

NO PEAR BLIGHT NEAR ROSEBURG

Trees Sold by Oregon Nursery Company Not Infected—in Perfect Condition.

Reports of the existence of pear blight in the vicinity of Roseburg appear unfounded. In a recent news story from that city the statement was made that a large number of young pear trees sold by the Oregon Nursery company to Dr. George A. Bradburn were infected with blight when they came from the nursery. Subsequent investigation has not borne out the charge.

A number of Dr. Bradburn's trees died shortly after planting, but there is no evidence that this was caused by pear blight.

Commenting upon the original story, M. McDonald, president of the Oregon Nursery company, made the following statement to The Journal:

In Perfect Condition.

"We have sold no trees to Dr. George A. Bradburn. We, however, did sell trees to a dealer by the name of A. L. Kitchen at wholesale. Some of the trees spoken of may be the stock shipped by our company to Mr. Kitchen. We cannot say as to that. However, the orders shipped to Mr. Kitchen were placed with us very late in the season, after the time when trees should have been planted in the Roseburg district, and at a season of the year when heavy losses would be expected from such late plantings.

"All trees shipped to Mr. Kitchen were in perfect condition when placed on board the cars at our station and were received by Mr. Kitchen and accepted by him as in first class condition so far as we know, as we had no complaint from him until almost two months after the trees were shipped.

Was This Stock?

"We might further say for your information that we shipped to the Bitter Root Valley Irrigation company, Hamilton, Mont., about the same time some 300,000 trees, all of which trees were received by them and accepted as being in perfect condition. We afterward received a special letter from their manager, Mr. Moody, stating that this was the finest stock they had ever received.

"This shipment was sent into a higher altitude where the spring season is much later and when they arrived there it was the proper time for planting, while the shipment made to Mr. Kitchen was long past the time when trees should be set out in that section.

"We are willing to leave it to the decision of the best horticulturists as to whether any of the trees shipped to the Roseburg district are diseased with pear blight."

LINN COUNTY WILL EXHIBIT BIG APPLES

Albany has taken a great interest in the Portland Apple Show and growers of Linn county will be represented by a fine exhibit. Word reached the Commercial club yesterday from Albany that the valley city will do all it can to make the Portland show a success and will participate to the fullest extent.

"Dates of the Albany show, which will be held after the apple harvest in the fall, will be arranged with reference to the Portland show and after the best fruit is picked at Albany it will be shipped to Portland and placed on exhibition here. The Albany exhibit will also go to the Spokane Apple Show and after that will be forwarded to the great annual land show at Chicago.

"The people of Albany have already raised $100 to provide for shipping the exhibit to Chicago. This shows an excellent spirit on the part of the Linn county metropolis for not only are the Albany people determined to advertise their own fruit resources at Portland and Spokane but to make the excellence of Oregon fruit known in the east as well.

Albany observed a holiday yesterday, with the stores closed, while practically the whole population turned out to attend the opening day of the Albany Chautauque assembly.

Frank S. Smith Dies in Mexico. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., July 8.—The news of the death in Mexico of Frank S. Smith, a prominent citizen of Springfield, has been received by his family here. He went to Mexico a short time ago in hopes of benefiting his health, and the last word received from him was to the effect that he was much better. The telegram informing the family of his death stated the remains were interred there. He was 55 years old, and leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter.

AUTOS CROWDING FIRE HORSES OUT

The day for the horse in the fire departments is quickly passing, said a representative of the Gorham Rubber company yesterday in presenting to the fire committee bids for new fire fighting apparatus.

"The automobile is quickly taking the places so long occupied by the animal, and it is a reasonable conclusion that within 10 years, all the larger cities will have almost their entire fire departments equipped with the motor-drawn wagons.

"The experimental stage of the automobile has been passed. The concerns that manufacture fire apparatus have been quick to see that the auto can be used as well as the horse. While a machine is more expensive, it is quicker, just as certain and with reliable men hold of it, many thousands dollars can be saved in fires.

"A good test was recently made at Pasadena, Cal., where the auto demonstrated its superiority. It was arranged that the horse-drawn chemical and combination wagon should compete against a new and improved auto wagon. It was arranged that a run of several blocks should be made, string 1000 feet of hose, and put out a pile of boxes placed in a vacant lot. The alarm was given, and the time counted between the last stroke of the alarm, and the time the fire was pronounced extinguished was 11 minutes. This record was made by the horses. Under the same conditions, the auto made the run, carried seven men, strung the hose, and had the fire out in three and one-half minutes.

The committee is considering purchasing two combination chemical engines and hose carts. The American-La France people have made a bid of $10,740. Two third class fire engines of the Metropolitan make are also considered for the department. These are to be horse drawn, and the same company has placed a bid of $11,150. The Gorham Rubber company, with headquarters for the coast at Seattle, have also submitted bids, but are above the other concerns.

It is the opinion of the committee that the American-La France bids should be accepted, and a conference with Mayor Simco will be had, and it is very likely that the deal will be closed. This will give the Portland fire department two pieces of fire fighting apparatus of the automobile type. It also marks the doom of the old fire horse, and places the local department on the list of cities that have taken up the automobile for practical use.

KEITH RETURNS GEMS LOST BY MRS. SEED

After defying J. C. Seed and telling him he would not return diamonds worth $100 which he had found, J. M. Keith, a waiter on the steamer Fetter, changed his mind this morning and returned the gems. Shortly afterward the larceny charge pending against Keith was dismissed in municipal court when Attorney Fouts informed Judge Bennett that a settlement had been reached. Keith had pawned the stones with a local jeweler and when arrested blandly admitted that he found the stones and had disposed of them, believing that he was safely within the law. Doubts on this point assailed him later with a result satisfactory to Seed.
