Senator Frye has submitted a report favoring the proposals. In it he reviews ably the history of the life saving service, and shows that, in time of peace, human life in large numbers is constantly saved from descruction, and that in time of war the service is an invaluable adjunct, being a lookout along the whole coast line of the United States for movements of war vessels of an enemy.

Adjoining this compartment is a bedroom also fitted with green carpet and dipholstery and furnished with a bedstead finished in old gold, with the Argentine coat of arms at the foot. The bedroom has three doors, one leading to the day satoon, one to the corridor which runs along the side, and one to the bath room. By focking any one of these doors all become locked.
