

Topics of Interest in the Realm Feminine

IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Howe of Seattle, who spent their week here, have gone to their ranch at Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McCormick (Miss Willa E. Smith), whose marriage took place last week, have gone to Madison, Wis., to attend the commencement exercises of Mr. McCormick's alma mater, the University of Wisconsin, and be the guest of honor at the reunion of his college fraternity. Later Mr. and Mrs. McCormick will sail for Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Bridges (Miss Marie Hurlbert) returned to their home in Tacoma last week from their wedding trip through the east. Mrs. Bridges was a former Portland girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Lamont, who have been in Washington, D. C., and other eastern cities for several months, returned to Seattle today. Mrs. Lamont has been the guest of her father, Henry Hahn, for a couple of weeks. Mr. Lamont came down for the week-end.

Yesterday's Seattle Post-Intelligencer has the following to say of last week's festival: "Portland, with its unique festival, has been the Mecca this last week of automobilists and tourists, and indeed, where possible, of all who, in the love of Nature, hold communion with her visible forms."

and a large number of people from Seattle and its environs have kept up the march to the City of Roses to see the wonderful display in a country unsurpassed for the exquisite beauty of this flower.

Among the appreciators, the connoisseurs, or the merely curiously inclined who took advantage of the opportunity to see the rose in all its glory were: Mrs. Miles Price Benton and daughter, Ruth, Mrs. E. J. Carter, Mrs. Winfield S. Mann and daughter, Miss Lu Mann, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Morgan, Mrs. Alonzo Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. John McAvoy, Mrs. Elizabeth Seckman, Mrs. J. S. Kane, Mrs. A. F. Low, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dickinson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Carrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Daster, Mrs. Samuel Fraunholtz, Mrs. Walter S. Rosenblatt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blethen, Dr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Allen, Mrs. James Allen and Misses Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ruckman, Miss Angie Turner, Mrs. H. S. Turner, Mrs. Charles Harris, Mrs. Carl Milo Dies, Mrs. George W. Smith, Miss Anna Furth Terry, Mrs. Jacob Furth, Mrs. and Mrs. J. P. Howe, sr., Mr. and Mrs. A. Warren Gold, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Capery, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cook, Mrs. M. King, Captain and Mrs. Joseph Newell, Mrs. H. White, Dr. and Mrs. A. Saxe, Dr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Allen, Miss Ella Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cheney, Mrs. Woolco.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bradley of Seattle have been the guests of their son, who is a student at Columbia university, for several days.

Mrs. Anna Pittcock and daughter, Miss Gladys Pittcock, of San Diego, California, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Pittcock, Miss Pittcock has been attending a post-graduate course at Stanford university.

Mrs. Charles R. Templeton and children, Charles and Marguerite Templeton, are now in San Francisco, where they will spend the summer. The Templetons have been in Los Angeles, San Diego and Mexico since the winter months.

Miss Jessie Hurley and Miss Ruth Gitch are expected tomorrow morning from Baltimore, Maryland, where they were recently graduated from Goucher college. Miss Gitch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Gitch of Salem, and is a graduate of the Williams university there. Her sister, Miss Gitch, is at Annapolis, Maryland, and will leave soon for a cruise in foreign waters. Miss Hurley is a graduate of the University of Oregon, where she was a most popular co-ed.

The advent of a daughter is bringing an avalanche of congratulations to the home of Mrs. J. J. Pantan.

Miss Gertrude Philin of Stretport, Illinois, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Wilson on Willamette Heights.

Mrs. Wallace Jones gave a linen shower in honor of Miss Kate Sauer, a bride-elect, Saturday afternoon. The Jones home was decorated in ferns and roses. The invited guests were: Mrs. Bower, Mrs. J. Schmel, Sr., Mrs. M. Helms, Mrs. L. Sauer, Mrs. Joseph Galliard, Mrs. John Mateschner, Mrs. Joe O'Farrell, Mrs. Rucker, Mrs. Joe Mateschner, Mrs. J. Schmel, Jr., Mrs. A. Huffman, Mrs. W. Sheehan, Mrs. W. Jones, Miss Kate Sauer, Miss Moberg, Miss Olga Hult, Miss Alice Hamilton, Miss Sophie Gable, Miss Kate Smith, Miss Anna Mateschner, Miss Christina Burback.

Curing Catarrh

Accept Our Advice and Try this Remedy at Our Risk.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membranes. The mucous membrane is, one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist in any part of the system.

When the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ which has been afflicted ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrh in any form to give Resall Mucuo-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistency for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will send back to you your money. This is certainly the fairest offer that anyone could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can get it at all drug stores. The Resall Mucuo-Tone Co., Inc., 107 1/2 and Washington Sts.

