

STRIKING DRIVERS
NARROWLY AVOID SERIOUS CLASHES

Draymen Meet With Interference Today in Attempts to Man Wagons With Non-Union Drivers.

Draymen and striking teamsters almost came into open warfare several times today when efforts were made to get teams driven by non-union men out of the transfer barns. At the East Side Transfer company barns a non-union driver was mobbed when he attempted to leave the barn. Policemen managed to clear the way through the crowd. At the time daily 10 pickets were on duty at that place. The number of pickets was tripled and no further attempts were made.

The B. & O. Transfer company worked a similar plan to get their teams out of the barns. Hurley-Mason, contractor, succeeded in getting teams to move their building materials from the wharves yesterday.

Wholesale grocers say they are suffering greatly from the strike. Wholesale fruit commission men are the principal losers. Strike leaders announced today that they desired to injure business as little as possible.

"We will do nothing to hurt the Rose Festival," declared Peter Burke, vice president of the teamsters' international union. "If the draymen's association does not furnish teams for tomorrow night's parade, we will furnish them ourselves with drivers, free of cost to the Rose Festival management. We are not to be regarded as bad citizens simply because we insist upon our right to receive what we earn by the power of our organization."

At an enthusiastic meeting of the strikers held yesterday it was unanimously voted to continue the strike for two years if that much time should be needed in order to secure the concessions demanded by the union men. Addresses were made by teamsters who have been driving on the streets of Portland for the greater part of their lives.

It was also reported that a striker was taken from a wagon at the Union station by an owner of the wagon. The striker was attempting to persuade the new driver to quit the job, when the owner came along.

Both employers and union men indicated a willingness today to submit their differences to the arbitration of a commission of prominent citizens, each reserving the right to submit any conclusion reached by the commission for final decision by their own members.

No date for a meeting of arbitration has been set.

Sells Forest Grove Grocery.
Forest Grove, Or., June 6.—The S. E. Williams grocery store, located on Third street and Pacific avenue in this city has been sold to O. Jackson, the deal involving several thousand dollars. This store is situated several blocks from the business section of the town in one of the most thickly settled sections and in the six years that it has been established has built up a large trade.

DALELL WINNER DRAGON BARROW

Dr. Black, Anti-Cannon Candidate, Charges Result Due to Fraud at Primary.

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—At Republican headquarters today it is declared that John Dalell, regular candidate for the congressional nomination, defeated Dr. Robert J. Black by a majority of 405. The count, the leaders say, is complete with the exception of one precinct. They declare the results from this precinct will probably not materially change the vote.

Black's charge that he was "counted out" in Saturday's primaries is not causing the regular much concern. The fight on Dalell, which was the center of interest in the state-wide primary, in which the insurgents sought to defeat Dalell for renomination, has been a hot one, but the regulars say it has been won, and any contest Dr. Black makes will serve only to delay their final victory.

The fight on Dalell has been watched with considerable interest by politicians in all parts of the country. Dalell, member of the committee on rules, and one of the framers of the tariff bill, is regarded in Pennsylvania as Speaker Cannon's right-hand man. The efforts to oust him were considered here as important as the fight against Cannon has been regarded by politicians in other states. The fact that Dalell has been renominated here is considered a decided setback to the insurgent movement.

It is reported that the corporations which ordered their employees to support Dalell. The plan, if attempted, as the insurgents charge, failed. In Bradwood, where the steel trust dominates, Dalell's majority was only 11 votes. In McKeesport, another manufacturing center, he carried the vote by a big factor. Dalell won, but the regular ticket was knifed and it was declared that it took considerable trading on the part of the politicians to save Dalell.

The only break in the state in the regular Republican party slate was in Schuylkill county, where R. D. Heaton, insurgent, defeated Congressman A. D. Garner, who made his race on a "Cannon" platform.

DEVELOPMENT OF SHIPPING DEPENDS ON PUBLIC DOCKS

say when the city does business with the shippers all get a fair deal. There is no favoritism. The same rate is given to all. Space is apportioned by lease, not by private and corporate interest, or combination of interests, can shut out competition in the form of new steamship lines.

Recalls Big Fire.
"Let me give a little history of the Baltimore fight for public docks. First came the great fire of February, 1894, then reconstruction. Baltimore's waterfront had been what Portland is—an eyesore. Inflammable wooden structures threatened the city; they were rat infested, disease spreading, and a financial hurt. They were in private control. The fire emphasized their menace. It was with us a time for heroic things. The newspapers fought for public docks and they spoke the popular sentiment. The mayor led the fight and addressed mass meetings. Capital representatives by private and corporate interests opposed the plan, but the people voted for their own interests and against greedy grasping capital. The vote was decisive.

