

IDAHO MAINTAINS BIG MODEL FARM

State Insane Asylum Has Modern System of Maintenance.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Blackfoot, Idaho, March 5.—One of the model farms of the state is that of the Idaho state insane asylum, located at Blackfoot. It embraces 625 acres, under cultivation except 80 acres, which is expected to have cleared and in crops this season. A permanent water right is owned by the state sufficient for the irrigation of this entire tract. More than enough grain and hay are raised for the use of the institution, and this is no small amount, as the dairy herd alone numbers 54 head of cows. Besides, there are sheep, hogs, calves and horses sufficient to do the work for the institution.

Garden Supplies Tables.

The garden is another important feature; here is raised sufficient vegetables for the needs of the inmates, and in some instances a surplus. From an acre and a quarter of ground 35 tons of cabbage was grown; from this several barrels of kraut was made. It has been used freely on the tables during the fall and winter, and still there will be a surplus of 15 or 20 tons which will be disposed of and at present market price will bring a good figure. One hundred and twenty-five tons of stock carrots were grown on a small tract of about three acres; these are being used for cow feed in the dairy. Forty bushels of navy beans were grown on less than an acre, and from one acre there was harvested 300 bushels of onions.

The orchard, consisting of 22 acres, is principally apples and prunes, with a number of trees of other varieties. There has recently been completed for the use of the institution by far the finest barn in the state, if not the entire northwest. The legislature made an appropriation of $5000 for this building. The barn is 66x125 feet. From the grade to the square of wall it has a height of 37 feet. It is built of concrete, the outside wall above the ground being 12 and 14 inches in thickness.

There are 266 patients in the institution, of which 168 are males and 97 females.
