Portland Commons Expects to Raise Enough Money to Fit Up Farm.

To fit up a farm of 80 acres at Eagle Creek, 25 miles from Portland, and gather needed funds for the Louise Home, the Portland Commons has planned to make Tag day, June 4, the greatest event in the history of uplift work in the Rose City.

The Portland Commons is in the uplift work with the backing of hundreds of men and women who see good in everybody, and the plans of the corporation are practical and complete.

The demand for a farm where men coming from the penitentiary may be allowed to reestablish themselves in the way of society before being permitted to battle entirely for themselves, has been felt keenly for a long time.

Funds Needed. To erect buildings, buy stock and equipment funds are needed and must be had. The plan of setting aside a day for the good of the cause appealed to many people and Tag day will be the result of careful planning and earnest thought.

The home for unfortunate women, 373 Cable street, has had demands made upon it that have drawn all available funds from it, and it is necessary that some method of reimbursing its treasury shall be adopted.

In doing its work last year the Commons incurred an expense of $884. Beds were provided for 40,800 men, and in addition 13,200 men were assisted with beds and food.

Many Prisoners Aided. During the year 72 prisoners at the state penitentiary were aided to their freedom and were assisted to make a new start.

The active management of the Commons is in the hands of W. G. McLaren, at the Commons Mission, Front and Burnside streets.

Tag Day Indorsed. The Tag day project has been indorsed by the German Aid society, the British Benevolent society, the Young Men's Christian association, the Young Women's Christian association, the Woman's Christian Temperance union, women's clubs, Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Joseph Simon, the Labor Press, Central Labor council, Ministerial association, Presbyterian church, Baptist church, Methodist Episcopal church, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, Hart and McGowan, evangelists.