"Baltimore did not possess the misfortune of an administration opposed to popular vote at Portland seems to have. There was no thought on the part of the mayor or any other city official that it would be wise or safe or justifiable to veto the popular measure.

Fought Ten Years.
"We had no city official who deemed himself so omniscient as to feel the obligation to think and act for the people when they had already expressed their desire. The fight was ten years long. The fire was the deciding issue. For two years we have profited from municipal control of the waterfront.

"Portland should profit more from municipal control of the waterfront than Baltimore, since Portland, with other coast cities, is to be influenced beneficially more directly from the completion of the Panama canal. The argument that I hear here that public docks are unprofitable is a booby. It is contravention of successful operation of public docks the world around, and in opposition to the Panama canal, the argument of our greatest business expert.

"I have also heard it said that Portland cannot possess public docks or buy Council Crest for a city park because the bond market is so poor. Let me tell you what we did in Baltimore.

Four Percent Bonds.
"Our 4 per cent bonds only received an offer of something like $1. We could not accept such an offer. The city registrar was instructed to sell the bonds in any amounts in multiples of $100 over the counter, at par, to any buyer. The bonds went with a rush. The poor people bought them, and were glad to get them. It was regarded the finest kind of an investment for the man who hadn't a great deal of money to spend.

"Let Portland try the same kind of a plan. Baltimore is larger, but Portland is richer. The people have confidence in the goodness of municipal utilities. They would welcome the opportunity for such investment. I feel sure, judging from the Baltimore experience. When a sincere desire exists to compass any end, means may always be found."

Mr. Cator expects to return to Baltimore next week.

ESTRADA'S PROPOSAL REJECTED BY MADRIZ
Managua, June 6.—Madriz rejected today the proposal of Estrada, the insurgent leader, that the United States be asked to settle the Nicaragua revolution. He indicated that war would continue.

Attack on White Woman in Her Own House Ground of Action—Regiment Concerned in Affair at Brownsville.

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., June 6.—A mass meeting will be held this evening at a hall in the Fort Lawton district to demand the removal of the Twenty-fifth infantry, a negro regiment, from the fort. This move follows an attack on Mrs. J. W. Redding at her home in Lawton Park addition Saturday afternoon by a negro trooper. The private is held in the guardhouse at the fort as a suspect. The commander refuses to give out the man's name until his innocence or guilt is proved.

The Twenty-fifth is the negro regiment made notorious by the Brownsville affair. Officers at the fort declare, however, that only a few of the men in the regiment are the time of the Brownsville embroiglo are still in government service.

A protest was made against the removal of the regiment to Fort Lawton. Congressman Humphrey, after the protest had been ignored, promised personally to see to the removal of the troops at the first outbreak.

Yesterday morning every soldier at the fort was passed before Mrs. Redding and her two daughters. She failed to identify any man positively, but stated that one soldier resembled the culprit, with the exception that his mustache was waxed and that her assailant had worn a white civilian's shirt instead of the regulation olive drab. This is the man in the guardhouse. He was ordered to wash the wax from his mustache, and last night G. F. Carlson, a ferryman, positively identified him as one of five soldiers whom he rowed from Ballard's landing near Alki Redding some an hour before the assault on Mrs. Redding.

RAILWAY CHIEFS
WITH PRESIDENT

statistics, showing earnings exceeding the net maintenance expense, have been circulated. They will declare that railroads must now pledge securities worth 25 per cent more than the amount they want to borrow, when they negotiate for a loan.

The whole plea will be intended to move the president to stop the suit on the ground that the railroads are struggling along, that rate increases are necessary to insure profit and that the continuance of a fight against the roads now will lead to undesirable financial complications that may involve the whole country.

Sensors Talk With Tarr.
Senators Depew, Crane, Curtis, Brandegee and Bourne discussed the matter with Tarr today. Depew said the railroads should present their case to the interstate commerce commission.

"The railroads," he said, "should not have advanced their rates precipitately when the country was excited over railroad matters."

He said it was probable, when the matter was finally determined, that the railroad bill would become a law and that the roads would be forced to submit their increases to the interstate commerce commission.

Railway Presidents at Capital.
Presidents Ripley of the Santa Fe railroad, Delano of the Wabash and Felton of the Chicago Great Western were in Washington early waiting for their interview with Tarr. Ripley declined to discuss the proposed plea of the railroads and Felton also remained discreetly in the background. President Delano said he hoped to show that the increased rates were not departed from.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health
Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "32" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "32" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "32" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scuff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give them complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at the Rexall Store, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., corner Seventh and Washington streets.

ROBBER'S BULLET
PIERCES CLOTHES

Valentine Hinkle Has Narrow Escape When Footpad Fires at Him.

