

ECHO MADE GOOD SPEED ON TRIAL TRIP YESTERDAY

Shaver Transportation Company's New Towboat Makes Over 12 Miles an Hour—Is Not Crowded.

Over 12 miles an hour was made by the new gasoline towboat Echo yesterday on her trial trip, and Captain J. W. Shaver, manager of the Shaver Transportation company, owners of the boat, expressed himself as well satisfied with the performance of the craft.

The Echo was scheduled to leave the Davis street dock at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but she arrived late in getting away. When she did leave the dock she had about 30 passengers aboard, mostly shippers and men interested in river traffic, who enjoyed the trip down to Union. On her return there she made the round trip five times, while pictures were taken of her at different angles, and she was then headed back up the stream for Portland.

Captain Shaver, who was at the wheel during the greater part of the trip, says that although she handled well and was in every way satisfactory, she needed a little more regulating before being placed in commission. He said that he would probably on another trip on her tomorrow. The members of the family, at which time he would be better able to judge her.

It is expected that the towboat will be placed in commission about the middle of the week, when she will be started to work on light towing in the harbor. She is also intended for use as a dispatch boat when it is desired to get word to and from the other boats of the fleet that are at work down the river. She is 40 feet long, 13 feet beam and has a draft of 6 feet 5 inches, and was turned out at the Portland Shipbuilding company's yards in South Portland.

Among those who went out on the trial trip of the Echo yesterday were J. W. Shaver, Captain Delmer Shaver and members of the office force, were Manager Moffett of the Imperial Engine works of San Francisco, which built and installed the engine, D. C. O'Reilly, F. K. Moore, Captain Daguerre of the river steamer Beaver, and J. H. Johnson, designer of the craft and his son Bert.

BATEMAN TO MAKE TRIAL TRIP

Captain Good's New Passenger Steamer to Run to Milwaukee. The steamer E. G. Bateman belonging to Captain James Good will make her trial trip tomorrow afternoon, running to Sellwood and Milwaukee, and it is expected that she will begin making her regular run to those points on Monday morning.

The schedule for the steamer has been prepared by Captain Good and the steamer will leave from either end of her run every Friday at 10 o'clock for Milwaukee at 6 o'clock and every two hours thereafter until 4 o'clock and she will leave from the Washington street dock here at 7 o'clock in the morning and every two hours thereafter until her last trip when she will leave the dock here at 5:30 o'clock in the evening. The Bateman is licensed to carry 70 passengers.

Trouble With Raft Feared. It was feared yesterday that the big cigar-shaped log raft built on Wallace slough for the Benson Lumber company at San Diego would have trouble in getting out of the slough on account of the water there, but up to a late hour last night no word had been received by the Shaver Transportation company, whose boats the Shaver and M. F. Henderson, went down yesterday morning to tow her to Astoria. Because of the lack of notification to the contrary, officials of that company are of the opinion that she was floated out all right on the high tide at 3 o'clock in the morning. The raft will be towed from Astoria to San Diego by the tug Hercules.

Elder Has Full List. When she arrives from San Pedro to-night, coming by way of San Francisco and Eureka, the Pacific steamship George W. Elder, Captain Jessen, will have as many passengers as she can carry, according to advices received yesterday by the local agent. She will also have a full cargo of freight for this port.

Vessels Change Berths. Because of being able to secure more room the steamer Stranger will land in the future at the Washington street dock instead of at the Alder street dock as heretofore. The Stranger is engaged principally in towing ties up from St. Helens and lies at the dock over night. The gas schooner Wilhelmina, Captain Tyler, engaged in freight traffic between this port and the Stuslav river, will also land her freight there in the future instead of at Oak street dock.

Porter Bros. Buy Isabel. Porter Bros., a large firm of railway contractors on one of the Deschutes lines now under construction, purchased the gasoline launch Isabel from Johnny Larson Friday and will take her in connection with their work on the Deschutes. She has been taken to the Supply shipyard and from there will be loaded on flat cars for Celilo. It is said that she will be used principally for carrying supplies.

