

HEROD AND THE CHILDREN—By Howard Singleton Taylor

And the walls of the victims were suddenly stilled in the old-fashioned way in which Herod killed. ... To grapple them down in the terrible clinch. ... Of a dollar-mad, daily design, And slowly destroy them, both spirit and frame— Why, Herod himself would call it a shame!

SEALED RAILS SEAL LINE RUSHES

Forest Grove-Tillamook Road Construction Is Hastened; Route Is Purchased.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Forest Grove, Or., May 25.—The United Railways company will commence active operations on the construction of its line between this city and Tillamook as soon as arrangements can be completed for the proper handling of the large construction force which will be employed in the work. This information comes from a reliable source. The line will likely build through Cedar canyon, and will be a continuation of the United Railways line that is now building out from Linnton and through Cornelius gap. If the line does not build directly to this city from Glenora, a branch line will undoubtedly be run to Forest Grove from the main line. Work of surveying and making the final location has been rushed, and it is said actual construction will begin within 60 days. W. H. Hollis of this city, as special representative of the United Railways has spent the past two weeks in Tillamook county, and has secured right of way for almost the entire distance in that county, and is now engaged in securing right of way along Gales creek in this county. The route chosen by the electric railway is much easier in the matter of grade than that of the P. & N., and while the steam road is further advanced in construction the race to complete the lines from Tillamook to Portland will be close.

CONCESSION GAINED IN BRIDGE MATTER

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, May 25.—What seems like a final settlement of the bridge closing matter at Portland was effected today, after a prolonged conference between Bourne and the conferees on the river and harbor committee, when an agreement was reached to have the bridges closed during the rush hours, but to permit them to open 10 minutes in every closed hour.

WHITE SALMON SHIPS RECORD BERRY CROP

White Salmon, Wash., May 25.—The strawberry season has now reached its full height, and from now on the shipment will decrease day by day. Agent Albert says there have been many berries shipped from this depot every day for the past week than were shipped in the entire season of 1909. He has been compelled to hire extra to handle the crates so as to get them on their way to market as rapidly as possible and the whole crew work away into the night loading the cars. On Thursday night and Friday of last week two carloads of 500 crates each left here for Spokane and on Monday one of 500 crates, and on Tuesday another of 400 crates. Besides these there has been shipped in smaller lots to different points by express, on Friday, 27 crates; on Saturday, 475 crates; on Monday, 650 crates; and on Tuesday 101 crates, or a total of about seven carloads in four days. Some of these came from Hood River, possibly a garden, but the majority are the White Salmon valley berries grown on the ranches within a few miles of Blaine. The berries are not only more plentiful than they have been for many years, but are much larger and better flavored.

CUMMINS AMENDMENT DEFEATED, 33 TO 24

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, May 25.—The Cummins amendment to the railroad regulation bill was defeated in the senate today by a vote of 24 to 33. The amendment provided that increased railroad rates could not take effect until approved by the interstate commerce commission. Bourne and Chamberlain voted for the amendment. By a vote of 35 to 46 the Clarke amendment was lost. It was practically the same as Cummins, Bourne and Chamberlain voted yes. An amendment by Senator Jones of Washington authorizing the Interstate commerce commission to suspend an increased rate for six months instead of four, as provided in the bill, was then adopted. On motion by Senator Hughes of Colorado, the senate voted to strike out the four sections in the bill designed to give the interstate commerce commission authority to regulate the issue of railway securities. The vote was 53 to 1. Senator Burton of Ohio, was the only senator who voted to retain the sections.

TWO SUSPECTS OF SUGAR WEIGHTS

Letter Introduced in Helke Trial Material in Establishing Discrepancy.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, May 25.—By introducing in evidence a letter written by Charles E. Helke, secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, to the Boston superintendent of the company, the Helke prosecution today played one of its high cards. The letter admitted that there was a decided discrepancy between the weights on which duty was paid and the weights kept by officers for record, and referred to "liberal treatment" by customs employees. The letter was dated December 24, 1904, and said, in part: "The differences are due to the desire of the superintendents to make a record, and to liberal weights received from the custom house, and which, of course, we do not undertake to correct. We do not want two sets of weights kept on the books, one representing custom house weight on which duty is paid, and the other melting weight, which is greater." The first direct attempt to connect Helke with sugar frauds was made today by the government prosecutors when they introduced in evidence United States treasury checks indorsed with his name. The checks represented rebates paid by the government on sugar importations. Harry Waters, acting deputy collector of the port here, was placed on the stand when the checks were introduced in evidence. He said the "sugar trust" paid on sugar imports amounts estimated by the collector. These estimates were invariably too much, and rebate checks were sent when the sugar weight reports were checked. The prosecution contends that this evidence shows that Secretary Helke knew all about the short weight transactions.

"Cowboy Girls" at Palace

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Vancouver, Wash., May 25.—"The Cowboy Girls," a western film shown at the Palace theatre last night, was one of the best shown in Vancouver for a long time. Western girls are invited to spend 2 weeks with an aunt whose husband and cowboys are absent. They place a sign at the gate that no men are allowed and then don cowboy costumes and proceed to enjoy the situation. The bunk house is transformed into a dormitory and a guard house is prepared. Horse thieves attempt to steal the ranch horses but are frustrated by the girls. Five years later love enters the drama and a ranchman wins a bride. "The Captain of the Guards" is another good film, as is also "One of the Five" and "The Cheese Box" is a feature of the program and depicts a young man who gave his lady friend a box of candy which had been substituted for cheese. Trouble ensued but a reconciliation was the final result. The program containing the comedy and will be shown tonight for the last time.