Miss Lillian B. Hyde, who recently in New York won the title of metropolitan golf champion by defeating Miss Julia Mix, the former title holder and one of the best women golfers in America. Miss Hyde is a resident of Brooklyn. She represented the South Shore Field club of Bayshore, L. I., in the tournament of the title.

ABOUT CLIMBERS AND OTHERS

If you are going to be a wash woman, there can surely be no disgrace in being a good wash woman, says a writer in the Denver Post. If you are a climber, you do not climb out in the open where your feat will be appreciated, instead of doing this after-dark, second-story work? If you have a title you bought, own up to it, and there can be no further argument on the subject, and your frankness will be appreciated. In the catalogue of things detestable, there's nothing that is so well known or so universally hated as the man and woman who pretends to be "better" when in reality they are decidedly "worse."

Denver has its own share of these pretenders, the best thing about them being that they furnish amusement and food for funny conversation. The wash woman who wants to be called a "wash lady," and the telephone operator who objects to being called "central" are a problem in themselves. A Capitol hill society woman called someone by phone from her husband's office the other day, and the exchange central in the building objected because the wife accidentally called her "central." "Central" wished to be called "Mabel."

"I haven't anything but money! I am tired of associating with this plated quality that wears off and makes you feel ashamed of it, but I've never gone with any other kind. I am going to make a great, big, blind stab at getting into the real stew! Watch me!" There was just one woman who ever made that speech, so that history got a chance to record it. Did she get in? Swimsuiting! Her sense of humor, her absolute honesty, her refreshing frankness took her in almost as soon as she made her first attempt at arriving. She was the glittering exception.

In contrast here is the Denver woman who raises her nose as high as her neck will allow, and tries to arrive by the money route, and by siring ancestors, acquaintances, education and travels that she never got within a mile of. Her way is a long, steep one, and every time one of her pretenses gets into the spotlight, her chance of arriving are lessened.

Real society has no time or patience with pretenders. If you have something Miss Mollie Burge, Miss Lidia Sauer and Miss Mable Sauer.

Mrs. Harry C. Thompson left last week to join her husband in New York. Mr. Thompson has just returned from a trip to Europe, which consumed several months.

Mrs. M. Baum has announced the engagement of her daughter, Pauline Corinne, to Jerome Friedman of Pendleton. The wedding is to take place in the autumn.

The Portland Heights clubhouse presented an animated appearance Saturday night when the year's season of festivity was brought to a close with a dance and promenade. The huge fire-ramp and Caroline Testouta, hanging baskets were admired about the shed which encircles the ballroom, and greens and roses were used profusely about the room. About 100 members of the club were in attendance. The patronesses were Mrs. A. D. Charlton, Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. Dan J. Marlarkey and Mrs. Frank H. Ransom.

Japan May Denounce Treaty. (United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, June 12.—Diplomats are discussing the sudden recall of Prince and Princess Fushimi of Japan, who are touring America. There is speculation as to whether the order has any connection with Japan's intention to denounce the existing treaty with America. It is believed the treaty will be formally denounced next Friday. While Japan anticipated that there is no sign of hostility there is a feeling that Japan did not desire to place the prince in an embarrassing position, should action on the treaty result in acrimony. The present treaty was negotiated in the last administration.—President Cleveland's Japan desires to obtain an up-to-date agreement with America. Prince and Princess Fushimi have canceled several trips, including those planned to Niagara Falls and Chicago. They will start for Seattle tomorrow and call for Japan within a few days.

What They Said

(At the Depot.) "GOOD-BYE dear, and don't you dare forget to write the minute you get there, and then I'll be waiting for the train seem longer than all the rest of the time that he's been gone!"

"There's daddy, baby, wave good-bye to him, quick; he's going way off on the big choo-choo cars."

"If there's one thing on earth more than another that I hate it's saying good-bye; I'd much rather sneak off without having anyone know it."

"There they are; thought they were going to get away without letting anyone know it, got your rise and your old shoes ready?"

"Are you sure you'll have enough to wear, dear? If you find you haven't be sure and let me know and I'll send 'em."

"Daddy, what have you brought me in your trunk?"

"The prettiest things you ever saw, and I had them way down in the bottom of my trunk, and that horrid old customs house officer."

"Good little girl, you'll have to go in the baggage train; it seems cruel but I'll try to get in to see you once in awhile."

"Just tip the conductor; I never took a trip before in my life. I don't know how in the world I'm going to dress and undress in one of those dinky little berths; and I suppose I get an upper one, how do I get into it? Is there any danger of my falling out?"