Along the Waterfront. Laden with general freight for New York, the American-Hawaiian steamer Falcon, Captain Dahlquist, sailed last night for San Francisco. A. D. Moody, a houseowner here, has taken to Celilo with his rig to pull out the steamer Norma, belonging to the Oregon Truck, which was sunk in the river near Celilo a few weeks ago.

A gang of about 25 ship carpenters were working on the new barge being built by Joseph Suple at Celilo for the Oregon Truck, came down from that place yesterday to spend the Fourth here. Victor Dalquist, chief clerk in the Dept. of Portland's tugboat and pilot office, is that that.

"You see, she's a vegetarian, and you can't get him to eat anything but vegetables."

TRAMP LOADING LUMBER FOR CHINA

The British steamer Coulsdon, 2783 tons, is registered, Captain Wilford, which is now port loading lumber for China. She is under charter to Balfour Guthrie & Co., and is now working about 3,000,000 feet of lumber at the Inman-Poulsen mill. She arrived June 22 from the Atlantic seaboard, by way of Victoria, having a cargo of steel rails for that port. This is her second trip to this port, having been here about two years ago. Following the Coulsdon will be the Norwegian steamer Sethou for the same company, which will transport a cargo of lumber to the Orient. It is expected that the Coulsdon's cargo will be finished about the latter part of next week.

British steamer Coulsdon.

Inman-Poulsen mill. She arrived June 22 from the Atlantic seaboard, by way of Victoria, having a cargo of steel rails for that port. This is her second trip to this port, having been here about two years ago. Following the Coulsdon will be the Norwegian steamer Sethou for the same company, which will transport a cargo of lumber to the Orient. It is expected that the Coulsdon's cargo will be finished about the latter part of next week.

IRISH PARTY IS IN CLOSE HARMONY

Parliamentary Party Pulls Together, Realizing the Demands of Coming Year. (Publishers Press Leased Wire.) Dublin, July 2.—Realizing the importance of presenting a united front in the next parliament, the Irish parliamentary party is campaigning as actively almost as though a general election was in progress.

The Redmonds, Devlin, Dillon, O'Connor and the other leaders are making speeches constantly and are paying special attention to the constituencies represented by O'Brien malcontents. It is confidently predicted that the O'Brianites will not be able to carry more than three or four seats at most, and it is regarded as well within the line of possibility that both O'Brien and his lieutenant, Timothy Healy, will be defeated.

Bishop O'Donnell, of Raphoe, said recently: "I do not remember any time when the country was more united in support of the Irish party than it is at present; neither was there any time when that support was better deserved."

This seems to about sum up the situation.

The Belfast harbor commissioners have tentatively adopted a scheme for the reclamation of 100 acres of slobland, and at the same time have agreed to a proposal submitted by their engineer for dredging from the ship channel to the sea 1,500,000 tons of soil, so as to provide sufficient depth for liners and warships of the largest class.

Notable Soldier Is Dead. The painfully sudden death of General Sir William Butler will be deplored throughout Ireland, as well as in England and in those colonies where he had seen much active service. A brave and capable soldier, he served the British empire in Canada and Africa, and rose to within a step of the highest rank in the army, though owing to his frank, honest and even-tempered, sensible advice given to the government of the day before the outbreak of hostilities in South Africa, he was for a time most unpopular in England, and scarcely received the full measure of reward which his services merited. He was as skilled with the pen as with the sword, and some of his books make most entrancing reading and will be regarded as valuable additions to British military history. His wife, too, as Miss Thompson, earned undying fame by her paintings, two military subjects, "The Roll Call" and "The Scots Greys at Waterloo," being shown at the Dublin international exhibition of 1907. It is, however, as a patriotic Irishman that Sir William Butler will be best remembered in this country. He was a convinced Home Ruler, but though his name was several times mentioned for consideration in the House of Commons, still in another sphere he rendered good services to his country, being a prominent member of the national university commission and of the senate.

Evening Dress Tyranny. No gentleman attired in correct evening dress need fear being taken for a waiter nowadays, according to a sartorial expert whom a newspaper representative interviewed yesterday. The discussion out of which this statement had arisen was on the question as to whether the "tyranny of evening dress" so to speak, had become greater in recent years. The expert declined to agree that it was tyranny, but said evening dress is undoubtedly worn far more generally in these days than used to be the case.

