Russia and Japan Enter into Treaty

Test of the Treaty. The full text of the treaty follows: Article 1. With the object of facilitating communication and developing the commerce of nations, the two high contracting parties mutually engage to lend each other their friendly cooperation with a view to an all-outlet on their respective railway lines in Manchuria and the improvement of the connecting service of the said railways and to abstain from all competition prejudicial to the realization of this object.

Article 2. Each of the high contracting parties engages to maintain and respect the status quo in Manchuria resulting from the treaties, conventions and other arrangements concluded up to this date between Japan and Russia, and between either of these two powers and China. Copies of the aforesaid arrangements have been exchanged.

Article 3. In case any event arises of a nature to menace the status quo, above mentioned, the two high contracting parties shall, in each case, enter into communication with the other in order to arrive at an understanding as to the measures they may judge necessary to take for the maintenance of said status quo.

State Divorce Bureau Advocated. (United Press Landed Wire.) Kansas City, Mo., July 13.—Declaring that the divorce courts are the scene of more perjury than all other courts combined, Judge Thos. J. Seehorn of the circuit court advocates a state divorce bureau.

"Such a bureau," said Seehorn, "should have supervision over every divorce case in the state. A vast majority of cases go by default. Men or women wanting divorces are now being three character witnesses into court, regardless of how disreputable they are, and secure their decrees."

42,000,000 BU. IS ESTIMATED YIELD NORTHWEST GRAIN

(Continued from Page One.) greater is due to adverse weather conditions of the winter which inflicted serious damage to the wheat of the Palouse section. The Big Bend country suffered severely from much the same cause.

Oregon lands give a greater crop this year by reason of the better rainfall. South of the Snake river, the precipitation this season was so liberal that lands which failed to give sufficient crops last year that harvest expenses could be paid, are this season giving as high as 15 bushels per acre.

One of the peculiarities of the present season, in all sections, is that the lands which have been usually classed as the best producers, gave forth their lightest showing. On the other hand crops that were considered to be bushels were given by lands that are usually extremely lucky to give 10 bushels and some years run as low as eight bushels.

Big Crop on Light Land. For instance in the Echo district as in the Pilot Rock country in Umatilla county, there are yields that will go 15 bushels and better on lands that were not cut at all last season because of the extremely poor showing.

Then again, in the better lands of Umatilla county, close to the reservation, the showing this season is not nearly so good as generally. This latter condition is peculiar to the present season. Because of the very heavy rains, the heavy lands "run together" during the spring and late fall, and the coming of warmer weather the ground formed a very heavy crust. This made it difficult for the fall sown grain to come through as it usually does.

Therefore the crop in that district is not so heavy as during 1909. Nevertheless, Umatilla county will this year complete a harvest of fully 1,000,000 bushels more than last year. The increase is due entirely to the much greater production in the light land sections.

Walla Walla "Fined." Over in the Walla Walla country the showing is mixed. In the Eureka flat country the crop ranges fully as good as a year ago, but in the foothills the production is out for the same reason as similar lands show curtailed output in Umatilla.

In Garfield county, Wash., much the same condition prevails, and this year's crop will not be as heavy as a year ago. However, Washington's greatest decrease is in the Palouse and Big Bend. Were these sections to show the normal output, the crop in Washington would have been above the average this season. Instead of that it is almost out in half as compared with last year's record.

Sherman, Gilliam and Morrow counties, Oregon, will produce a better crop of wheat than a year ago. Most of the lands in these sections are of light character and the average is considerably above recent years. In many fields of these counties the output will be close to that of 1907, when a bumper crop was shown. Therefore the Columbia river counties have this year done much to bring Oregon's wheat yield far above the average.

Idaho has a greater crop of wheat than she had a year ago. While a large portion of the state's crop is sown in the spring, Idaho has considerable fall sown grain, and this brings the production of that common wheat to about 9,000,000 bushels.

Along with the estimated crop of 42,000,000 bushels of wheat this season, the Pacific northwest has a carry-over of perhaps 5,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour. This would bring the total wheat available for market this season at 48,000,000 bushels, or 4,000,000 bushels less than the crop of 1909.

CHAUTAUQUA CLASSES CALLED TO THEIR STUDIES EARLY TODAY

Music Instructor First to Get His Pupils Together at Gladstone Park.

While yesterday was virtually opening day at Chautauqua, the attendants did not get into harness and down to work until this morning. A little cooler dawn got the camera out bright and early and everybody had their breakfast eaten and forgotten by the time the gong sounded for the first classes at 8 o'clock.

The first to call their pupils together was Professor Glen, who is director and instructor of music. His class is held in the small auditorium, built last year especially for the musical work. The classes were well filled and the prospects for an unusually fine musical year are good.

The other "early bird" classes are those in athletics, under Professor M. Grille of the Portland Y. M. C. A. Professor Grille is one of the "recallers," having served for several years as director of athletics. The classes are held on the platform of the old auditorium, just across the first ravine. This might be called the "joy department," for unless you had been told, you never would have dreamed the boys had gone over there this morning to study anything but a good time.