The Preparation of Crabs.

SOFT shelled crabs—Soft shelled crabs should be vigorously alive when purchased or the meat is not good. They should not be dressed until needed, then manage it in this way, as recommended by "Andy," that good friend to all Ledger housewives.

Select three good sized soft shelled crabs, heavy, but not necessarily large, and females if possible. Cut off the heads beyond the eyes, clip the tails, remove the "dead men" with care, pluck off all the legs and skin of the back or shell, leaving nothing but the bodies of the crabs. Let the cold water run over each, lay in a napkin or dry by putting between two napkins. They are then ready to cook.

Crabbed crabs—Rub both sides of a light broiler with ham or bacon skin, lay on the crabs and close the broiler gently. Cook over a clear fire, turning often. Heat a pint (no more) of sweet milk in a small saucepan with a quarter pound best butter. Set over a slow fire, and beat both, but do not let it boil. Chop fine a small quantity of fresh parsley and add to the milk, seasoning with white pepper and salt to taste, a dash of celery salt and four drops of tobacco sauce. Stir well, whip one egg almost to a froth, dissolve a teaspoonful cornstarch in cold water and whip in with the egg. Prepare a slice of crisp toast for each crab and lay it on a hot, long platter. Put a crab on each slice, then stir egg and cornstarch into the sauce and pour over. Garnish with triangles of buttered toast and asparagus tips and serve hot.

Fried soft shelled crabs—Dip the prepared crabs in beaten egg, then in fine rolled bread dust seasoned with salt and pepper. Have the frying pan hot and enough butter in it to keep from burning. Fry quickly, else the juice escapes and the crabs will be tough. They should cook from eight to 10 minutes and be a deep red color when done. Serve with lemon.

Cold soft shelled crabs—Cold soft shelled crabs are a favorite supper dish, served with tartar sauce, or they may be served as a salad. For the latter fry a half dozen of the crabs plain, cool, then remove the thin paper shell, the claws and spongy feelers. Cut each crab into six pieces and put into the salad bowl with a head of crisp lettuce torn apart. Garnish with hard boiled eggs and some pickled oysters (if desired), and dress with tartar sauce or mayonnaise. Unlike the hard shelled crab, the soft shelled crab does not require the preliminary boiling. It must also be borne in mind that the less handling a soft shell crab receives from the time it leaves the water until it reaches the table, the better and more delicate will be in flavor.

Two New Salads.

STRAWBERRY salad is one of the very nicest salads. It has big, bright red berries (using only the bright red ones), arranged carefully on a plate to represent a strawberry, and under the fruit is an artificial array of enlarged strawberry leaves. The berries are salt, but do not fall apart until the mound is disturbed.

A STEADY DRAIN

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, aches, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Portland cures prove it.

A. B. Horton, grocer, 1915 E. Stark street, Montavilla Station, Portland, Oregon, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were used in my family with the best of results in a case of backache and kidney trouble. I am glad to recommend this remedy, knowing of its merits."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MISS JEWEL AS A SAPHO

Robs Old Character of Wickedness and Delights Audience at Baker Theatre.

By A. L.

In the hands of Izzetta Jewel a new Sapho, purified and exalted almost into the realm of decency, has arisen to take the place of the revivifying Sapho of the story and the generally conceived Sapho as portrayed by nine out of ten actresses who play the part.

Miss Jewel's physical appearance is so delicate and girlish that it is impossible to see in her a woman who had fallen to the depths of Sapho. Miss Jewel has robbed Sapho of her wickedness and has made instead a woman who has erred and who is to be pitied rather than scorned for deliberate transgression.

It was a charmingly whitewashed portrayal which Miss Jewel gave. The delightful quality of her voice was admirably adapted to the part and her emotional work was splendid.

Jean Gaussin is anything but a desirable part, but Franklyn Underwood invests it with as much strength and dramatic value as is possible. Gaussin is a good example of the kind, however, and Mr. Underwood is to be congratulated upon having made what he did of the part.

Frances Slosson was herself again in the sweet and winning part of Irene and was a welcome bit of girlish interest. The part of the landlady, who is cunningly groomed in the first act and still beautiful in blond tresses, Lillian Andrews was an instant favorite as Mme. Hetema.

John W. Sherman gave a dignified rendition of Dechelette and Benjamin Horning won laughs splendidly with his comedy part. Dan Bruce was barely visible and Edward Lawrence did a good bit in the last act. Earl Dwire was good as Sapho's father. William Dills had little to do, but as usual had a good make up and many small parts were effectively filled by other members of the cast. Ethel Terry was Aunt Divonne and a number of young girls, among them Grace Fredericks who did an almost Salome dance, made merry in the first act.