"The real fact of the matter is," he said, "that evening dress is more becoming to the wearer than it was a few years ago. There is more style about it. The cut is smarter, the lines of the figure are displayed much more advantageously and more liberty is allowed with regard to the waistcoat. The man of taste need not confine himself to a white or black waistcoat, and soft, pale colors—more frequently, perhaps, for a younger generation—are extremely popular. Then the lower part of the waistcoat is cut away more than was the fashion formerly and the wearing of a black tie instead of a white is allowable more frequently than hitherto."

"The attempt to introduce color into the suits themselves was not very successful, but it was symptomatic of the desire to get away from the stiffness of the older fashions. It may be that some men wear evening dress even though they do not like it, because they feel that their neglect to do so would be noticeable on occasions, when in the past it would not have mattered, but I think you will find that most of the men who wear the correct attire do so because they like it."

STOLYPIN IS FOR FINNISH POLICY

Russian Premier Convinced That Practical Absorption of Finland Is Necessary. (Publishers Press Leased Wire.) St. Petersburg, July 2.—The practical absorption of Finland into the Russian empire was a political necessity in the opinion of M. Stolypin, the premier. In a speech to the duma, M. Stolypin stated the imperial position clearly and unequivocally. Speaking of the inclusion of the Finnish schools, newspaper regulations, meetings and associations within the competence of imperial legislation he said the schools were included because Finnish teachers were constantly instilling the youth of the country with hostile feelings against the Russian government. The same hostile intent animated newspapers, meetings and associations and the government must have control over them all. The contempt excited by this idea of Russian dissolution had prompted the premier to threaten resignation, and it was the same thought that had produced the uninvited intervention of foreigners, but M. Stolypin added, "you will show that right is greater than might."

Sold Criminal Captured. A secret police officer, named Muratov, was waiting snarled in one of the principal streets of Moscow two or three days ago when he thought he recognized the mistress of a long sought for criminal named Shuravlev. The woman was accompanied by a man, whom the detective snatched up and carried to the nearest hospital, where he died in a few minutes.

Shuravlev threw off the detective and took to flight, drawing a revolver from his pocket and firing four shots at Muratov, who ran after him. The detective fell to the ground mortally wounded. He was carried to the nearest hospital, where he died in a few minutes.

In the meantime, the pursuit was continued, and Shuravlev fired nearly a dozen shots at the police and others who were following him. None of them, however, took effect, although the uniforms of several policemen bore bullet marks. After dodging from street to street, Shuravlev dashed down a cul-de-sac abutting on a railway embankment. He fired at the guard on duty, but missed him, and then a peasant youth made a rush at him, and caught him by the legs, bringing him to the ground. He was immediately arrested.

Shuravlev's record of crime is almost incredible. He is known to have perpetrated at least seven murders and to have been concerned in 15 armed robberies, 12 church thefts and 200 other crimes, most of which were committed in the vicinity of Moscow. For years he has eluded all the efforts of the police to capture him, thanks mainly to his genius in assuming disguises. He is only 30 years old.

Girl Making Long Ride. A coosack girl has started to ride from Harbin to St. Petersburg, a distance of 5240 miles. She is riding astride on an ordinary Coosack saddle, carrying a hunting knife and a revolver, and her only companion is a pure bred St. Bernard dog. Formerly a railway employe, she was awarded the gold medal "for zeal" during the Russo-Japanese war.

There was a regrettable scene in the duma the other day when M. Purishkevitch, a reactionary member, was suspended for throwing a glass of water in the face of M. Millinkoff. The latter had just given an invective into the state of the aggressor's mind.

After sitting with closed doors in St. Petersburg, a court martial has concluded the trial of 68 persons charged with armed robberies and other crimes, including murder, during the revolutionary period. Twenty-nine death sentences were passed.

Captured the Prize Wolf. From the Minneapolis Journal. A big gray wolf which had been doing much damage by killing sheep, calves and young pigs was captured today after two years of persistent effort. It was of unusual size, measuring from tip to tip 11 feet and weighing over 150 pounds.

