

20 DELEGATES TO VOTE CONVENTION

Republican Joint Caucus at Ontario Fails to Draw Heavy Attendance; Rank and File Against Assembly.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Ontario, Or., July 11.—Except a small ring of politicians, but slight interest was taken in the assembly plan of election in this county Saturday afternoon to elect delegates to the county convention to be held at Vale next Saturday.

At the Republican joint caucus of north and south Ontario precincts to elect 19 delegates to the county convention—10 from the south and 9 from the north—less than 20 persons were present. Some of the delegates chosen were not at the caucus. These delegates who were elected to the county convention are: North Ontario—W. H. Brooks, J. D. Billingsley, C. A. Fraser, M. E. Bain, L. B. Furrall, E. A. Fraser, J. H. Madden, C. C. Carter and F. B. Ball.

COOLER DAYS TO FOLLOW EXTREME HEAT OF SUNDAY

(Continued from Page One.) has been called to the matter through the county court, and Street Superintendent Donaldson today notified the county he would have sprinklers for the bridge on short notice. They will be put into service, he said, on call of the bridge tender.

PARCHING WAVE CONTINUES AND STATE SWELTERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., July 11.—Today is the hottest day Pendleton has experienced since the summer began. The thermometer at 10 o'clock registered 88, while at 12:15 it had climbed to 101. It will probably touch 107 before the extreme heat of the day is reached.

Shipped All Way From France to Port Townsend in Huge Copper Kettle.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Port Townsend, Wash., July 11.—That a rat can live for an indefinite period without water is the original discovery made by O. H. Collamore, manager of the Claxson Chemical company of Hadlock. His assertions are backed by an ordinary rat taken from a mammoth copper kettle shipped from France December 7, 1902.

WOULD NOT USE OPEN STRETCARS

(Continued from Page One.) ter time the closed car bodies are set on the trucks and operated. When summer comes the trucks and motors are transferred to the open car bodies.

Sam Spennila Drowns at Echo.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Echo, Or., July 11.—Widow Spennila, 84 years old, was drowned here Sunday while bathing in a deep pool in the Umatilla river. Spennila has just eaten a hearty dinner.

the season, the temperature Sunday at eleven reached 86 degrees, climbing to 90 in the afternoon. It is about the same today. People are rushing to the mountains to escape the unusual heat. This is the first hot spell coming after the cool weather is very noticeable. Farmers will suffer heavily as a shortage of water has injured the crops and the hot weather is burning them up. Dry farmers in this section have practically no crops and there is great shortage of hay in the Powder valley. A continuance of the hot weather with no rain, will be very hard on the wheat and oats and will cause an unusually short crop. No sickness or prostrations have occurred as a result of the heat in Baker city.

Seattle's 1910 Record Broken.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, July 11.—All records for heat this year were broken yesterday when the government thermometer on top of the Alaska building registered 92 degrees, while the government kiosk at Second street and Yesler way registered 102 degrees. Today gives evidence of breaking yesterday's record. At noon today the kiosk registered 92 degrees, while at the Alaska building the temperature was 80. There was little breeze.

Yesterday New York's Hottest.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, July 11.—The intense heat that made yesterday the hottest and most uncomfortable day of the summer, continued today, though the mercury was somewhat lower. Ten deaths have been reported within the past 24 hours. The maximum temperature today was 86 degrees, seven degrees lower than yesterday. Excessive humidity, however, increased the suffering in the city.

No Prostrations at Spokane.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Spokane, July 11.—Yesterday the official maximum temperature in this city was 83, recording the highest temperature of the year, but on the streets it was several degrees higher. Comparatively low humidity, prevented any prostrations. In surrounding towns the mercury rose as high as 100 degrees.

WALLOWA WOOL SALES ARE LIGHT

Low Offers by Bidders Cause Growers to Refuse to Sell; 1,000,000 lbs Held.

Wallowa, Or., July 11.—The wool sales Saturday were very light and the total amount of wool sold in this valley to date will be about half a million pounds, or one-third of the clip. Fully a million pounds remain yet to sell and unless the buyers at the net sales, to be held Tuesday, bid better figures than those offered at the sales Saturday, much of the Wallowa county clip will be consigned to eastern commission merchants.

RAT ENDURES 7 MONTHS' THIRST

TWO YEARS TO MOVE NATIONAL MUSEUM

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, July 11.—The transfer of relics and curios accumulated in the National Museum during many years began today. The objects will be shifted to new quarters, which will be opened to the public next autumn. W. C. Raveland, custodian of the antiques, estimated that the removal of 10,000,000 objects housed in the old building would occupy two years.

J. P. MORGAN'S DAUGHTER MAY WED DON JAIME

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, July 11.—The engagement of Anne Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, and Don Jaime, pretender to the Spanish throne, is regarded as not unlikely, according to a writer in a London newspaper. The statement is creating much comment among the American colony here. The story goes that Miss Morgan and Don Jaime have recently been seen so much together that it is quite reasonable to suppose a match may result.

NOBLE AVIATOR GETS PLUNGE IN SEA WATER

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, July 11.—Members of the Holy Name church of the Apostolic Faith colored, today ponder whether it is better to be less strenuous or to go to jail. More than 100 members of the congregation, locked up last night when the police raided the church, appeared today to answer charges of being public nuisances.