Valentine Hinkle, living at 508 Jefferson street, a young man about 22 years of age, was according to his story this morning, shot at last Saturday evening about 9:15, at Sixteenth and Madison streets, while he was walking to his home.

"I was walking south along Sixteenth street," said Hinkle this morning, "and just as I reached Taylor street a man in dark clothes and a slouch hat stepped out from the side of the street about five feet from me and pointed a short revolver at me. As I partly turned he fired and the bullet went through the left side of my coat just below my arm and then penetrated a package in which I was carrying a pair of trousers. The 28 caliber bullet did not go through the package, however, and rolled out when I opened it. I turned it over to the police."

The man said nothing. I don't know whether he wanted my money or not. He ran off through a vacant lot as soon as he fired and I ran the other way along the sidewalk. I immediately notified the police, but they apparently have done nothing. The man wore dark clothes and was about five feet six inches tall. He had no mark.

"Sixteenth street, from Taylor to Madison, is provided with no lights whatever, and it is an ideal place for robbers. There have been several crimes committed at this point. Only about two months ago a man was gagged there. It is a shame the city has done nothing to remedy the dark condition of this street."

HOLD SALE OF RARE BOOKS IN LONDON

London, June 6.—The fourteenth portion of the famous library of the late Sir Thomas Phillips of Middle Hall, Worcestershire and Thristone House, Cheltenham, was put on sale at Sotheby's auction rooms today. The auction sale to last four days. The collection contains many rare and valuable books, classical manuscripts, mainly on vellum, early monastic cartularies and chronicles, royal household books, wardrobe and jewel rolls and a large number of autograph letters and documents bearing on Monmouth's rebellion and the French revolution. One of the most interesting manuscripts is the original Household Book of Accounts in connection with the expenses incurred by Eleanor, daughter of Edward III, on her journey to Venice for her marriage with Reginald, Earl of Gelders.

NEW YORK CAPITALIST IS LATEST BOOSTER

"I came west for the express purpose of taking in the Rose Festival," said Henry J. Weyman of Weyman, N. Y., today, "and already I am well repaid for time, trouble and expense." Mr. Weyman is staying at the Norton hotel.

"For two years I have seen the Rose show advertised and during the winter I made up my mind to see it. But just a sight of the myriad blooms has repaid me. From now on I am a Portland booster."

Mr. Weyman is a capitalist. His father founded the city of Weyman, and now controls a greater part of the city town-site.

MEAN OLD ROBBER
STEALS WOMAN'S HAT

White Salmon, Wash., June 6.—Robberies in this part of the country are in the decadent. A few days ago it was the blowing of the postoffice safe; then came the burglary of the Husum postoffice; Myers next comes on the scene and works White Salmon and neighboring towns with a real estate game; yesterday it came to light that a "Jim the Penman" had forged John Aekly's name on $8 and $10 checks; but the very lowest scale was reached last night when some one pried up the back window of Sorter & Hall's millinery store and carried away a hat.

When the Strongs arrived in Portland last night they were unable to find accommodations, and were hurrying down Washington street in search of a hotel when Josephine became lost. She strayed out into the northern part of the west side, and doesn't hardly know how she passed the night. She said she walked about almost all the time.

Her doll kept her company. She carried her small satchel with her. In it was her doll. When she appeared in the postoffice today she carried the doll in her arms, and said "she" behaved well throughout the night. She said she didn't ask a policeman for directions because she is afraid of them.

SON SEES MOTHER DIE
WHEN HACK OVERTURNS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Canyon City, Or., June 6.—Saturday evening about 7 o'clock the hack driven by E. Kingman went over a grade and Ellen G. Kingman, mother of the driver, was instantly killed. The accident occurred at the city limits. There were also four children in the hack.

The party were returning from a camping trip. They rolled over 50 feet and struck a pile of sharp rocks when the hack overturned. The children and Kingman were not injured.

Mrs. Kingman was 68 years of age. She was the mother of Mrs. Harry Craig of Canyon City.

(United Press Landed Wire.)
New York, June 6.—Twenty-seven sportsmen arrived on board the liner St. Louis Saturday from England to see the Jeffries-Johnson fight in San Francisco on July 4. The men will travel west across the continent from New York on a newspaper special. They will leave New York for the west on June 23.

Herbert Harvey, who is a member of the National Sporting club of London, heads the party of 27 men from the metropolis and suburbs. He said that before leaving New York the party would visit a ball game at the Polo grounds, as many of the men had never seen a game of baseball.

He added that the party would take some steps toward seeing some horse-racing before leaving Frisco. Also they are desirous of viewing the metropolis and visiting Boston, Washington and other nearby cities. Their party will be the guests of George Conditina and Wells Hawkes at Coney Island tomorrow, after doing Chinatown in sight-seeing automobiles. On Monday the members will pass through the great white way in automobiles.