The animal was captured by a company of 35 farmers, who succeeded in getting the wolf in a circle they had formed. The animal is thought to have been at least 10 years of age. No other wild beasts of the kind have been in the neighborhood for years.

Fight Returns at Oregon Grill. The Oregon Grill has arranged to receive bulletins of the Jeffries-Johnson fight by rounds. Everybody welcome.

DISPUTE BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND NEW ORLEANS FOR EXPOSITION FAVORS WILL CONTINUE UNTIL CONGRESS MEETS.

By Ralph M. Whitehead. (Publishers Press Leased Wire.) Washington, July 2.—Congress adjourned with the question unsettled as to whether or not the Pelican or the Grizzly shall have the privilege of celebrating the joining of the Atlantic and Pacific by the completion of the Panama canal.

It would not be at all surprising if when congress acts on the question which probably will be in December or early next January both propositions would be mentioned. The advocates of both are very confident and the doubled barreled exposition would be an easy way out.

One rather interesting feature of the discussing of this Panama canal foreign affairs which reported both the New Orleans and San Francisco bills to the house was the fact that Butler Ames of Massachusetts was the only Republican member of the committee voting with the Democrats to postpone the whole matter till December. Mr. Ames is the son of the reconstruction governor of Mississippi and a grandson of General Ben Butler, who did not endear himself to the people of the Crescent City, when he was in command after the war.

In connection with the exposition proposition there is a good deal of talk about the manner in which Congressman Bennett of New York used it to bluff Governor Gillett of California into signing the Jeffries-Johnson fight against the Russian government. Mr. Bennett is a Presbyterian elder and naturally holds praiseworthy in abhorrence. The way he worked the fair against the fight was regarded as "good work" by experts.

No Visitation This Summer. "Going to Europe this summer?" asked a Massachusetts representative of a New York state representative. "Ahem, don't believe I will this year." "Mountain or seashore?" "Neither," replied the interrogator, assuming a confidential air. "The fact is, I guess I'll stick pretty close to my district."

"Think you'll go shooting in Canada during the fall?" asked the man from Texas of a man from California. "Ahem, don't believe I will this year." "Taking a trip east, or to Hawaii?" "No, no, no," explained the Californian. "I'm going to see the things in my district, you see, the fact is that I guess I'll not travel much except from schoolhouse to schoolhouse. The boys out there seem to want me to come home and get acquainted."

The next inquirer was a Minnesota man and he was talking to a Georgian. "Thinking of coming north during the hot spell?" asked the Minnesotan. "Not this year, thank you," replied the Southerner. "Things in my district seem to require my attention at home. There are a lot of explanations to go and I'm arranging to get very busy with my explanatory as soon as I can get back home."

That's the way they all talk. Confidently they explain it—confidently they will be no vacation for the statesmen this season. They will be right out on the hustings, explaining why it was or wasn't revised upward or downward, and how they did or didn't help do it that way or the other way, as the case may be, and have been glad and what they would have been glad to do, only that they were not in a position to do it, you know.

Explaining? There's going to be the biggest yield since before the last big thing. The only man with nothing to explain is Representative Will of Des Moines. He is out trying to gather in some explanations. He doesn't need to omit any. He recently received all he had coming. He was beaten for re-nomination. Other people in like scrapes will be explaining anything this year. The man running for anything this year will be a very animated person. No outtings for his except at the county fairs.

The census bureau estimates from complete lists that more babies will be killed in the next four months than since Caesar made his third run for triumph.

Navy Nomenclature. There are some curious results from our system of naval nomenclature. For instance the rule requiring the names of states for battleships in first class armored cruisers has resulted in the names of the smallest or newest states being given the biggest ships. The two super dreadnaughts authorized by this congress which will be the most powerful fighting ships afloat will be called the Nevada and Oklahoma, those to be authorized next year will be the Arizona and New Mexico. The big states took the first ships and these are hopelessly outclassed.

Another result of the rule for naming war ships is the keeping in mind the names of the men who have made the American navy illustrious. The latest torpedo boat destroyer is the "Lewis Warrington" Commodore Warrington for whom she is named was born in Hampton, Va., November, 1832. He was graduated at William and Mary college at the age of 18 and entered the navy as midshipman in 1850.