The first act scenery is especially worthy of mention and the production as a whole is a credit to the company. On account of the Maude Adams engagement at the Baker Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the next performance of Sapho will not be given until Thursday matinee when the play will continue for the remainder of the week as usual.

From Plays of the Hour.

WHAT you got to remember, sonny, is that if a man works hard enough and gives hard enough, things carry being all right in the end. Carry that in your mental vest pocket, will you?—"The Nigger," Act III.

Pride's better than nothing to keep your body warm. There's a kind of man that never forgives the world because he wasn't born a gentleman.

Take care! The essence of things is to know when to stop.

Jaunty Bathing Suit.

THE square Dutch neck is a serious rival to the sailor collar as a finish to bathing suits this season. On the beach the latter is undoubtedly the more jaunty looking, but in the water—and indeed after a wetting—the neat square neck is the most desirable.

A bathing suit of good mohair (black and blue) made in semi-princess fashion, the full, plain skirt trimmed around the bottom with a band of white mohair, outlined with black and white fancy braid, would be serviceable. A well shaped, round, pleated down the front, and the belt to correspond with the skirt trimming would be a desirable finish. The square neck finished with a broad band of the mohair, trimmed with three rows of the braid. The sleeves puffed.

Lace is Popular.

EVEN the hat is under the spell of the lace. The lace has been pleated and is used to outline the velvet buckle form on the front of the hat. There is a certain freshness supplied by lace in this instance, and, moreover, a continuation is possible by the removal of the lace and down after cleaning. Lace is also used to fill the space between the lapsels of the short coat. Net edged with gold lace falls in a becoming plisse.

Onions as Nightcap.

ONIONS eaten raw with bread and butter, make a capital complexion clearer and nightcap, especially for the nervous person, inclined to be awake of nights and to wake up dishearteningly early in the morning. Slice the onions thin and sprinkle lightly with salt to take off the raw, crude taste, and have the bread thin and a good deal of butter.

French Meat Salads.

THE most popular cold meat salad of the French restaurant is made of roast beef cut in thin slices. It must, of course, be very well done. It is served with mayonnaise made with garbanzo beans and with sweet potatoes and flageolet beans, which are, of course, also cold. Sometimes a slice of tomato is added.

A salad of cold sliced veal is also made in one of the French restaurants, and is highly typical of the French nationality.

320-ACRE FARM WILL BE SLICED

Eastern Oregon Tract Sells for $56,000; New Owners Will Subdivide It.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., June 12.—Another large and important west end real estate transaction was consummated in this city Saturday forenoon when R. R. Lewis and his associates secured possession of the 320-acre Furnas tract, lying half within and half without the city of Hermiston. The tract is considered one of the most desirable in the west end of the county. The consideration was $56,000.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Furnas have lived in Hermiston since 1903 and are therefore, pioneer residents of that city. The tract is subdivided into 100 acre tracts, 100 acres of which they are now selling. Of the 100 acres, 100 acres are within the city limits.

Mr. Lewis stated this morning that one eastern, one Portland and several Pendleton men are interested with him in the project and he says they intend to subdivide the land into acreage tracts of from one to ten acres, making them into suburban homes.

Instead of the one house, and the one family present, there will soon be 60 or 70 houses and as many families on the tract.

THREE INSURANCE COMPANIES LOSE

Jury Decides They Must Pay $268,446.58 to San Francisco Fire Sufferers.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 12.—Three insurance companies which endeavored to avoid payment on 35 policies following the earthquake and fire of 1906, are subject today to payment of $268,446.58 as a result of a jury's verdict in the United States court. The defense of the companies lay in the "earthquake clause," which provided that fires caused by earthquakes would nullify the payment on all policies.

The taking of testimony covered a period of four weeks, and the jury remained out 48 hours. The defendant companies are the Commercial Union Insurance, Palatine Insurance and Alliance Assurance. The California Wine association will receive $242,466.07 of the total award.

LARAMIE RESTAURATEUR MURDERS POLICEMAN

(United Press Leased Wire.) Laramie, Wyo., June 12.—The police are closely guarding the jail here today as a result of threats to lynch C. E. Yeager, who is held for the killing of Policeman John Johnson early yesterday. Yeager is manager of a cafe which was closed Saturday night on an attachment. About midnight Yeager appeared at the cafe and threatened to kill Constable Wallace, who was in charge. Wallace summoned Policeman Johnson and as Johnson entered the front door he was shot and killed by Yeager. Yeager fired several shots into the crowd that gathered but no one was injured.
