

MARRIED THIRTY YEARS ATTORNEY WANTS DIVORCE

W. A. Leet Weeps on Stand as He Tells How Wife Kept Morphine in Home—Mrs. Leet Also Lawyer.

A romance beginning many years ago in Michigan, when W. A. Leet was a painter and wood a minister's daughter, came to its unhappy sequel in the circuit court yesterday in the trial of a suit for divorce by the husband. He is now a practicing attorney in Portland, and his wife, who read law with him, has also been admitted to the bar. It was an unusual story that Leet told of his domestic troubles. His wife, he said, had caused him much mental distress by abusing herself in her room for hours at a time. She was superstitious about the house they lived in, he said, and he was compelled to move to satisfy her. She kept morphine in the house for years, and he was certain she used it, though she denied it. She had a mania for visiting clairvoyants, he declared, and believed what they told her.

Big Attorney Weeps.

Big tears stole down the cheeks of the stalwart attorney as he gave this recital. He flung them away with his hand, as though he disdained their intrusion, and went ahead with his story in a strong voice, while the woman who has been his wife for 30 years sat watching him closely, with only a spasmodic closing of the hands to betray her tense feeling.

Separated in Portland.

The separation came in Portland, they having arrived here from Michigan in 1905. It was caused by an anonymous letter, in which the writer professed to have seen Leet in company with a handsome woman in the city of Seattle, and promised to visit Mrs. Leet and give full particulars, his wife avowed meeting him, he said. The next morning when she wanted to talk with him he was in a hurry and refused to sit down and talk, so she told him he might go, he related. He went, and never returned to the house. This was one day last July.

No Plans for Marrying.

Mrs. Leet was not called on to say what answer she made to this proposal. Leet, when he was on the stand, was

MEAT BOYCOTT TOTAL FAILURE

While Meat Trust Is Selling Its Wares at Prices Constantly Ascending.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 10.—An investigation by the United Press reveals that the meat boycott has gone the route of many noble crusades while the object of its attack, the meat trust, is still doing business at the old stand.

The prices of all meat products are higher than before the meat boycott was declared. Meanwhile the meat trust is busy making the crusaders pay the freight of their crusade.

Soon after the strike began the prices of meat products were lowered slightly in some cities, for a few days. Then started a steady rise in the retail prices, until now, beef, lamb, mutton, and poultry are selling from 3 to 5 cents higher per pound than last December. Pork products have almost doubled in price. From Maine to Florida, from New York to the Pacific coast, the tendency has been toward higher prices.

A glowing tribute to the result of the meat boycott came from St. Louis yesterday, where the best grade of hogs set a new skyrocket record at $10.35 per hundred weight. Lambs also made a new record, $9.35 per hundred.

asked if he has any plans on foot for marrying some other woman, and said he has no such intentions. He denied having discussed marriage prospects with a nurse who lives in Spokane.

Mrs. Leet repudiated the charge of her husband that she accused him of improper relations with other women. She says she did object to his going to Mrs. Fisher's hotel to play poker, as the place did not have the best reputation, and she objected to his staying out into the early morning hours. He was in politics, his conduct commented on, and she was sensitive to anything that obstructed his advancement in his profession, she said.

She Kept Morphine.

Morphine was kept in the house, she said, but she used it only when ill. She thought she had not taken more than half a dozen doses in several years.

Mrs. Al McMullen, daughter of the Leets, who is a widow, testified against her mother. She confirmed her father's statements as to accusations made against her father, and also as to the trust reposed in clairvoyants by her mother. Concerning the morphine, she said she never saw her mother use it, but believed she did because of the way she acted at times.

A deposition taken from a friend of the family in Michigan, and brief testimony from a Portland woman, who was a schoolmate of Mrs. McMullen, and has known the Leets for many years, completed the testimony in Mrs. Leet's defense. This testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Leet has always been a kind and dutiful wife.

Mrs. Leet did not ask for a divorce on her own account. The testimony was heard by Judge Cleland, and occupied the afternoon. John C. McCue conducted the case for Leet and Thomas O'Day represented Mrs. Leet.

H. L. DAY, PIONEER, GOES TO LAST RESTING PLACE

The funeral of H. L. Day, who for the past six years has been a resident of Portland, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Edward Boyce, 207 St. Clair street. Interment was at Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Day was one of the well known mining men of the northwest. He was born in Maine and came to California in 1856, where he amassed a fortune in the mining and lumbering business. In 1885 Mr. Day moved to Idaho, where he remained until he came to Portland six years ago. He was a large owner in the Hercules mine in the Coeur d'Alene district, and also had large interests in other mines in Idaho and Montana. He was also one of the men back of the recent purchase of the Portland hotel. He leaves several children, State Senator Jerome J. Day of Moscow, Idaho, Harry L. Day of Wallace, Idaho, Eugene R. Day, Mrs. Edward Boyce and Mrs. Robert Ellis of Portland. Mrs. Helen T. Day, wife of the deceased, died in Portland in 1902.

Myrtle Woodcock, 16 years old, whom MacDowell was taking home, says the assailant was a foreigner, who attempted to conduct a flirtation with her all the way out on the car.

The Quickest and Simplest Cough Cure

Better than all the cough medicines you could buy, and far less expensive, is a simple remedy that you can make at home in five minutes. A whole pint of it—enough to last a family a long time—costs only 5¢ cents. It is pleasant to take—children like it.

It will usually conquer a deep-seated cough in twenty-four hours. Two or three doses overcomes an ordinary cough. It is also splendid for colds, bronchitis, incipient lung trouble, whooping cough, etc.

Granulated Sugar Syrup 13 1/2 oz.
Pinex 2 1/2 oz.

Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes. Put the 2 1/2 ounces Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up with the syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Granulated Sugar Syrup is a simple but excellent sedative. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated component of Norway White Pine Extract, and is rich in all the medicinal elements of the pine. None of the weaker pine preparations compare with the real Pinex itself. All druggists have it or will get it if requested.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

Some of the best known druggists here as Laue-Davis Drug Co. (distributors), and others think so well of the above prescription that they guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction or refund the purchase price.

Worth a Dollar a Drop.

Foley's Kidney Remedy is a safe and certain remedy for all kidney and bladder diseases, whether acute or chronic. It is a splendid tonic for middle aged and elderly people and a sure cure for all urinary and bladder troubles of the kidneys and bladder.
