.) New York, March 5.—Ernestcliffe Gregg of San Francisco arrived here today on the steamer Lusitania via the stowaway route, from a trip around the world that he began two years ago. In June, 1908, he found himself on a sailing vessel bound for Newcastle, Australia, as a hard working sailor; he for the mast and when he came to, according to his own story, he was fat, out on the bounding seas. It took three and a half months for the vessel to reach its destination and the young man found the voyage the most exciting and eventful he had ever experienced. For some cause he incurred the ill will of the commander of the sailing craft and had to do most of the hard and disagreeable work. Gregg deserted the ship in Australia and found a berth on the four master Life, bound for Iquique, on the western coast of South America. When he reached there he found employment as a driver of mules through the unsettled regions of the country and nine months later joined the crew of the three master Saguna, bound for London. Then he decided to return to the United States and having no funds he went aboard the Lusitania at Liverpool and mingled with the steerage passengers for two days before he was discovered. Captain Charles told the stowaway that he would not have to work his way across, but allowed him to remain in the steerage. Now Gregg is trying to get back to San Francisco.

North Albany to Get Station. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Albany, Or., March 5.—Residents of North Albany are jubilant over the announcement that the C. & E. Railroad company will erect a station and make stops there with all passenger trains. The passenger fare to and from Albany will be 10 cents each way. A sidetrack and freight station will also be put in, thus dispensing with the trouble of having to haul freight by wagon from Albany.