It was in the war of 1812-15, after having served as subordinate on other vessels, that he was given command of the Peacock, and in her, on April 29, 1814, off the coast of Florida, encountered the British war ship Epervier. The action that ensued was brilliant but short. The officers and crew of the Epervier fully sustained the reputation of English sailors, but so skillfully was his ship handled by Warrington, and so effective was her fire that 42 minutes after the engagement began the enemy struck his flag. Nearly $600,000 in specie was found on board of her, a sum which proved a most timely addition to the depleted revenues of the country. The news of his victory caused great enthusiasm in the United States; he received the thanks of congress and a gold medal bearing a representation of the action, and his native state, Virginia, presented him with a handsome sword.

A home is to be established in California for the aged and infirm members of the International Marble Workers' union. President Frederick McGlade, of the San Francisco local, has been elected to report upon an eligible site. It is considered probable that the home will be located in the vicinity of Monterey.

OLD CHURCHES ARE PROBLEM IN POOR FRENCH DISTRICTS

Dispute Between San Francisco and New Orleans for Exposition Favors Will Continue Until Congress Meets. (By the International News Service.) By George Duffness. Paris, July 2.—To save the historical old churches of France from destruction is at present the chief endeavor of M. Maurice Barrès.

By the separation law, the question of repairing these ancient structures has become a veritable problem. In numerous country districts, the Catholic inhabitants are too poor to subscribe the necessary funds, and the municipal councils have no power to do so.

The latest example took place near Versailles. It appears when the mayor of a commune of atheistical opinions—and they are many in France—gets the chance of blowing a church to pieces, he is delighted, and the consequences are becoming deplorable.

M. Barrès has taken the matter up in the interests of art and archaeology, and he is being powerfully supported in Paris.

Club life in Paris is one of the interesting developments of the times. Until recently there were no such institutions for the man of moderate means but philanthropy and taste for sport have changed all that. For the club of high degree, making a direct appeal to society, the government "touches" 40 francs on the subscription, if above a certain amount. The object is twofold—to raise revenue and to keep an eye on the "groings out" of the members. It is also suspected that the man with a 'de' to his name (unless he prove to be of Protestant parentage) is "asin" the government. A tax levied on the subscriptions gives an excuse for surveillance.

The Vicomte Rene de Montzon Bruchet, a quiet young man of excellent lineage, has just started a club on novel lines as far as France is concerned. It holds out the hand of fellowship to the young foreigner residing in this city, for the purpose of study, or otherwise.

Art exhibitions, concerts and lectures will bring the young man into contact with the elite of Parisian society. There will be no more excuse for being lonely. The club premises are situated at 13, Rue de Bayeux, in the Mont Parnasse region, which is peopled so largely by the "raw young man, with notions of paint, from the western wilds of America." Among the patrons of this interesting work is M. Edmond Roehland, the Duchesse de Rohan and Mme. Juliette Adam, the well known woman journalist and writer.

Young Turks Start Agitation. Although young Turkey holds the rein of legitimate government, the young Turks are active in Paris as they were when they played the role of conspirators. Their purpose apparently is a double one. In the first place, they proclaim in season and out of season, that if Crete is wrested from the Ottoman empire there will be war; and, in the second, they desire to turn France toward Turkish interests.

Prince Yusuf Izzeddin Effendi, heir to the Turkish throne, has just terminated a visit to the French capital eminently satisfactory to his imperial highness. And a distinguished party of Turks is now touring France, amid many flattering attentions. The young Turks show their impatience at the dilatory

SEPARATION LAW LEAVES MANY ANCIENT EDIFICES WITHOUT MEANS OF MAINTENANCE AND DESTRUCTION IS EMINENT.

Dispute Between San Francisco and New Orleans for Exposition Favors Will Continue Until Congress Meets. (By the International News Service.) By George Duffness. Paris, July 2.—To save the historical old churches of France from destruction is at present the chief endeavor of M. Maurice Barrès.

By the separation law, the question of repairing these ancient structures has become a veritable problem. In numerous country districts, the Catholic inhabitants are too poor to subscribe the necessary funds, and the municipal councils have no power to do so.

