

BROKEN HOPE OF PROUD CAUCASIAN RACE FADES AWAY

His right eye is puffed and discolored, and his lips swollen. The former champion appeared 10 years older than the day he left for the mountains.

ANATOMIST TELLS WHAT MIGHT HAVE AILED JEFF'S EYE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, July 3.—"If James J. Jeffries turned to his seconds at the end of the second round in his fight with Jack Johnson at Reno and said, 'I can see two Johnsons; I hit at one and miss, then the other hits me, there is no doubt in my mind that the white man was practically blind during the remainder of the battle, and that he is so still unless he has been treated by an eye specialist.'"
This statement was made today to a United Press representative by Dr. J. G. Meyer, an eminent San Francisco surgeon.

"There is a bridge nerve connecting the eyes," continued Dr. Meyer, "and a blow upon one might communicate its bad effects to the other. This would result in the vision becoming deranged, causing a man either to see objects repeated twice, or many times, or might otherwise derange his vision."
"A jar upon one eye could so affect the bridge nerve that the focus in the lens of the other would be temporarily or even permanently impaired. The lens would be unbalanced and the victim might not even realize the seriousness of the injury at once. The injury undoubtedly would remain until the eye had been treated scientifically and the focus of the lens restored."

"Moreover, a blow upon the eye might cause complete paralysis of the lids and might cause the lids of one eye to remain closed or uncontrollable, while the other eye could become unfocused and yet the lids of it could be controlled by the injured person."
That Jeffries was given such a blow and that his visual power was destroyed is the best and most plausible excuse he could give for his defeat by the negro.

At the end of the second round Jeffries complained that there was something the matter with his eyes and that he saw two Johnsons and was unable to hit where he aimed his blows. The lids of his right eye were closed and the skin was darkened, but the eye did not puff up, as is usually the case. Instead of the eye being swollen shut, the lids were closed as though paralyzed. Roger Cornell, one of Jeffries' seconds, prepared a knife during the third round, expecting the eye to swell owing to the congested blood. There was no occasion for using the knife, however, as there was no swelling. During all of his training Jeffries' judgment of distance was the one thing that aroused the enthusiasm of those who declared he had "come back." After the second round he displayed no judgment of distance whatever.

COLORED PEOPLE OF NEW YORK TO WELCOME CHAMP

business in the sale of revolvers during the past four days than at any similar time in recent years. Most of the purchasers are white persons.
A really serious situation has developed at Hammerstein's, where Johnson is scheduled to open Monday night. The management has always barred negroes from the boxes at the roof garden. As a result of their clean up on the fight, all of the sporty colored people are apparently in the millionaire class and nothing but boxes will do them. So far trouble has been avoided by the management's stating that all boxes are sold, but this situation is not expected to suffice permanently.
Broadway restaurateurs are also worried over the certain attempt that will be made by negro theatre parties to invade their places. Admission will not be granted and a batch of damage suits, it is expected, will result.

WHAT IF CORBETT AND JOHNSON SHOULD MIX LIKE OTHER SCRAPPERS?

Champion Jack Johnson and ex-Champ James J. Corbett, both of whom have booked passages for New York on that train. Both men open vaudeville engagements in New York next Monday night, Johnson at Hammerstein's and Corbett at the American Music Hall.
Throughout the fight at Reno Corbett kept up a running fire of sarcastic comment with the dusky champion in an effort to rattle him. Johnson merely grinned and refused to be rattled. In fact, at a number of points his exchange of repartee put Corbett's nose out of joint. At the same time there is no reason to believe that Johnson relished Corbett's tactics, although Johnson is said to have expressed pleasure at having worsted Corbett in the last fight.
Many here, however, believe that Johnson may attempt to even the score when they meet Sunday, by going somewhat beyond the "kidding" variety of argument.

M'INTOSH WILL MATCH JOHNSON AND BURNS TO MEET IN LONDON; MAYBE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, July 3.—Jack Johnson's next bow in the squared circle will be before the National Sporting club of London in a match with Tommy Burns for the championship, if the Australian promoter, Hugh McIntosh, succeeds in the mission which took him east today. He already has Burns' signature to a contract for the battle, which he hopes to pull off about September 1, and is very hopeful of getting the negro to agree to the match.

San Bernardino, Cal., July 3.—Motion pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight cannot be produced at Redlands or Ontario. Following the adoption of resolutions denouncing the "battle of the century" and the pictures, by the councils of both cities, their mayors have issued prohibitive orders. The authorities here have not taken any action.

Chico to Get Picture Show.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chico, Cal., July 3.—The Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures will be shown in Chico, but children will be barred from the exhibitions. Announcement to this effect was made today by Mayor Robbin.

Freewater Man Injured.
Freewater, Or., July 3.—While stepping from the platform of the Fruit-growers' Union carrying a heavy box of fruit, Manager H. D. Lamb was seriously hurt. The plank making the platform from the car slipped and Mr. Lamb fell onto some scantling, rendering him unconscious for some time. The force of the fall was broken by some papers that he carried in his pocket, but he was severely bruised and will be confined to his home for some days.

AUTO SENDS STREET CAR TO REPAIR SHOPS

"Beware of autos as you would guard against collisions with trains at grade crossings," might be a fitting order on the part of President Jesselyn of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co., following an incident last evening in which one of his cars went to the repair shops while the auto chugged merrily on with no signs of serious damage. The collision last evening took place at the corner of Russell street and Union avenue, when the machine of E. Arson, of 592 Broadway, bumped a Russell-Shaver car as it was turning into Union avenue. The auto was speeding at a good clip and when it struck the car's rear platform it crushed it in. Several passengers standing on the platform jumped just in time to save themselves. A little paint was scraped from the automobile and some of the brasswork may need polishing, but there was no other damage.
This is the second time in a week that a streetcar has come off second best when pitted against an automobile. Last week there was a similar collision on Morrison street, and while the auto in this instance sustained a little more damage than Arson's, the streetcar suffered more.

Rengo Belt Corsets
Are conceded by corset experts to have no equal as the correct models for stout and medium figures. As an abdomen reducer it has no superior—it is boned with watch-spring steel and the long skirt below the waist line holds the figure firmly without the least discomfort. For the figure of full bust and large hips and thighs the Rengo belt alone is the ideal corset. The bust is supported firmly, yet with absolute comfort, and the corset does not ride upon the figure and force the bust upward, as the old style straight front models were bound to do. Its extreme length on the abdomen, hips and thighs presents a smooth unbroken appearance. Priced at $2.00 and $3.00.
