

ST. JOHNS LAUGHS AT PORTLAND; HAS A MUNICIPAL DOCK

Thriving City on Peninsula Has Mayor Who Worked With Other Progressive Citizens for Public Wharf.

The public dock of St. Johns ready for service. The little city on the peninsula has proceeded with quiet energy to obtain control of her water front wharf, with better reasons and a bigger appropriation for a similar investment, has failed.

that the completion of the Panama canal would give Pacific coast shipping an impetus that would make water front control a vital necessity to the city. It was pointed out that transcontinental railroad systems were also looking forward to the completion of the Panama canal as a means of giving entrance to active water competition and that the transcontinental railroads were making it evident that they also regarded water front control a vital necessity, since through such a control they could likewise control shipping rates which the people paid, both by water and by rail.

WOMEN CLEVER WITH MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Opening its engagement at the Oaks yesterday afternoon, the Navassar ladies' band made a good showing. Composed of 40 pretty young women, attired in neat uniforms, the band looks very attractive and the music rendered yesterday was of a quality that should make the organization a popular drawing card.

This is the first large ladies' band to appear in Portland and it is one of very few touring the world. A feature of its instrumentation is a complete saxophone section, and among the performers on these instruments are the members of the original Navassar quartet that about five years ago were starred in high class vaudeville. The quartet appeared on the program yesterday afternoon, playing an arrangement of "Robin Adair," with solo for the soprano. She sang from Donizetti's "Lucia" was given by six saxophones in a very pleasing way.

Mrs. Dial, conductor, is a very dignified and deliberate director, who neither tears her hair nor stamps her feet in getting the band to give her interpretation of the works of the master composers, many of which are included on the repertoire.

GRAFT CHARGE IS MADE IN MARION

Grand Jury Reports There is Evidence of Dishonesty in Road Statements.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 12.—Though not having sufficient evidence before it to bring in any indictments, the Marion county grand jury has reported that there is evidence of dishonesty in connection with the reports of the road supervisors of this county, and the district attorney and next grand jury have been directed to ferret out the graft and indict the supervisors who made the fraudulent entries.

So general was the accusation of the jury that nothing can be learned as to the identity of the offending officials or the extent of the frauds, and District Attorney John McNary refuses to say anything in connection with the matter. What evidence the grand jury had before it, according to the report, tended to show that the road supervisors under investigation had submitted dishonest reports to the county court and charged accounts against the county that should not have been charged. The amount involved, the extent of the graft charges and whom they will reach is not known, as the utmost secrecy is being maintained by the members of the jury and district attorney.

Improvements for the courthouse were also recommended, including a heating plant, a grand jury room and a general overhauling and renovation of the county jail.

REGISTER EARLY OR FORGET PAMPHLET

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 12.—In order that all may receive the pamphlets that will be mailed to all registered voters in the state, containing the initiative and referendum measures and the pamphlets containing the matters to be sent out by the secretary of state regarding the qualifications of the various candidates for state offices, voters will have to register early.

The law provides that the pamphlets containing the initiative and referendum measures with the arguments presented for and against must be mailed to all registered voters on or before September 14. The pamphlets containing the pictures and qualifications of candidates must be mailed to all registered voters on or before September 15. As the registration books close on September 14, 10 days before the direct primaries, which will fall on Saturday, September 24, it will appear at once that those who wait until the last week to register will not get the state's political library provided for by the corrupt practices act.

After the names of voters have been registered they must be sent to the county clerk by the registration officials where they are tabulated by precincts and a list sent to the secretary of state. It will readily be seen that names cannot arrive at the secretary of state's office from remote counties within a week after the registration. Names are being received now at the secretary of state's office as fast as voters are being registered and yesterday the task of addressing envelopes to the voters started. A large force of extra clerks will be employed for this work for the registration of voters is proceeding rapidly. But those who put off registration until the last week before the direct primaries will fail to receive the political literature.

was in deep trouble, having loved and being but too well. To save her friend from the scorn of the world, Marie Le Roy adopted a unique plan. She assumed the name and dress of a man and benevolently lived with her friend as her husband. Even after the death of her friend she continued to carry on the unselfish deception in order to afford a father's protection to her friend's child. This child, now grown to womanhood and well known as an actress, was assumed when the coroner's inquest divulged the strange fact that "Harry Lloyd" was a woman and not her father as she had always believed.

which the forces of James II were defeated by the Protestant army, was celebrated today in the customary manner by the Orangemen of Belfast and vicinity. The procession was one of the largest of its kind in recent years. The usual precautions were taken by the police to prevent disorder.

Foreigner Is Bound Over

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 12.—Manuel Fonseca, a foreigner, employed by the Argold show, was bound over to the grand jury by Municipal Judge Wylie A. Moore yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Fonseca demanded his pay Sunday night and when refused payment attacked his employer with a knife. The other employees came to the aid of J. J. Devaux, the attacked employer, or he probably would have received serious injury.

Glenn Burton, indicted for obtaining money under false pretense, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge George Burnett and will receive sentence Thursday. The amount secured by Burton was $10.

Want Upper Mississippi Improved

St. Paul, Minn., July 12.—With many delegates in attendance, coming from Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the ninth annual convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association was opened here today. The aim of the gathering is to secure the early completion of the project as adopted by congress for a six foot channel in the upper Mississippi river from Minneapolis to the mouth of the Missouri. The business sessions of the convention will continue over tomorrow and papers will be read covering practically every phase of the subject by men familiar with the problems the undertaking presents. Senators and representatives in congress from the states bordering the upper Mississippi are among the scheduled speakers. Thomas Wilkinson of Burlington, president of the association, presided at today's sessions.

NOTED PASTOR HOLDS JUBILEE CELEBRATION

Northfield, Mass., July 12.—Friends of the Rev. D. and Mrs. Arthur T. Pierson, both of whom are famous for their work in the interest of Presbyterian missions, gathered here today to help them celebrate a unique double golden anniversary. The day marked the fiftieth wedding anniversary of the couple and also the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Pierson's ordination as a preacher. Dr. Pierson, whose home is in Brooklyn, was for two years pastor of Spurgeon's tabernacle in London, and has occupied Presbyterian pulpits in Birmingham, Philadelphia and other cities. For more than a quarter of a century he has been one of the preachers of the Northfield conferences founded by the late Dwight L. Moody.

STRANGE ROMANCE IS REVEALED IN ENGLAND

London, July 12.—For a week all England has been discussing the strange case of "Harry Lloyd." And it is not to be wondered at, for no novelist ever invented a stranger or more romantic plot than that which was acted in real life by the mysterious person who bore the name of "Harry Lloyd," and whose death at Enfield has led to the discovery of the secret she guarded so carefully for nearly 30 years.