The latest example took place near Versailles. It appears when the mayor of a commune of atheistical opinions—and they are many in France—gets the chance of blowing a church to pieces, he is delighted, and the consequences are becoming deplorable.

M. Barrès has taken the matter up in the interests of art and archaeology, and he is being powerfully supported in Paris.

Club life in Paris is one of the interesting developments of the times. Until recently there were no such institutions for the man of moderate means but philanthropy and taste for sport have changed all that. For the club of high degree, making a direct appeal to society, the government "touches" 40 francs on the subscription, if above a certain amount. The object is twofold—to raise revenue and to keep an eye on the "groings out" of the members. It is also suspected that the man with a 'de' to his name (unless he prove to be of Protestant parentage) is "asin" the government. A tax levied on the subscriptions gives an excuse for surveillance.

The Vicomte Rene de Montzon Bruchet, a quiet young man of excellent lineage, has just started a club on novel lines as far as France is concerned. It holds out the hand of fellowship to the young foreigner residing in this city, for the purpose of study, or otherwise.

Art exhibitions, concerts and lectures will bring the young man into contact with the elite of Parisian society. There will be no more excuse for being lonely. The club premises are situated at 13, Rue de Bayeux, in the Mont Parnasse region, which is peopled so largely by the "raw young man, with notions of paint, from the western wilds of America." Among the patrons of this interesting work is M. Edmond Roehland, the Duchesse de Rohan and Mme. Juliette Adam, the well known woman journalist and writer.

Young Turks Start Agitation. Although young Turkey holds the rein of legitimate government, the young Turks are active in Paris as they were when they played the role of conspirators. Their purpose apparently is a double one. In the first place, they proclaim in season and out of season, that if Crete is wrested from the Ottoman empire there will be war; and, in the second, they desire to turn France toward Turkish interests.

Prince Yusuf Izzeddin Effendi, heir to the Turkish throne, has just terminated a visit to the French capital eminently satisfactory to his imperial highness. And a distinguished party of Turks is now touring France, amid many flattering attentions. The young Turks show their impatience at the dilatory

PAINTING HOLY PLACES How a Resourceful Pasha Helped an Artist in Palestine.

From the Washington Gazette. Few painters have had more remarkable experiences than Carl Haag, the veteran water color artist, who has just celebrated his sixtieth birthday. Making his home in Jerusalem, Haag has traveled all over the east in pursuit of local color and raw material, sometimes running no inconsiderable risks in doing so.

This was particularly the case during his travels in Palestine, when even the firm which he possessed from the sultan, permitting him to make sketches of the holy places, hardly availed to protect him at times from native superstition and fanaticism.

Mr. Haag even penetrated into the temple area, at Jerusalem, where a Christian usually ventures only at the peril of his life. The pasha in charge of Mr. Haag was, however, a man of resource, and secured his protection by giving it out that he had been ordered by the sultan to make drawings of the mosque, and, further, that those who did not wish to be included in the picture must keep out of sight, with the result that Mr. Haag was left quite unmolested by the superstitious Moslems.

In uncovering the ruins of a still more ancient city on the site of Oests, the ancient port of Rome at the mouth of the Tiber, archeologists have made discoveries regarded as of great historic importance as those made at Pompeii.

Auction Sales Geo. Boker & Co On Tuesday Next

We are instructed by a prominent attorney who is relinquishing his beautiful suburban home, to sell high class furnishings removed to our store for convenience of Auction Sale. COMPREHENSIVE very elaborate parlor, bookcase and desk, HIGH GRADE MAHOGANY and oak rockers in tapestry and leather upholstery, French plate mirrors, VERY GOOD OILY PICTURE, six andirons, folding screen, stand complete with fire shovel, very massive quarter oak library table, real leather Turkish rockers, oak dining stand and stool, UPRIGHT PIANO in oak case, oil paintings and pictures, bric-a-brac, BRASS BED, BRASS CHAIRS, GOLDEN OAK including pedestal table, sideboard and chairs; ORIENTAL AXMINSTER, VERY GOOD, oak hall tree, bedroom furniture, oak hall tree, bedstead and consists of best metallic bed, springs and mattress, dressers, and chest of drawers, oak hall tree, quarter oak in the newest finish, gas range, gas water heater, garden tools, lawn mower, etc.