At 9 o'clock Miss Landin called the tiny tots together and put them through their first games as kindergartners. It is always one of the growing classes, and shifting as well, but started off with a very good attendance. The enthusiasm which was let loose when Mrs. Gillespie called the school of expression to order at 9 o'clock, was sufficient indication that this would be one of the popular Chautauqua classes this year.

The various study classes such as United States history, English literature, Bible and mission study all drew their quota of pupils and started on their courses with enthusiasm. "What the Jew Has Done for the World," was the subject of Dr. Madison C. Peters' talk at the Forum hour. Dr. Peters is one of the great figures at Chautauqua this year, and one of the most popular in the lecture field. He is a prolific writer, having something like 40 books to his credit. While not himself of the race, he has given deep study to the subject of the Jew and his relation to other races, his history and present status.

The Chemaqua Indian band opened the afternoon's program with its accustomed concert at 1:15. This was followed by a magnificent solo by Professor Glen, accompanied by Melvin Ogden. "How America is Repeating the Mistakes of History" is the deeply interesting subject upon which again Dr. Madison C. Peters is entertaining a large audience this afternoon.

The baseball game will be between Gladstone and Clackamas. It is said that the teams are all so well matched that the game will be a real treat regarding the final winners. The evening is announced as one of "mirth, mystery and magic, by the prince of magicians, Edwin Brush, and it has been said of Mr. Brush that "he is witty, refined and presents no state this year, but is a prediction of wonderful amusement." Chautauqua must have variety and Mr. Brush will no doubt supply it.

It will take some lively tooting on the part of the Indians boys, or any other band that follows, to catch up to the popularity enjoyed by The Journal band yesterday. Amidst many attractive features they held their own and carried every audience they played before with them. It was certainly Journal Band day.

Dr. Wentworth F. Stewart, who was the main speaker yesterday afternoon, came out boldly in his assertion that there are no self-made men. Every man he believes only grows from his shoulders up, having climbed that far on his ancestors. Dr. Wentworth does not believe Americans value their ancestry enough, hence the lack of deep abiding patriotism among the young.

The youth of today is too pampered; it does not develop genius. "No genius ever sprung from luxury," asserted Dr. Stewart. In America's extravagance the speaker saw a grave menace to American institutions, for Americans were growing too idle to be good soldiers, and while a strong peace propagandist, the doctor believes that the peace of a nation can only be maintained by thorough preparation for war, and America is not so prepared. The lecture was listened to by a large and representative

Touching Incident. Yesterday while Ross Crane, the cartoonist, who will appear several times during the season, was quietly reading, some one asked the secretary if Mr. Crane had arrived yet. The secretary replied that he had, and was sitting just there. At that moment Mr. Crane looked up and recognized his father, whom he had not seen for 14 years. The father, hearing his son was to be at Gladstone Park came all the way from Honolulu to have the pleasure of seeing and hearing his son once more. The meeting was most affecting, and the joy of father and son at once more being together bordered on the pathetic.

As early as yesterday noon the popularity of the restaurant, under its new management, was evident, for even in the still unsettled conditions it was thronged almost to its capacity. The meals are beautiful, plain and wholesome, but above all else well cooked and palatable, while Mrs. Simon makes every one feel at home by her gracious manner and gentle hospitality.

Tomorrow's program follows: 8:15—Charges. 11:00—"The Home Sanitarium," demonstration by the nurses. Dr. Lena K. Sadler of Chicago. 1:15—Chemaqua Indian School band. 2:00—"Americanism, or the High Pressure Life," Dr. William S. Sadler. 3:30—Baseball, Chemaqua vs. Eagle Creek. 7:15—Chemaqua Indian School band. 8:00—Solo, Irving M. Glen; dramatic reading, "The Sign of the Cross," Sarah Mildred Wilmer.

JOURNAL BAND MAKES LASTING IMPRESSION AT BIG CHAUTAUQUA

Portland, July 12.—To the Editor of The Journal.—The Journal band, in full uniform and in the flush of young manhood, made a splendid hit at the Gladstone Chautauqua Tuesday afternoon and evening. They gave the first real thrill of the opening. They went from Portland in a special car, which, by a blunder of the car men, was derailed at the Oaks, in such a way that it had to be abandoned. They had the good fortune, however, to catch a passing Oregon City train, and reached their destination in time to begin their concert at 1 o'clock, as had been advertised. Major York, their efficient leader, had arranged a fine program. The patriotic medley took the crowd by storm, many joining their voices in the familiar strains. The evening concert was an ovation from start to finish, and encore after encore was called for, and given with a cheerful acquiescence that the public has discovered to be characteristic of this popular musical organization. The crowd had nothing but warm words of praise for the splendid concert to which they had listened. L. W. M.

Without so much as a quaver the gas company put the trouble up to the people of Sellwood, with the result that a committee was appointed by the Sellwood board of trade to get the opinions of legal lights. Officials of the gas company said there was so much other good territory open to them that they did not care to take a chance on paying a big bonus for Sellwood's business.

Evidently the gas company has been satisfied that it is perfectly safe in going ahead with work, for just a few days ago the iron mains were distributed along Milwaukee avenue, and in fact, the work of digging trenches for the pipe will be begun, just as if the Sellwood Townsite company had never existed.

Simmered down the facts in the case are that Sellwood will get gas probably within 30 days.
