

WICKERSHAM FOR FEDERAL CONTROL

Reckless Issues of Stocks and Bonds by Railroads Is as Bad as Lotteries.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, June 24.—Federal regulation and control of railroad stock and bond issues was advocated by Attorney General Wickersham in an address before the Illinois Bar association today. He urged that congress be constitutionally empowered to exercise such control.

"Economists and courts have condemned the reckless issue of railroad stocks and bonds, which are certainly as demoralizing as lotteries," said Wickersham. "The record of railroad receiverships and foreclosures in the last 20 years testifies to the effect such issues have upon the ability of railroads to perform their functions. Utterances of stock for inadequate reasons and fictitious consideration have furnished opportunities for irresponsible control."

"The watered and bonus stock which has been issued is the greatest abuse connected with the management of corporations."

Packers Will Be Prosecuted.
Attorney General Wickersham today declared that the government prosecution of several indicted packing companies would continue, despite the ruling of Federal Judge K. M. Landis that the indictments were faulty and did not state proper grounds for proceedings.

Wickersham declined to discuss the report that the laxity with which the indictments were drawn by one of his assistants was the outgrowth of differences between himself and Judge Landis when the investigation was first begun.

Wickersham intimated that the packers would be prosecuted as individuals instead of under joint indictments, following a session of the special grand jury here.

Incidentally the attorney general lauded the administration railroad bill, recently passed by congress.

BOYS INVITED TO HEAR LECTURE ON UPLIFT MOVEMENT

Unusual nature of entertainment to be furnished by the Columbia Park boys. Their program for the week has already been published. That they will have big audiences at every entertainment is assured. Not only are the vaudeville, minstrel shows, and athletic exhibitions to be of drawing power, but everyone who comes will be reminded that the money paid for admission goes to build for the newsboys a $10,000 home and clubhouse. To take the bad boys off the street and put them among surroundings that will take from them no good quality, but will help them to become citizens, is an object that will appeal to all.

Perhaps the competition to become boy mayor is keener because it is known the pennies spent for votes are to be appropriated also for the newsboys' home. Mayor Polkotte and his boys from San Francisco are evidence that such a home is an altogether good thing.

Boys Interested.
But whatever the underlying reasons for the campaign's close contest, there is no room left for doubt that no issue ever before so completely interested the boys of Portland. They are all campaigning. If one boy is not a candidate he is helping someone who is. They are splitting wood and running errands, and performing a multitude of services that they may add pennies to the voting lists of their favorites.

Each candidate is conducting a systematic campaign, just like older candidates. Nearly everyone whose votes are counted up needs a campaign manager. Sam Weinstein, the newsboy's candidate, who is leading the race, has as manager a young hopeful whose name is Aaron Cohen. Aaron is expected to make the rounds of the "newsies" every day and collect from each 5 cents. That is one of the reasons why Weinstein each day shows material gains. At the same time, though, Weinstein is doing a lot of vote soliciting on his own account.

Don Tarpley, second in the race, is electioneering in an automobile. He has insisted so far that he be his own manager, and he has not allowed his father to help him. Apparently he has not needed much help.

Has Ten Managers.
Hugh McKenna, on the other hand, has 10 campaign managers. Also he has gotten the moving picture shows in Albina to run slides advertising his candidacy. This is an advertising idea which, apparently, the other boys had not yet thought of. Hugh is Elliott school's candidate. As he is shortstop on the school baseball team and sings at entertainments and so forth, he has a great number of friends, who declare that although he has been a little late in getting into the race, they will work hard to see that he is elected.

Hugh McKenna's campaign managers are not to be bunched. He proposes to have in every section of the city. As for political policy, he makes it clear that he favors Statement No. 1, in the insurgent movement in congress, and in hurrying up the Broadway bridge. He does not go so far as Don Tarpley, who declares that if he is elected mayor he will use all his power to buy Council Crest, to make Portland a wide-open town, and to bring the Jeffries-Johnson fight here.

Candidate's Sisters Help.
Lester Oakley, a comparatively new candidate, also has his own methods. He is blessed with sisters, two of them, and they are campaigning for him with vigor and courage and positiveness. His campaign, too, has won the sympathy of a tiny neighbor girl, who is seeking out everyone she sees, acquaintance or stranger, and asking from each a penny for her favorite.

George Colton decided that he could do best if he made a systematic canvass of the stores. And with this in mind he went to Woodard, Clarke & Co's. He found a woman who had laid aside 50 cents to give to the first candidate who approached her. Fifty votes were a help that Carlton was grateful for. From that time on he has been fortunate enough to be elected juvenile mayor of Portland. The next five highest are to be made the mayor's advisers and council. They will occupy important legislative and executive positions and have part in all the proceedings of the week, being particularly featured at Thursday's boy council meeting.

The members of the party expressed much pleasure with the present conditions. They advocate further improvements to make Portland a larger and more influential seaport city. Arrangements will be made to make frequent trips along the river. The party yesterday consisted of Councilmen Boldring, Kibbil, Wallace, Conannon and Dunning.

BROWNE CASE TO GO TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, June 24.—The case of Lee O'Neil Browne, charged with having bribed a member of the Illinois legislature to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator, will go to the jury this afternoon. District Attorney Wayman concluded the final address for the state at noon. The court will instruct the jury at the afternoon session.

COUNCILMEN INSPECT PORTLAND'S HARBOR
For the purpose of better acquainting themselves with the needs and condition of the local harbor, a number of councilmen made a trip along the water front yesterday afternoon. Captain Eppler, harbor master, was in charge of the party, which left the Stark street dock at 2 o'clock in the patrol boat.

At present time, there are a large number of questions arising over matters that effect the harbor and the

I believe the happiest man these days is the man with a farm.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

A few acres of Central British Columbia farm land properly worked, will make a man independent for life.

$3.00 PER ACRE

CASH, BALANCE FIVE YEARS.

In British Columbia's greatest farming region, at the junction of four coming railroads, and 1000 miles of navigable waterways—three to eight miles from the coming inland Metropolis

FORT GEORGE

Opportunity never comes to you, you must take it. Every one has the ability, if they have the push.

The question is, Do you want to be independent? If so, here is your chance.

Irrigation unknown, short winters, warm summers, void of late frosts. Soil consists of brown loam to silts, with a clay subsoil and gravel base. Will produce anything that can be grown in the temperate zone. No alkali; well watered with an average rainfall of 20 inches annually.

This land is easily prepared for the plow, being covered with a scattering growth of spruce, poplar and willow. Park-like land, wild vetch, pea and bean vines grow in profusion, with wild hay in the meadows.

The railroad reaches Fort George this fall from Edmonton. Hand sea photographs of the country and samples of grain grown there.

This is not a speculation, but an opportunity for the man who desires a home in a coming country that will grow beyond all expectations.