ALSO WE HAVE RECEIVED from a lady who is leaving the city the following: Mission hall tree, extension table, set of walnut dining chairs, walnut library table, Mission rockers, princess dressers, Brussels carpets, English braided rug, etc.

SALE STARTS AT 10 O'CLOCK ON TUESDAY NEXT. PARTIES FURNISHING and Assing high grade furniture should not fail to take notice of this sale and attend.

On Thursday Next MORTGAGE SALE

We shall have the furnishings of eight room private residence for this sale, which must be sold for cash to the highest bidder. Sale at 10 o'clock. BAKER & CO. Auctioneers. Salesrooms 152 Park st.

Auction Sales! AT Wilson's Auction House

Corner Second and Yamhill. Regular Salesdays MONDAY, WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY

Each day at 10 a. m. Store closed Monday, July 4th. IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR FURNITURE OF ANY DESCRIPTION, DON'T FAIL TO ATTEND OUR SALES THIS WEEK. OUR STOCKS ARE NEVER SO LARGE AND COMPLETE AS AT THE PRESENT TIME.

FIVE GOOD UPRIGHT PIANOS, Costly place mats, set English and British leather couches, Globe-Wernicke sectional bookcase, set English and British leather chairs, full leather binding, bureau, extension tables, dining chairs, dinnerware and glassware; brass and iron beds, spring mattresses, pillows, bedding, rugs, carpets, matting, linoleum, steel and gas ranges, refrigerators, lawn mowers, etc. Rail to the depot for prices, chairs, etc. GOODS SOLD AT PRIVATE SALE AT ALL TIMES. Cash paid. Willson's Auction House, 152 Park st. Main 1520, A-4248.

A BAD AUCTION

IS A GOOD AUCTION for the buyer; it means DOLLARS and DOLLARS SAVED, and that is just what is going to happen at 211 First Street Tuesday, July 5th, at 10 a. m.

There is no reserve; sell at some price in our order, and we have prices and other Oak Dressers, Beds and Bedding, Round Oak Pedestal Extension Tables and Chairs, Sideboards, Center Stand, Rockers, Couches, Monarch Range, all kinds of Kitchen Furniture, also Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums (inside) Office Furniture, Maps, Fancy Goods, 1000 piano, etc. This will be a mighty slaughter sale. If you come we will convince you; 10 a. m., sharp—best goods sold first.

C. L. FORD, Auctioneer.

Private Auction

At residence, 195 11th st., near Columbia. Tuesday, July 5, at 2 p. m. This lady places in our charge for auction sale every item in her home, etc. rooms; pretty Dressing Room, complete with all Bedding, Sanitary Couch and Pad, Lace Curtains, Chiffonier, Couch, Gas Heater, Rocker, Sewing Machine, Bed, Drop Head Sewing Machine, Chairs and Rockers, Pictures, Electric Light Fixtures, etc. Sale at 2 p. m. sharp—best goods sold first.

C. L. FORD, Auctioneer.

JOS. C. GIBSON

304-5 SEELINGER BLDG., SECOND AND ALDER.

Buy Rockaway and Ocean Lake Beach Lots Now

Prices go up August 1. Right on railroad under construction; cheapest beach lots on the market. BILLYMOON'S Bay View Realty, Owners, 519 Lumber Exchange, 57 near Stark after August 2 Spalding Street.

CAFETERIA DAIRY LUNCH

A money maker! A business location, enjoying good clean income; the best of reasons for selling. This is the one best buy in the restaurant business in Portland today. Particulars see

JOS. C. GIBSON 304-5 SEELINGER BLDG., SECOND AND ALDER.

CAFETERIA DAIRY LUNCH

A money maker! A business location, enjoying good clean income; the best of reasons for selling. This is the one best buy in the restaurant business in Portland today. Particulars see

JOS. C. GIBSON 304-5 SEELINGER BLDG., SECOND AND ALDER.

FORD AUCTION CO.

Main 1351, 1315